

This is a digital copy of a book that was preserved for generations on library shelves before it was carefully scanned by Google as part of a project to make the world's books discoverable online.

It has survived long enough for the copyright to expire and the book to enter the public domain. A public domain book is one that was never subject to copyright or whose legal copyright term has expired. Whether a book is in the public domain may vary country to country. Public domain books are our gateways to the past, representing a wealth of history, culture and knowledge that's often difficult to discover.

Marks, notations and other marginalia present in the original volume will appear in this file - a reminder of this book's long journey from the publisher to a library and finally to you.

Usage guidelines

Google is proud to partner with libraries to digitize public domain materials and make them widely accessible. Public domain books belong to the public and we are merely their custodians. Nevertheless, this work is expensive, so in order to keep providing this resource, we have taken steps to prevent abuse by commercial parties, including placing technical restrictions on automated querying.

We also ask that you:

- + Make non-commercial use of the files We designed Google Book Search for use by individuals, and we request that you use these files for personal, non-commercial purposes.
- + Refrain from automated querying Do not send automated queries of any sort to Google's system: If you are conducting research on machine translation, optical character recognition or other areas where access to a large amount of text is helpful, please contact us. We encourage the use of public domain materials for these purposes and may be able to help.
- + Maintain attribution The Google "watermark" you see on each file is essential for informing people about this project and helping them find additional materials through Google Book Search. Please do not remove it.
- + Keep it legal Whatever your use, remember that you are responsible for ensuring that what you are doing is legal. Do not assume that just because we believe a book is in the public domain for users in the United States, that the work is also in the public domain for users in other countries. Whether a book is still in copyright varies from country to country, and we can't offer guidance on whether any specific use of any specific book is allowed. Please do not assume that a book's appearance in Google Book Search means it can be used in any manner anywhere in the world. Copyright infringement liability can be quite severe.

About Google Book Search

Google's mission is to organize the world's information and to make it universally accessible and useful. Google Book Search helps readers discover the world's books while helping authors and publishers reach new audiences. CHARLES EDWIN HURD

By EDWARD HENRY CLEMENT, A.M., Litt.D., of Cambridge, Mass.

CHARLES EDWIN HURD, the late literary editor of the Boston Transcript, became a member of the New England Historic Genealogical Society in 1895, and at once his accomplishments in languages and history made him a distinguished and valuable member. His natural tastes had led him, in his maturity, to the study of the Scandinavian tongues and literature, and he did not rest until he had acquired an actual and practical command of the Swedish and Norwegian languages. He was the personal friend of the great Norwegian litterateur and statesman, Björnstjerne Björnson, and a translator of and commentator upon the plays of Ibsen. The threads of our New England descent extend back to the common sources of all the Northern peoples of Europe. There is a kinship of spirit in their free, representative political ideas and institutions. It was always a fascinating diversion for him to trace these lines in history and literature, as a collateral interest with his genealogical avocation. He will be missed among contributors, for such scholarship is all too rare among American genealogists.

Mr. Hurd was born in Croydon, N. H., June 15, 1833. His father, a farmer of long descent in that region, traced back to Secretary Rawson of the Colonial government. Young Hurd was enabled to supplement the common school education with a term at Hempstead Academy. In his youth, thereafter, he went through the usual experience of those who had enjoyed such advantages, of teaching, in his turn, in the district school. Then at twenty he came to Boston and found congenial employment on the city and suburban newspapers. Thus were laid the foundations for his subsequent development and career as litterateur.

But Hurd had also a strong predilection, and no small gift, for art in all its phases, especially for painting and the drama. He became so much of a devotee of the theatre that at one time he had serious thoughts of going upon the stage, and only abandoned this purpose after an actual experience in small parts in one of the Boston stock-companies. Then he was determined to be an artist. He took a course of lessons with a Boston painter and soon set up a studio for himself in the old Studio Building, at that time new, without, however, losing his hold on journalism. This combination of talents stood him in good stead during the Civil War, making him invaluable, with his double faculty, as a war correspondent. It also led to that unique experience, which he made the most of both with pen and pencil, in the short-lived invasion of Canada, in the summer of 1870, by the Fenians' Falstaffian army from across the Vermont border near St. Albans. He was accompanying his friend John Boyle O'Reilly, the Irish poet and editor of the Pilot, when the command of the Fenian army devolved on O'Reilly, though he was present only as correspondent of his paper, after the prompt arrest of its "general" by the United States marshal. Hurd represented Frank Leslie's Illustrated Newspaper in the raid, and his pictures and text remain the classic chronicle of that extraordinary episode, giving to the full its comic, as well as its tragic, elements.

From 1870 to 1875 Hurd was settling down more determinedly to his profession of journalism and letters. Stepping onward from the editorship of a New York "up-State" paper, the Erie Dispatch, to an editorial position in Providence and engagements on the Boston Journal and the Boston Globe, he reached, in 1875, the literary chair of the Boston Transcript. That great position he held with growing honor, success, and usefulness for the rest of his active life in service of the public. For he administered his trust always under a strong conscientious sense of its public relations and responsibilities. He conducted it as though it had its part to play in the discovery and greeting and nurturing of all coming-on talent. His associates can testify to his self-effacing, self-sacrificing devotion, and not merely to the arduous duty of his post, but also to the highest interests of the community in the faithful holding up of the standards of taste and culture in the then undisputed literary centre of America. He gave only too lavishly of his time and toil in studying the work of others, whether in books or manuscripts, lest he might do less than justice to any aspiring endeavor brought to his notice. He would not have it on his conscience possibly to discourage a struggling candidate for the public attention at a critical moment—one who might prove a valuable addition to the literary guild. He would day after day patiently listen to, and counsel with, such aspirants till the working-hours were past, and he must in consequence sit at his desk through half the night to finish his own required work.

In 1901, while toiling at night at his accumulated tasks alone in the office, a large and heavy dictionary slipped from his hands, and, falling upon his foot, inflicted such injuries that, after months of terrible suffering endured, gangrene set in. First his toes were amputated; then he lost his foot; and many dragging months after, the whole leg. His retirement was thus enforced, but still he was prized and retained in the service and pay of his generous and sympathetic employer, the Transcript. Besides, he wrote for the magazines and assisted in the compilation of books for other publishers, happily occupied and doing valuable service to the end.

His loyalty to Boston was such that, although he was most comfortably provided for and delightfully situated in Brooklyn, N. Y., he insisted on removing with his household gods to Boston just to spend amid the old scenes the last years of his life. It proved to be only months, but he was serenely happy all the while; and the end came without any shock or struggle. It was simply a natural and beautiful sinking peacefully into a well-earned rest.

The simplest of services was read over his body by his old friend Rev. E. A. Horton. By his express request no other words were said; and from his new home in Allston the remains were taken to Lempster, N. H., for burial. Mr. Hurd is survived by his widow, who is a native of Nova Scotia, one daughter, Mrs. Morrill W. Gaines (Grace Marguerite Hurd) of Brooklyn, N. Y., and three sons, Charles W., William J., and Reginald Hurd.

JAMES BROWN OF MIDDLETOWN, CONN.

By EDWIN A. HILL, Ph.D., of Washington, D. C.

THE REGISTER (vol. 62, p. 334) contains a very brief and incomplete account of the descendants of JAMES<sup>1</sup> BROWN of Middletown, and while his male descendants were not numerous, the female lines of descent are quite the reverse.

Many years since the writer and his father traced the descendants of Hugh<sup>2</sup> (James<sup>1</sup>), and from this material and from data furnished by Mrs. Fowler (No. 23, v) the following more complete account of the family has been prepared.

It is stated in the REGISTER (vol. 15, p. 162) that James<sup>1</sup> Brown "was a Scotchman from Edinburg and a merchant." Various stories have come down through different lines, and New York, Boston, and Philadelphia, respectively, are given as his place of landing. The most reliable information, obtained from his granddaughter, Mrs. Sarah (Brown) Griffing, is that he came early in life to New York, and had to work for the ship's owners, after his arrival, to pay for his passage.

The first authentic record that we have of him is from the town records of Guilford, Conn., where on 26 Sept. 1716 he purchased a residence of Abram Bradley. In the deed he is described as "James Brown dealer now resident." On 6 Dec. 1717 he sold the same property to Abraham Bartlett, and is then described as "transient trader," a term applied to those who went about the country buying horses and bringing them to the coast for shipment. On Windham town records a deed appears, dated 11 Dec. 1716, from Eleazur Allen to James Brown of Gilford, etc.

He was married at Windham, Conn., 10 Mar. 1718, to ESTHER BROUGHTON, daughter of John and Hannah (Allis), born 10 Feb. 1700 (n. s.), died 29 Oct. 1754. He lived two or three years at Windham, and then removed to Middletown, Conn., where on 2 Dec. 1742 he bought land of Jabez Hamilin, on which he built his home and in which he lived and died. In Sept. 1770 he conveyed this property to his sons Samuel, Hugh, and Nathaniel, and his daughter Elizabeth Cooper, "for the consideration of the paternal love and affection that I have for my children, and also for the comfortable support of me and my son John Brown during our natural lives." In a will made in July of the same year he states that his daughter Mary's portion had already been given to her son Isaac.

He was married secondly to MARY (DOWD, probably), but of this marriage no record has been found. She died 23 Apr. 1767, aged 69. During his last years he lived with his son Nathaniel, as did also the brother John, who from the effects of a fall in childhood was imbecile through a long life.* James Brown died 10 Dec. 1770, in his 96th year (gravestone), and Esther, his wife, died 29 Oct. 1754, in her 56th year (gravestone). Both were buried in the old Riverside Cemetery in Middletown.

* In 1880 the vital records of Edinburgh, Scotland, were searched, and the following record was found, which would appear to be, probably, the baptism of James of Middletown:

"1673 18 February, Thomas Brown Merchant & Margaret Wallace a son named James Witnesses James Brown Merchant James McCline Merchant, John Symson, Alexander McAlexander, & John Wallace Cordiner."

The above is evidently old style dating, and reduced to new style would become 28 Feb. 1674. His age at death was, therefore, 96 years 9 months and 10 days.

FIRST OWNERSHIP OF OHIO LANDS

By ALBION MORRIS DYER, A.M., of Cleveland, Ohio

THE lists of names of first owners of lands within the limits of the State of Ohio, as proposed on an earlier page of this writing, here follow. They are constructed for the purpose of this publication by comparison of the several documents mentioned.<sup>77</sup>

FIRST OWNERS OF LANDS IN OHIO

The sale of lots or the Four Ranges of Townships at public vendue in the City of New York, September 21 to October 9, 1787, terminated the period of reservation or prohibition of "settlement and purchase of the lands inhabited or claimed by the Indians."<sup>78</sup> Purchasers of lots at this sale obtained thereby the right of entry and occupancy of the lands that they had purchased; all others were trespassers, excepting the French and Canadians in the Illinois Company, who were protected by their oath of fidelity to Virginia.<sup>79</sup> These purchasers received certificates of payment of purchase money issued by the Treasurer of the United States,<sup>80</sup> which entitled them to such right. Certain purchasers, no doubt, moved at once upon their lands, probably from the vantage camps on the Virginia hills overlooking the forbidden river, but other purchasers made no actual settlements; facts to be ascertained by those especially interested.<sup>81</sup> Their names appear in the Schedule of Sales returned by the Treasurer of the United States after full payment for the lots had been made, as ordained by the act of Congress passed May 20, 1785. They appear also, except the forfeitures for non-payment of purchase money, in the official Record of Patents, and on the plats of the surveyors, to which reference has been made.

The Schedule of Sales contains the names of purchasers with other data, in order as the sales were made; description of each lot sold; location by numerals to indicate the range, township, and lot; number of acres in each lot; amount of purchase price; payments made, etc. The Record of Sales is a volume made up of printed blanks used by the Board of Treasury for recording the patents as issued, one full page for each lot patented.

November 30, [1787]. A part of this month I have been on the West side of the Ohio with Mr Simpson and Colonel Martin, assisting them in the survey of the lands they bought at the public sales in New York...

There is no record of a sale in the name of Simpson. James Simpson was Surveyor for the State of Maryland in the Geographer's Department, but Capt. Absalom Martin, Surveyor for the State of New Jersey, purchased and occupied as his permanent home two fractional lots on the Ohio River bottoms opposite Wheeling; land which he had himself surveyed under Hutchins the year before. He took possession of his property within a month or six weeks of the date of sale, and appears to be the first known settler in the Western Territory. Captain Martin was the son of Ephraim Martin of Backenridge, N. J. (cf. Papers of the Continental Congress, No. 56, p. 178), and his place on the Ohio River was the landing place from Wheeling, now known as Martin's Ferry, Ohio.

The pages are numbered progressively and dated as filled out, and the blanks are filled in with name and other data corresponding with the items of the Schedule of Sales.<sup>82</sup> The plats of the surveyors show the exteriors of the townships as surveyed, on which are lines drawn at right angles to represent the 36 square lots in each township. The plats are drawn on the scale of 40 chains to the inch, making each of these lots two inches square, on which is written the name of purchaser, date, acres, etc. The lots are numbered, also the townships and ranges as required by the ordinance: Ranges; westward from I to VII beginning with the Pennsylvania line. Townships, northward from the river, each range beginning with Township No. 1, and the lots; northward from the base line of the township, in ranges of six, beginning with Lot 1 at the southeast corner.<sup>83</sup>

From this data not only the names of owners but the situation of each lot, according to present day geography, may be ascertained<sup>84</sup> and designated by modern names of political divisions, county and township. The region covered by the seven Ranges of Townships may readily be traced on a map

<sup>82</sup> Many pages of this volume were not used, as the form was changed for the Pittsburgh sale, and only 111 patents were issued. Some of the pages are signed with the names of the three members of the Board of Treasury, but most of them are not so signed. The patents are recorded in the several county records of Ohio, and they correspond with the form given in the Ordinance of May 20, 1785.

<sup>83</sup> Lots or sections in the Seven Ranges of Townships are not numbered as in the later surveys. According to the terms of the ordinance of May 20, 1785:

The plats of the townships respectively shall be marked by subdivisions into lots of one mile square or 640 acres, in the same direction as the external lines and numbered from 1 to 36, always beginning the succeeding range of the lots with the number next to that with which the preceding one concluded, while the law of May 18, 1796, required that the sections shall be numbered respectively, beginning with number one, in the northeast section, and proceeding west and east alternately, through the township, with progressive numbers till the thirty-sixth be completed.

Thus it happens that some of the townships of Columbiana, Carroll, and Stark counties, part of which were outside the Old Seven Ranges of Townships, have two sets of townships and sections in the same townships with the same numbers.

<sup>84</sup> The townships offered for sale were described by numerals in the advertisement published by the Board of Treasury, which reads as follows:

TREASURY OF THE UNITED STATES.

May 14, 1787.

THE Commissioners of the Board of Treasury of the United States, give notice, That on the 21st day of September next, will be exposed to Sale, at the place where the United States in Congress may hold their sessions—The following Townships and Lots of Lands in the Western Territory, which were surveyed last year, under the direction of the Geographer General of the United States viz.

First Range.	Third Range.	Fourth Range.
No. 3, containing 4,380 acres.	No. 1, containing 6,596 acres.	No. 1, containing 4,574 acres.

The admirable quality of these Lands, and the favorable climate in which they are situated, are too well known to need description. The conditions of sale are as follows, viz.

1st. The townships or fractional parts of townships throughout the different ranges, will be sold either entire or in lots in alternate order; that is to say, where a township or fractional part of a township is sold entire, the next will be sold in lots, agreeably to the ordinance of the 20th of May, 1785.

2d. The lands are not to be sold under a dollar per acre, payable in gold or silver, or any of the securities of the United States.

3d. The purchasers are to pay the charges of survey, which are to be estimated at thirty-six dollars in specie, or certificate as aforesaid for every township; and in the same proportion for fractional parts of townships or lots; this payment to be made at the sales, and in case of failure, the lands to be again exposed to public auction.

4th. One third of the purchase money is to be paid at the time of purchase; and the remaining two thirds in three months after the date of the sale; on which payment a certificate shall of Ohio<sup>66</sup> by following the East and West line from the intersection of the Pennsylvania western boundary and the Ohio River westward across seven ranges to the northwest corner of Rose Township, Carroll County (Tp. No. 16),<sup>66</sup> and thence by a meridian line southward across Tuscarawas, Guernsey, Noble, and Washington counties to a point where the meridian crosses the Ohio River about a mile east of the city of Marietta, which is in Township 2 of Range VIII.<sup>67</sup> The lots purchased at the New York sale are all within the four counties, Columbiana, Jefferson, Monroe, and Belmont, and the initials of these counties are used in the following list to indicate the situation of the several lots—closer designations being expressed by names of township, or otherwise.

be given by the Treasurer of the United States, which shall entitle the person to whom the same is given to receive from the Commissioners of this Board a proper title; provided, that if the second payment is not made at the time above specified, the first payment is to be forfeited, and the land on which the forfeit accrued be again set up for sale.

5th. The plats of the townships will be marked by subdivisions into lots of one mile square, or 640 acres, and numbered from 1 to 36; and out of each township, Lot No. 8, 11, 26 and 29, are to be reserved for future sale; Lot No. 16, for the maintenance of Public Schools within the respective township, as many lots of the same number as shall be found therein. There will also be reserved to the United States one third part of all gold and silver, lead and copper mines. Proper maps and descriptions of the lands will be exhibited at the time and place of sale, and the sales will continue from day to day until the whole are sold.

SAMUEL OSGOOD,
WALTER LIVINGSTON, } Commissioners.

The New York Packet, No. 607, Tuesday, May 15, 1787; Providence Gazette, Aug. 11, 18, 25, Sept. 1, 1787; Connecticut Courant, June 25, July 9, 23, Aug. 6, 1787; Pennsylvania Packet, Sept. 6, 13, 18, 1787; etc., etc.

<sup>67</sup> There are two Townships No. 16 in Carroll County, the northernmost being outside the Seven Ranges of Townships.

A Map of the Federal Territory from the Western Boundary of Pennsylvania to the Scioto River, laid down from the latest Informations and divided into Townships and fractional parts of Townships agreeably to the ordinance of the Honble Congress passed in May, 1785, which, according to the Phillips List of Maps of America, p. 626, is the "Map to accompany Cutler's 'Explanation of the map of the federal lands, confirmed by the treaties of 1784...Salem, 1787.'" The famous map issued by Joel Barlow for European exploitation of the Scioto Company's lands, entitled: "Plan des achates des Compagnies de l'Ohio" (Cf. Winsor, vol. vii, p. 532; the Library of Congress has a fine copy of the Barlow map recently picked up by Mr. Phillips in Paris), shows the region marked: "Sept ranges de Municipalité acquies par des individus, et occupés depuis 1786," and described as "Habité et défriché," which, considering the date of Barlow's activity, 1788, is surprising.

A "Plat of the Seven Ranges of Townships being part of the Territory of the United States N. W. of the River Ohio which by late act of Congress are directed to be sold... W. Barker, Sculp." issued for use of the second sale of lots, shows the survey as altered to fit the latest land laws, 1796. The sub-divisions sold at the New York sale are marked on this plat. This plate seems to have been used by Matthew Carey for editions of the American Atlas as late as 1818. (A reproduction from an original print is in Avery's History, vol. vi, betw. pp. 406 and 407.)

An outline map of the State of Ohio, showing the land divisions, prepared by Col. Chas. Whittlesey and published in W. R. H. S. Tract No. 61, represents the Seven Ranges of Townships as extending northerly to the base line of the Western Reserve, whereas the writings of Col. Whittlesey on this subject, in this and other publications, correctly describe the Ohio surveys. The strip of land, twenty-five miles wide, between the Seven Ranges of Townships and the Western Reserve, was surveyed in 1801 by extending the ranges northward from the East and West line to the 41° of latitude, which was forbidden by earlier resolution of Congress, May 9, 1786.

that they may be permitted to complete the payment of the purchase money of a quantity of land, in the territory of the United States, northwest of the river Ohio, on the original terms of the purchase, and to obtain a grant for the same; or, that a law may be passed for granting to the memorialists so much of the said land, as will be in proportion which the sum heretofore paid by them bears to the whole amount of the purchase money.

The memorial was read in the House, May 13, 1796 (Journal of the House, 4th Congress, 1st Session, p. 435), and reported upon by the committee on claims, January 30, 1798 (5th Cong. 2d Sess., p. 179), and on the 30th of April following (p. 438-439) it was resolved in the affirmative to agree with the report, which was in part as follows:

Several of the lots for which the petitioners made their contract having been sold at Pittsburgh, in pursuance of the act of the eighteenth of May, one thousand seven hundred and ninety-six, if the prayer of the petition should be granted, it will be necessary to indemnify the petitioners, by granting other lots of equivalent value.

But, as the petitioners have shown no reason why they did not proceed to fulfil their contract, excepting that their funds were otherwise employed, and as the United States must have incurred considerable expenses in the negotiation when the contract was made with the petitioners, the committee can find no reason why the forfeiture to which the petitioners have subjected themselves by the terms of their contract, should be remitted. They therefore report, as their opinion, that the prayer of the petition ought not to be granted."

LAND OWNERS ON THE MUSKINGUM

While the first sale of lots was in progress at New York, the agents and directors of the Ohio Company of Associates were negotiating with the Committee of Congress for the purchase of the tract of land on the Muskingum River, west of the seventh range of townships. Papers were signed for this purchase, and for the Scioto River tract, on the 27th of October, 1787, and title to the property passed from the United States on that date. Prior to this date the Ohio Company had arranged to apportion the lands of their purchase among the proprietor-shareholders of the company, in number about a thousand, one numbered subdivision in each allotment for each share. Plans were formed at a series of meetings, beginning August 29, 1787, and extending beyond the date of signature to July 7, 1788, for the distribution of these shares of the lands to the proprietors by a method of drafts, the details of which appear in the form of resolutions entered in the manuscript minutes of the Ohio company.<sup>99</sup>

<sup>99</sup> The minutes of the Ohio Company of Associates are in the Library of Marietta College, Marietta, Ohio. Extracts covering the matter of the drafts may be found in a set of four page leaflets issued, without date or title, for purposes of advancing the sale of shares in the company. A set of these leaflets is in the Col. John May Collection, W. R. H. S., attached to Col. May's copy of Dr. Cutler's famous pamphlet "An Explanation of the Map which Delinicates that part of the Federal Lands . . ." Salem, 1787. References to the subdivisions of the lands and the process of drafts as actually carried out, taken from these sources, follow :

(The instructions of August 30, respecting the allotments, which appear in the Massachusetts Gazette, Tuesday, September 11, 1787, were never carried out, but were displaced by later regulations.—A. M. D.)

At a Meeting of the DIRECTORS and AGENTS of the Ohio Company, at Mr. Brackett's Tavern, the 21st. of November, and continued by Adjournment to the twenty-second.

RESOLVED,

That the lands of the Ohio Company be allotted and divided in the following manner; anything to the contrary, in former resolutions notwithstanding—Viz.

Four thousand acres near the confluence of the Ohio and Muskingum river for a city and commons, and contiguous to this, one thousand lots of eight acres each, amounting to eight thousand acres.

Upon the Ohio in fractional townships, one thousand lots of one hundred and sixteen and  $\frac{2}{100}$ , amounting to one hundred and sixteen thousand four hundred and eighty acres.

In the townships on the navigable rivers, one thousand lots of three hundred and twenty acres, amounting to three hundred and twenty thousand acres, AND,

In the inland towns, one thousand lots of nine hundred and ninety two acres each, amounting to nine hundred and ninety two thousand acres, to be divided and allotted as the agents shall hereafter direct.

RESOLVED, that the city at the mouth of the Muskingum river be so laid out into oblong squares, as that each house-lot shall consist of ninety feet in front, and one hundred and eighty feet in depth, with an alley of ten feet in width, through each square in its oblong direction; and that the centre street, crossing the city, be one hundred and fifty feet wide, anything to the contrary, in former resolutions, notwithstanding.

RESOLVED, That the eight acre lots be surveyed, and a plat or map thereof be made, with each lot numbered thereon, by the first Wednesday in March next, and that a copy thereof, be immediately forwarded to the Secretary, and the original retained by the Company's Superintendent. That the Agents meet upon the same Wednesday in March, at Rice's Tavern in Providence, State of Rhode-Island, to draw for said lots in numbers, as the same shall be stated upon the plat. That a list of the draughts be transmitted by the Secretary to the Superintendent, and a copy thereof preserved in the Secretary's office.

WINTHROP SARGENT, Sec'y to the Ohio Company.

At a Meeting of the DIRECTORS of the Ohio Company at Mr. Brackett's Tavern, in Boston, November 23, 1787.

For the purpose of carrying into effect the surveys and other business of the Ohio Company; as agreed upon by the Directors, and Agents, at their meetings of the 29th. of August last, and the 21st. instant.

ORDERED,

That Col. Ebenezer Sproat, from Rhode-Island, Mr. Anslem Tupper, and Mr. John Matthews, from Massachusetts, and Col. R. J. Meigs, from Connecticut, be the surveyors.

That General Rufus Putnam, be the Superintendent of all the business aforesaid, and he is to be obeyed and respected accordingly.

General PARSONS in the Chair.

General Varnum, General Tupper, Mr. Barlow, Col. May, and Capt. Heyward, were appointed a Committee to examine into, and report upon, the returns of the Agents.

This Committee reported, that one thousand shares of the Ohio Company's purchase were taken up by the Agents, and that the drawing for the eight acre lots may commence as soon as the Meeting shall direct; which report was accepted and approved.

RESOLVED, That the Secretary enter upon the records the number of shares in each agency.

RESOLVED, That Mr. Cutler, General Parsons, Major Dexter, Col. Talmadge, and Major Corlis, be a Committee to prepare the names and numbers, and make all necessary arrangements for drawing the eight acre lots.

RESOLVED, That the drawing shall commence tomorrow morning, at the State-House in this town.

Adjourned till tomorrow morning, at 9 o'clock.

Thursday, March 6.

Met agreeably to adjournment.

The committee for preparing names and numbers reported, that they had procured two boxes, into the one of which they had put the names of the adventurers, as returned by the Agents (amounting to one thousand) and into the other the numbers, from No. 1 to No. 1000 inclusive:

That they have procured two lads to assist in drawing out the names and numbers.

That they have appointed Colonel J. May to receive the numbers, and call them off; and Major W. Sargent to receive and call off the names; And,

That they have appointed General H. Jackson, and Col. Talmadge, Clerks; and General B. Tupper to receive and string the several names and numbers together, as they shall be severally drawn out.

RESOLVED—, That the report of the Committee be accepted and approved; and that the Meeting adjourn to the State-House immediately, and proceed to drawing the lots.

Adjourned to the State-House.

At 9 o'clock, P.M. having completed the drawing of the names and numbers (a list of which is with the files of the Company, in the Secretary's office) the Meeting adjourned till to-morrow morning, at 9 o'clock, at Mr. Rice's Tavern.

Lists of the drafts kept by Col. May furnish means of obtaining the names of the proprietors of the Ohio Company, owners of lands on the Muskingum River, 1788-1792.<sup>100</sup> They present the drafts by name and number of the proprietor, the agency from which the shares were obtained, and the various numbers of the lots drawn against each name. An early list, dated 1788, gives names about in order of the alphabet, but a later list, 1796,<sup>101</sup> gives data from which corrections may be made, showing changes of residence, assignments of title, forfeitures, etc. A list, constructed from these sources follows, giving names of proprietors, residence, agency and number of shares held,<sup>102</sup> the corrections taken from the attested copy being inserted in each case in brackets.

Extracts from the Journal of Col. John May (Cincinnati, Robert Clarke & Co., 1873), relating to the distribution of lots on the Muskingum:

p. 59. [May 27, 1788] As to our surveying, buildings, etc., they are in a very backward way. Little appears to be done, and a great deal of time and money mispent. . . .

p. 60. [May 28, 1788] The directors and agents present agreed to lease the ministerial lot to different persons, in lots of ten acres each, for a term not less than one hundred years, at the option of the lessee—to be without rent the first ten years, and then a fixed rent the remainder of the time. This was done to accommodate a number of proprietors present, whose eight-acre lots were drawn at a distance. Went this afternoon to survey the ten-acre lots, and drew for them in the evening. Colonel Sproat drew No. 9; Varnum, 10; May, 11; Sargent, 12; Parsons, 13, etc. . . .

p. 63. [June 7, 1788] General Varnum and his party are making difficulties about the eight-acre lots not being drawn contiguous to the city; also, with respect to the Seloto purchase. The rations are not good. General Putnam did not strictly adhere to orders given at Brackett's tavern in Boston, and Rice's tavern at Providence. I think I foresee difficulties of a more serious nature.

p. 65. [June 9, 1788] . . . Met to settle difficulties respecting the eight-acre lots; but we could not agree, and adjourned until to-morrow, at 8 o'clock A.M. . . .

p. 66. [June 10, 1788] . . . Met this morning, according to adjournment, and after much debate and discussion, agreed to cut up our commons into three-acre lots, to be drawn for in July. This has appeased the minds of the people. We also appointed officers of police.

p. 76. [July 2, 1788] . . . Attended myself a meeting of directors and agents, according to order at Providence, 8th March. Chose a committee to make preparation for drawing the city lots. Entered into several debates, and at 2 o'clock adjourned until Monday, 7th inst., at 8 o'clock in the morning, for the purpose of drawing the city lots, and transacting such other business as may be thought necessary for the establishment of our infant settlement. . . .

p. 79. [July 5, 1788] . . . I am employed myself in preparing for the draughts of the city lots. . . .

p. 82. [July 7, 1788] . . . We have drawn the city lots to-day. . . .

<sup>100</sup> Several of the official drafts, two of which are in the library of the New England Historic Genealogical Society, were found in the chest of Col. John May, which, with its contents, is now in the Western Reserve Historical Society.

<sup>101</sup> In the Col. John May collection, W. R. H. S. Attested copy of an instrument executed February 1, 1796, whereby agents of the Ohio Company relinquish and quit-claim to each proprietor the allotments made in the several drafts, viz.

one lot of eight acres,	one lot of 100 acres, one lot of three acres,	6th division { one lot of 640 acres,
one house or town lot,	{ one lot of 262 acres.

SALE OF CHESHAM, CO. BUCKS

[The following genealogy of the Sale family, compiled from the registers of Chesham, co. Bucks, England, explains several of the relationships expressed in the above will, and presents the origin of several early New England emigrants, both male and female. Chartridge is a hamlet in the parish of Chesham, and Bledlow is another Bucks parish about twelve miles west from Chesham. E. F.]

1. JOHN<sup>1</sup> SALE "of Bledlow" married at Chesham, 27 Apr. 1562, AGNES BYRCH, widow of William Byrch<sup>a</sup> of Chartridge in Chesham, and immediately settled at Chartridge, where he lived until his decease, being buried 15 Nov. 1577. His widow Agnes was buried at Chesham 20 Jan. 1599-1600.

The Will of JOHN SALE of Chartregge in the Countie of Bucks., Husbandman, 20 Jan. 1576-7. My body to be buried in the churchyard of Chessam. To the Cathedral Church of Lincken 2d. To the poor of the parish 3s. 4d. To the poor men's box 12d. My debts to be paid by Agnes my welbeloved wife, whom I make my sole executrix, she to have all my goods and debts toward the payment of my debts that she may bring up my children. I trust I have accomplished to her that before marriage was made for clearing of my conscience. I desire Mr. Walweyn, parson of Harige [Hawridge], to help my wife in her affairs and be one of my overseers with my cousin John Tookfild, and to each of them 3s. 4d. I have left this will in the hands of Mr. Walweyn until God shall call me out of this wretched world. Witnesses: Willam Tompsons, John Geeford, Clement Harrysone, Bridged Duke, with others. Proved 21 Feb. 1577-8 by the executrix named in the will. (Archdeaconry of Bucks, 1577, 13.)

[The foregoing material makes public for the first time the English home of Christopher Gibson, Edward Sale, and William Preston, early settlers of New England; gives possible clues to the origin of Robert Seabrook, James Priest, Richard Ingraham, and John Gove, other early emigrants; and with other data enables us to understand nearly all the relationships expressed in the will of Christopher Gibson in 1674. The latter came with Winthrop in 1630, was a soap-boiler by occupation, and a man of substance; and, although he had no children, his name survives among us to this day in the "Christopher Gibson School" and the "Christopher Gibson Playground" in Dorchester, as memorials of his legacy to the free school in that town.

Having no relatives here and no children of his own, Gibson made bequests to various relatives of his two wives, calling them his kinsfolk. "Sister Foster" was Mary Bate, born 1619, wife of Capt. Hopestill Foster, daughter of James Bate and sister of Margaret Bate, second wife of Gibson. "Cousin Hopestill Foster jun." was her son. "Cousin Thomas Dampford" was Thomas<sup>d</sup> Danforth, Jr., born in 1654, son of Hon. Thomas and Mary (Withington) Danforth, whose aunt Anne Withington married James Bate, Jr., brother to Margaret Bate, second wife of Gibson. "Cousin Ebenezer Williams" was son of Roger Williams of Dorchester by wife Lydia Bate, sister of Gibson's second wife. "Brother Edward Sealle" was brother of Sarah Sale, first wife of Gibson. "Ephraim Serle" and "Rebecca Sealle, wife of Garrat Ingram," were children of said Edward Sale; and "Alice Serle" was wife of Ephraim and "Hannah Sealle," their daughter. "William Ingraham" was brother of Garrat Ingraham. "Gibson Farr," born in 1666, was son of Eleazer Farr, who married Mary Preston, daughter of Daniel Preston and granddaughter of William Preston, who married Elizabeth Sale, sister of Gibson's first wife. "Cousin Joseph Alsop jr." was son of Joseph Alsop, who married Elizabeth Preston, daughter of William Preston, who married Elizabeth Sale. "Brother James Brett" means James Bate, Jr., brother of Gibson's second wife. "Sister Mansfield" seems to refer to Mary, wife of John Mansfield of Boston, formerly wife of John Gove; possibly she was Mary Sale, born in 1604, sister of Gibson's first wife. How William Lane was "brother" to Gibson is not clear. "Sister Snelling" must refer to Sarah ———, who married, about 1656, John Snelling of Boston, but her connection with Gibson is not apparent. A James Priest was baptized at Chesham 5 Nov. 1610, son of Abraham and Elizabeth (Nuens) Priest; perhaps he was our emigrant of Weymouth in 1640 and the legatee of Gibson's will. The name Ingraham is common in Bucks, and it may be found that Richard Ingraham, father of William and Garrat, came from that county. Elizabeth, "John Withington's wife," was daughter of Daniel Preston and granddaughter of William Preston.

Of Gibson's "honored friends," Gov. Leverett's wife, Sarah Sedgewick, belonged to a family located at Woburn, co. Beds, and Edward Tyng's wife was Mary Sears, daughter of Francis Sears of Layton Buzzard, co. Beds. These places are but five miles apart and about twenty miles north of Chesham; and Christopher Gibson probably originated in their vicinity.

Heretofore it has always been supposed that William Preston came from Giggleswick in Yorkshire, where he appears to have had property. This place is over two hundred miles north of Chesham, where it now appears he certainly lived for over twenty years before emigrating to America.

The registers of Chesham show the marriage, on 10 June 1630, of Zachariah Whitman and Sarah Biscoe, baptized at Chesham 9 Nov. 1606, daughter of Richard and Martha Biscoe. This couple are evidently the Zacharia Whitman, aged 40, and wife Sarah, aged 25, who came to New England in the Truelove in Sept. 1635, the same ship that brought William Preston from Chesham. This Zachariah Whitman was a brother of John Whitman of Weymouth, ancestor of most of the Whitmans of America. Research in Bucks may unearth the Whitman ancestry. J. G. BARTLETT.]

SALE OF BLELOW, CO. BUCKS

[The two following wills are the earliest testaments in the Archdeaconry of Bucks of the Sales of Bledlow. A study of these wills and the extracts from the registers indicate that both testators were born not far from 1545, and so probably were of a later generation than the first John Sale, who settled in Chesham, and whose wife was born about 1525. It is likely that Amy Sale, the testatrix of 1608, was widow of a brother of James Sale, the testator of 1608. There are several wills of descendants at Bledlow of James Sale, and also of Amy Sale, but they throw no light on the Sale family of Chesham, which furnished the emigrant to New England.]

The Will of JAMES SALE sen. of Bledlowe in the County of Bucks., yeoman, 17 Jan. 1608. To be buried in the parish of Bledlowe. To the poor of the parish 20s. To son Thomas Sale £20, to be paid by my son Rowland Sale one year after my decease if he or his lawful deputy shall come to my dwelling house to demand it. To sons Richard, Edward and William £20 apiece, to be paid by my son Rowland as they shall come to the age of twenty-one. To son Raphe £20, to be paid by son James one year after his apprenticeship shall be set forth. To daughter Katherine, wife of Christopher Bigge, £10. To daughter Ursula £30 at twenty-one. To daughter Alice, wife of Robert Cattle, 40s. To daughters Isabell, wife of James Steevens, and Elizabeth, wife of John Steevens, and Phillip, wife of John Towne, 20s. each. To son Rowland various household goods, etc., to be used equally by wife and son Rowland, with reversion to Rowland on the death of my wife, in consideration of the use of £10 belonging to said Rowland's wife, on which sum I have not paid for use. To son John. To son James the crop growing in Mausley, if I die before harvest next. To children Ralphe, Richard, Edward, William, and Ursula. To each of my children's children. I forgive my brother Henry and my brother Edward Holt the debts they owe me. My executrix to pay my sister Elizabeth Greenwood's rent for the church house. Residue of goods and chattels unbequeathed to wife Elizabeth, who is made sole executrix on condition that she keep herself a widow. If she marry, the residue to be equally divided between children Raphe, Richard, Edward, William, and Ursula at the appointment of my overseers, Richard Chitch and Edward Steevens, to whom 6s. 8d. each. Witnesses: Richard Chitche, Edward Steevens, and others. Proved 6 Apr. 1609 by the executrix named. (Archdeaconry of Bucks, 1608.)

The Will of AMEY SALE of Bledlowe ridge in the parish of Bledlowe in the County of Bucks., widow, 30 Jan. 1608. To be buried in the parish church yard of Bledlowe. To son Raphe one cow, and to his two children 20s. apiece. To daughter Elizabeth Francklin one cow, and to each of her four children 20s. apiece. To daughter Cicelye one cow. To James Sale, son of Richard Sale, 20s. and six sheep, and to his other four children 20s. apiece. To Elizabeth and Anne Sale, the two daughters of Richard Sale, a pewter platter each. All the residue of my goods unbequeathed to my son James, whom I make sole executor. I owe £10 to my son-in-law Rowland Sale. Witnesses: Thomas Carter, Gilles Floid, and James Sale. Proved 30 June 1609 by the executor named in the will. (Archdeaconry of Bucks, 1609, 88.)

[The early parish registers of Bledlow are missing, and the Archdeacon's Transcripts give only one year before 1600, and after that about every alternate year. The following Sale entries have been gleaned from these Transcripts in the Archdeaconry of Bucks:]

Samuel Cooke & Dorcas Bradstreet, 28 Sept. 1682

[The will of John Bradstreet of Capel, dated 1610, mentions a nephew Humphrey Bradstreet, probably the emigrant Humphrey Bradstreet, aged 40, who came in 1634 from Ipswich in the ship Elizabeth with wife Bridget and children Hannah, John, Martha, and Mary. It will be remembered that Isaac Mixer and his family, who came in the same ship, were also from Capel (REGISTER, vol. 63, p. 277). I believe John of Capel, the testator of 1610, and his brother Thomas (probably father of Humfrey), to be the sons of that name born to Humfrey Bradstreet of Gislingham in 1568 and 1571. I also believe that the son Simon Bradstreet, mentioned in the will of John Bradstreet of Gislingham in 1559, was the father of Rev. Simon Bradstreet and grandfather of Governor Simon Bradstreet. It is known that the Governor's father, Rev. Simon, born about 1565-70, was a minister and held a living at Horbling, Lincolnshire, where the Governor was born in 1603, and that before this he held a living at Hinderclay, co. Suffolk, which is only five miles from Gislingham. (For the will of Rev. Simon Bradstreet of Horbling see REGISTER, vol. 48, p. 170.) There were Bradstreet families at Buxhall and vicinity, but there is no apparent connection with the Gislingham and Capel families. E. F.]

[The above suggestion, that Humphrey Bradstreet, nephew of John of Capel, the testator of 1610, was the emigrant to New England, seems probably correct. It seems unlikely, however, that John of Capel, who died in 1610, was identical with John, born in 1571, the son of Humphrey of Gislingham. Capel, Bentley, and Wenham are adjacent parishes in Suffolk, about five miles southwest of Ipswich, and Gislingham is some thirty miles north of them. A Robert Bradstreet was taxed in Capel, and a Henry Bradstreet in Bentley, in the Suffolk Subsidy of 1568, and it is likely that one of these, probably Robert, was the father of John of Capel, the testator of 1610. In the Suffolk Subsidy of 1524 an Edmund Bradstreet and an Edmund Bradstreet junior were assessed at Bentley.

The suggested line of ancestry of Gov. Bradstreet seems reasonable, and it is to be hoped that further evidence on this line may be found.

The Suffolk Subsidy for 1327 has but three mentions of Bradstreet in the whole county: Roger de Bradestret of Combs, Hugo de Brastrete of Great Finborough, and William de Brakstrete of Creeting.

These three parishes are contiguous and adjacent to Buxhall, which is in the centre of Suffolk and just half way between Gislingham and Capel. It therefore seems likely that the Bradstreet family originated near Buxhall, and that in the fifteenth century branches spread north some fifteen miles to Gislingham and south an equal distance to Capel.

J. G. BARTLETT.]

The Will of GEORGE BARRELL of St. Michael's, South Elmham, in the County of Suffolk, carpenter, 27 May 1620. My body to be buried in the churchyard of St. Michael's. To my wife Dorathy, during her natural life, my tenement called Austers with the appurtenances, and after her decease son George Barrell, "his heires, executors, or assignes, he or they paieinge & performeing all such legacies and bequestes as are hereafter in this my Will specified and declared." To daughter Ellen, wife of Jacob Barrell of Layston, blacksmith, £10 to be paid out of my tenement as follows in four equal parts of 50s., each to be paid one year, three years, five years, and six years after the death of my wife. If said Ellen die before her legacy be fully paid, any part remaining unpaid to be equally divided among her children then living, at such time as she should have received it. To daughter Alice £5, to be paid as follows, 50s. two years after her mother's death and 50s. at the end of four years, also a boarded coat and furniture. To John Barrell of the City of Norwich, my grandchild, £5 eight years after the decease of his grandmother. To grandchild John Barker £5 twelve years after the decease of his grandmother. If daughter Alice or grandchild John Barker die before legacies in money be paid in part or whole, reversion to the survivor, at the times before specified. I do ordain Dorathy, my wife, and George, my son, executors of this my will, and give them all the residue of my movable goods, household stuff, and timber unbequeathed, with the debts to me owing, they paying the following bequests out of my moveable goods: "to George £10 to be raised out of y<sup>e</sup> aforesaid moueables and paid him within twoe yeares next followinge after my Decease." To daughters Ellen and Alice £10 apiece in two years after my decease. Upon receipt of the said legacy the said George, Ellen, and Alice shall stand bound by an obligation for the payment of 10s. a year to their said mother, to be paid at the usual feasts of the year, for her better maintenance. Executors charged with the payment of debts and funeral charges. Witnesses: Roger Wood and William Norman. Proved at Beccles 3 June 1620 by George Barrell, one of the executors named in the will, with power reserved for the relict, being the other executor. (Archdeaconry of Suffolk, (Ipswich), 1620, 36.)

The will of JACOB BARRELL of Layston in the County of Suffolk, blacksmith, 13 May 1621. To wife Hellen all my houses and lands for her natural life, she bringing up my children in the nurture and fear of God. To Jacobe Barrefe, my son, and to him and his heirs forever, all my houses and lands after the decease of his mother, he paying to his brothers and sisters, or their heirs, as follows: to his brother George Barrell £6 13s. 4d. in two years after he enter into the said house and lands; to his brother Traynor Barile £6 13s. 4d. in four years after entry; and to his sister Dorothy Barrile £6 13s. 4d. in six years after entry. If my son Jacobe refuse to pay said legacies, then son George to enter into the land and pay the said sums. The rest of my moveable goods unbequeathed to wife Helen, whom I make sole executrix. [Signed] Jacob Barrell. Witnesses: John Cullington, Thomas Cannon, and Jonas Blomfield. Item, I have given the surrender of all my houses and lands holden of the manor of Leiston into the hands of Jonas Blomfeild in the presence of Thomas Cannon to the use of my last will and testament. Proved at Snape 29 May 1621 by Helen, the relict and executrix named in the will. (Archdeaconry of Suffolk (Ipswich), 1621, 29.)

[George Barrell came to Boston in 1637 from St. Michael's, Wangford Hundred, Suffolk (REGISTER, vol. 61, p. 69). By St. Michael's is meant the parish of South Elmham St. Michael's. There are six South Elmhams: South Elmham All Saints-cum-St. Nicholas, South Elmham St. Cross or Sandcroft St. George, South Elmham St. James, South Elmham St. Margaret, South Elmham St. Michael, and South Elmham St. Peter. Anciently it was customary to call these places simply by the name of the church. The only other Barrell will found is of too early a date in the sixteenth century to trace any connection with this family. Savage calls the emigrant William Barrell a brother of George, but there is no evidence for this assertion, which appears to be erroneous. E. F.]

REVOLUTIONARY SOLDIERS OF YORK COUNTY, MAINE

Communicated by GEORGE WALTER CHAMBERLAIN, M.S., of Malden, Mass.

FORTY-FIVE years after the beginning of the American Revolution there were 249 persons living in York County who appeared before Benjamin Greene of South Berwick, Chief Justice of the Court of Common Pleas for the first eastern circuit of Maine, to present their claims for pensions from the United States Government. The sessions of Court were held at York on July 4 and 5, 1820, and at Alfred on July 18, 19, and 20 following.

Each applicant for pension was required to make an affidavit of his services and present conditions for record in the Court and to be transmitted to the office of the Secretary of War. These affidavits in York County were arranged alphabetically and recorded in the Common Pleas Records, vol. 38, pp. 254-506, by Daniel Sewall, clerk.

Somewhat over fifty of the applications were reversed at this session, and later many of these persons and about twenty others presented their claims more fully than had been done in 1820. The later affidavits give much military information concerning the soldier as well as interesting facts about each family, and are recorded in several volumes of the court records (vide infra).

It must be remembered that, in 1820, Berwick included the present towns of Berwick and North Berwick; Shapleigh, the present towns of Shapleigh and Acton; Hollis, the present towns of Hollis and Dayton; Saco, the present city of Saco and the town of Old Orchard; while the town of Arundel has been changed to Kennebunkport.

The families herein given include only those living with each applicant at the date of his application.

STATE OF MAINE

York, ss. At a Circuit Court of Common Pleas, for the First Eastern Circuit, begun and held at York, within and for the County of York, on the first Tuesday of July, being the fourth day of said month, in the year of our Lord, 1820.

Pursuant to a resolve of said State, for the purpose of receiving applications of Pensioners for services in the revolutionary War.

Present, the honorable Benjamin Greene, Chief Justice of said Court.

Proclamation is made, and the Court is opened in the usual manner.

Ordered, that each applicant cause his name to be entered on the docket, and that he pay to the Clerk three Dollars; out of which he shall pay to the Court one Dollar & thirty Cents, to the Sheriff fifteen Cents, & to the Crier fifteen Cents; and the residue being one Dollar & forty Cents, he retain to his own use, for the entry, administering the oath, filing the papers, recording the proceedings at full length, copying & certifying the same under the seal of the Court, and transmitting the same to the office of the Secretary at War.

The Court after sitting two days at York, adjourned to Alfred on the third Tuesday of July, being the eighteenth day of said month, at 10 o'clock forenoon.

York, ss. Alfred, July 18th, 1820. The Court is opened according to adjournment.

Present, the honorable Benjamin Greene, chief Justice of said Court.

After sitting three days at Alfred, the Court is adjourned without day.

Attest, DANIEL SEWALL, Clerk.

Act of Congress passed March 18, 1818, entitled, "An Act to provide for certain persons engaged in the land and naval service of the United States, in the Revolutionary War."

PROCEEDINGS OF THE NEW ENGLAND HISTORIC
GENEALOGICAL SOCIETY

By JOHN ALBREE, Recording Secretary

Boston, Massachusetts, 4 May, 1910. A stated meeting of the Society was held at Pilgrim Hall, 14 Beacon Street, at 2.30 P.M., President Baxter presiding. The minutes of the April meeting were read and approved.

The reports of the Corresponding Secretary, Librarian, Historian, and Council were accepted.

Fifteen members were elected by ballot to resident membership.

Henry L. Chapman, D.D., LL.D., Professor of English Literature and Language, Bowdoin College, and Vice-President of the Maine Historical Society, read a paper on Joel Barlow and his Columbiad, in which he told of Barlow's interesting career as a patriot, man of affairs, diplomat, and man of letters, and commented on the fact that there still remains against Barlow the hostility born of political prejudices, the occasion of which has long since been forgotten.

A vote of thanks of the Society was extended to Professor Chapman for his learned address, and for his careful and discriminating delineation of one who was a patriot and a poet.

The meeting then dissolved, after which refreshments were served.

5 October. A stated meeting of the Society was held at Pilgrim Hall, 14 Beacon Street, Boston, at 2.30 P.M., President Baxter presiding.

The minutes of the May meeting were read and approved.

The reports of the Corresponding Secretary, Librarian, Historian, and Council were accepted.

Twenty members were elected by ballot to resident membership.

On motion, it was Voted—That the New England Historic Genealogical Society accepts the bequest of the late George Sumner Mann, subject to the conditions imposed in his will, and the Treasurer of this Society be hereby authorized to receipt for the said legacy, subject to the said restrictions.

It was announced that the City Council of Boston had taken action relative to marking the scions of the Old Elm on the Common, as recommended by this Society.

The paper of the afternoon was on Early American Jewish History, by Lee M. Friedman, LL.B., a member of the Suffolk Bar, in which he presented the results of his study of the history of a people that are frequently styled alien, but who, from the time of Columbus's first voyage, have been interwoven with the events of the American continent. He mentioned especially, among others, Solomon Franko, who was in Boston in 1649, the first recorded Jew in the present United States, Judah Monis, for forty years the instructor in Hebrew at Harvard College, and Haym Salomon of Philadelphia, the ardent patriot and substantial supporter of Jefferson, Madison, and Munroe in the dark times of the Revolution.

Rev. Anson Titus spoke of a visit to the grave of Monis at Northborough, Mass., and on his motion a vote of thanks of the Society was extended to Mr. Friedman for his paper, so interestingly presented, in which were embodied the results of extensive and accurate research.

Frank B. Sanborn of Concord spoke of Samuel Gordon's book on the Excellency of the Jewish Character and the Christianization of Jerusalem, which was written in Boston at the time Franko was here. It was attributed for years to Milton, but Gordon's authority is now proven.

The meeting was dissolved, after which refreshments were served and an exhibit of noteworthy genealogies was inspected.

2 November. A stated meeting of the Society was held at 14 Beacon Street, at 2.30 P.M., President Baxter presiding.

The records of the October meeting were read and approved. The reports of the Corresponding Secretary, Librarian, Historian, and Council were accepted.

By ballot the following were elected members of the Nominating Committee: Joseph Gardner Bartlett, Virginia Hall, Arthur Greene Loring, Walter Kendall Watkins, and Frank Ernest Woodward.

Mr. George Francis Dow, Secretary of the Essex Institute, Salem, spoke on Ten English Towns, which he visited recently, and whose names are borne by towns in Essex County in Massachusetts. The address was replete with incident, description, historical fact, and anecdote.

Archibald M. Howe and James H. Stark spoke of visits they had made in England, and on motion of Charles Sidney Ensign a vote of thanks of the Society was given to Mr. Dow for his account of his journey to the Old English Towns, for which his enthusiastic and thorough work on behalf of their New England namesakes especially prepared him.

The meeting then dissolved, after which refreshments were served, and the collection of all the volumes of Massachusetts vital records thus far printed was inspected.

NOTES

It having come to the attention of this Society that certain genealogists and publishers have used the name of the Society in connection with their own enterprises, the Society again desires to state that it has NO genealogical representatives in this country or in England, nor is it in any way connected with any publications other than those that it issues over its own name at 18 Somerset Street, Boston.

The Committee on English Research desires to state, however, that although the Society has no official representative in England the Committee is employing Miss French as a record searcher there along special lines for the benefit of the REGISTER.

KING, BROWNE.—In Phillimore and Gurney's Buckinghamshire Parish Registers, vol. 6, pp. 10, 11, occur the following marriages at High Wycombe:

Daniel King & Eliz. Guy 4 Oct. 1624
Chaddus Browne & Eliz. Sharparowe 11 Sept. 1626

It was surmised by Mr. Henry F. Waters, who furnished the information to Mr. Rufus King for his "Pedigree of King of Lynn, Mass.," that Daniel King, Sr.'s wife's family name was Guy. Her first name was known to be Elizabeth. The correctness of the surmise is borne out by the marriage mentioned above, to which Mr. Waters has called attention. High Wycombe is not far from Beaconsfield, in the same county, of which place Daniel King, Jr., was in May 1653, being bound for New England. (Cf. REGISTER, vol. 33, pp. 375-6.)

The date of Chaddus Browne's marriage, as above, and the first name of his wife, are right for Chad Browne of Rhode Island. The locality seems likely, judging by the names of his associates as shown by Sylvester Baldwin's nuncupative will. (Ex inform. William P. Greenlaw; cf. Chad Browne Memorial, pp. 7-8, and Waters's Genealogical Gleanings, vol. 1, p. 708.)

LEVERETT.—(Cf. REGISTER, vol. 35, pp. 272-5, 345-56.) The theory that the address on the letter of King Charles to Gov. Leverett, which led to the assumption that Leverett may have been knighted, was due to a clerical error, is borne out by the following fact.

The letter in question was granted on petition of John Wampus alias White, who was in prison in London for debt. In this petition Wampus prays for a letter to "Sir John Leverett." (Colonial Entry Book, vol. 93, p. 150; Papers, vol. 37, p. 49.) Doubtless the scrivener who wrote the petition accepted it as a matter of course that so prominent a man had some title, and gave him that of Sir. The error was passed along by the clerks in the government, who then as now would not be apt to verify a title so common as that of Sir; hence the address "S<sup>r</sup> John Leveritt, Knt." As to the reading of the date of receipt of the letter, Savage was probably correct in making it out 2 June 1677. From a court paper in Suffolk files (1642) it appears that Wampus brought over the letter himself, and arrived in the "spring of 1677," later more closely fixed by "four months since," the date of the entry being October. It is also an interesting fact that Robert Taft of Mount Hope was one of the men who became associated with Pratt and Blake in the attempt to establish their claim to lands under a grant from Wampus, which finally culminated in the incorporation of Sutton. It was at an Indian court held at Coowate at the lower falls of Charles River, in 1677, that Wampus's claims to possess land in severalty were repudiated by the Indians. This is one of the localities where the Christian Indians were allowed to settle at the end of the war, whilst hostilities were still being carried on, and was evidently an ancient village site, as during the past few years my son has quite thoroughly searched this locality and unearthed a number of stone implements, chips, and pottery, as have others in former years. The site of the village would seem to be in the little dell still partly existing in the ravine just north of Glen Road on the Wellesley side of the river at Newton Lower Falls, and between the Metropolitan Park reservation and Glen Road. The brook rising at Indian Spring, and that from the Hundreds, enter the river near this spot.

SPINNEY, RANDALL, NORMAN.—Pope's Maine and New Hampshire Pioneers, if published at the time, would have subjected the author to an action for libel, for he says that the unfortunate young woman, Margery Randall, was found guilty, because she was unable to prove her marriage to William Norman, whereas a few pages further along the records show Norman's confession of having grievously wronged her by marrying her without having been divorced from his wife in England; whereupon Margery's marriage was annulled, with alimony, and he was banished the province under pain of death. Thomas Spinney was mentioned in these proceedings, and this was doubtless the Margery that became his wife. It is commonly stated that Mary, wife of John Fernald, was daughter of Thomas Spinney, but I surmise that she was daughter of William and Margery Norman by this bigamous marriage. Norman was prosecuted for this double marriage, in March 1650-1, and the History of Kittery says that John and Mary were married before 1669. Thomas Spinney does not mention Mary in his will, although it was witnessed by a Mary Fernald; but he had previously conveyed to John Fernald a piece of land by a peculiarly worded deed. Whether the original deed is in existence I know not, but I have closely examined the original record. Entries with comma and ampersand are common, as for instance, "Thomas Spinney, & Margery his wife," who are the grantors; but there is no ampersand in defining Mary's parentage. The entry reads: "John Fernald, of the same town, shoemaker, who married Mary the daughter of the said Spinney, his said wife." This is the ancient possessive case and means Mary the daughter of said Spinney's said wife. Of course all the facts must have been well known in Kittery at the time this deed was drawn and recorded. Many worthy and some very prominent people come from John and Mary, and it looks as though we must acknowledge our descent from an ill-regulated and cruel, though apparently repentant, man and his unfortunate but blameless mate. On the other hand it should be said that later on in the deed the language is "their said daughter," and that after John Fernald's death Thomas Spinney stood as the grandfather of his minor children. The language of the deed, however, appears to be unmistakable, as also that Mary was not Spinney, except as Thomas was a good father to her.

HUMFREY.—In a study of the life of John Humfrey, one of the founders of the Massachusetts Bay Colony, I have been led to the conclusion that he was the John Humfrey who signed the pedigree in Harleian MS. 1166, fo. 9<sup>b</sup>, as published in the Visitation of Dorset, 1623, p. 57. He is recorded there as son and heir of "Michael Humfrey of Chaldon in com. Dorset," and aged 26 years in 1623, with wife Elizabeth, daughter of "Herbert Pelham of Compton in com. Dorset," and John Humfrey, son and heir, aged one year.

On page 105 of the History of the Ancient and Honorable Artillery Company is the statement that John Humfrey's eldest son John joined the company in 1641, which would make him about 19 or 20 at that time.

But the best evidence of identity is a comparison of the pedigree signature with the signature of John Humfrey in his letter to his brother-in-law, Isaac Johnson, in 1630, as shown in 4 Mass. Historical Society Collections, vol. 6, pl. 1.* Though written seven years apart, and the signature attached to the pedigree a formal one, while the other was a careless one closing a familiar letter to his brother-in-law, I believe any expert in hand writing would pronounce them belonging to the same hand.

It would be interesting to obtain, if possible, the will of Michael Humfrey. He is mentioned in the list of adventurers at Cape Ann by John White of Dorchester in 1634, but among those "all sithence deceased" (REGISTER, vol. 61, p. 279). Further along in the list we find "John Humfrey, gent., living in New England."

I think investigation will prove that Michael Humfrey of Windsor, Conn., was a grandson of the Michael of the Dorset pedigree and nephew of John Humfrey of the Massachusetts Bay Colony.

* The arms in the seal following the signature appear to be the same as those accompanying the Humfrey pedigree in the Visitation of Dorset, p. 57, viz. "Gules, a cross-croset botonné argent, charged on each end with three escallops sable," and marked "Respited for proof of his right to this coate."—EDITOR.

From Visitation of Dorset, 1623.

From 4 Mass. Hist. Soc. Coll. vi.

If the foregoing descent be correct, it is evident that the Lady Susan, sister of the Earl of Lincoln, was his second wife and not the mother of John the eldest son. It is also probable that he was a brother-in-law of Herbert Pelham, another of the founders of the Massachusetts Bay Colony.

MANOR OF EAST GREENWICH.—The expression in early charters and grants in New England, in substance, that the land was to be held in full and common socage as of the King's Manor of East Greenwich in the County of Kent, has troubled many people and has given rise to various explanations, many of them fanciful. The same expression was used in the grant by James I in 1608 to certain Benchers of the Inner Temple and Middle Temple of the ground and buildings occupied by them. What may be considered an authoritative explanation of the phrase is given by a Bencher of the Middle Temple, Arthur Robert Ingpen, K. C., in a note to page 25 of a recent edition of "Master Worsley's Book," a history of the Middle Temple, a copy of which follows:

"The Manor of East Greenwich belonged formerly to the priory and convent of Shene, and was granted by the Prior to the King, 23 Hen. VIII, to be annexed to the patrimony of the Crown (Hasted's 'Hist. of Kent,' 1778). Prior to abolition of Feudal tenure by 12 Car. II, c. 24, if the king granted lands without reserving any particular service or tenure the patentee would hold of him in capite by knights-service. The king was empowered by statute 35 Hen. VIII, c. 14, as to the lesser monasteries, and by statute 37 Hen. VIII, c. 20, as to all manors and land not exceeding 40s. per ann. in value, and by whatever title acquired, to grant the same to be holden of the king, either by knights-service in capite, or by fealty in socage or burgage and not in capite. Subsequently by statute 1 Edw. VI, c. 4, it was declared that all estates, without any limit as to value, holden of the king his heirs and successors by knights-service, socage or otherwise as of any of his or their Dukedoms, Earldoms, Baronies, Castles, or Manors which came to the Crown by means of any dissolution, surrender, attainder, conviction, or outlawry should not be taken to be holden in capite or as tenure in capite. Thenceforth Crown grants by Letters Patent, and even statutory grants of Crown lands (see 27 Eliz., c. 27), are frequently found to be in form 'Tenendum de nobis et heredibus nostris in libera et commune sociagi fidelitatis tantum ut de manerio nostris de East Greenwich in Com. Cantlæ.' The tenendum 'as of our Manor of East Greenwich in free and common socage by fealty only' was a fiction intended to create an estate within the meaning of the statute 1 Edw. VI, c. 4, and to express that the grantee held free of all services except fealty, which is an essential incident to every tenure and cannot be released. This was also formerly a common form in the charters to the old English Colonies in America. An amusing speech was made by Sir James Marriott in addressing the House of Commons on the question of American taxation. He declared 'that it appeared to him that the matter had been mistaken through the whole argument. It had been contended that America should not be taxed, because she was not represented. But the assertion was untrue, seeing that when we took possession of America, we did so as part and parcel of the Manor of East Greenwich in the County of Kent' (Polin's 'Law and Lawyers,' 1858, p. 177). The corresponding stock manor of the Duchy of Lancaster was the Manor of Enfield in the County of Middlesex. The Manor of the Temple, although originally of the Honor of Leicester and Duchy of Lancaster, ceased to be connected with the Duchy on the vesting in the crown by 32 Hen. VIII, c. 24."

ENGLISH ANCESTRY OF PRESIDENT FILLMORE.—The ancestry of President Millard Fillmore was investigated in 1857 by Dr. Ashbel Woodward of Franklin, Conn., who printed a genealogy of the family in the REGISTER in April of that year. He deduced the President's descent from one John Fillmore, mariner, who married, in 1701, Abigail Tilton, and died at sea before 1711. The English origin of this John Fillmore, mariner, has never been definitely ascertained. Dr. Woodward stated that his researches made it quite probable, if the evidence is not quite conclusive, that John Fillmore, or more likely his ancestors (originally from England), emigrated first to Nova Scotia, and that subsequently John settled in the colony of Massachusetts. Unfortunately Dr. Woodward did not say on what evidence this theory was based, but from the way in which he refers to the very eminent family of Filmer of Kent, now represented by Sir Robert Marcus Filmer, Bart., it would appear that he thought that the American Fillmores came from that stock; but it is unlikely that this is anything more than a guess on the part of Dr. Woodward. That Filmer and Filmore, or Fillmore, are interchangeable forms of the same name is well known. In a biographical notice of President Fillmore the Illustrated London News claimed a Devonshire origin for his family on probably no better evidence than Dr. Woodward possessed. Possibly this origin may have been suggested by or through Lewis Fillmore, a journalist engaged at one time on the London Times, whose ancestors held a respectable position at Lympstone in Devonshire. What adds to this probability is that there is record of a John Filmore sailing from the adjoining port of Topsham in the early eighteenth century. He may be identical with the mariner John Fillmore, but there is nothing to show it, and so far the English origin remains unknown.

We have two groups of the name. The Filmers, sometimes Filmore and especially Finmore, settled in Kent in the 14th century, and the Filmores of Devon settled there at least as early as the 16th century. Hitherto I have been inclined to favor a Devonshire origin for the President's family, but an entry which I have just come across, whilst editing the second volume (soon to be issued) of my Kent Parish Register series, inclines me to think that after all the President may come from the Kentish family. The entry in question is: Comfort Filmer and Mary Crane, married by license at Willesborough, Kent, 5 July 1784.

The significance of this entry lies in the fact that Nathaniel Fillmore, the President's grandfather, had an uncle named Comfort Fillmore, born 1742, died 1814; the latter also having a son Comfort Day Fillmore, born in 1792. It will be seen that the American Comfort Fillmore was contemporary with but probably somewhat senior to the English Comfort Filmer. The adoption of so unusual a Christian name is surely more than a mere coincidence.

Up to the present time I have thought that this Christian name of the President's great uncle belonged to that class of personal names derived from moral qualities, such as Faith, Hope, Charity, but the coincidence of the use of "Comfort" as a Christian name by an English family of Filmer and an American Fillmore, almost contemporaneously, has led me to inquire if it may not be due to a desire to perpetuate the memory of some family bearing the name of Comfort. Though it seems rare, I find that such a surname exists. It is first alluded to by Lower, who suggests that it is a contracted form of the place name Comerford, but it is not even mentioned by either Guppy or Bardsley. However, we find a few references to the name in the calendars to the wills in the Prerogative Court of Canterbury, which have been printed by the British Record Society. Thus we have:

Ambrose Comforte, Battle, Sussex	1561
Richard Comerett, Newport Pond, Essex and Bishop's Stortford, Hertfordshire	1588
Elizabeth widow of Thomas Comfort of Keyston, Huntingdonshire	1626
Thomas Comforte, jun., smith of Keldore Huntingdonshire	1627
Richard Comfort alias Comport, yeoman, of Whitechapel, Middlesex	1628
Thomas Comforte, yeoman, of Ashe Kent	1628

It is evident that the Comforts belong to the southeast of England, and it is obviously possible that in the last named Thomas Comfort of Ashe we may have an ancestor of Comfort Filmer who married at Willesborough in 1784, and possibly, too, of Comfort Fillmore who married in America in 1763. It must be borne in mind that in Kent there are two villages named Ashe, one in the western part of that county a few miles from London, and the other in the north-eastern part near the Isle of Thanet, about twenty miles from Willesborough.

Though obviously we have here nothing more than a possible clue to President Fillmore's English ancestry, these brief notes well illustrate the importance of having the leading English records in print. When more Kentish parish registers have been transcribed and printed, and when the British Record Society continues the issue of its calendars of P. C. C. wills, it will be easier to trace out the Comforts and the Filmers, or Filmores, and in showing the connection of the two families we may yet light upon the English origin of President Millard Fillmore.

HISTORICAL INTELLIGENCE

HISTORY OF HAVERHILL, N. H.—Mr. William Frederick Whitcher, A.M., Ph.D., of Woodsville, N. H., is compiling a genealogical history of Haverhill, N. H.

KELSO.—Mr. ——— Kelso, care Monahan Septic Co., Market and Madison Streets, Chicago, Ill., has nearly completed a genealogy of the Kelso family, which he intends to publish soon.

WRIGHT.—Mrs. Gertrude J. Ketcham, 1673 Jackson Street, Denver, Colo., is about to publish the Genealogy of Samuel Wright of Lenox, Mass., including his English ancestry.

MONNET.—The Monnet Family Genealogy, by Mr. Orra E. Monnette, 1018 Wright and Callender Building, Los Angeles, Cal., is in the hands of the printer, and the author hopes to have the volume ready for delivery early in 1911. For particulars address the author, as above.

BANNING.—Mr. Pierson W. Banning, care of Banning & Banning, Chicago, Ill., is at work on a genealogy of the Banning family, and is collecting materials relating to the following allied names: Allein, Alsop, Bateman, Button, Hammer, Harman, Hubbell, Kelsy, Lindsley, McCorkle, McKnight, Mitchell, Pierson, Post, and Wheelwright.

KENT REGISTER SERIES.—To those interested in the appearance of this series the announcement by Mr. W. P. W. Phillimore, in a letter to the Editor, that the volumes are being issued at a loss, will be received with regret. It is hoped that this statement will induce enough additional subscriptions to the series to cover the cost of production.

SOUTHAMPTON PILGRIM MEMORIAL.—It is proposed to commemorate the approaching tercentenary of the sailing of the Mayflower from Southampton by the erection of a memorial to the Pilgrim fathers near the site of embarkation in 1620. A design for the monument has been prepared and the plans accepted. Towards the expense a sum of over £250 has been contributed. Donations may be sent to Mr. H. A. Cushing, Secretary of the New England Society, 48 Cedar Street, New York.

GENEALOGIES IN PREPARATION.—Persons of the several names are advised to furnish the compilers of these genealogies with records of their own families and other information which they think may be useful. We would suggest that all facts of interest illustrating family history or character be communicated, especially service under the U. S. Government, the holding of other offices, graduation from college or professional schools, occupation, with places and dates of birth, marriage, residence, and death. All names should be given in full if possible. No initials should be used when the full name is known.

BOOK NOTICES*

[THE editor requests persons sending books for notice to state, for the information of readers, the price of each book, with the amount to be added for postage when sent by mail. For the January issue, books should be received by Nov. 1; for April, by Feb. 1; for July, by May 1; and for October, by July 1.]

A history of the descendants of Gamaliel Beaman and Sarah Clark of Dorchester and Lancaster, Mass., by EMILY BEAMAN WOODEN, A. M. 1909. 8° pp. 209, illus.

This book is the fruit of years of research to obtain names and dates and to trace lost lines; it contains valuable data, including parentage and dates of birth and death of those who married into the Beaman family, and brings the descendants of Gamaliel down to 1909. It is provided with an index. The revolutionary records of all Massachusetts soldiers bearing this name are given. The book concludes with the account of the captivity of Mrs. Rowlandson of Lancaster, Mass., 1675. Gamaliel Beaman settled in Dorchester in 1659, went to Lancaster, was driven away by Indians, but returned in 1680. The "Beaman oak," which he planted on his home lot, is shown in the frontispiece. English records have been consulted to find the home of the family in England.

Descendants of Nicholas Cady of Watertown, Mass., 1645-1910, by ORRIN PEER ALLEN. Press of C. B. Fiske & Co., Palmer, Mass., 1910. 8° cloth, pp. 546, illus. Price $5; for sale by the author, 21 Church Street, Palmer, Mass.

Mr. Allen's work began twenty years ago by personal research in the records of Massachusetts and eastern Connecticut, supplemented by correspondence with relatives. Nicholas Cady of Watertown took the oath of fidelity in 1652. His wife was Judith Knapp, daughter of William. They went to Groton about 1668, and their sons and grandsons removed to Connecticut. The book is arranged according to the plan adopted by the REGISTER. All dates prior to 1742 conform to the old style then in use. The descendants of the daughters of the Cady line are given as far as their grandchildren, and the place and date of birth of persons marrying into the Cady family are given, if possible, and often an outline of ancestry and personal history. Among the portraits is one of Elizabeth Cady Stanton. In the appendix is a list of soldiers of the Revolution bearing the Cady name.

Colcord Genealogy. Descendants of Edward Colcord of New Hampshire, 1630 to 1908, by DOANE BLOOD COLCORD, B.S., M.D., late Prof. of Chemistry, Kansas Medical College, Creswell, Ore. Published by MAHLON J. COLCORD, Coudersport, Pa. 1908. Press of Potter County Journal, Coudersport, Pa. 8° pp. 124-42, illus.

This book, the author states, is to prove that the American Colcords are descendants of Samuel Colcord of Kingston, N. H., and his father Edward Colcord or Colcott who came to New England, 1630-1, from co. Hants, England. Only families bearing the Colcord name are included in the body of the book, but lists of descendants bearing other names are given in the appendix. There is a list of soldiers of the Revolution from whom descendants of Samuel Colcord may claim descent, and a Civil War army roll. The volume is provided with a chart showing lines of descent, and abounds with family portraits and short autobiographies. There are two indexes, one of the Colcord given names and another of names other than Colcord.

William Coaldwell, Caldwell or Coldwell, of England, Massachusetts, Connecticut, and Nova Scotia. Historical sketch of the family and name and record of his descendants, by CHARLES T. CALDWELL, M.D. Washington, D. C. 1910. Press of Judd and Detweiler, Inc., Washington, D. C. 8° pp. 82.

The text of this book is an address delivered at the dedication of a monument in Wolfville, N. S., to William Coaldwell and Jane Jordan, his wife, who emigrated to Acadia after the English took possession. The story of these adventurous pioneers is well told and very interesting. The name Cauldwell was applied to the family in Scotland, Coldwell in England, and Colwell in Ireland. In this country and Nova Scotia the name has been also written Caldwell. The author has compiled the genealogical matter with great care, insisting upon dates, places and names in full, and incorporating many biographical notes. He has made no attempt to include descendants not bearing the family name, and states that he has been unable to locate some branches. He begs those who can give additional information to make themselves known to him. The book is provided with a good index.

Copeland Gleanings, 1651-1905, compiled by LELAND STANFORD COPELAND, Middletown Springs, Vermont. The Tourist Print, Southern Pines, 1910. 16° pp. 14.

A branch of the Copeland family which removed to Middleton, Vt., and thence to Russell, Kan., is recorded in this little publication. The line is as follows. Lawrence, Benjamin (of Braintree, Mass.), Moses of Mansfield, Mass., Moses of Middleton, Edwin of Middleton Springs, Vt., and Charles Paul of Russell, Kan. In addition to sketches of the lives of these men, short notices are given of the families of their wives. The compiler is the son of Charles Paul Copeland.

Reunions of the Durell family, arranged by HAROLD CLARKE DURELL, A.B., from the books of the secretary, Walter G. Durell, of Strong, Maine. Cambridge, Mass., 1910. 8° pp. 16.

This gives the names of those present at the reunions, date and place of meeting, etc., together with names of officers elected.

Outline sketches of the descendants of Nathaniel Durell of Kingfield, Maine, compiled by HAROLD CLARKE DURELL, A.B. Cambridge, Mass., 1910. 24° unp.

Benjamin Durell was a soldier in the Revolution. His son Nathaniel was the founder of the Kingfield, Maine, branch of the family. The compiler does not claim that he is publishing a complete family record, but his little pamphlet contains what he has been able to gather during his visits to Kingfield the past three years. Dates are given by years only.

Some account of Capt. John Frazier and his descendants, with notes on the West and Checkley families, by JOSIAH GRANVILLE LEACH, LL.B. Printed for private circulation by J. B. Lippincott Co., Philadelphia, 1910. 8° pp. 6+139, illus.

Only 135 copies of this fine example of the book-maker's art have been printed. The reproductions of family portraits and old manuscripts delight the eye, while the subject matter demands a careful reading. Capt. John Frazier came from Scotland, and sailed from the port of Boston for twenty years previous to 1775. His sons were merchants of Philadelphia. His descendants are followed through male and female lines, and the index reveals at a glance the prominent families with whom they are connected. The West genealogy gives the ancestry of Anne West, wife of Nalboro Frazier; the Checkley record the ancestry of Sarah Ingraham, wife of Capt. John; and the Zimmerman diary the ancestry of Isabella, wife of Benjamin West Frazier. A chart is inserted giving the ancestry of Mrs. William West Frazier, born Harriet Morgan Harrison.

Genealogy of some descendants of Dr. Samuel Fuller of the Mayflower, compiled by WILLIAM HYSLOP FULLER of Palmer, Mass., to which is added A supplement to the genealogy of some descendants of Edward Fuller of the Mayflower, published in 1908. Printed by C. B. Fiske & Co., Palmer, Mass., 1910. 8° pp. 263, illus. Price $5, postpaid. For sale by William H. Fuller, 23 School Street, Palmer, Mass.

While searching for material for the first volume of a Fuller genealogy, the author brought to light much data in regard to the Samuel Fuller family, which formed the basis of this new volume. Beyond the names and dates of birth of children of Fuller daughters, details of the female lines have been omitted. After the third generation the sons who had families form heads of fourteen groups, arranged in order of seniority of the fathers. The supplement gives new information concerning the descendants of Edward Fuller. Both the main volume and supplement are indexed, and Mr. Fuller's painstaking work is another valuable addition to the family history of the Pilgrims. The illustrations are excellent, two of the most interesting being the interior and exterior views of the church where Dr. Fuller was baptized.

Matthew Gallaway and his descendants, compiled by IRENE DABNEY GALLAWAY, 1908. 8° unpag. Southern Press, Waxahachie, Texas. Price 50 cts. Address Author, Waxahachie, Texas.

"Every family is a history in itself and even a poem to those who know how to search its pages" is one of the quotations scattered through this pamphlet, and Miss Gallaway has felt its truth so strongly that she has put her own personality as well as that of her kinsfolk into their records. Matthew Gallaway appeared in Oglethorpe Co., Ga., about 1800. His family went to Alabama, and their descendants pushed on to Mississippi, Texas, and even to California. The presswork of the book is good, and the plan followed in the genealogical work is clear.

Extracts from British Archives on the families of Halley, Hawley, Parry, Pyke, etc. (Third Series), by EUGENE F. McPIKE. Reprinted from the Magazine of History, N. Y., 1910. 8° pp. 28.

The collateral ancestry of Stephen Harris, born Sept. 4, 1798, and Marianne Smith, born Apr. 2, 1805, by JOSEPH S. HARRIS. George F. Lasker, printer, Philadelphia, 1908. 4° pp. 190.

This book, giving the collateral ancestry of the grandparents of the author, represents, with the Harris and Smith records printed in 1903 and 1906, respectively, thirty-five years of work, and completes the sketches which the author prepared concerning his ancestry. The records given bring the families down to the point where they join the Harris or Smith line. There is no index of names, but two charts to some extent make up the deficiency. The ancestry is traced back to the old countries—Scotland, Ireland, and Wales predominating. All the American branches originated in Pennsylvania. The names treated in this work are Campbell, Bailey, Hubbard, Frazer, Vaughan, Taylor, Parry, Robert Smith Worrall, Worrlow, Goodwin, Roman, and Maris.

Descendants of Abraham Huntting, the sixth in line from John Huntling, the first of the name in America, compiled by TENNIS D. HUNTTING, Brooklyn, N. Y. Printed for private distribution, 1910. 8° pp. 9, illus.

John Huntting, born in England in 1597, married Hester Leaborne, a relative of John Rogers the martyr, 1617, came to Dedham in 1638, and was the first ruling elder of the church in that town. The brochure gives the family records of his descendants who were ancestors of Abraham (1773-1851), and the descendants of the latter, in male and female lines, to the present time. Although some of the descendants of John Huntting may have dropped one of the two t's in the name, this branch retains the spelling which appears in the signature of John of Dedham.

Lewis, with collateral lines, Andrews, Belden, Bronson, Butler, Gillett, Newell, Peck, Stanley, Wright, and others. Ancestral record of Henry Martyn Lewis, by HARRIET SOUTHWORTH (LEWIS) BARNES. Philadelphia, 1910. 8° pp. 73, port. Price $2.00. Address Mrs. A. M. Barnes, Melrose Park, Pa.

This little book is in the nature of a memorial to the father of the author, and traces his ancestry through old Connecticut families, most of whom emigrated from Massachusetts with Hooker, to their progenitors in Wales and England. Historical notes in regard to nearly all direct ancestors are given. The book is a companion to the Southworth and Humphreville sketches, published in 1909 by the same author.

The original published by ELIAS LOOMIS, LL.D.; revised by ELISHA SCOTT LOOMIS, Ph.D., 1908 [1909]. 4° pp. 839, illus.

This scholarly production, bound in morocco and finely illustrated, suggests a family bible in size. It would be a convenience to patrons of genealogical libraries if the index, which occupies two hundred odd pages, referred to pages and not to numbers designating persons, which run from 1 to 12,670 through eleven generations. Sections in the index give soldiers of the Civil War, college graduates, and celebrated people bearing the name. Sixty-two pages are devoted to the history of the family in England. Joseph Loomis (Braintree and London, Eng.) came to Dorchester, Mass., in 1638, and the next year went to Windsor, Conn. It is remarkable that the title to his homestead has never passed out of the Loomis name. The estate is now occupied by a school which was founded primarily for the benefit of the descendants of Joseph Loomis.

The Martin family. Descendants of Thomas Martin of Goochland Co., Va., by IRENE DABNEY GALLAWAY. 8° unpag. Sentinel Press, Fayetteville, Ark., 1906. 50 cts. Address Author, Waxahachie, Texas.

The descendants of Thomas Martin, through his sons, William, Dabney A., and Hutson, are recorded. The scarcity of dates and number of diminutive names show that information concerning the later generations was obtained by correspondence with relatives rather than from official records. The families being so widely separated, we appreciate the difficulties under which the author labored. Thomas Martin was a soldier of the American Revolution, and his descendants fought, some for the Confederacy and some for the Union, during the Civil War.

Genealogy of the McFarland family of Hancock Co., Maine, by DANIEL Y. MCFARLAND, 1910. Press of Seymour Brothers, Middlebury, Vt. 8° pp. 58. Price $1, postpaid. Address the author, North Lamoine, Maine.

The author of this pamphlet, which is dedicated to his children's children, came out of the Civil War with the right arm gone and the left hand maimed; but this has not prevented him from the exercise of his talents for the benefit of his community. He is an authority on the history of Hancock Co., and his work is concise and shows careful study of records. His ancestors, James and Thomas McFarland, went to Maine before 1768, and both served in the Revolutionary war. They married sisters, Margaret and Jane Smith of Londonderry, N. H. Only children and grandchildren of James are mentioned, except the family of a daughter who married a son of Thomas. The descendants of Thomas are traced to the sixth generation.

The historical journal of the More family, founded 1892. No. 15. Seattle, Washington, April, 1910. Issued by the John More Association. All communications to be sent to Charles Church More, Secretary, Box 93, University Station, Seattle, Wash. 8° pp. 241-260 inclusive.

This number contains notices of wedding anniversaries, marriages, and deaths of members of the association, and forms the eleventh supplement to the More genealogy.

The historical journal of the More family. No. 16. Seattle, Wash. August 1910. 8° pp. 261-304 inclusive, illus.

This number contains the genealogy of Maria Laraway Stanley, whose daughter married Edward Livingston More; a tribute to the late David Fellows More, founder of the "Journal"; memoirs of deceased members of the association; notices of marriages; and the twelfth supplement to the More genealogy, beside other items interesting to the family connection.

Autobiography of Thomas Painter, relating his experiences during the war of the Revolution. Printed for private circulation, March, 1910. 8° pp. 106, illus.

Mrs. Lewis Clephane, of Washington, D. C., thinking that those of Thomas Painter's descendants to whom the original manuscript was not accessible would prize copies of it, has had it printed for private distribution among them, and has also supplied a limited number of historical societies with the book. The adventures of Capt. Painter on sea and land during the Revolution, his confinement in the Jersey prison ships, and his subsequent life as a ship master and owner, told in his quaint phraseology, are interesting to any reader. He begins his tale with a reference to his ancestry, and the second chapter relates entirely to his own family. A chart is appended giving his descent for six generations.

Daniel Perrin, "the Huguenot," and his descendants in America, of the surnames Perrine, Perine and Prine, 1665-1910, compiled by HOWLAND DELANO PERRINE, A.B., LL.B., of the New York Bar. 4° pp. 6+547, illus., privately printed, South Orange, N. J., 1910. Price $15, postage 85c. Address the author, South Orange, N. J.

We regret that this handsome volume was received too late for notice in our October number. Daniel Perrin, the émigré, was probably from the island of Jersey, where the name appears as early as 1440. His wife was of French origin. They were enrolled as "servants" of Governor Carteret, and allotted land on Staten Island. The genealogy traced from this couple, together with a study of the name in foreign records, represents years of faithful research. Where possible, the generations are brought down to the present. The book is finely illustrated — the frontispiece being a photogravure of Howard Pyle's painting, "The landing of Governor Philip Carteret," signed by the artist.

A record of the line of descent from Robert Quinby of Amesbury, Mass., to Benjamin Quinby of Unity, N. H., and a complete record of Benjamin's descendants, by REV. SILAS E. QUINBY. Bristol, N. H., press of R. W. Musgrove, 1910. 8° pp. 29.

Robert Quinby, the immigrant ancestor, received an allotment of land at "Lion's Mouth," Amesbury, and was killed by Indians, 1677. His great-grandsons, Jonathan and Benjamin, removed to Hopkinton, N. H. The descendants of Benjamin, son of Jonathan, are traced through male and female lines to the present time. The addenda give genealogical notes in regard to Isaac, another son of Jonathan. The descendants of Benjamin of Unity adopted the name of Quimby. The book contains biographical notes and quotations from old records.

Scoville Family Records. A preliminary brochure, compiled by CHARLES ROCHESTER EASTMAN, Cambridge, Mass., 1910. 8° pp. 23, illus. Privately printed at Waverly Press. Copies gratis to members of Scoville family.

The compiler presents an initial, not a final attempt to collect the history and vital records of the Scoville family in Connecticut. If this publication succeeds in preparing the way for a comprehensive genealogy of the family, his object will be attained. The original emigrants were Arthur of Boston, Mass., 1652, and John of Farmington, Conn., 1666. About 1680 John went to Waterbury, and later to Haddam. Arthur removed to Middletown and Lyme, Conn. The Waterbury and Middletown branches of Scovilles remained in Connecticut for three or four generations, when many removed to New York and Ohio. The East Haddam family moved northward and eastward, even as far as Acadia, and to the west into Litchfield Co., Conn.

Smith, with collateral lines, Chipman, Divine, Huckins, Jones, Lewis (Barnstable branch) and Mayflower connection. Ancestral record of Frances Amelia (Smith) Lewis, by HARRIET SOUTHWORTH (LEWIS) BARNES. 8° pp. 51. Philadelphia, 1910.

In this pamphlet we find the descent from the immigrants James Smith of Weymouth, Mass., Elder John Chipman of Plymouth and Barnstable, Mass., John Divine of Lynn, Thomas Huckins of Barnstable, Benjamin Jones and son Joseph, of Oxford, Conn., George Lewis or Lewes, one of the "men of Kent" at Scituate, Mass., John Howland and Edward Tilley, of Mayflower fame, through a succession of Connecticut pioneers to Frances A. (Smith) Lewis, mother of the author. The names of children of each generation are given, but dates and historical notes are generally omitted, unless they refer to ancestors or the immediate family of Mrs. Lewis.

The Starkeys of New England and allied families, compiled for Albert Crane, Esq., by EMILY WILDER LEAVITT. Press of Springfield Printing and Binding Co. 1910. 8° pp. 185, illus.

This book, admirable in every particular, is dedicated to the memory of Clarissa Lawrence Starkey, wife of Thomas Crane of Quincy, Mass., New York City, and Stamford, Conn. She was born in Troy, N. H., 1836, daughter of George and Betsey (Lawrence) Starkey. Her ancestry is traced back to the mother country, and quotations from English records are plentiful. Her pioneer ancestors in this country were John Starkey and John Waite of Malden, John Lawrence of Groton, Alexander Balcom of Providence, R. I., Rear Admiral Thomas Greaves of Charlestown, Mass., Banfield Capron of Barrington and Attleborough, Mass., and Pentecost Blackington of Marblehead. Miss Leavitt's system is similar to that used in the REGISTER, and each family record is preceded by a table showing the connection with the Starkey line. The binding, press work, and paper are of the best, and a comprehensive index is added.

Sutherland Records, by DOUGLAS MERRITT, Rhinebeck, N. Y., n. d. 8° pp. 22.

Various families of the name are noticed as follows: William of New Windsor, N. Y., birthplace unknown, died 1724; William of Dutchess Co., parentage in doubt, married Hannah Avery, 1720; William of Chatham, N. Y., from Scotland, born 1741; Sutherlands of Yates and Westchester counties, N. Y., and Washington Co., Pa.; Smith Sutherland of Greenville, N. Y., died 1818; Sutherlands of Batavia, N. Y., and Joseph of Horseneck, Conn. — a series of notes taken from records in the localities mentioned, with no effort to trace family connections.

The Urann Family of New England, including the descendants of Margaret (Urann) Gammell, by CHARLES COLLYER WHITTIER of Boston, Mass. Boston, Press of David Clapp & Son, 1910. 8° pp. 60. Price 75c. Address the author, 374 Blue Hill Avenue, Roxbury, Mass.

Reprinted, with additions, from the New England Historical and Genealogical Register for January and April, 1910. Any information concerning the families mentioned will be duly appreciated by the compiler.

The genealogy of Rev. David Ward is traced to Osbert De Varde (1130) of Givendale, Yorkshire, England. Brief notices are given in the margin of Osbert De Varde, Andrew and Asael Ward, the Andrew Ward Association, and authorities consulted in making the chart. Descendants of Rev. David Ward are eligible to membership in Sons and Daughters of the American Revolution, Society of Colonial Dames, Daughters of 1812, and the Andrew Ward Association. Mrs. Hamlin is to be congratulated upon the clear and concise arrangement of the chart, and the printer for his artistic workmanship.

Andrew Warde and his descendants, 1597-1910, being a compilation of the facts relating to one of the oldest New England families, and embracing many families of other names descended from the worthy ancestor even unto the tenth and eleventh generations, compiled under the direction of the Association of Descendants of Andrew Ward by GEORGE KEMP WARD, A.M., Secretary. A. T. de la More, Printing and Publishing Co., Ltd., N. Y., 1910. 4° pp. 608, illus.

This large volume contains the names of some fifteen thousand descendants of Andrew Warde. The biographical portion of the book contains in narrative form the history of several prominent families in the Ward connection, and there is a chapter upon the Andrew Ward Association. Andrew Ward is first recorded in Watertown, Mass., whence removed to Wethersfield, Conn., 1637, and later was a founder of Stamford and Fairfield, Conn. Among his descendants are the noted family of Lyman Beecher, Gen. Andrew Ward of Revolutionary fame, Gen. Joseph Wheeler, and many others who have left their impress upon the history of the United States. The index gives Ward descendants, male and female; males and females, other than Ward; persons, male and female, allied by marriage. A single number system, with no reference to previous generations, makes this elaborate index an absolute necessity.

Watson Genealogy, 1760-1909, by MARTHA ZIEGLER WATSON, 1909. 8° pp. 102, illus. Press of Mountain Echo, Keyser, W. Va. Author's address, 116 Alice Street, Keyser, W. Va.

Joseph Watson was born in Lancaster, Pa., about 1760, of Scotch ancestry. He settled in Cumberland Co., Pa., and married wives of Pennsylvania Dutch stock. Miss Watson devotes one chapter to him and one each to his sons and daughters, thirteen in all, whose descendants are scattered through the middle and far West. The author has been fortunate to obtain much information from the children of Joseph Watson, only one of whom was living in 1909. In tracing the younger generations, if unable to obtain vital records, she gives the last known address of the person or family under consideration. Blank pages are left for additional information.

Williams Genealogy, Wethersfield, Cromwell branch, compiled by MURRAY EDWARD POOLE. Press of the Ithaca Journal, 1910. 8° pp. 43.

The first six pages of this pamphlet are devoted to the story of a family of farmer's boys in Upper Middleton (Cromwell), Conn., who left home to seek their fortunes in northern New York in the early forties, and became successful in mercantile, political, philanthropic, and literary pursuits. Josiah, the second son, cast the deciding vote which gave Central Park to New York, and was one of the original board of trustees of Cornell University. The emigrant ancestor of the family, Thomas Williams, came from Wales to Wethersfield, Conn. The scheme of members designating different generations and branches is decidedly original; but the value of the work would be greatly increased if there were an index.

The Woods family of Groton, Massachusetts, a record of six generations, by HENRY ERNEST WOODS, A.M. Privately reprinted from vol. 64, New England Historical and Genealogical Register, 1910. Press of David Clapp & Son, Boston. 8° pp. 39.

Proceedings of the Bar and Officers of the Supreme Court of the United States in memory of David Josiah Brewer. City of Washington, April 30, 1910. 4° pp. 47, port.

This memorial contains the resolutions adopted and eulogies pronounced by the Bar of the Supreme Court in honor of the late David Josiah Brewer, Associate Justice of the Supreme Court of the United States.

In Memoriam, Bronson Howard, 1842-1908. Founder and president of the American Dramatists' Club. Address delivered at the Memorial Meeting, Sun- day, October 18, 1908, at the Lyceum Theatre, New York, with a brief biography and other appreciations and records of his dramatic works, including a list of his plays, with original casts. Published by American Dramatists' Club, 1451 Broadway, New York. The Marion Press, Jamaica, Queensborough, N. Y., 1910. 8° pp. 180, illus.

This tribute to the first American playwright who was never an actor contains the addresses delivered at the memorial exercises at the Lyceum Theatre, a tribute by Brander Matthews, reprinted from the North American Review, two addresses delivered by Bronson Howard, a list of his plays with original casts, Bliss Carman's poem, a brief biography by Harry P. Mawson, and a reminiscence by Daniel Frohman. John Ernest Warren, librarian, adds an article entitled "Among his Books," enumerating some of the most precious volumes bequeathed to the Dramatists' Club. It should be remembered that Bronson Howard, after he had practically retired from play-writing, was the leader in bringing about an amendment to the copyright laws making piracy of plays a misdemeanor.

The Magazine of History, with notes and queries. Extra number. No. 11. Comprising the journal of the Siege of Penobscot, by JOHN CALEF, M.D.; to which is added CAPT. HENRY MOWAT'S "Relations," and biographical and topographical notes, edited by NATHAN GOOLD, Librarian of the Maine Historical Society; and a narrative of a light company soldier's service in the 41st foot, 1807-1814, by SHADRACK BYFIELD. William Abbott, 141 East 25th Street, New York, 1910. 8° pp. 295-384.

Article 1 is the journal of a prominent member of the loyalist colony at Castine, who was surgeon and acting chaplain at Fort George. A reprint of a map of the region accompanies the article. Article 2 is part of Capt. Mowat's account of his experiences in America from 1759 to 1783, the original of which is in the possession of the Maine Historical Society. Article 3 is a reprint of a pamphlet printed in Bradford, England, 1840, and is made from the only original copy of the narrative known. This publication is very valuable as it brings before the American public accounts written from a British standpoint concerning the Penobscot expedition of Saltonstall and Lovell, and the relations existing between England and her Indian allies during the war of 1812.

Proceedings of the Brookline Historical Society at the annual meeting, Jan. 19, 1910. Brookline, Mass. Published by the Society, 1910. 8° pp. 45-6, illus.

Annual reports, an account of the celebration of the centennial of the birth of Abraham Lincoln, and a scholarly essay on Gouverneur Morris by the late George S. Mann, form the literary chapters of the Proceedings. The president's address gives the history of three old houses of Brookline, which were built by Joseph Sewall, John and Lewis Tappan, and known as the David Hall Rice house (destroyed by fire, 1909), the Philbrick and Blake houses. Reference is made to the preservation of the Devotion house, and general improvements of the town in 1909. Personal impressions of Abraham Lincoln by William J. Seaver, who knew him in Springfield, Ill., in 1856-7, form an interesting paper which was delivered at the centennial exercises.

Proceedings and Transactions of the Royal Society of Canada. Third Series, Vol. 2, 1908. Part II. Chronological inventory of maps, plans, and atlases relating to New France and the province of Quebec, 1508-1908, by N. E. DIONNE, M.D., LL.D. 8° pp. 124-6.

This inventory is prefaced by a short essay comparing the authenticity of some of the earliest plans of the region. A description of each map is given and the publication or collection in which it may be found. Only British maps are noticed in English; the rest of the publication is in French.

Proceedings and transactions of the Royal Society of Canada. Third Series, Vol. III. Meeting of May, 1909. For sale by James Hope and Son, Ottawa; The Copp-Clark Co. (Ltd.), Toronto; Bernard Quaritch, London, England, 1910. 8° pp. 243+166+196+[19]+242+236+278, illus.

This bulky volume of nearly 1400 pages contains, beside the report of business transacted, a large number of essays and addresses, in English and French, upon a variety of subjects, biographical, historical, and scientific. The Talbot Papers, part two, are printed with index.

The founding of Charlestown by the Spragues. A glimpse of the beginning of the Massachusetts Bay settlement, by HENRY HARRISON SPRAGUE, A.M. Boston, William B. Clark Co., 1910. 8° pp. 39.

This pamphlet discusses the question of date of settlement of Charlestown, Mass., and contends that the town was settled in 1628, possibly before the arrival of Endicott, but at least before the winter of 1628-9. The argument is followed by short biographical sketches of the three brothers, Ralph, Richard, and William Sprague. A copy of the records of Charlestown, written by order of the town in 1664 by John Greene, after consultation with the oldest residents then living, is printed verbatim, and a half-tone facsimile of the agreement establishing town government in 1634 is inserted. Mr. Sprague claims that "the first settlers of Mishawam may be said historically to be the real founders of the first settlement of the Massachusetts Bay Colony and of the capital at Boston, in the year 1628."

Laying of the corner stone of the Connecticut State Library and Supreme Court Building, at Hartford, May 25, 1909. Published by the State. Hartford, 1909. Press of The Case, Lockwood and Brainard Co., Hartford, Conn. 8° pp. 39, illus.

The ceremonies attending the laying of the cornerstone of the beautiful building shown in the frontispiece of this book were impressive and imposing, and were participated in by the state government, the judiciary and the Grand Lodge of A. F. and A. M. The stone was laid with full masonic ceremonies, and the contents of the box deposited therein is given in detail. The book concludes with the address delivered by Simeon E. Baldwin, LL.D., Chief Justice of Connecticut.

Hartford City Directory, 1799, containing the names of the business men and other residents, their occupation and location, when known, to the number of nearly eight hundred, compiled by FRANK D. ANDREWS. Privately printed, Vineland, N. J., 1910. 8° pp. 84.

By means of advertisements in the Hartford Courant and Mercury, from manuscripts in the author's possession dated 1799, and miscellaneous sources, Mr. Andrews has compiled a directory comprising about 16 per cent. of the population of the city of Hartford at that time. A business directory fills about twenty pages, and is followed by a list of residents of Hartford, town and city, including farmers. Mr. Andrews is secretary of the Vineland Historical Society and member of the Connecticut Historical Society.

A history of Hatfield, Massachusetts, 1660-1910, by DANIEL WHITE WELLS and REUBEN FIELD WELLS. Published under the direction of F. C. H. Gibbons, Springfield, Mass. 8° pp. 536, illus.

The volume is subdivided into three parts: I. An account of the development of the town from its first settlement. II. The houses and homes, with personal reminiscences, of the men and women of the last one hundred years; historical account of religious societies and Smith Academy. III. Genealogies of the families of the first settlers. Accounts of Indian warfare, extracts from town, county and private records, military records, including rolls of honor in the Revolution and Civil War, civil and industrial history skillfully woven together, besides portraits of old residents, scenes in Hatfield, England, and in its namesake in Massachusetts, make the volume a valuable contribution to the historical literature of Massachusetts.

Haverhill town affairs one hundred years ago, compiled by WILLIAM F. WHITCHER, Woodsville, N. H. News, Book and Job Print, 1909. 8° pp. 48.

The resolves of a little New Hampshire town meeting could do little toward preventing the war of 1812, but a perusal of them imparts the spirit of the people, which is expressed as follows: "While we . . . wholly . . . disapprove the policy of our national administration . . . we declare . . . our determination . . . to support the Union at all hazard." The tax lists of 1809 contain 219 names; foot notes explain the identity of many taxpayers of Haverhill, N. H., at that date, and from a genealogical point of view are quite as interesting as the town records themselves.

Records of Littleton, Mass., Births and deaths from the earliest records in the Town Books, begun in 1715. Littleton, Mass., 1900. Compiled by JOSEPH ALFRED HARWOOD. The Patriot Press, Concord, Mass., and Huntley S. Turner, Ayer, Mass. Publication completed 1909. 8° pp. 542+178.

This collection of records contains, beside the births and deaths mentioned on the title page, marriages and intentions, baptisms, and burials gathered from church records, gravestone inscriptions, bible, and other private records; also genealogical notes from Samuel Smith's manuscripts in the Reuben Hoar Library. In culling extracts from Mr. Smith's papers, which cover other towns as well as Littleton, only residents of the town and their kin are included, except persons whose residence is not determined. The book is well arranged and comprehensive, and has an index of names and places.

Early records of the Town of Manchester, formerly Derryfield, N. H., 1817-1828. A complete and exact transcript of the records of the clerks as written in the town records of Manchester, Book No. 3, pages 179 to 462, inclusive, comprising Volume IV. of the printed records of the town; Vol. XI, Manchester Historic Association. Edited, with introduction, notes, and index, by GEORGE WALDO BROWNE. Manchester, N. H., published by authority of the City Council, under the auspices of the Manchester Historic Association, 1909. 8° pp. 359, port. Price $2.00, net. Address Fred W. Lamb, Librarian M. H. A., 452 Merrimack Street, Manchester, N. H.

This volume of records covers a period of quietude, the greatest controversy being caused by the construction of the "Mammoth Road," which was begun in 1821 and was not settled till 1836. The separation of church and state makes its impress on the records. The population in 1830 was 887, with no indication that within sixteen years the town would be incorporated as a city with ten thousand inhabitants. Tax lists form a good share of the book. The frontispiece is a half-tone portrait of General John Stark, 1728-1822. An index of names and a general index add to the value of the publication.

The early records of the town of Providence, Volume XX., being the first part of the second book for the recording of deeds and called Deed Book No. 2. Printed under authority of the City Council of Providence by WILLIAM E. CLARKE, Record Commissioner. Providence, Snow & Farnham Co., City Printers, 1909. 8° pp. 5+549.

Deeds and the returns of original "layouts" of land in the town of Providence and a few other papers make up this book. At this period (1705 to 1711) the town included all the towns and cities in the present County of Providence west of the Blackstone River. The original index is printed, and it, as well as the deeds, are literal copies. There is a good index of names and localities, also an alphabetical list of grantors and grantees, with brief descriptions of land. In the preface Mr. Clark gives credit to Miss Alice M. Cushing, who had charge of the final revision and proofreading.

Some records of Sussex County, Delaware, compiled by CHARLES H. B. TURNER, Lewes, Del. Printed by Allen, Lane and Scott, Philadelphia, 1909. 8° pp. 387, illus.

If more books like this one could be written, the history of old localities on the Atlantic seaboard would receive valuable additions. Mr. Turner has done a great service to historians and genealogists by putting into a convenient form a mass of information that has been buried here and there in a section which was settled by the Dutch, captured by Swedes, twice taken by the Dutch, and twice by the English of the New Netherlands, and finally ceded to Pennsylvania—all in a space of fifty years. The book contains extracts from civil, court, probate, church, and proprietors' records, inscriptions on tombstones, letters, diaries, bible records, baptisms, and documents in relation to settlement, military history, etc. The book may be obtained by addressing the author.

Centennial History of the First Presbyterian Church and Society, Westfield, N. Y. A compilation of the historical papers given during the centennial celebration, December, 1908. Published Apr. 1910, Journal Press, Jamestown, N. Y. 8° pp. 150, illus.

This attractive pamphlet recites the history of a church which was established in 1808, at the intersection of the old French road to Chautauqua Lake and the road from the east to the Western Reserve. For ten years a faithful few kept their church organization as best they could without a pastor and without a church building. It was re-organized as the Westfield Church in 1819. The first chapter treats of the period from 1808 to 1849, and the second from 1849 to 1908. Other chapters give accounts of the choir, Sunday-school, and other organizations within the church and society. The illustrations are portraits of early members, elders, pastors, and others, and pictures of the houses of worship occupied at various periods. A list of members of the church is appended.

Quinquennial catalogue of the officers and graduates of Harvard University, 1636-1910. Cambridge, Mass. Published by the University. 1910. 8° pp. 757+151.

This volume contains extracts from the records of Massachusetts, bearing upon the organization and government of the college, the bequest of John Harvard, the record of the bestowal of his name upon the college at Cambridge, and the facsimile of the record of the first meeting of the overseers. Following this brief introduction are the names of officers of government and instruction, names of graduates and holders of honorary degrees, and a list of officers and graduates of the college. The dates of appointment and retirement of officials are given. The graduates are arranged by classes, and year dates of death of deceased members are recorded. Complete indexes of officers and graduates form the appendix.

A history of Company K of the 7th Connecticut Volunteer Infantry in the Civil War, compiled by Lt. Col. JEROME TOURTELOTTE. 1910. 8° pp. 218.

This company from Windham Co., Conn., numbering eighty-nine men who were in service from 1861 to 1865, lost nine in action, and five in prison. Fifty-six were wounded, and twenty-two were captured. The story of experiences in prison and on the battlefield, including the siege of Fort Wagner, is compiled from letters, diaries, and personal reminiscences, substantiated by official documents. In many instances, says the author, this book does not agree with previous publications. The appendix gives the roster of the company, service, date and place of birth, and, in case of deceased members, date and place of death; followed by statistics in regard to the company and an index of names and places, all arranged in a manner suitable for reference.

The War. "Stonewall" Jackson, his campaigns and battles, the Regiment, as I saw them, by JAMES H. WOOD, Captain Co. D, 37th Va. Inf. Regt. The Eddy Press Corporation, Cumberland, Md., 1910. 12° pp. 181, illus. Price $1.

We have come to the time when we all can give to the great commanders of both sides the honor they deserve. The soldiers themselves were the first to recognize the fact. "There is no purpose in this narrative," says Capt. Wood, "to reflect upon the valor and worth of the Federal soldier or his leaders. . . . It was simply a case of Greek meeting Greek, each being worthy of his foe-man's steel." The author's style is terse and graphic. The book is a fair, dispassionate account of the campaigns of Jackson and his brigade as seen by a young Confederate officer who participated in them, inspired by admiration for his leader and belief in the justice of the cause he served.

History of the 13th regiment, Vermont volunteers. War of 1861-1865, by RALPH ORSON STURTEVANT and CARM LATHROP MARSH. 1910. 4° pp. 863, illus.

Only those who have attempted similar work can appreciate the labor which the late Mr. Sturtevant, seconded by Mr. Marsh, put into this book. It is sad to think that he did not live to see its completion. Following tributes to President Lincoln, the war governors of Vermont, and the commanding officers of the regiment, is a plain statement of the service of the regiment, supplemented by short sketches of the lives of the rank and file. Portraits are grouped in pairs showing the soldier as he looked in 1862 and 1904. The last pages give the roster of the regiment with the present address or date of death of almost every man. Space is given to the proceedings of the 13th Vermont Association. Good paper, binding and presswork add to the permanent worth of the publication.

California Society of the Sons of the American Revolution. Constitution and by-laws and roll of members. Instituted at San Francisco, Oct. 22, 1875 as Sons of Revolutionary Sires. Compiled by T. A. PERKINS and EDWIN BONNELL, May 1910. 16° pp. 31.

Register of the Society Sons of the Revolution in the State of California, eighteenth year, 1910. Los Angeles, June 17, 1910. 4° unsp., illus.

In this finely executed publication are recorded the doings of the society for the last three years, the present roll of officers and members, portraits of members which have not been presented in former publications, and the names of those admitted to membership since 1907, with ancestors. A page, In Memoriam, honors twenty deceased members.

Year book of the Sons of the Revolution in the State of New York, published by the Sons of the Revolution in the State of New York, 1909. 4° pp. 748, illus.

This handsomely bound and finely illustrated volume contains, beside the usual lists of past and present officers, the constitution of the society, etc., a roll of members and their ancestors, a roll of the latter with records of their services in the Revolution, a list of deceased members of the society with date of death, and a list of the battles of the Revolutionary war arranged chronologically. The book concludes with Lord Brougham's tribute to Washington. The illustrations are portraits of past presidents of the order and other distinguished men, copies of celebrated patriotic paintings, memorials and tablets erected by the society, and exterior and interior views of Fraunce's tavern, where Washington bade farewell to his officers, now the headquarters of the Sons. It is one of the most artistic publications that has come into our hands this season.

The Homestead of a Colonial Dame, by ALICE CRARY SUTCLIFFE. Press of the A. V. Haight Co., Poughkeepsie, N. Y., 1909. 8° pp. 57, illus.

This pamphlet, printed on heavy paper and illustrated with fine half-tone reproductions of paintings and photographs, is an attractive addition to traditional and historical lore. It is dedicated to the author's mother, Mrs. Robert Fulton Crary, "the colonial dame who owns, and adorns by her presence, the homestead of her grandmother of the fifth generation, Madam Brett." The father of Madam Brett came to this country in 1654, and became mayor of New York. She was the first white woman to establish her home in the highlands of the Hudson River. "Indians, as well as pioneer settlers of her own race, accorded love and honor to her name."

Justice to the Jews. The story of what he has done for the world. New and revised edition, by MADISON C. PETERS. New York, The Trow Press, 1910. 12° pp. 244.

This book is an appeal written by a Christian minister. Taking history as his authority, he cites cases where not only Jewish money but Jewish brain have helped in the progress of the world's great achievements. The Jews have been discoverers, inventors, financiers, soldiers, philanthropists, and reformers. The writer demands for the Jew the square deal—all he asks is justice.

The Marston Restaurants, a brief history, by CAPT. GEORGE W. ELDRIDGE. 16° pp. 23, illus.

This little history will be interesting to thousands who have enjoyed Marston's restaurants in Boston. It is a story with a moral, illustrating the growth and success of an enterprise which is the result of sixty years of honest dealing and strict attention to the smallest details that make for the comfort of patrons.

Home making and its philosophy, illustrated by a nesting branch of the Archibalds, by WILLIAM CHARLES ARCHIBALD. Boston, Mass., 1910. 4° pp. 12+506, illus. Price, morocco, $10; leather, $7.50; cloth, $5, postpaid. Address the author, 203 Sudbury Building, Boston, Mass.

Mr. Archibald has drawn a pleasing picture of what home life should be, illustrated by sketches of his boyhood days in Musquoduboit, N. S. His departure from home, his experiences during the Civil War, and the hold which his mother had upon his young manhood, are vividly presented. Part 4 is devoted to the origin and history of the Archibald clan, following its Scotch-Irish progenitors to Londonderry, N. H., and from there to the Acadian region of Nova Scotia after the expulsion of the French. The book concludes with a directory of heads of families bearing the Archibald name in various provinces of the British dominions and almost every state in this country.

DELORAINÉ PENDRE COREY

By CHARLES EDWARD MANN, of Malden, Mass.

DELORAINÉ PENDRE COREY, historian of Malden and universally recognized as her first citizen, died at his home in that city Friday, May 6, 1910. Mr. Corey was born in South Malden, now Everett, September 4, 1836, the son of Solomon Pendre and Martha-Skinner (Waite) Corey. His ancestry was interesting. He was in the seventh generation from William Corey, a freeman of Portsmouth, and made a freeman of Rhode Island and Providence Plantations May 18, 1658, the line being William,<sup>1</sup> William,<sup>2</sup> Benjamin,<sup>3</sup> Benjamin<sup>4</sup> (married Prudence, daughter of Solomon and Patience (Ray) Pendre), Capt. Solomon<sup>5</sup> (married Charlotte (Delano) Winsor), Solomon Pendre,<sup>6</sup> Delorainé Pendre.<sup>7</sup> Through his grandmother, Charlotte Delano (Winsor) Corey, he was descended from John and Priscilla (Mullins) Alden, the Plymouth Pilgrims, thus: William<sup>1</sup> Mullins, John and Priscilla<sup>2</sup> (Mullins) Alden, William and Elizabeth<sup>3</sup> (Alden) Pabodie, John and Mercy<sup>4</sup> (Pabodie) Simmons, Ebenezer and Martha<sup>5</sup> (Simmons) Delano, Joshua<sup>6</sup> and Hopestill (Peterson) Delano, Samuel and Rhoda<sup>7</sup> (Delano) Winsor, Peter<sup>8</sup> and Charlotte (Delano) Winsor, Charlotte Delano<sup>9</sup> (Winsor) Corey. Through his mother, Martha Skinner (Waite) Corey, he was descended from Malden's two Puritan captains, Joseph Hills, who made the first compilation of Massachusetts Bay laws (1648), of which but a single copy is known to be in existence, and who is supposed to have given the name of his English home, Mauldon, to Mr. Corey's native town, and John Waite. One of the chapters in Mr. Corey's "History of Malden" is devoted to a discussion of the lives and eminent public services of these two men. The maternal line is as follows: Joseph<sup>1</sup> and Rose (Clerke) Hills, John<sup>2</sup> (son of Samuel<sup>1</sup>) and Mary<sup>3</sup> (Hills) Waite, Joseph<sup>4</sup> and Mercy (Tufts) Waite, Thomas<sup>5</sup> and Deborah (Sargeant) Waite, Thomas<sup>6</sup> and Mary (Sprague) Waite, Thomas<sup>7</sup> and Lydia (Hitchins) Waite, Thomas<sup>8</sup> and Hannah (Cheever) Waite, Martha-Skinner<sup>9</sup> Waite. Through Hannah (Cheever) Waite, Mr. Corey traced his ascent to Rev. Thomas Cheever, the first minister of Rumney Marsh (Chelsea), and his more famous son, Ezekiel Cheever, the New England schoolmaster; also to Capt. Joseph Cheever who led his company at Bunker Hill and Trenton, another Revolutionary sire having been Peter Winsor, a non-commissioned officer who was at the surrender of Burgoyne. Job Lane, the builder of the Bell Rock church, where stands Malden's memorial park and monument, was an ancestor of Mr. Corey, and he included eight passengers upon the Mayflower in various lines of ascent.

Mr. Corey's childhood and youth were spent in the public schools of Malden. At the age of seventeen he became a book-keeper in the hardware business of Flint & Carter, of Boston, and here he remained thirteen years, becoming a partner of the concern in 1866, which, under the names of Stratton, Orton & Corey, and Stratton, Corey & Co., continued the business until the great fire of 1872. A new firm, Corey, Brooks & Co., was then formed, from which he retired in 1877 on the formation of the Maverick Oil Company, of which he soon became treasurer, a position he retained when the corporation ceased and the business was merged in and continued by the Boston department of the Standard Oil Company. He retired from active business in 1898.

Mr. Corey's determination to become an authority upon the history of Malden must have been formed before he left the public schools of his birthplace. He wrote the preface to his History, covering the period from 1633 to 1785, in 1898, and there said that the work of collecting and verifying facts had been carried on for more than forty-five years. In 1903 the Vital Records of Malden were published, having been compiled by a commission of which Mr. Corey was chairman. Certain of the earlier record books were in such a dilapidated condition that it was necessary to treat them first by the Emery process for permanent preservation before they could be used, and then it was found that many pages were partially lost or undecipherable. In this emergency Mr. Corey produced exact copies of all the entries, made by himself in the closing year of the Civil War with his characteristic care and accuracy. Many dates were supplied, as is usual, from the gravestone records in the ancient Bell Rock Cemetery; and here again the work of his earlier years proved useful, for with his son Arthur he had spent many toilsome days in copying the inscriptions, in frequent instances from stones which have since disappeared. It is expected that the Malden Historical Society will publish these inscriptions from Mr. Corey's manuscript. Mr. Corey's editing of the Malden vital records differed from the usual style in several respects. He published the records of marriage intentions in a separate section of the book, while against each entry of a birth, marriage or death he placed the figures showing the page on which it appears in the original record, each feature, of course, adding greatly to the value of the book. These elements of infinite pains to secure accuracy and add to the value of his work appear in even a more marked degree in his History. A printed collection of the footnotes to that work would be a valuable historical volume in themselves, while the narrative, prepared in his later life, after years of study had made him absolutely familiar with his subject, is attractive in matter and easy and pure in style. An old friend, Daniel L. Milliken, since deceased, wrote of this History in 1903: "For this work he began collecting materials when about sixteen years of age. That a boy of sixteen should step so far out of the ordinary track and trend of boyhood thought and action is certainly remarkable, and of great significance. We believe it to be without a parallel in American biography. Displaying and cultivating the historic spirit thus early, it is easy to understand what every page of his completed book so clearly reveals, that the production of that great work was with him, from first to last, a labor of love." Another reviewer said: "The result is a history far above the average town history in every respect. He has the instinct of a true historian, and the book is a noble gift to the public. As a picture of life prior to 1785, it is a model." A writer in the American Historical Review said: "It is entitled to high rank in the department of local history because of its valuable contribution to knowledge, and the admirable manner of its execution."

In the April number of the REGISTER, 1878, Mr. Corey published a genealogy of the Waite family of Malden, which he intended to be the beginning of a larger history of the descendants of Capt. John Wayte. A mass of material for this book remains, and this he was intending to arrange and publish at the time of his death. His widow feels it to be a sacred duty to have the work completed and published. In Drake's History of Middlesex county the history of Malden is by Mr. Corey, and it is both readable and reliable. In 1891 he published a memorial of his only son, Arthur Deloraine Corey, Ph.D., which has gone through three editions. His chapter on "Joseph Hills and the Massachusetts Laws in 1648" from the History, was reprinted as a separate pamphlet in 1899. In the New England Magazine, vol. xx, pp. 357-378, appears his story "Two Centuries and a Half in Malden." His "Memorial of the Celebration of the Two Hundred and Fiftieth Anniversary of the Incorporation of the town of Malden, Mass.," a volume of over 350 pages, was issued in 1900; a memoir of John Ward Dean, A.M., originally published in the REGISTER, in 1902; the vital statistics of Malden in 1902; and a memoir of William Blake Trask, A.M., reprinted from the REGISTER, in 1907.

The beautiful Converse Memorial Library in Malden is Mr. Corey's monument. For over three decades, from its establishment, he was president of the board of trustees of the Malden public library. To it he gave incessant labor, being found more often at his desk in the library building in the evening, and at all times during his later years, than at any other place. The building was the last work of the late H. H. Richardson, and is a memorial to Frank Eugene Converse, son of the late Hon. Elisha S. Converse, who practically placed his wealth at the disposal of Mr. Corey to the extent that was needed to erect the building, equip it, embellish the two art galleries with rare paintings, and liberally endow it for its future needs. This done, Mr. Corey gave his best endeavor to the work of making the library meet the demand of the community for which it was established. So great was the appreciation of his value and special knowledge that he was long a member of the Free Public Library Commission of the Commonwealth, holding the office of chairman until a few months before his death.

Mr. Corey never sought elective office but never refused requests for public service in other directions. He was a member of the board of Trustees of Public Reservations and one of the trustees section of the American Library Association, taking particular delight in attending the association's annual meetings. He was a life member of the New England Historic Genealogical Society, a member of the American Antiquarian Society, an honorary member of the New York Genealogical and Biographical Society, and the Somerville Historical Society. He was active in the formation of the Malden Historical Society, and was many years its president, declining a re-election at the last annual meeting. He took the initiative for Malden's two hundred and fiftieth anniversary celebration and was its moving spirit. Upon him, as the best fitted man in every way, fell the duty of preparing the inscriptions which were placed upon the Bell Rock memorial and similar historic tablets. The boulder which stands near the site of the home of Joseph Hills in Malden square was his gift, and bears a filial tribute to his worthy ancestor.

No finer evidence could have been given of the eminent place he held in the esteem of his fellow-citizens, nor of the hold he had upon their affections, than the request from leading citizens, made upon his completion of thirty years' service as chairman of the public library trustees, that he accept a complimentary banquet. Unwillingly he consented, and hundreds of Malden citizens, with distinguished guests from abroad, gathered to do him honor. It was a tribute such as is given few men in private life under any circumstances.

Mr. Corey was innately modest. A conviction of public duty would draw him into the open, but he loved rather the quiet of his library. His home was a magazine of historic and antiquarian lore, and he accumulated one of the best private libraries upon these subjects in the commonwealth. The walls of his home, as of the art galleries of the Converse Memorial library, bear abundant evidence of his love for and taste in art, and he was equally devoted to music, as all admitted to his fireside can testify.

On May 11, 1865, Mr. Corey married Isabella, daughter of Dana and Isabella (Cowdrey) Holden. Their only child, Arthur Deloraine Corey, graduated from Harvard university, and received the degree of Ph.D. from the Royal Friedrich Wilhelm university of Berlin, Germany, in 1891. He died in Malden August 17 of the same year. It seemed ever after that the love the stricken parents had lavished upon him in life was given to all young people in general, especially to those who needed it most. Within a year of his death, Mr. Corey and his wife joined in meeting the expense of remodelling the Young Men's Christian Association building in Malden and fitting up attractive quarters for a boys' department, to be a memorial to Arthur Deloraine Corey. Within a few days of his death Mr. Corey attended nightly meetings held to raise a large sum of money for the work of the same association, making an initial gift of many thousands and adding to it from time to time as subscriptions lagged. His last appearance in public was at one of these meetings. While a regular attendant at the First Baptist Church in Malden, Mr. Corey was extremely broad in his religious sympathies, and though everywhere recognized as representing the finest type of the Christian gentleman, supporting all good causes with voice, pen and purse, he was in no sense sectarian.

Mr. Corey was elected a member of the New England Historic Genealogical Society in 1863, and signally proved his interest in the Society and in the REGISTER as a member of the Register Club, which for many years guaranteed the expenses of its publication, thus sustaining its work at a critical time. His attitude here was typical of the man, able, kindly, generous; alert to meet every crisis, putting his heart, his time and his means into every worthy cause; willing to labor for years with no reward other than a knowledge that thereby priceless memorials of the past were preserved; patient when his work was unappreciated, grateful but modest when recognition came; bearing his personal sorrows bravely, and meeting failing health and the summons of the Last Messenger with resignation — this world can never have too many men like him.

THE ENGLISH ANCESTORS OF EDMOND HAWES OF YARMOUTH, MASS.

By JAMES W. HAWES of New York City

It has been known that Edmond Hawes, described as a cutler, late of London, was among those who shipped about 5 April 1635, to sail from Southampton in the ship James for New England,<sup>a</sup> and that he arrived in Boston 3 June 1635, after a passage of about five weeks.<sup>b</sup> His subsequent career is known from the colonial and local records. He was in Duxbury in 1637, and was chosen constable there in 1642. In or prior to March 1645, he removed to Yarmouth, where he was active in public affairs until his death in 1693. He was one of the selectmen and town clerk and treasurer for many years, and for many years represented the town in the Colony Court. He left one son, John (who married Desire, daughter of Capt. John Gorham and granddaughter of John Howland, the Mayflower passenger), also active in public affairs in the town, from whom descended the Haweses of Yarmouth, Chatham, and other towns on Cape Cod.

Nothing, however, was known of his parentage or place of birth until the writer recently, with the pecuniary assistance of two other descendants of Edmond, Messrs. William T. Wardwell and James Anderson Hawes, of New York City, employed Mr. Gerald Fothergill of New Wandsworth, London, to make investigations.<sup>c</sup>

The records of the Cutlers' Company of London, recently rendered accessible, revealed that the emigrant was the son of Edmond Hawes of Solihull (a parish about seven miles southeast of Birmingham), Warwickshire, gentleman; that he bound himself, 14 February 1626-7, to Edmond Warnett,<sup>d</sup> a citizen and cutler of London, for the term of eight years from 2 February preceding, and that he was sworn free cutler 9 December 1634. The will of Francis Hawes (a relative, degree not known) of Belchamp

<sup>c</sup> Services were also performed by Miss P. Smith of Queen's Gardens, London. Acknowledgments are due for valuable assistance, gratuitously given, to Mr. P. E. Martineau, a local antiquary of Knowle, Warwickshire; to Rev. Robert Pemberton, author of "Solihull and its Church," of Birmingham, England; and to Mr. Frank M. Hawes, a descendant of Richard Hawes, of Somerville, Mass., who is engaged on a genealogy of the various lines of Massachusetts Haweses.

St. Paul, county of Essex, dated 21 November 1621, and proved in the Prerogative Court of Canterbury 2 April 1622, gives all his freehold and copyhold estates, subject to an annuity of £5 a year to the testator's sister, Anne Morris, to Edmond Hawes, youngest son of Edmond Hawes, of Solihull, gentleman.

The testator's sister and William Rastall having entered upon the lands devised and attempted to suppress the will, Edmond Hawes the younger (then 14 years of age), by Edmond Hawes the elder, his father and guardian, brought a suit in Chancery, 15 May 1622, against Anne Morris and William Rastall (an executor of the will), to establish his right, which evidently resulted in his favor. By deed, dated 12 February 1633-4, he sold his right in these estates to Sir Leventhorpe Franche, Knight, for the consideration of £250.<sup>o</sup> The printed parish register of Solihull (Parish Register Society, vol. 53) shows the baptisms of Edmond and his brothers and sisters. They are all styled Mr. or Mrs., and described as son or daughter of Mr. Edmond Hawes of Hillfield or Shelley, the family estates. The register also shows the marriages and deaths of certain members of the Hawes line.

The Visitation of Warwickshire made in 1619,<sup>f</sup> gives the pedigree of the family for eight generations down to the emigrant, Edmond (Edmond, William, Thomas, Thomas, Thomas, Thomas, Thomas).

The original of this pedigree, signed by Edmond Hawes, father of the emigrant, is in the College of Arms, London. This visitation and Burke's General Armory (p. 468) give the arms of the family as sable, a chevron argent between three leopards' faces or. For several generations they had intermarried with arms-bearing families of Warwickshire and other counties.

Hillfield Hall was rebuilt by William Hawes, grandfather of the emigrant, in 1576, and the front remains substantially in its original shape to-day. Over the front door is the following inscription, containing the initials of William Hawes and his wife Ursula:

H
W.      V.

*Hic hospites, in Coelo Cives.**

In the parish church is an inscription laudatory of this William.

Pemberton (op. cit. p. 42) gives one more generation than the Visitation of Warwickshire, beginning with Thomas Hawes of Shirley, who purchased Hillfield about 1311.

A manuscript in the Bridges collection in the Bodleian Library at Oxford, attributed to William Belchier of Northamptonshire, reproduces inscriptions existing in the Hawes mansion in Solihull (probably about 1600 or earlier), giving the marriage of Thomas Hawes in 1465 to Ann Greswolde, with the Hawes arms impaling those of Greswolde (argent, a fess gules between two greyhounds courant sable), the marriage of Thomas Hawes in 1527 to Elizabeth Brome, with the Hawes arms impaling those of Brome (sable, on a chevron argent three sprigs of broom slipped vert), and the marriage of William Hawes in 1562 to Ursula Colles, with the Hawes arms impaling those of Colles (gules, on a chevron argent pelletée four barrulets sable between three lions' heads erased or).

Excluding the earlier generations alluded to above, the English pedigree will be :

1. THOMAS HAWES married, 1465, ANN GRESWOLDE.<sup>a</sup>

Child :

2. i. THOMAS, and probably others.

2. THOMAS HAWES (Thomas) married, about 1500, JOAN RAINSFORD,<sup>1</sup> buried 26 August, 1558.

Children :

3. i. THOMAS.
  - ii. ELIZABETH, m. ———, and had Ann.
  - iii. CATHERINE, m. 28 Nov. 1589, WILLIAM SMALLWOOD.
  - iv. ANN, m. ——— GIBBONS.
- Perhaps others.

3. THOMAS HAWES (Thomas, Thomas) married first, in 1527, ELIZABETH BROME, daughter of Nicholas,<sup>1</sup> Esq., of Baddesley Clinton, probably by his third wife, Lettice, daughter of Nicholas Catesby; and secondly, ELINOR ———, buried 12 June 1514. He left a will filed in the Consistory of Lichfield, 27 October 1574, in which he mentions his wife Elinor, his son and heir William and the latter's son Thomas, daughter Elizabeth (wife of Thomas Jackson) and her son Thomas, daughter Hatley and her children, daughter Margaret, son-in-law Doctor Brainton, sister Elizabeth ——— and her daughter Ann, sister Catherine Wood, sister Ann Gibbons, and cousin Thomas Greswolde. His first wife was buried in the Baddesley Clinton Church, near her father, where she had an epitaph.<sup>2</sup>

Children, probably all by his first wife :

4. i. WILLIAM, b. in 1531.
- ii. CONSTANCE,<sup>1</sup> m. THOMAS SPEHERD, yeoman; not mentioned in her father's will.
- iii. ELIZABETH, m. THOMAS JACKSON, and had Thomas.
- iv. A DAUGHTER, m. ——— HATLEY, and had issue.
- v. A DAUGHTER, m. DR. ——— BRAINTON.
- vi. MARGARET.

<sup>2</sup> Nicholas Brome, the father of Elizabeth, was lord of the manor of Baddesley Clinton. He died in 1517, and was buried in the church there, where there was an inscription to his memory. He was Justice of the Peace for several years, and at one time Sheriff of Warwick and Leicestershire. The family was an ancient one in Warwickshire. His great-grandfather, Robert Brome, was a lawyer. His grandfather, John Brome, was member of Parliament for the Borough of Warwick in 1406. His father, John Brome, a lawyer, who bought the manor, was Under-treasurer in the Exchequer in the reign of Henry VI. (between 1422 and 1461), and held other offices. This John Brome was slain in 1468 on the porch of the White Friars' Church, London, where he was attending mass, by John Herthill, steward to the Earl of Warwick, in a quarrel over a mortgage which Brome held against Herthill. He was buried in the White Friars' Church, and there was a Latin epitaph inscribed on his tombstone. (Dugdale, op. cit. pp. 710-13.)

4. WILLIAM HAWES (Thomas, Thomas, Thomas) married, in 1562, URSULA COLLES, daughter of William<sup>m</sup> of Leigh, co. Worcester, and was buried 31 Oct. 1611, aged 80 years. She was buried 26 Oct. 1615, aged 76 years. He left a will and codicil proved in the Consistory of Lichfield 14 Jan. 1611-12, in which he mentions his wife Ursula, son Edmond, a deceased son, daughters Elizabeth and Ursula, youngest daughter Constance, son-in-law William Sheldon, grandchildren William Hawes and Jane Hawes, brother-in-law Michael Colles, and the latter's son Humphrey, cousin Reginald Brome, Esq. The inventory of his estate amounted to £378 0s. 10d, and included a virginal, chessboard, clock, map, etc. His widow left a will, dated 25 March 1614 and proved in the Consistory of Lichfield 3 Nov. 1615, in which she mentions son Edmond and wife, daughters Sheldon, Hunt, Constance Hawes, grandchildren Jane, William, Ursula, and the rest of her son Edmond's children (not named), brother Mr. Michael Colles and his wife, nephew Mr. Humphrey Colles. The inventory of her estate amounted to £165 2s. 8d.

Children :

- i. URSULA.
  - ii. ELIZABETH, m. 16 Oct. 1588, WILLIAM SHELDON, of Bromsgrove, co. Worcester.
  5. iii. EDMOND.
  - iv. THOMAS, not mentioned in his father's or mother's will.
  - v. WILLIAM, not mentioned in his father's or mother's will ; d. without issue.
  - vi. URSULA, m. 8 Nov. 1595, RAPHAEL HUNT of Stoke Green, parish of Hanbury, co. Worcester.
  - vii. CONSTANCE, unm. in 1615.
  - viii. A SON, not mentioned in his parents' wills.
5. EDMOND HAWES (William, Thomas, Thomas, Thomas) married before 1600, JANE PORTER, daughter of Richard<sup>a</sup> of Bayham, co. Sussex. By deed dated 16 May 1604, with his cousin Humphrey Colles of the Middle Temple, he bought the lordship of Solihull for £1080 from Thomas, grandson of Sir George Throckmorton, Knight, and afterward sold it to Samuel Marrow, Esq.<sup>o</sup> He was living as late as 1653.<sup>p</sup>

<sup>a</sup> William Colles, the father of Ursula, married Margaret, sister and co-heir of John Hinch. He died in 1558, aged 63 years, and was buried in the Church at Leigh, where there was an inscription to his memory. His eldest son Edmond, who died in 1606, aged 76 years, had been justice of the peace, deputy lieutenant of Worcestershire, and sheriff of that county. William Colles also had a son Michael, of Hampden in Arden, Warwickshire, and Bradwell, Buckinghamshire, besides other children. The family had been seated in Worcestershire since the 14th century, and owned estates in many parts of that and other counties. (Gravebrook, Heraldry of Worcestershire, p. 124; Nash, History of Worcestershire, pp. 76, 400; Habington, Survey of Worcestershire, pp. 329-32, 399, 400, 642.)

<sup>p</sup> Richard Porter, of Bayham, co. Sussex, father of Jane, married Jane, daughter of Robert Whitfield, of Worth in the same county. He was fourth in descent from William Porter, of Markham, Nottinghamshire. After his death his widow married Edward Quinby, Esquire, of Titchfield, Hampshire. The Porter arms were sable, three church bells argent, a canton ermine. Crest, a portcullis argent, chained or. Thomas who died in 1558, Thomas who died in 1574, William, and the latter's son Edmond, are all styled gentlemen in the records of their time.

The name seems originally to have been Hawe; at any rate it is frequently so written in the ancient records, but the emigrant and his descendants and his ancestors, at least so far back as his great-grandfather Thomas, uniformly wrote it Hawes. The name was widely distributed in England in the early part of the 17th century, and appears not only in Warwickshire and adjacent counties but also in London and neighboring counties, and elsewhere.

Besides Edmond, among the early settlers of Massachusetts were Edward Hawes, who was in Dedham in 1648; Richard Hawes of Dorchester, who came in the Truelove in September 1635; and Robert Hawes of Salem, Wenham, and Roxbury, in which last-named town he died in 1666. There is no evidence that these were of kin to each other, and they certainly were not nearly related to Edmond, although it seems not improbable that Richard was of the Warwickshire stock.

Respecting the emigrant Edmond Hawes, it may be observed that Winsor, in his History of Duxbury (p. 81), says the office of constable was one "of high trust and responsibility, and none were elected to it but men of good standing." In fact, in early times, constables instead of being mere peace officers, as now, had various other functions, such as acting as collectors of taxes, as coroners in summoning juries of inquest, and when a call was made for military duty impressing men for the service.

Swift in "Old Yarmouth" (p. 79), speaking of the early settlers, says: "Anthony Thacher, Edmond Hawes, and Richard Sears were certainly men of education and social standing in England"; and (p. 81): "Lawyers were not tolerated in the Colony, but conveyances, wills and other legal writings were executed by Anthony Thacher, Edmund Hawes and John Miller, according to the formulas of English practice."

A school existed at Solihull as early as 1560, when the endowment of certain chantry chapels in the parish church was devoted to the salary of a schoolmaster. Mr. Horne, a graduate of Oxford University, was master during the boyhood of Edmond Hawes, the emigrant, who was no doubt educated in this school, where Latin at that time would have been a principal element in the curriculum.<sup>2</sup>

GENEALOGICAL RESEARCH IN ENGLAND

Transcribed by Miss ELIZABETH FRENCH, and communicated by the Committee on English Research

The Will of ALICIA IGOLYNDEN, late wife of Richard Igolynden of By-denden in the County of Kent, dated at Bydenden, April 1475. My body to be buried in the churchyard of Bydynden. To the high altar of the church of Bydynden for my tythes and oblations forgotten, 8d. To every brotherhood light of which I am a sister, 2d. To son Thomas Igolynden.
 To lore Gesse. To daughter Agnes Igolynden a large iron pot on condition that she pay to Thomas her brother 6s. 8d. To daughter Juliane all my money and a cow which is in the hands of Robert lanys, etc. To Thomasine Hardy. To son Thomas. Toward the expenses of my burial 13s. 4d. To my days mind 13s. 4d. To son John. The residue to daughter Agnes, and of this my will I make Adam Pellond and John Igolynden my executors. I make John lechynden and William Gebon my feofees of eight crofts of land and woods containing nine acres in Bedynden on the den of Beckynden, they to legally deliver them to my son John Igolynden on condition that he pay all my legacies following: to a priest to celebrate mass in the church of Bydenden for one year, 30s. 4d., to the footway in Crouchfeild two cartloads of stone, to Juliane my daughter 20d., to the Northrodeloft in the said church 16d., and to every one of my godsons and goddaughters 4d. Proved 9 May 1475 by John Igolynden, one of the executors named, with power reserved for the other executor. (Archdeaconry of Canterbury, vol. 2, fo. 17, translated from the Latin.)

 page, and is the final entry.

The Will of WILLIAM IGOLYNDEN of Bidynden, dated the Feast of St. George, [23 April] 1474. My body to be buried in the churchyard of Bidynden. To the high altar of the church of Bidynden 8d. All the rest of my goods to my brothers Thomas Igolynden and John Igolynden, whom I make my executors. I make Robert Hamon and Richard morelyn my feofees of all my lands and tenements in the parish of Bidynden on the den of Brykynden, they to legally deliver the same to my mother Alice Igolynden on condition that she deliver all her right in two pieces of land in parish and den aforesaid, called machetrede and le marlyng, which I give to my brothers Thomas and John and to their heirs forever, on condition that they pay to my feofees 9 marks as follows: 40s. at my months mind, 40s. at my years mind, and half a year thereafter 40s. more. If they refuse, then the aforesaid two pieces of land to be sold and the money to be given as follows: 13s. 4d. to the church of Bidynden; for a priest to celebrate in the said church for a quarter of a year, 33s. 4d.; a cartload of stone for the bad road at Dastecrosse, and two cartloads between my mansion house and the mansion house of Walter Brekynden. The residue of the 9 marks to be spent about my burial, my months mind, my years mind and paying my debts. After the decease of my mother I give to my sister Agnes Igolynden a croft of land, called the croft before the gate, in fee simple, and all my other lands and tenements to Thomas and John my brothers, their heirs and assigns, on condition that they pay to Thomas Elsy 3s. 4d., to the three daughters of Robert Haslynden 2s., and to Robert Sesse 3s. 4d. Proved 9 September 1474 by the executors named in the will. (Archdeaconry of Canterbury, vol. 2, fo. 15, translated from the Latin.)

The Will of AGNES IGOLYNDEN, daughter of Richard Igolynden of Bedynden, 2 February 1486[-7]. To be buried in the churchyard of Bedynden. To the high altar of the church of Bedynden, the chapel, lights, and for masses. To the footway between Brekyndennyscrosse and Hacchmanys stile, for stone, 26s. 8d. To the foot way between two pieces of land called Sevenaker and Stalefield, in stone, 20s. To one hundred masses to be said for the health of my soul by the friars of Canterbury, 8s. 6d. To Richard, prior of Lossenham, 12d. To the children of Thomas Igolynden my brother, 40s. to be divided among them, but if all die before lawful age, then the said 40s. to my said brother Thomas Igolynden. To the poor inhabitants of the parish of Bedynden 20s. To Johane Sampcok 20d. To sister Juliane Igolynden all those sums which she owes me, she to pay to the aforesaid Johane wife of William Sprynget [sic] 2s. To lore, wife of John Sease. To Steven Herynden. The residue of my goods to John lechynden and Juliane Igolynden to dispose of for the health of my soul, etc., and I make them my executors. Lawrence at-hill, John lechynden, Adam Pelond, and Richard Morleyn to be my feofees of my land in Bidynden on the den of Brekynden and Petynden to be sold and the money to be used for the execution of my testament. Proved 20 May 1477 by the executors named. (Archdeaconry of Canterbury, vol. 3, fo. 4.)

The Will of THOMAS IGYLDEN of Fretinden in the Countie of Kent, 10 December 1497. To be buried in the churchyard of Fretynden. To the high altar there, etc., 8d. To the mother church 2d. The residue to my wife Johane, whom I make my executrix. Stephen Payne to be supervisor. Lands and tenements in Frittenden, and two acres of woodland in Biddenden to wife for life, she to pay a debt to Stephen Payne and James Everynden. To son John all my other lands and tenements in Biddenden in fee simple, and if he outlive the said Johan, the two acres of woodland and the messuage at Stokebregge, he paying to my daughter Kateryn 33s. 4d. and to my other daughter, Isabell, 26s. 8d., and to be charged with no other money "axed" by the said Isabell. If John die before Johane, then son Thomas to have the messuage at Stokebregge after the death of the said Johane Payne [sic],* he paying the said sums to my daughters. If both sons die before my wife, property to be sold and out of it the legacies paid to my daughters, and of the remainder one half to go to the children of my son John, and the other half to the church of Frittenden for masses. Land called the Reche to be sold to pay my debts. Son Thomas, after the death of my wife, to have eight acres of land upon the denne of Bukherst in fee simple. [The foregoing wills and register abstracts show the following pedigree of Stephen Igleden of Biddenden, co. Kent, whose family came to New England.]

1. RICHARD IGGLEDEN of Bindenden left a widow ALICE, testatrix of 1475. Their youngest son,
2. JOHN IGGLEDEN of Biddenden, the testator of 1511, left a wife ALICE. Their sons were:
3. RICHARD IGGLEDEN of Biddenden, the testator of 1518, and JOHN IGGLEDEN, whose will has not been found. The latter was evidently father of
4. WILLIAM IGGLEDEN of Biddenden, born about 1510, the testator of 1557. His youngest child by his second wife, LETTICE STACY, was
5. STEPHEN IGGLEDEN of Biddenden, bapt. 19 Oct. 1552, the testator of 1605. He had three wives, JOANE, MARY, and DIONYS. His third child,
6. STEPHEN IGGLEDEN of Biddenden and Tenterden, baptized 16 Apr. 1582, was the testator of 1624. He married at Tenterden 13 Jan. 1606-7, SARAH HAFFENDEN.

Children:

7. i. STEPHEN, bapt. at Biddenden, 17 Jan. 1607-8.
- ii. SARAH, bapt. at Biddenden, 22 Oct. 1609; probably m. at Tenterden, 29 Jan. 1628-9, JOHN LUCAS.
- iii. JOHN, bapt. at Biddenden, 25 Aug. 1611. A John Eggleton or Egleden was early of Fairfield, Conn. (where in 1659 settled Joseph Patchen, who m. in 1642, Elizabeth, widow of Stephen Igleden, No. 7). This John Egleden d. at Fairfield in 1659, leaving a son John, who d. young, and a widow Peaceable, who m. (3) Daniel Silliman.
- iv. THOMAS, bapt. at Biddenden 26 Dec. 1618; living in 1624.
- v. MARGARET, bapt. at Tenterden 11 Feb. 1615-16; probably m. at Tenterden, 26 Apr. 1636, RICHARD ELFICKE.
- vi. SUSAN, bapt. at Tenterden 21 June 1618; probably m. at Tenterden, 20 Sept. 1634, THOMAS HAFFENDEN.

- vii. ELIZABETH, bapt. at Biddenden 21 Jan. 1620-1; evidently came to New England with the widow of her brother Stephen Iggleden (No. 7). The records of Roxbury, Mass., show the marriage of Philip Meadows and Elizabeth Ingulden, Apr. 1641. Child: Hannah, b. at Roxbury 1 Feb. 1642-3. Savage and other authorities erroneously state that Elizabeth Iggleden, wife of Philip Meadows, was daughter of Stephen Iggleden (No. 7).
- viii. MARY, bapt. at Biddenden 29 June 1628.

7. STEPHEN IGGLEDEN, baptized at Biddenden 17 Jan. 1607-8, died about 1638. He married there, 30 Nov. 1628, ELIZABETH BENNETT. She came with her children to New England in the summer of 1638 in the Castle, which brought a company from Tenterden and vicinity, among them Peter Branch of Halden, co. Kent (which lies between Tenterden and Biddenden), who died on the voyage and by his will, dated 16 June 1638 and probated at Boston, left a reversionary bequest to "widowe Igle den the late wife of Stephen Igle den or to his children or to her children she had by him." She settled at Roxbury, Mass., where as "Widdow Iggulden" she appears in a list of proprietors in 1639. Three years later her marriage appears in Roxbury: "Joseph Patching and Elizabeth Ingulden, Apr. 10," 1642. On 20 Oct. 1646 "Egleden, daughter in law to Joseph Patchen she was about 10 y. old, she dyed of a paine first in her head, then in her back" (Roxbury Church Records). "Goodwife Patchin a poor old woman" joined the Roxbury Church 14 Mar. 1649-50, and her two sons Joseph and John Patchen were baptized. Joseph Patchen removed in 1651 to Fairfield, Conn.

- i. ELIZABETH, bapt. 31 Jan. 1629-30; bur. 25 July 1630.
- ii. RUTH, bapt. 8 Nov. 1631.
- iii. ELIZABETH, bapt. 11 May 1634.
- iv. HANNAH, bapt. 9 Oct. 1636; d. at Roxbury, Mass., 20 Oct. 1646, aged 10 years.

[There was a Richard Iggleden, mariner, of Boston, who married Ann Prince, 19 July 1660, and administration on whose estate was given to Oliver Purchase 1 May 1667. Savage and other authorities state that he was son of Stephen Iggleden, but give no evidence for the assertion.

At Woburn, Mass., John Nutting married, 28 Aug. 1650, Sarah Eggleton, and Samuel Blodgett married, 13 Dec. 1655, Ruth Eggleton. Savage and others have suggested these two were also daughters of Stephen Iggleden (No. 7), but, as Mr. Arthur G. Loring has pointed out, in 1674 Nutting and Blodgett agreed to support their mother-in-law Jane, widow of Isaac Cole. She was born about 1600, was formerly wife of James Britton, and evidently still earlier the wife of one Eggleton, by whom she had Sarah and Ruth. (See REGISTER, vol. 59, p. 417.)]

[In the July number will appear interesting details of the ancestry of Moses Paine of Braintree, Nathaniel Tilden of Scituate, Samuel Hinckley of Barnstable, Jonas Austin of Taunton, Richard Sealis of Scituate, and other early settlers of New England from Tenterden, co. Kent.]

PROCEEDINGS OF THE NEW ENGLAND HISTORIC
GENEALOGICAL SOCIETY

By JOHN ALBREE, Recording Secretary

Boston, Massachusetts, 7 December, 1910. A stated meeting of the New England Historic Genealogical Society was held at Pilgrim Hall, 14 Beacon Street, at 2.30 P.M., President Baxter presiding.

The records of the November meeting were read and approved.

Seven resident members were elected by ballot.

The reports of the Corresponding Secretary, Librarian, Historian, and Council were accepted.

Messrs. Henry Edwards Scott and George Sawin Stewart were appointed by the President to act as auditors.

On motion, the President appointed Charles Sidney Ensign, John Albree, and Hon. Jedediah Dwelley a committee to prepare a minute for the records in memoriam William Carver Bates.

On motion of Charles Sidney Ensign, seconded by Henry Winchester Cunningham, the following vote was adopted:

Voted,—That the Council of the New England Historic Genealogical Society be, and hereby is, authorized and instructed to erect a suitable building for the present and probable future needs of the Society on the land now owned by the Society on Beacon Hill, with an entrance from Ashburton Place; and also to make all plans necessary for financing this undertaking.

Edmund H. Garrett of Boston spoke on Baronial Halls and Elizabethan Mansions: their history, romance, and beauty. He traced the development of the mansion from the castle of feudal times, using stereopticon slides from photographs he himself had made to illustrate his theme.

After a vote of thanks to the speaker, the meeting dissolved at 4.10 P.M., and the members and their friends partook of the refreshments provided. During the social hour there was piano music by Mrs. Lawrence Brainerd.

4 January, 1911. A stated meeting of the New England Historic Genealogical Society was held at Pilgrim Hall, 14 Beacon Street, at 2.30 P.M., Vice-President Cunningham presiding.

The records of the December meeting were read and approved.

The reports of the Corresponding Secretary, Librarian, Historian, and Council were accepted and ordered filed.

Seven resident members were elected by ballot.

The Committee in memoriam William Carver Bates submitted the following minute which was adopted by vote:

Through the death of William Carver Bates, a member of the Council, the New England Historic Genealogical Society has lost an enthusiastic supporter. He believed in it and in its ability to accomplish its work, and to its requests for aid he cordially responded. He was an especially valuable member of committees, for he was ready with practical suggestions in the support of which he was able to enlist the active co-operation of his associates. The thorough manner in which he obtained results was an inspiration to his fellow-workers. His cheery personality, his zeal and his courage made him an associate whom we shall greatly miss.

Hon. William T. A. Fitzgerald, LL.B., Register of Deeds for Suffolk County, read a paper on the History and Development of Conveyancing, in which he traced the development of the ownership of land, and of the methods of making and recording transfers of title. He closed with a recital of incidents, such as occur in the daily routine of his office, to show the need of extreme care in the transfer of real estate.

After remarks by Messrs. Cunningham, Stark, and Mann, it was, on motion of Mr. Frank E. Bradish, Voted,—That the Society expresses its appreciation of the paper of Mr. Fitzgerald in which he has given the benefit of his wide research and practical experience.

At 4 P.M. it was voted to dissolve, after which refreshments were served, and an opportunity was afforded to inspect the ancient parchments, the earliest dating from 1486, from the collections of the Society and of Edward Curling Albree.

25 January. The annual meeting of the Society was held this day, agreeable to article 1, chapter III, of the By-laws; for a report of which see the Supplement to the present number of the REGISTER.

1 February. A stated meeting of the New England Historic Genealogical Society was held at Pilgrim Hall, 14 Beacon Street, at 2.30 P.M., President Baxter presiding.

The records of the annual meeting, January 25, were read and approved.

The reports of the Corresponding Secretary, Librarian, Historian, and Council were accepted and ordered filed.

Four resident members were elected by ballot.

Rev. George Hodges, who had been announced as the speaker, was prevented by illness from coming.

Minna Elliot Tenney spoke on Beautiful New Brunswick and Historic Quebec, illustrating the lecture with stereopticon slides in which the picturesque and the historic features of the country were shown in detail.

At 3.50 P.M. it was voted to dissolve, and refreshments were then served.

NOTES

PARENTAGE OF GOV. THOMAS DUDLEY.—For nearly a century fruitless efforts have been made to substantiate the statements of Cotton Mather, that Gov. Dudley was born in Northampton about 1574, son of Capt. Roger Dudley, and that his mother was a kinswoman of Judge Nicolls, although persistent search was made in the records of the Dudley and Nicolls families, and among the Pells and Purefoys, who were connected with the Nicolls family. In the REGISTER for October, 1895, Mr. H. F. Waters published the will of a John Purefoy, 1579, which mentioned a Thomas Dudley. (See REGISTER, vol. 49, p. 507, or Waters' Gleanings, p. 1087.) This will was fully annotated by Mr. Dean Dudley, who furnished an account of the Purefoy family, derived from the Visitation of Leicestershire and from Nicholls's History of that county, which stated that Mary Purefoy, sister of this testator John Purefoy, married Thomas Thorne of Yardley, co. Northants, and of their six children "Susanna Thorne m. Rogers." That this "Rogers" should be Roger Dudley is proved by the register of Yardley Hastings, which records, 12 Oct. 1576, the baptism of Thomas Dudley, son of Roger and Susanna (Thorne) Dudley, as has recently been made public in vol. 1, p. 93, of the "Stokes Records" (1910). The statements of Cotton Mather are thus confirmed.

JOSEPH GARDNER BARTLETT.

ANCESTRY OF WILLIAM DYER.—There are in Abington, Whitman, and East Bridgewater, Mass., and elsewhere, many descendants of William Dyer, who with his wife Joanna was the earliest settler, in 1699, of that part of Bridgewater since known as Abington and Whitman. The ancestry of William Dyer has been unknown, while his wife has been called by some Joanna Chard and by others Joanna Bicknell. His relationship to Dea. Thomas Dyer of Weymouth, Mass., has seemed probable, but the historians Hobart, Mitchell, Nash, Rev. Ebenezer Porter Dyer, Rev. Charles Cummings, and others, searched in vain for proof.

A short distance west of the railroad station at Whitman, William Dyer built his log cabin, near a fine spring of water, and here Christopher, his son, was born in 1701, the first child born in the town of Abington. He married again, April 17, 1712, Mary Whitman, and removed to Weymouth, where his wife died September 25, 1725. He died prior to August 15, 1750, when his will was probated.

Evidence is now at hand that this Abington pioneer, William Dyer, was a son of Christopher, who was the son of William, both early settlers of Sheepscot, Me., where they were massacred by the Indians during King Philip's War, 1676-1678. Cushman's History of Sheepscot says: "William Dyer, who had been in the region of Saco, was one of three men chosen by the King's commissioners as a Justice of the Peace." The names of William Dyer and of his son Christopher are on a recorded list of those who took the oath of allegiance at Sheepscot in 1665. Their farms were described in a survey of "the demensions of the town necke," so called, by one Nicholas Manning, a surveyor under John Palmer, who was an agent for the Duke of York.* Where the Sheepscot River divides at the Burnt Islands, and the East Branch with its deep indentations seeks again to mingle its divided waters with the main sweep of the river above the falls, there at the "north point" of the Great or "Towne Necke" William Dyer built his cabin at the mouth of the river which still bears his name, and opposite that other neck known as Dyer's Neck to the present day. The river and neck are lasting monuments to William Dyer, the pioneer, who was the first to lose his life (according to Cushman) from Indian hatred in the general massacre when Sheepscot was pillaged and sacked by the Indians in 1676. "William Dyer was a large, stout man." His death threw his family and the colony at Sheepscot into despair. Following his death many of the colonists were killed, and the survivors fled in terror to other settlements, but mostly to Boston and vicinity.

William Dyer had two sons—Christopher, the elder; John, born about 1648—and a daughter Mary, who married Samuel Bolles.

Christopher Dyer married first —, and had William, John, and Grace who married, about 1683, John Allicett, or Ellisset, of Boston; he married secondly Ruth —, and had Mary who married, in 1698, Samuel Talbot of Taunton, and Ruth who married Benjamin Paul of Taunton, and died at Berkley January 24, 1776, in the 93d year of her age. The widow Ruth Dyer married, October 10, 1692, John Hathaway, and died September 11, 1705, aged 65 years.

At the desertion of the Sheepscot settlement, about 1676, Christopher and John Dyer went to Scituate and Braintree. August 30, 1682, they joined with other survivors of the refugees in a compact made at Boston to reoccupy their homes at Sheepscot before September 29, 1683, and the Indian disturbances having ceased they returned to their abandoned farms. Here, for a few years of comparative quiet with the Indians, they prospered until near the close of King Philip's War, when Indian hostilities again assailed the Sheepscot colony, and John Dyer was severely wounded, and was taken by his brother Christopher to Fort Pemaquid, fifteen miles or more, the nearest place, for surgical treatment. About 1688 or 1689 the Indians again attacked and completely broke up the Sheepscot settlement. Christopher Dyer, with others, was killed.

John Dyer, in his deposition dated January 19, 1732-3, says that his father William Dyer was killed by the Indians in or about the month of August above forty-two years since, and that some few months after the death of his father, viz. in or about the month of December, his eldest brother Christopher was also killed by the Indians; that Christopher left a son William and other children, said William now residing in Weymouth. Esther Roberts of Boston also deposes to the same effect.

The inhabitants who escaped massacre fled never to return, and Sheepscot was deserted for thirty years.

Ruth, the widow of Christopher Dyer, was in 1692 living with her two young daughters, Mary and Ruth Dyer, at Braintree, Mass., where she was again married at the age of fifty-two to John Hathaway of Taunton, Mass. The two daughters of Christopher and Ruth Dyer went with their mother to their new home in Taunton, and in time married there. Mary Dyer married Samuel Talbot of Taunton in 1698, and Ruth Dyer married Benjamin Paul of Taunton about 1704. A descendant of this Ruth Dyer, E. Paul, Esq., a lawyer of Minneapolis, Minn., in searching for the previous history of the widow Ruth Dyer of Braintree, found proof that she was the second wife of Christopher Dyer of Sheepscot, and that he had by his first wife a son William, who was the first settler at a place called Little Comfort in Bridgewater and Abington, Mass. Mr. Paul prepared a valuable paper, which he presented early in the last decade, concerning the Dyer-Talbot-Paul and other Taunton families, from which this paper is largely drawn. The original is now in the library of the Old Colony Historical Society of Taunton, of which Col. Seaver is the secretary.

John Dyer, the brother of Christopher, fled from Sheepscot to Braintree, Mass., where he remained for the rest of his life and reared a large family. He married first Sarah, and secondly Anna Holbrook. Rev. Samuel Niles, the minister of Braintree, refers to him under date of April 23, 1733, thus: "This day buried John Dyer the aged." Judge Samuel Sewall also refers to him in his diary under date of February 1, 1680-1, as follows: "Last night one Dyer of Braintrey shot an Indian to death as he was breaking his window and attempting to get into his House against his will, Saying he would shoot him [like?] a Dogg bec. would not let him come in to light his Pipe. Man was abed. Indian's gun found charg'd, cockt and prim'd in his Hand." (5 Mass. Hist. Soc. Coll., vol. 6, and Sewall papers, vol. 2, p. 15*.) John Dyer had to give the Indian's widow six pounds and pay costs, according to the court records (Records of the Court of Assistants in Mass. Bay, 1630-1692, vol. 1, p. 188). John Dyer in his will speaks of his small estate as gathered mostly by the industry of his wife, "because I have been incapacitated by wounds received in the Eastern Wars."

Hobart's History of Abington mentions several Dyers, descendants of William Dyer of Abington, who emigrated to other towns, and that their descendants were numerous.

(This paper is presented by the Hon. James Sidney Allen of Brockton, Mass., and Dr. Ebenezer Alden Dyer of Whitman, Mass., both of whom are of the seventh generation from William Dyer, the pioneer of Abington.)

HISTORICAL INTELLIGENCE

AYER.—The Diary of Sarah Connell Ayer, Newburyport and Andover, Mass., 1805-09, Concord and Bow, N. H., 1809-11, 1833-35, and Portland and Eastport, Me., 1811-33, is about to be published by H. W. Bryant, 223 Middle Street, Portland, to whom inquiries should be addressed.

WHITTIER.—Charles Collyer Whittier, Grove Hall Station, Roxbury, Mass., is engaged in collecting material for a genealogical history of the Whittier family, which also includes Whitcher and Whicher. A large amount of records of the several generations, and many interesting facts concerning the earlier generations of the family, have already been gathered. The records of the entire family are desired.

GENEALOGIES IN PREPARATION.—Persons of the several names are advised to furnish the compilers of these genealogies with records of their own families and other information which they think may be useful. We would suggest that all facts of interest illustrating family history or character be communicated, especially service under the U. S. Government, the holding of other offices, graduation from college or professional schools, occupation, with places and dates of birth, marriage, residence, and death. All names should be given in full if possible. No initials should be used when the full name is known.

Adams.—Elijah, who was born at West Medway, Mass., 7 Jan. 1753, by Nelson Adams, 868 Belmont Avenue, Springfield, Mass.

Baldwin.—Elias Jones, who was born at Windsor, Mass., 14 July 1798, by Ralph H. Chappell, Bureau of Engraving & Printing, Washington, D. C.

Beeman.—Simon, who died at Springfield, Mass., in 1675, by Rev. L. L. Beeman, Ware, Mass., and Roy Douglas Beman, Harrisburg, Pa.

Belknap.—Abraham, who died at Lynn, Mass., in 1643, by Henry Wyckoff Belknap, 31 Warren Street, Salem, Mass., and Hyrum Belknap, 229 24th Street, Ogden, Utah.

Bidwell.—John, who died at Hartford, Conn., in 1687, by Clinton David Higby, Erie, Pa.

Bishop.—John, who died at Guilford, Conn., Feb. 1661, by William W. Cone, Brandsville, Mo., and George A. Root, care State Historical Society, Topeka, Kans.

Brazer.—Christopher, who died at Boston 12 Nov. 1803, by Clarence Wilson Brazer, 1133 Broadway, New York, N. Y.

Browne.—John, who died at Rehoboth, Mass., 10 Apr. 1662, by Benjamin William Brown, Northbridge, Mass.

Butts.—Rufus, who was born at Canterbury, Conn., 14 Aug. 1755, by Ralph H. Chappell, Bureau of Engraving & Printing, Washington, D. C.

Chappell.—George, who died at New London in 1709, by Dr. Ora A. Chappell, Elgin, Ill.; and Amaziah, who was born at Lebanon, Conn., 14 Aug. 1753 (?), by Ralph H. Chappell, Bureau of Engraving and Printing, Washington, D. C.

Elliott.—Thomas, who died at Rehoboth, Mass., 23 May 1700, by Miss Ella F. Elliott, 59 Oxford Street, Somerville, Mass.

Hendrick.—Dr. Stephen, who was born at Bolton, Mass., 10 July 1750, by Eugene P. King, Health Dept., City Hall, Providence, R. I.

BOOK NOTICES*

By a vote of the Committee on Publications the present form of Book Notices will be discontinued after this number. As in the past, only books given to the Society will be listed, and in addition to the full title there will appear descriptive remarks when it is necessary to mention the scope of the contents. In the contemplated form the Book Notices should be of greater use for reference, as will be seen by comparison with a similar method employed by the Publishers' Weekly.

[THE editor requests persons sending books for notice to state, for the information of readers, the price of each book, with the amount to be added for postage when sent by mail. For the January issue, books should be received by Nov. 1; for April, by Feb. 1; for July, by May 1; and for October, by July 1.]

The Alexander Letters, 1789–1900, with introduction by MARION A. BOGGS and GEORGE J. BALDWIN. Privately printed, Savannah, Ga., 1910. 8° pp. 317, illus.

These letters were written by the family and descendants of Adam Leopold Alexander and his wife, Sarah Hillhouse Gilbert. Those descriptive of life on a Georgia plantation and in Savannah early in the nineteenth century, experiences at boarding-school and at college in the fifties, letters written during the Civil War, and later those written from far and wide, are all interesting. The supplement contains the genealogy of the family, which claims Dutch and Scotch ancestry on one side, and that of Virginia and Connecticut on the other.

* All the unsigned reviews are written by Miss HELEN TILDEN WILD of Medford.

The Bates Bulletin, Vol. 4, No. 1, Sept. 1910. 8° pp. 1-12, illus. Single copies, 25 cents.

The Bates family in South Carolina and another in Norwich, Conn., are recorded in two interesting genealogical papers. Bates marriages and deaths in Abington, Mass., are continued, and Mr. Warren S. Parker contributes a paper upon "Early Land Grants in Quincy, Mass." The annual meeting at Cohasset, 1910, is reported.

Booth Genealogy, compiled and arranged by HENRY SLADER BOOTH, Randolph, Vt., 1908. 8° pp. 18, illus.

In this genealogy the design has been to follow only the direct line of descent, in the early generations in England and previous to Oliver<sup>5</sup> Booth (Joshua,<sup>4</sup> William,<sup>3</sup> Simeon,<sup>2</sup> Robert<sup>1</sup>). Robert<sup>1</sup> Booth was of Exeter, N. H., 1645, and later of Saco, Me.; Joshua<sup>4</sup> Booth died in the Indian war, 1757; and Joshua,<sup>5</sup> son of Oliver,<sup>6</sup> was a soldier of the American Revolution.

The Bromwell Genealogy, including descendants of William Bromwell and Beulah Hall, with data relating to others of the Bromwell name in America. Also genealogical records of branches of the allied families of Holmes (of Plymouth Co., Mass.), Payne (of Kentucky and Indiana), Rice and Leffler (of Rice's Fort, Penna.), with some descendants of Major Conrad Leffler, of Pennsylvania, and of the Rev. Peter Fullenwider, Rev. Jasper Simler, and Jonathan Boone, of Kentucky, by HARRIET E. BROMWELL. 1910. 8° pp. 248, illus. Price $3.50. Address the author, P. O. Box 50, Denver, Col.

This volume, which is handsomely bound and has many good illustrations, contains about four thousand names. The union in these families of Quaker, Pilgrim, German, Swiss, and Swedish stock will cause this genealogy to be sought by many throughout a large territory. Many biographical sketches are given. There is an index attached of those bearing the names mentioned on the title-page, and a complete index is in preparation.

Genealogical History of the Call Family in the United States, also biographical sketches of members of the family, by SIMON T. CALL. Emington, Ill., 1908. 8° pp. 25.

Various branches of the Call family are traced back to the first settler of the name in America, James Call, whose line is most carefully followed. He was a soldier in the War of the Revolution, being a private in the Vermont Rangers, and five of his sons also served during that war. A list of books which contain information regarding the Call family in New England and New York forms a useful supplement to the pamphlet.

The Chase Chronicle, October 1910. Vol. 1, No. 4. Published quarterly by the Chase-Chase family association. PARK VALE, Editor. 8° pp. 39-52, illus. Price, 5 cents a year.

This publication is devoted mainly to the descendants of William Chase, who settled in Roxbury, Mass., 1630. Several other branches of the family are mentioned briefly. There is an illustrated article in memory of Obediah Chase, a minister of the Friends' Church, who died in 1907.

The Family of Debenham of Suffolk, compiled by WALTER DEBENHAM SWEETING, M.A. Printed for private distribution by The St. Catherine Press, Ltd., 8, York Building, Adelphi, 1909. 4° pp. 92+4, illus., chart.

This publication deals chiefly with the English branches of a family which originated upon the banks of the Deben River in Suffolk, Eng., but considerable space is given to those of the name who have emigrated to America. More than half of the book consists of quotations from and discussions of ancient family records (the first mention of the name in England occurring A.D. 1165), the descriptions of coats of arms, and a list of wills in the Court of the Archdeaconry of Sudbury. The volume unfortunately lacks an index.

An historical narrative of the Ely, Revell, and Stacey Families, who were among the founders of Trenton and Burlington in the Province of West Jersey, 1678-1683, with the genealogy of the Ely descendants in America, compiled by the late REUBEN POWNALL ELY, WARREN SMEDLEY ELY, and DANIEL BRITAIN

ELY. 1910. 8° pp. 445, illus. Price, cloth $5; half leather $7. Address Daniel B. Ely, 80 Broadway, New York City.

In the ship Shield, which anchored in the Delaware in 1678, were Thomas Revell, Mahlon Stacy and his wife Rebecca Ely. Joshua Ely joined the colony in 1683. The ancestry of these immigrants has been carefully studied by Mr. D. B. Ely, who has visited their homes in England and consulted records there with quite remarkable results. Ancient coats of arms have been brought to light and reproduced among the illustrations of the book; also letters written from New Jersey to those in the home land. Names of plantations in Jersey have been found to be duplicates of ancestral estates in England. The genealogical and biographical parts of the volume are well handled. An abstract of each chapter and a carefully prepared index add materially to the practical value of the work.

Aaron French and his descendants, compiled by CHARLES NEWTON FRENCH. Chicago, privately printed, 1910. 16° pp. 31.

This little book records the children, grandchildren, and great-grandchildren of Aaron French, of New Jersey, 1739-1805. Nine other immigrants bearing the surname, who arrived in this country previous to 1700, are mentioned and some account of them is added. The family records given are, with few exceptions, compiled from unpublished material, from epitaphs, and tradition. Great care has been taken to record middle names in full—a commendable feature which ought to be more generally followed.

The Fulham Genealogy, with index of names and blanks for records, by VOLNEY SEWALL FULHAM. Burlington, Vt., Free Press Co., 1910. 12° pp. 291+10, illus.

This volume gives the record of the descendants of Hon. Francis Fulham, who died in Weston, Mass., in 1757. Some space is given to genealogical notes on the Fulham family in England, although the connection with the American family is not established. The author lays much stress upon family traditions, traits of character, and personal resemblances, which he has observed in the early and later generations.

Pedigree of the family of Grazebrook, with ample proofs for every generation.

Part I, from 1035 until the representation in the direct male line became vested in that branch which settled in Shenston, Co. Stafford, in 1204, by GEORGE GRAZEBROOK, F.S.A. Privately printed from 4 Miscellanea Genealogica et Heraldica, vol. II, p. 268 et seq., London, Mitchell Hughes and Clarke, 1910. 4° pp. 85, illus.

To Americans who have so long been obliged to content themselves only with probabilities in regard to their ancestry beyond the Atlantic, this product of the researches of an English scholar is an evidence of what can be accomplished by persistent effort. Mr. Grazebrook has recorded nothing for which he cannot give good authority. His knowledge of heraldry has materially aided in gathering material and explaining obscure records.

Aris Sonis Focisque, being a memoir of an American family, the Harrisons of Skimino, and particularly of Jesse Burton Harrison and Burton Norvell Harrison, edited by FAIRFAX HARRISON from material collected by FRANCIS BURTON HARRISON. Privately printed, 1910. 8° pp. 413.

The beautiful family life, the stern adherence to principle as exemplified by the Quaker William Harrison, softened and moulded into more intellectual channels in the later generations, impresses the reader of this story of a gifted Virginia family. It is told in a graceful, attractive style, and we regret that a larger edition was not published.

James Hayward, born April 4, 1750; killed in Battle of Lexington, April 19, 1775; with genealogical notes relating to the Haywards, by EVERETT HOSMER BARNEY. Privately printed, Springfield, Mass., 1911. 8° pp. 59, illus.

This book is the result of an accumulation of material gathered while preparing a record of a branch of the Barney family, which, though not bearing directly upon the matter in hand, seemed to demand publication. Besides genealogy, the book contains a roster of the companies of Capt. Isaac Davis and Capt. John Hayward, both of Acton; an article upon the Davis monument at Acton, Mass.; and notes referring to the Concord-Lexington fight. The illustrations are especially interesting.

Genealogy of the Houser, Rhorer, Dillman, Hoover Families, compiled by DR. WILLIAM WESLEY HOUSER and others. 1910. 8° pp. 239, illus.

This genealogy is the product of the reunions of the Illinois families whose names appear on the title-page. Their progenitors were born in Germany, settled in Maryland in 1770, and later emigrated to Kentucky. Led by a desire to rear their children in a free state, their descendants became residents of Ohio, Indiana, and Illinois. The book is profusely illustrated by family portraits.

The descendants of Jonathan Kearsley, 1718-1782, and his wife Jane Kearsley, 1720-1801 (from Scotland), who settled at Carlisle, Penn'a. Died at Shippenburg, Pa., and are buried at Middle Spring Church Yard, Cumberland Co., Pa., compiled by ELMER L. WHITE. 1900. 8° pp. 76.

Copies of old manuscripts, Bible records, and wills are presented in this pamphlet with comparatively few comments by the compiler. Jonathan Kearsley was called "Doctor," and was a druggist or chemist. He refers in his memoirs to his parents, and states that he came to this country "a fugitive," but fails to give his birthplace or his parents' names. Prominent residents of Pennsylvania and Virginia are among his descendants, Dr. S. Weir Mitchell, the author, being a great-grandson.

The Portsmouth race of Monsons, Munsons, Mansons, comprising Richard Monson (at Portsmouth, N. H., 1663) and his descendants. Being a contribution to a Genealogy and History of five generations (with some extensions in Part II), by MYRON ANDREWS MUNSON. New Haven, Conn., 1910. 8° pp. 89, illus.

In his introduction Mr. Munson gives special credit to Mr. Albert C. Mason, of Franklin, Mass., who was his coadjutor in the search for material. The book is printed as a forerunner of a more extended work upon which the two are engaged. The last few pages are given up to records of Robert Monson of the Isles of Shoals, and Robert of Scarborough, Me., but no genealogy is printed. An effort has been made, so far unsuccessfully, to connect these early New Hampshire and Maine families with each other and those of the name in Connecticut.

Descendants of Samuel Morse of Worthington, Massachusetts, by HARRIET MORSE WEEKS of Evanston, Ill. Pittsfield, Mass., Press of Eagle Printing and Binding Co., 1907. 8° pp. 56+20.

Prouty (Proute) Genealogy, compiled by CHARLES HENRY POPE. Boston, Mass., Charles H. Pope, 221 Columbus Avenue, 1910. 8° pp. vii+239, illus.

The name Prouty has been variously spelled, appearing as Proute, Prout, Proud, Prowte, etc., in the early records of Scituate, Mass., and in England. The name as now spelled did not appear until the beginning of the nineteenth century. Coincidences of names and dates seem to substantiate the theory that Richard Proute, the emigrant ancestor, originated near Bristol, Eng. The genealogy is arranged after the system used in the REGISTER, and Mr. Pope's work is so well known that his name on the title-page is a sufficient guaranty for the excellence of the book.

Descendants of Benjamin Rice of Conway, Mass., by Rev. EDWIN B. RICE, M.A. New York, 1909. 8° pp. 35, illus.

Edmund Rice, the emigrant ancestor of the Rice family, came to America in 1638-9 and settled in Sudbury, Mass. Five children were born in Berkhamstead, Eng., and the father seems to have removed from that town to New England. His son Benjamin was born at Sudbury May 31, 1640. Three hundred and forty of his descendants are recorded, following the line of Benjamin of Conway (Ebenezer, Ebenezer, Benjamin.). There is an index of those mentioned in the text bearing the name of Rice, with wives' names appended; also names of descendants bearing other surnames.

Conway, Mass., and the Rice family, by REV. EDWIN B. RICE, M.A., New York, 1909. 8° pp. 49, illus.

Cyrus Rice was the first settler in that part of Deerfield set off as the town of Conway in 1767. He was followed by several of his kinsmen, all descendants of Edmund Rice of Wayland, Mass. The genealogical part of the pamphlet, which is arranged like the one noticed above, gives the descendants of Cyrus, Jonas, Joseph, Phineas, Israel, and Timothy—all residents of Conway. A short historical sketch of the town of Conway is given in the introduction. The frontispiece is a photogravure of the homestead of Edmund Rice in Wayland (formerly Sudbury).

The descendants of Jacob Schoff, who came to Boston, 1752, and settled in Ashburnham in 1757, with an account of the German immigration into colonial New England, by WILFRED H. SCHOFF. Philadelphia, 1910. 8° pp. 163, illus.

Jacob Schoff was one of seven Germans who bought from the town of Lexington, Mass., its holdings in Dorchester Canada, now Ashburnham. Besides the personal history of Schoff and his descendants, the account of the coming of the Germans to Massachusetts—an almost unknown phase in its history—is treated at length. From Ashburnham the emigrant went to Franconia, N. H., and thence to Maidstone and Brunswick, Vt. There are military records of Jacob and his descendants. The genealogy of the male lines is given at length, but female lines do not extend beyond one generation.

Scoville Family Records, Part II. Descendants of Arthur Scovill of Boston, Mass., Middletown and Lyme, Conn., by CHARLES R. EASTMAN. Cambridge, Mass., privately printed, 1910. 8° pp. 22, port.

This pamphlet is the second in a series, uniform in style, which Mr. Eastman intends to compile in preparation for a complete genealogy of the Scoville family.

Descendants of Edward Small of New England, and the allied families, with tracings of English ancestry, by LORA ALTINE WOODBURY UNDERHILL. Cambridge, The Riverside Press, 1910. 3 vols. 8° pp. 1802, illus.

The genealogy of the Small family proper occupies less than one third of this publication, but the records of the allied families are carefully traced and occupy the rest of the book. These families are Allerton, Hatch, Sawyer, Mitchell, Jenney, Cooke, Cushman, Stetson, Chandler, Andrews, Roberts, Pratt, Heard, McKenney, Mariner, Dyer, and Talbot. The good sense of author and publisher is shown by the presentation of this extended genealogy in three volumes of moderate size, rather than in one huge folio. Every page is interesting and shows study of both English and early American records.

Spelman Genealogy. The English ancestry and American descendants of Richard Spelman of Middletown, Conn., 1700, by FANNIE COOLEY WILLIAMS BARBOUR. New York, Frank Allaben Genealogical Co., 1910. 8° pp. 559, illus.

The Spelmans (sometimes written Spilman or Spileman) are traced for fifteen generations in England to William Espileman, Kt., in the twelfth century. In America the family is carried through eight generations. The author did not live to see the publication of her book, and it was left to Mrs. John D. Rockefeller (Laura C. Spelman), to whom Mrs. Barbour dedicated it, to carry the work to completion. The volume is not a collection of names and dates merely, but a family history full of character.

A Quantock Family. The Stawells of Cathelstone and their descendants, the Barons Stawell of Somerton, and the Stawells of Devonshire and the County Cork, compiled by COLONEL GEORGE DONSWORTH STAWELL. Taunton [Eng.], Barnicoat and Pearce, the Wessex Press. 1910. 4° pp. 565, 14 charts, illus.

The primary object of the compiler of this voluminous work was to prove that the Stawell families of Ireland and Australia were offshoots from the old family in Devonshire, Eng., where the name is now extinct. His researches have been rewarded in some respects beyond his expectations. The scope of the work includes the early history of the Stawells, etymology of the name, the Stawells of Somerset, Devon, and Cork, arms and heraldry of the Stawells, genealogies and tables of descents, etc. The book is beautifully illustrated, and demands more than a cursory reading.

Stetson Kindred of America (inc.). Brief sketch of work of organization and extended account of second reunion held August 18, 1908. Address in full, copy of deed, land court decree, names of officers, members of corporation. Compiled by the secretary, GEORGE WILLIAM STETSON, Medford, Mass. Press of J. C. Miller, Jr., 1907. 8° pp. 39, illus.

Lineal descendants of Cornet Robert Stetson, of Scituate (now Norwell), 1635-1708, have formed an association and have acquired the homestead of their ancestor. In 1905, and every succeeding year, reunions have been held. An interesting sketch of Cornet Stetson, by Mr. D. E. Damon of Plymouth, Mass., is printed as a part of the proceedings of the second reunion.

Genealogy of the Swasey Family, which includes the descendants of the Swezey families of Southold, Long Island, New York, and the descendants of the Swayze families of Roxbury, now Chester, New Jersey, by BENJAMIN FRANKLIN SWASEY of Exeter, N. H. Cleveland, Ohio, privately printed by Ambrose Swasey, 1910. 8° pp. 525, illus.

John Swasey and his two sons, Joseph and John, Jr., came to America and settled in Salem, Mass., as early as 1632. Joseph remained in Salem, but his father and brother removed to Southold, L. I., being driven from Salem on account of their Quaker principles. The Salem branch has retained the old spelling of the name, but John, Jr., adopted Swayze as the spelling of his name. His descendants have adopted Swezey, and in some branches Swayzie. The plan of this genealogy is plain and easy to follow. Pictures of old homesteads of the second and third generations show the early types of dwellings in New England and the middle states.

Genealogical index of some descendants of Richard Walkley of Haddam, compiled by STEPHEN WALKLEY, Plantsville, Conn. 8° pp. 28. Further information furnished by the author on receipt of postage and cost of type-writing.

This book is unique, as it gives the names and birth year of persons bearing the name of Walkley and allied families, further records of whom are in the possession of the compiler in manuscript form. "To trace your lineage," says Mr. Walkley, "look for your father's name and you will see there his father's name, and so on back to the first generation."

Some Wings of Old Dartmouth and their homes, by WILLIAM ARTHUR WING. 8° pp. 8, illus.

In narrative form this little pamphlet gives the vital records and bits of personal history of the families who lived in the five old houses illustrated. The houses are the Ricketson-Wing, Matthew Wing, and Job Almy homesteads, the house of John and Mercy (Almy) Wing, and "Quanset," the Job Almy mansion.

Dr. Henry Woodward, the first English settler in South Carolina, and some of his descendants, by JOSEPH WALKER BARNWELL. 8° pp. 13.

Dr. Woodward went from North Carolina with Robert Sanford's expedition to take possession of the land in the southern part of the territory granted by Charles II to the lords proprietors of Carolina. Captured by the Spanish, and recaptured by buccaneers, he was enabled to return to South Carolina with the Port Royal expedition and turn his knowledge of the Indians to the advantage of the English. From him are descended many noted southern families. The pamphlet prints the Woodward coat of arms and the romantic story of its identification.

Report of proceedings of the fourth, fifth, and sixth annual reunions of the Society of descendants of Henry Wolcott, one of the first settlers of Windsor, Connecticut, held August 1908, 1909, and 1910. 3 pamphlets. 13° pp. 14, 39, 25, illus.

Reports and addresses presented at the reunions are the contents of these pamphlets.

Descendants of Michael Yates by his sons, Abner and John, by RICHARD YATES. Springfield, Ill., 311 Unity Building. Chart.

Michael Yates was in Virginia in 1750, married Martha Marshall, and had six sons and one daughter. Abner died in Kentucky, and John died in Virginia. Seven generations of the family are recorded upon the chart.

Of Sceptred Race, by ANNAH ROBINSON WATSON. Early Printing and Publishing Co., Memphis, Tenn., 1910. 4° pp. 379+6, illus. Price $10. Address the author, 132 Montgomery Street, Memphis, Tenn.

This beautiful book, printed on antique laid paper and bound in crimson with heraldic design in gold, is extremely artistic in all its details. Authorities for the statements regarding the descent of many American families from ancient kings of Great Britain are carefully noted. Among those mentioned are Washington, Lee, Reade, Prescott, Taylor, Roosevelt, Saltonstall, Fauntleroy, O'Neill, Robinson, Johnston, and Morgan. The chapters on knighthood, heraldry, and ancient abbeys are instructive and interesting; the whole book proves the literary ability of the authoress, who has already excelled in fiction, poetry and historic genealogy.

List of books on Genealogy and Heraldry in the Syracuse Public Library, including parish registers, visitations, history of names, and allied subjects. Edition of 1910. Published by the Library, 1910.

Memorial of Hon. Harry Bingham, LL.D., lawyer, legislator, author, edited by HENRY HARRISON METCALF under the direction of Messrs. Aldrich, Batchellor, and Mitchell, literary executors. Privately printed and gratuitously issued. Concord, N. H., 1910. 8° pp. 14+505.

This book opens with a biographical sketch, press tributes, and eulogies by members of the New Hampshire bar, but extracts from Mr. Bingham's writings make up the bulk of the book. He was especially active in the railroad litigation which agitated New Hampshire from 1870 to 1890.

Centenary Sketch of William P. Chilton, by CLAUDIUS LYSIAS CHILTON. Arthur B. Chilton, printer, Paragon Press, Montgomery, Ala., 1910. 8° pp. 13, port.

William Parish Chilton was a native of Kentucky, born August 10, 1810. At the age of twenty-one he emigrated to Alabama, the state to which he devoted himself throughout his life. He was a whig, supporting Harrison and Clay, and, although he belonged to the minority party he attained the position of Justice of the Supreme Court of Alabama in 1849. While opposed to secession, when the Confederacy became a fact he gave it his support. The memorial was written by his youngest son.

1844-1908. Thomas J. Gargan. A Memorial; with an appendix containing addresses delivered by him on various occasions, by JOSEPH SMITH, Boston, 1910. 8° pp. 166, port.

The son of an Irish emigrant, the grandson of a victim of the rebellion of 1798, Thomas J. Gargan was born in Boston, and the love of freedom for all races was his birthright. The addresses included are an oration delivered July 4, 1885, eulogies in honor of the late Hon. William Gaston and Hon. P. A. Collins, and a speech at the presentation of the O'Reilly monument.

In Memoriam Frederic Wolters Huidekoper. Memorial papers of the Society of Colonial Wars in the District of Columbia, Nov. 6, 1910, by FREDERIC LOUIS HUIDEKOPER. 8° pp. 42+2, port.

Mr. Huidekoper belonged to the American branch of an ancient Dutch family, and was a prominent railroad official. He graduated from Harvard in 1862, and the next year enlisted as captain in the 58th Pennsylvania Regiment. Events of his life in chronological order (including family record) are printed in the supplement.

The Melvin Memorial, Sleepy Hollow Cemetery, Concord, Massachusetts. A brother's tribute. Exercises at dedication, June 16, 1909. ALFRED S. ROZ, editor. Riverside Press, Cambridge, 1910. 8°.

Sleepy Hollow, the resting place of so many of our noted dead, has lately been adorned by the beautiful "Mourning Victory," by French, which was erected by Joseph C. Melvin in memory of his three brothers who lost their lives in the Civil War. The dedication exercises are given in full and are followed by a sketch of the 1st Mass. Heavy Artillery, to which the brothers belonged. An interesting feature of the book is the publication of a diary written by Samuel Melvin while at Andersonville, where he died.

Gilbert Thompson. Memorial papers of the Society of Colonial Wars in the District of Columbia, Nov. 5, 1910, by MARCUS BENJAMIN. 8° pp. 16, port.

This memorial honors the historian of the Society, 1900. Mr. Thompson was a native of Massachusetts, a geographer of the U. S. Geological Survey, and died at Washington in 1909. His ancestors served in the French and Indian wars, in the Revolution, and in the War of 1812. He, himself, was a veteran of the Civil War.

Heralds of a Liberal Faith. Vol. I, The Prophets. Vol. II, The Pioneers. Vol. III, The Preachers. Edited with an introduction by SAMUEL A. ELLIOT. Boston, American Unitarian Association, 1910.

Volume one commemorates the New England ministers who first preached the doctrines that opened the way into the larger field of liberal thought which made possible the founding of Unitarianism. Volume two gives the achievements of Henry Ware, Nathaniel Thayer, James Freeman, William Ellery Channing, and nearly one hundred more who can be called "The Pioneers." Volume three brings the record of the Unitarian church down to 1900, and gives biographies of the great preachers, written by others no less great, who made the advances in liberal faith during the last half of the nineteenth century.

History of the Town of Andover, New Hampshire, 1751-1906. Prepared by JOHN R. EASTMAN. In two parts. Part I, Narrative; Part II, Genealogical. Concord, N. H., printed by the Rumford Printing Co., 1910. 8° pp. 450, illus.

This town history is admirably adapted for the use of the genealogist, as it contains lists of early tax-payers, locations of land-holders and residents, vital statistics from town, cemetery, and private records, shares, lots, and ranges as laid out by proprietors, with maps. A list of Andover soldiers in six wars, from the Louisburg campaign to the Spanish war, will interest members of patriotic societies. Andover, previous to 1779, was known as Brownstown, Emerystown, and New Breton. A portion was set off to form the town of Franklin in 1828.

A record of the streets, alleys, places, etc., in the City of Boston, compiled under the direction of the street commissioner and printed by order of the City Council; with an appendix containing a description of the boundary line of the city and also a description of the changes which have been made in it by annexations, etc., from the date of the settlement of the town to 1910. City of Boston, printing department, 1910. 8° pp. 543.

The present volume is the second edition of the "Record," and the fourth publication of a catalogue of streets in any form. The dates of the original naming of streets, old and new names since applied to them, and data in regard to new layouts and discontinuances of thoroughfares, are carefully recorded.

The Holland Land Co. and Canal Construction in Western New York. Buffalo-Black Rock Harbor papers, journals, and documents. Buffalo Historical Society publications, Vol. 14. Edited by FRANK H. SEVERANCE. Buffalo, N. Y., 1910. 8° pp. 14+496, illus.

The book opens with a series of letters written by Gov. Clinton and others prominent in the construction of the Erie canal. The second article, "The Erie Canal and the settlement of the West," is by Lois Kimball Matthews, Ph.D., of Vassar College. This is followed by journals describing journeys by canal in 1826 and 1829 by George W. Clinton and Col. William Leete Stone. Another paper is a tribute to Israel T. Hatch, through whose efforts canal contract frauds were exposed and corrected. The Buffalo and Black Rock Harbor papers relate to the western terminus of the canal. These original documents, now printed in full for the first time, are valuable additions to Americana, and will doubtless find many readers.

Proceedings of the Bunker Hill Monument Association at the annual meeting, June 17, 1910. Boston, published by the Association, 1910. 8° pp. 82, illus.

Besides the record of the business transacted at the meeting, this book contains a letter from Miss Eliza S. Quincy, giving reminiscences of the ceremonies at the laying of the corner-stone of the monument in 1825, an address by Hon. Curtis Guild, Jr., and another by Prof. Archer Butler Hurlbert relating to the Battles of Bunker Hill and Dorchester Heights.

Ye Olde Meeting House. Addresses and verses relating to the meeting-house, Burlington, Middlesex Co., Mass., built 1732; and other historical addresses, by MARTHA E. SEWALL CURTIS. Boston, Anchor Linotype Printing Co., 1909. 12° pp. 62, illus.

This book contains an historical address delivered at the 175th anniversary, in 1907, of the building of the meeting-house, at the one hundredth anniversary, in 1899, of the incorporation of the town of Burlington, and upon other historical occasions.

Annals of Centerdale in the town of North Providence, R. I. Its past and present, 1636-1909, by FRANK C. ANGELL. [Central Falls, R. I., press of E. L. Freeman Company.] 8° pp. 196, illus. Price $2.50. Address the author, Centerdale, R. I.

Chapters in this book relate to the original land grants, the revolutionary powder-mill, the first house, and other buildings, war records, biographical sketches, etc. Referring to early land owners, a few genealogies are incidentally introduced.

Notable Men of Chicago and their City. Chicago Daily Journal, publisher, 1910. 4° pp. 414, illus.

This book is full of portraits of young men, those born before 1850 being the exception, and under every portrait is a biographical sketch. Interspersed throughout the volume are fine pictures of city streets and buildings. It is published especially to aid newspaper artists and biographers, and is well executed.

Old Dartmouth Historical Sketches, Nos. 24-28. Being the proceedings of the meetings of the Old Dartmouth Historical Society, Water Street, New Bedford. 8° pp. 12 each, illus. Price 10c. each. Address the Secretary of the Society, or Hutchinson's Book Store, New Bedford, Mass.

Nos. 24 and 27 contain reports read at annual meetings, 1909 and 1910; No. 25, papers on "Homesteads of Apponegansett before 1710" and "Five Johns of Old Dartmouth"; No. 26, "William Bradford, 1823-1892," "Early Trips of New England"; No. 27, "The Old Men of Fairhaven."

Record of the Courts of Chester County, Pennsylvania, begun ye 13th of September, 1681, ending the 10th day of March 1696-7. Published by the Colonial Society of Pennsylvania, 1910. 4° pp. 430.

The original record is in the office of the Prothonotary of Chester County, at West Chester, Pa. This follows the Upland Court Record, 1676-1681, now in the possession of the Historical Society of Pennsylvania. This publication has a well-arranged index.

Golden New England, by SYLVESTER BAXTER. Distributed free by N. W. Harris & Co., 35 Federal Street, Boston, Mass. n. d. 8° pp. 12, illus.

This little pamphlet dispels the idea that only the West is "golden," and tells about scientific farming in Massachusetts; making especial mention of the Massachusetts Agricultural College and the growing industry of fruit production in New England.

Fairclough Hall, Weston, and its owners. Published by the East Herts Archaeological Society, Bishop's Stortford, Hertfordshire, England. n. t. p. 8° pp. 11, chart.

This extract from the Proceedings for 1908-9, pages 57 to 67, inclusive, contains a description of the ancient farm-house at Hall's Green (probably an abbreviation of Fairclough Hall Green), besides references to the seventeenth century maps of the vicinity. A chart compiled from various Visitations is the basis of the remainder of the article, which treats of members of the Fairclough family previous to 1684.

Fort Jefferson and its Commander, 1861-2, by JOSIAH H. SHINN. Reprinted from The Journal of the Military Service Institution. Governor's Island, N. Y., 1910. 8° pp. 25. illus.

Gen. Lewis G. Arnold, the commander referred to, was a graduate of West Point, 1837, and a veteran of the Seminole and Mexican wars. His work in completing and garrisoning Fort Jefferson, thereby making it "the Gibraltar of the Gulf," and the effect of a Federal stronghold in that strategic location, are ably set forth in letters, official papers, and personal reminiscences.

The Proceedings and Transactions of the Nova Scotian Institute of Science, Halifax, Nova Scotia. Vol. XII, part 2. Sessions of 1907-1908. Halifax, printed for the Institute by the McAlpine Publishing Co., Ltd., 1910. 8° pp. xxxi-xlv, 189-216; appendix v-viii, illus. Price to non-members 50 cents.

This publication contains reports of the annual meeting, 1907, obituaries of deceased members, articles on various scientific subjects, and a list of papers delivered before the Society. It concludes with a list of members, 1907-08, and a list of presidents of the Institute since its foundation in 1862.

Hyde Park Historical Record, Vol. VII, 1909. WILLIAM A. MOWRY, Editor. Published by the Hyde Park Historical Society, Hyde Park, Mass. [1909.] 8° pp. 63, illus.

The frontispiece represents the First Baptist Church of Hyde Park, and the first article in the publication is a history of the church organization by Miss Jennie M. Stone. Mr. Franklin H. Dean contributes a paper on "Undercurrents of the Great Rebellion." "The Great American Desert and its Development," with maps, by Gen. Henry B. Carrington, and "Concerning Roger Williams," by the Editor, are well written and instructive.

Report of the Historical Secretary of the Old Settler and Historical Association of Lake County, Indiana, from 1906 to 1910. Printed in accordance with the vote of the Association, August 25, 1909. Crown Point, Indiana, 1910. 12° pp. 95.

This little book continues the series begun in 1885. A large space is given to obituary notices of old settlers, and current events of local interest are presented in diary form. There is an index which adds very much to the value of the book.

The History of King's County, Nova Scotia, heart of the Acadian land, giving a sketch of the French and their expulsion, and a history of the New England Planters who came in their stead, with many genealogies, 1604-1910, by ARTHUR WENTWORTH HAMILTON EATON, M.A., D.C.L. Salem, Mass., Salem Press Co., 1910. 8° pp. 16+898.

In the territory of the Micmac Indians the French began colonization in 1680, and remained until dispersed by the English in 1764. Then came immigrants from New England bearing old family names of Massachusetts, Rhode Island, and Connecticut, with others from New York, and direct from the British Isles. During the American Revolution, loyalists poured into the country. Such in brief is the story told in the first five chapters of Dr. Eaton's book, and the reader's interest is not abated as he follows the recital into more recent times. The last chapter takes up current events, biographies, and family sketches, the genealogies being arranged according to the plan used in this magazine.

The Whiting Club Memorial. Lynn, Mass., 1910. 8° pp. 28.

The tributes in memory of deceased members of the club, which comprise this pamphlet, are as follows: Philip Augustus Chase, written by Henry Fuller Tapley and Benjamin Newhall Johnson; Rev. Augustine Heard Amory, by Thomas Benton Knight; Charles Sylvester Fuller, by Rev. Samuel Barrett Stewart; Charles Henry Newhall, by Joseph Newhall Smith; Howard Mudge Newhall, by Henry Breed Sprague. All were men who were vitally interested in their home city of Lynn, and all have done some special work to advance her prosperity.

The Milton Catechism; an outline of the history of Milton, Mass. Published by the Milton Historical Society, 1910. 8° pp. 88, illus. For sale at the Milton Public Library, Milton, Mass. Price 50c.

This little text-book of Milton history, geography, and geology forms an admirable reference book for those in any way interested in the town. Primarily it is compiled for the benefit of the public schools, and contains references to authorities which may be consulted for further study.

Minutes of the Executive Council of the Province of New York. Administration of Francis Lovelace, 1668-1673. Vol. I, Minutes. Collateral and illustrative documents, I-XIX, edited by VICTOR HUGO PALTRIS, State Historian. Published by the State of New York, Albany, 1910. 4° pp. 886, illus.

This publication covers one hundred and forty-nine pages of a small folio volume, which has been printed literatim. It is supplemented by foot-notes, explanatory documents, and maps.

Genealogical and Family History of Northern New York. A record of the achievements of her people in the making of a Commonwealth and the founding of a nation. Compiled under the editorial supervision of WILLIAM RICHARD CUTTER, A.M. New York, Lewis Historical Publishing Co., 1910. 3 vols. 4° pp. 1247, illus.

These volumes give the genealogy of prominent men of northern New York, and are illustrated by portraits. The index is well arranged, and is found in the third volume. As male and female lines are traced, many families are included whose surnames do not appear in the section mentioned above.

Minutes of the Commissioners for detecting and defeating conspiracies in the state of New York. Albany County Sessions, 1778-1781. Vol. 3, Analytical Index. Edited by VICTOR HUGO PALTRIS, State Historian. Published by the State of New York, Albany, 1910. 4° pp. 368.

The general plan of this index was devised by the State Historian, who personally indexed the first half of the book, the remainder being completed by Dr. Richard E. Day, chief clerk. Under the caption "Commissioners for detecting and defeating conspiracies," which fills about sixteen pages, one finds a condensed history of the doings of that body between February 1778 and 1781. The searcher for information in regard to the feud between patriot and tory during the American Revolution, will find it, as the historian suggests, "an acceptable magnet with which to extract ore from a rich mine."

County Pedigrees. Vol. I, Parts II and III, edited by W. P. W. Phillimore, M.A., B.C.L. Nottinghamshire, Vol. I. London, Phillimore and Co. 144 Chancery Lane. 4° pp. 81-292, illus. Price 6s. net.

Part II contains a list of Sheriffs of Nottinghamshire from 1788 to 1909, and a list of mayors of Nottingham from 1701 to 1908. The pedigrees include the families of Nesbitt, Wilcockson, Thompson, Enfield, Bonser, Booker, Hancock, Bancroft, and Blagg. Part III contains pedigrees of Pierrepont, Musters, Chaworth, Grundy, Cade, Munk, Huskinson, and Bayley. Copies from several diaries, church registers and monumental inscriptions are printed.

Baptisms, marriages, burials, and list of members taken from the church records of the Reverend Ammi Ruhamah Robbins, first minister of Norfolk, Conn., 1761-1813. Printed for Carl and Ellen Battelle Stoeckel, 1910. 8° pp. 141, illus.

This book is printed in commemoration of the one hundred fiftieth anniversary of the organization of the church on December 24, 1760, and is illustrated by a portrait of Rev. Mr. Robbins and a picture of the Congregational church. A list of the original members of the church, 1760, is followed by additions to the church membership to 1814. A few deaths, baptisms, and a list of church members after the death of Mr. Robbins were found on loose papers between the leaves of the old records and are reprinted here. An index of names is added.

Mordaunt's Record, Vol. 2, Nos. 1 and 2. May and June 1910. 8° pp. 22+3. Price 6d. per number; by post, 7d.; annual subscription, 7s. Address Edward A. B. Mordaunt, 1 Kenton Street, Russell Square, London, W. C.

The articles in these magazines of especial interest to Americans tracing ancestry in England are as follows: Register of marriages in the chapel of God's House Hospital, near Hull, 1695 to 1715; epitaphs from the cemetery of the parish church of St. George the martyr, Holburn; wills enrolled in the Chancery Close Rolls, reign of George I; memorial to American prisoners of war; discovery of a long lost parish register belonging to the church at Foulsham, co. Norfolk; affidavit of the marriage of John Montresor and Frances Tucker in New York, 1764, and a record of the births of their children.

Year book No. 11 of the Oneida Historical Society of Utica, N. Y., 1910. 8° pp. 40, illus.

A representation of the home of the society forms the frontispiece of this pamphlet. The catalogue of battle-flags on exhibition there follows the list of officers of the society. A paper on Baron Steuben, by Rev. Dana W. Bigelow, D.D., with portraits of both, is the leading contributed article. The mission of the society is to preserve all historical data obtainable concerning the old County of Tryon, N. Y.

Transactions of the Huguenot Society of South Carolina, No. 17. Published by order of the Society, Charleston, S. C., 1910. 8° pp. 67.

Besides the business records of the meeting, "Wills of South Carolina" is continued from the preceding number, and an address by Hon. A. T. Clearwater, on "The Huguenots in America" is printed.

The Utah Genealogical and Historical Magazine. ANTHON H. LUND, editor; JOSEPH F. SMITH, Jr., associate editor. Vol. 1. Published quarterly by the Genealogical Society of Utah. Salt Lake City, Utah, The Deseret News Press, 1910. 8° pp. 192, illus.

The first volume of this new magazine is a credit to the editors and the society, and cannot fail to insure success in the future. Each number contains a biographical sketch of one of the original officers of the society who were also pioneers in the life of their state. The genealogies are prepared according to the "Register plan," and in several other departments the editors have taken the REGISTER as a model.

Wheatland, Monroe County, New York; a brief sketch of its history, by GEORGE E. SLOCUM. Printed by Isaac Van Hooser, Scottsville, N. Y., 1908. 8° pp. 188, illus.

The greater part of this book was completed when the author died, Nov. 18, 1806. Lists of settlers previous to 1820, merchants, mechanics, physicians, and lawyers, also early manufactories, schools, churches, railroads, canals, etc., are given space in short chapters. The various villages of Wheatland are considered separately. The few soldiers of the Revolution who resided in the township came from the east. The names of seventy-five men who enlisted for the defense of Fort Erie in 1814 are recorded, followed by the rolls of Wheatland men who served in all subsequent wars. The first white settler in Wheatland territory was "Indian" Allen, who sold his farm in 1789 to Peter Sheffer, who was followed by other families, principally from New Jersey and New England. The book is carefully indexed.

The Magazine of History, with notes and queries. Extra Number, No. 12. The Shenandoah, or the last Confederate cruiser, by CORNELIUS E. HUNT, one of her officers. New York and London, 1867. Reprinted by William Abbott, 1910. 4° pp. 183.

The originals of the article mentioned above are very scarce, and this is the first reprint. The author, a Virginian, was "acting master's mate," but no further information of him has been received. The article is an account of a cruise which ended more than six months after the war closed.

Vital records of Carver, Mass., to the year 1850. Boston, Mass., published by the New England Historic Genealogical Society at the charge of the Eddy Town-Record Fund, 1911. 8° pp. 179.

Vital Records of Framingham, Mass., to the year 1850. Compiled by THOMAS W. BALDWIN, A. B., S. B. Boston, Mass., 1911. 8° pp. 474.

Vital Records of Hull, Mass., to the year 1850. Compiled by THOMAS W. BALDWIN, A.B., S.B. Boston, Mass., 1911. 8° pp. 75.

Vital Records of Leominster, Mass., to the end of the year 1849. Systematic History Fund. Worcester, Mass., published by Franklin P. Rice, Trustee of the Fund, 1911. 8° pp. 369.

Vital Records of West Boylston, Mass., to the end of year 1849. Systematic History Fund. Worcester, Mass., published by Franklin P. Rice, Trustee of the Fund, 1911. 8° pp. 153.

General Catalogue of Amherst College, including the Officers of Government and Instruction, the Alumni and Honorary Graduates, 1821-1910. Amherst, Mass. Published by the College, 1910. 8° pp. 226.

Class of 1885, Harvard College. Secretary's Report, No. 7. 25th Anniversary, 1910. HENRY MORELAND WILLIAMS, Secretary. The University Press, Cambridge. 8° pp. 311, illus.

The biographical notices are arranged alphabetically and give parentage and date of birth, names of wives and children, with dates, beside many other facts of interest to the class. The volume is illustrated by half tones, many of them portraits.

The University of North Carolina. The James Sprunt Historical Publications, published under the direction of the North Carolina Historical Society, J. G. DE BOULHAC HAMILTON and HENRY MCGILBERT WAGSTAFF, editors. Vol. 9, No. 2. Published by the University, Chapel Hill, N. C., 1910. 8° pp. 88.

The first paper is entitled "Federalism in North Carolina." Chapter I deals with the subject previous to the adoption of the Constitution; chapter II relates the struggle for supremacy between the old party and the new, under Jefferson, and the practical death of federalism in the state in 1803. The letters of William Berry Grove to James Hogg, 1792-1802, occupy the rest of the publication, and should be used in connection with the Grove letters.

Quinquennial Catalogue of the Roxbury Latin School, Kearsarge Avenue, Boston, Mass., 1910-11. Two Hundred Sixty-sixth year. 8° pp. 61, illus.

Biographical Record of the Class of 1890, Sheffield Scientific School of Yale University, edited by HARRY G. DAY, Class Secretary. New Haven, Conn., The Tuttle, Moorehouse and Taylor Co., 1910. 8° pp. 31, illus.

The editor has taken the most important events of each life since graduation, and has arranged his material consisely.

History of the class of 1908, Yale College, Vol. I, edited by WALTER G. DAVIS, JR., class secretary, S. N. HOLLIDAY, and C. F. LUTHER. Yale University, New Haven, Conn., 1908. 8° pp. 411, illus.

This contains a history of four years in college, a short biographical sketch and portrait of each member of the class, and pictures of buildings at Yale and of the president and executive officers of the University.

Bibliography of Class Books, Class Records, Yale University, 1792-1910. Compiled by WILLIAM F. BACON, Secretary '68, for the Association of Class Secretaries. n. p.

Annual Report of the American Historical Association for the year 1908. Vol. I. Washington, 1909. 8° pp. 539.

This volume contains an account of the proceedings of the Association, together with papers read at the annual meeting, also two papers presented by the Pacific Coast Branch and the ninth report of the public archives commission. Of interest to students of Civil War history are three chapters on the Wilderness campaign. Other chapters take up the census records and eighteenth century newspapers as historical literature, notes on the Lewis and Clark expedition, and a paper on the Viceroy of New Spain in the eighteenth century.

Massachusetts Society of the Sons of the American Revolution. Register of members, June 10, 1910. Constitution and by-laws and proceedings of the Society and Board of Managers. Published by the Society, 1910. 8° pp. 259, illus.

Besides matters noted in the title, the year book contains records of ancestors of members of the Society, an account of the dedication of the Massachusetts bay in the "cloister of the Colonies" at Valley Forge, June 19, 1909, and several short articles.

National Year Book, 1910. The National Society of the Sons of the American Revolution. Containing list of the general officers and of national committees for 1910; constitution and by-laws; officers of state societies and local chapters; proceedings of Toledo congress, May 2 and 3, 1910; records of members enrolled from May 1, 1909 to April 30, 1910. Compiled by A. HOWARD CLARK, Secretary and Registrar General, 8° pp. 364, port.

The indexed roll of new members and their ancestors is of interest to those who are tracing ancestry to soldiers of the Revolution. The portrait of William Allen Marble, President General, forms the frontispiece.

Register of the Society of Colonial Wars in the State of California. Fifteenth year, 1910.

In their elaborate year-book the Society of Colonial Wars has recorded the names and short biographies of colonial ancestors and the pictures of the old houses that were their homes. Coats of arms and portraits of ancestors in the East are placed in contrast with the faces of twentieth century men who are members of the order. The book concludes with an account of a banquet given by the Sons of the Revolution and the Society of Colonial Wars of California and, among other illustrations, gives the flags of the two state societies in their original colors.

The New England Society in the City of Brooklyn: Thirtieth annual report. Borough of Brooklyn, City of New York, 1910.

The thirtieth annual dinner of the society, the spring reception, and annual meeting are reported, with a list of officers and directors, standing committees and members of the society.

The Beginnings of the American Revolution, based on contemporary letters, diaries, and other documents, by ELLEN CHASE. The Baker and Taylor Co., N. Y., 1910. 8 vols. 8° pp. 380+387+404, illus.

This publication, which was quite extensively reviewed in the daily press during the holiday season of 1910, has already found many readers, and hardly needs our words of praise. Miss Chase has made an extensive study of her subject, consulting public and private records, previous publications, and family traditions, incorporating both the English and American views of the political situation, and in foot notes carefully stating her authorities. The narrative ends with Gage's proclamation, June 12, 1775.

Numbers and losses in the Civil War in America, 1861-65, by THOMAS L. LIVERMORE. Houghton, Mifflin and Co., Boston, 1900. 8° pp. 150.

This statistical volume gives figures and calculations relative to both armies engaged in the great war between the states. Citations of volume and page of War Records and other authorities are carefully set down, and the index is well arranged for reference.

History and complete roster of the Massachusetts regiments, Minutemen of '61, who responded to the first call of President Abraham Lincoln, April 15, 1861, to defend the flag and Constitution of the United States; together with photographs and biographical sketches of minutemen of Massachusetts, by GEORGE W. NASON. Boston, Mass., 1910. 8° pp. 414+vi, illus.

An historical sketch of each regiment which responded to the first call, and short sketches of commanding officers and comrades of the rank and file, make up the bulk of this volume. The portraits are remarkably lifelike—some of them showing the men in the soldiers' uniform. Four numbers of the "Stripes and Stars," which was published weekly by the "Union Lyceum" at Parish prison, New Orleans, are reprinted here. Several other articles of special interest to the minutemen themselves form a sort of appendix.

Ocean life in the old sailing ship days. From forecassle to quarterdeck, by CAPTAIN JOHN D. WHIDDEN. Little, Brown & Co., Boston, 1910. 12° pp. 314, illus.

This tale of a quarter of a century of life on merchant vessels, told by one who really experienced the events described, has a flavor which fiction cannot supply. The characters are drawn from life, and the story is a New Englander's career from the age of twelve to thirty-seven, beginning as a boy before the mast and ending as captain of a ship.

The History of the Telephone, by HERBERT A. CASSON. 8° pp. 315, illus.

Public Libraries Committee, Librarian, BASIL ANDERTON, B.A. (London), Catalogue of Books and Traces on Genealogy and Heraldry in the Central Public Libraries. Newcastle-on-Tyne, Dolg Bros. and Co., Ltd. 1910. 8° pp. 68.

Part I gives a list of books; Part II is an author's list, alphabetically arranged. Books referring to visitations, banners, army lists, monumental inscriptions, wills, and other kindred subjects are included under the various classifications, and the whole is indexed alphabetically.

Library of Congress. Journals of the Continental Congress, 1774-1789. Edited from the original records in the Library of Congress by GAILLARD HUNT, chief, Division of manuscripts, vol. xviii, 1780. September 7-December 29. Washington, Government Printing Office, 1910. 4° pp. 809-1270.

American and English Genealogies in the Library of Congress; preliminary catalogue. Compiled under the direction of the chief of the catalogue division. Washington, 1910. 8° pp. 805. For sale by the Superintendent of documents, Government printing office; price $1.05.

This catalogue is based on the shelf catalogue of the Library, and includes, as a rule, only genealogies published in separate form. The general REGISTER index has been followed very closely in the spelling of family names.

Acts and Resolves passed by the General Court of Massachusetts in the year 1910, together with the Constitution, the messages of the Governor, list of Civil Government, tables showing changes in the Statutes, changes of names of persons, etc. Published by the Secretary of the Commonwealth, Boston, 1910. 8° pp. 1148.

The Massachusetts Laws and Commission of Public Records, by HENRY ERNEST WOODS. Privately printed, Boston, 1910. 8° pp. 4.

This is a paper prepared for the International Congress of Archivists at Brussels, August 1910, by the Commissioner of public records of Massachusetts. Mr. Woods gives a plain recital of conditions existing in Massachusetts before the active campaign began for the preservation of public records, and of the work accomplished by his predecessor, Mr. Robert T. Swan, which has been so ably continued and extended by himself.

Census of the Commonwealth of Massachusetts, 1905, prepared under the direction of the chief of the Bureau of Statistics and Labor. Vol. II. Occupations and defective social and physical condition. Boston, 1910. 4° pp. xix, 398.

Vermont Legislative Directory. Biennial Session, 1910. Prepared pursuant to Law by GUY W. BAILEY, Secretary of State. 16° pp. 596.

Besides the subjects which are usually found in such a publication, biographical notes of federal officers, congressional delegation, judiciary, members of the executive department, senate and house of representatives are incorporated.

In his delightful story* of "An Old New England Town," dedicated to the memory of his honored father the late Charles H. Hodges, whose name he bore—Almon Danforth Hodges—tells us that his ancestors in New England were all of 1. In the Hodges Genealogy,† his direct descent is traced to Almon Hodges, the first known member of the tribe, who arrived at Taunton, Mass., in 1643, and who married Mary Andrews at Taunton about 1649. But in the collateral lines of his ancestry appear so many illustrious names of men who have left a lasting impress on Massachusetts history, that we cannot do better than quote his own account of his forbears, from the volume cited:

"Among them of course were John and Priscilla Alden of the Mayflower. There were also ministers, seven in number, viz:—James Allen, Oxford graduate, ejected in 1660 from the English pulpit, minister of the First Church of Boston for forty-two years, and one of the wealthiest residents of Boston in his day; Samuel Danforth, member of the second class which was graduated at Harvard College, pastor of the First Church of Roxbury from 1650 to 1671, colleague of the Apostle Eliot, astronomer, mathematician, and poet; Samuel Danforth, son of the last, a Harvard graduate of the Class of 1683, minister for forty years at Taunton, Mass., where he acquired 'an unbounded influence' over his townsmen, and where he was also 'the principal, if not the only, physician and surgeon'; John Mayo, graduate of an English university, probably Oxford, minister at Barnstable and at Eastham, Mass., and then for seventeen years at the Second Church of Boston; Nicholas Street, probably graduated at Harvard, minister at Taunton from 1638 to 1659, and then at New Haven; John Thompson, Oxford graduate, driven from ministerial labors in England, over to America, where he became minister of the First Church of New York,—a rather gentle character much tinged with Quakerism; John Wilson, whose father was a clergyman, and whose grandfather was John Grinnall, Queen Elizabeth's Puritan Archbishop of Canterbury; and John was a graduate of Cambridge University, chaplain and tutor for many years in England, and then the militant first minister of the First Church of New York.

in Boston from 1630 until his death in 1667. Elders and deacons of churches, captains of military companies, selectmen of towns, and holders of other prominent positions were exceedingly plentiful. It was a vigorous, God-fearing stock in all its branches."

Two lines of the Hodges family—one known as the Salem branch and the other as the Taunton branch—are traced in the "Genealogical Record of the Hodges Family in New England," cited above. The first is given somewhat briefly, but the second or Taunton branch very fully. The Salem branch descended from George, who died there in 1709, and who, by a family tradition preserved in both branches, but for which no documentary evidence has yet been found, was a nephew of William, the head of the Taunton branch.

William,<sup>1</sup> born in England, may have been the one of that name who first appears in the Salem records as one of the jury at a Court held there on March 27, 1638. If this be true, he did not long remain there, but went to Taunton soon after its purchase by the first proprietors, where his name is the second on the list of its early settlers, made out by the town clerk, John Wilbore. His first recorded appearance there is in August, 1643, on the list of males between the ages of 16 and 60, able to bear arms. He was propounded freeman June 6, 1649, and admitted freeman June 5, 1651, on which date he was appointed a constable. He was one of the original stockholders of the first Taunton Iron Works, "subscribing £20 for a whole share." He married Mary, daughter of Henry and Mary Andrews of Taunton, and was probably still a comparatively young man when he died there April 2, 1654. The inventory of his estate shows that he held considerable property.

His son, Henry,<sup>2</sup> was captain of the Taunton military company, a deacon and presiding elder in the church, and held many of the highest offices in the gift of his fellow-citizens.

His son, Joseph,<sup>3</sup> was a major in Col. Sylvester Richmond's regiment in the French War, took part in the siege and capture of Louisburg in 1745, and died from wounds or sickness on his journey home.

His son, Captain Jonathan,<sup>4</sup> settled in Norton, where he was a farmer and clothier. He was ensign of the First Norton company in 1756, "Captain-Lieutenant" in 1763, and probably a full captain not long after, as he is styled captain on the town records. It seems probable that, like his father, he served in the French wars, though no record of such service has been found.

His son, Captain Jonathan,<sup>5</sup> "a man of good substance and of sober life and conversation," commanded the Norton company on the west side, from 1798 to 1801. He served several enlistments in the Continental army, during the Revolution, and was in Capt. Hayward's company at West Point, at the time of Arnold's treachery. He was an assessor at Norton 1799-1801, and a selectman 1803-6, but declined other high positions.

His son, Col. Almon D. Hodges,* of Norton, Providence and Roxbury, was president of the Washington Bank in Boston, from 1850 until his death in 1878; a life member of the New England Historic Genealogical Society, and its president in 1859. He was one of the founders of the Boston City Guards in 1821; for five years colonel of the 2d Rhode Island Regiment (1828-1833), and later colonel of the Providence Horse Guards, resigning in 1844, when he removed to Roxbury. In 1847 he was elected brigadier-general of the Boston Brigade, but declined the honor. With such a military record behind him, we are not surprised to find that four of his sons—all who could pass the physical examination—were in the Union Army and Navy during the Civil War, and that two of them died in the service.

Almon Danforth, Jr., the sixth son of Col. Almon Danforth* and Martha (Comstock) Hodges, was born July 16, 1843, in Providence, R. I. He was educated at private schools in Providence and Roxbury, fitted for college at the Roxbury Latin School, and entered Harvard in 1860, where he graduated in 1864 and received the Master's degree in 1867. While a student there he enlisted as a private in Company G, of the 44th Massachusetts Infantry, and was mustered September 12, 1862; was with his regiment in the siege of Washington, N. C., and was discharged in July, 1863, on account of sickness. On July 16, 1864, he was elected and commissioned a lieutenant in the 42d Massachusetts Infantry, and honorably discharged by reason of the expiration of term of service November 11, 1864. He served in various capacities, by detail, acting as quartermaster, acting assistant adjutant general on the staff of the Provost Marshal General, Col. H. H. Wells, and indeed in about every other position which a lieutenant can fill.

Before leaving the service he was offered a position with rank of first lieutenant in the regular army, in a special cavalry troop which it was proposed to raise by selection from the men and officers in the field; but as Congress failed to authorize the formation of the corps, he had not the opportunity to accept.

On his return to civil life he entered the Lawrence Scientific School of Harvard University, "where at the yearly examination he managed to secure the first place in his class." In August, 1865, he sailed for Europe, and entered the Royal Saxon Mining Academy at Freiburg, Saxony, where he remained until July, 1868, pursuing the study of mining engineering. After completing his course there he made a mining and metallurgical tour through Bohemia, Silesia, Russia, the Hartz, the Rhine Provinces, Belgium, France, England, Scotland, and Wales, returning to the United States in October, 1868. He spent the next nine months in Boston, doing some work in the literature of his profession, and then travelled through the chief mining districts of Colorado, Utah, and Nevada, reaching San Francisco in September, 1869. While residing there he was for about eighteen months the editor of the San Francisco Mining and Scientific Press, which position he resigned to enter into the more practical exercise of his profession.

From the Secretary's Report of the Class of 1864, to which we are indebted for material freely used in the preparation of this paper, we quote the following :

" Although during his studies in Germany he had worked in every position, from that of common miner to the higher grades, yet, as the popular demand at the time was for ' practical ' and not ' theoretical ' men, it seemed advisable to commence at the bottom of the ladder. He therefore began again as common laborer (at $3.00 per day of twelve hours) and worked up through all the grades to assayer and then superintendent. This occupied eight and one-half years of continuous labor—until January, 1880—and included mining and the metallurgical treatment of gold, silver, lead, copper, nickel and cobalt ores, the manufacture of sulphuric acid, bluestone, copperas and borax, and the refining of the precious metals, whereby an extensive practical experience was gained in California and Nevada. Such experience necessarily included active political work at times, on the part of those holding important mining positions. He never held any political office (except in a nominating convention), and, although laboring under the disadvantage of being an Independent, never lost but one fight of the many in which he engaged.

" Among his more strictly professional victories, he counts the getting of $60,000 to $100,000 net profits for his company, from the treatment of tailings which assayed only $5.00 per ton, at a time when every other similar establishment in Nevada had failed ; and in finding a successful method of refining the very base bullion produced on the Comstock, which previously, on account of the very high percentage of copper, had defied all efforts to refine it on the spot, or to refine it at all without mixing it with other material in order to reduce the proportion of copper.* The refinery which he built for his process in 1878, at the Omega Mill, near Virginia City, Nevada, under a contract with the Bonanza firm, was in successful operation at last accounts."

This same year, in his capacity of Superintendent of the mills of the Oroya Railroad and Cerro de Pasco Mining Company of Peru, he superintended the construction, at San Francisco, of an 80-stamp silver mill, the largest and best work of the kind ever built at one time up to that date. After its completion and shipment he went to Peru and visited the Cerro de Pasco and other mining districts, but the war with Chili putting a stop to all work in Peru, he returned to the United States in January, 1880.

" He now took up the branch of Consulting and Reporting Mining Engineering, and was engaged in examining and opening mining properties in various States, and in Mexico. This occupied his time for the next two years and a half, during which period he made his head-quarters in San Francisco, where however, he spent but a portion of his time."

* This process is fully described in the Transactions American Institute of Mining Engineers, vol. xiv (1886).

On July 10, 1882, he married Bertha Louisa, daughter of Waldemar Robert and Mary Amelia Louisa (von Schoemann) Bernard, born August 12, 1863, in San Francisco. Mrs. Hodges was a very attractive lady, sweet and womanly in her ways, of exquisite taste in dress, and of infinite tact. But "the burdens which she willingly took upon her young shoulders were too great for her strength," and she died at Auburn, Cal., on May 14, 1884, after a brief but happy married life of less than two years, leaving one son, Frederick Hodges, born June 17, 1883. The first six months after his marriage was spent in a visit to his friends in the eastern States, and he then returned to San Francisco, planning to resume his practice as an engineer; but the death of his wife induced him to retire from the active duties of his profession, and he returned to Boston with his son, intending to make his future home in or near that city.

While still refusing to engage in general practice, the urgency of some of his friends and former clients, aided by a natural restlessness, led him to make two professional tours to Peru, each lasting about a year. From June, 1886, to May, 1887, as chief of the Cerro de Pasco Mining Company, he conducted in behalf of a very powerful New York syndicate the examination of the Cerro de Pasco mining district, the most extensive and expensive mining examination ever made. An account of this work is given in the Transactions of the American Institute of Mining Engineers (vol. xvi: 1888), in a paper entitled "Notes on the Topography and Geology of the Cerro de Pasco, Peru." In 1888, as chief of the Nueva Comision Minera, among other matters, he examined and reported on the Nueva California Placer Claim, Peru, which, being over 41 square miles in area, and 5,000 feet deep (from 10,500 to 15,500 feet above sea level), is the largest hydraulic claim in the world. He returned from this remarkable work in May, 1889. Some years later he went again to South America as an expert engineer, to engage in similar duty, which was, we believe, the last important labor of that character in which he was employed.

In the following years he gave much of his time to the compilation and publication of the third edition of the Hodges family genealogy, and to tracing various collateral lines of his ancestry. His principal literary work is contained in various mining reports, numerous articles on mining and metallurgy, which have chiefly appeared in the Mining and Scientific Press of San Francisco, the Engineering and Mining Journal of New York, and the Transactions of the American Institute of Mining Engineers. He was secretary of several professional societies of engineers, vice-president of the California Civil Service Association, and acting assistant adjutant general of the Department of California G. A. R. He was also a member of the Military Order of the Loyal Legion, Massachusetts Commandery; of the New England Historic Genealogical Society since 1890, serving on its Council; and of the Union Club of Boston for the last twenty years.

To those who were privileged to be numbered among the closer friends of Captain Hodges, it was a pleasure to listen to his reminiscences of some of his exciting experiences during the Civil War, on the rare occasions when he could be persuaded to relate them. Decided in his convictions, his position on the questions of the day was never a doubtful one; yet he was always considerate of the opinions of those with whom he might differ. Loyal in his friendships, eminent in his profession, a wise counsellor, his memory will always be cherished as that of a brave and gallant soldier, and a courteous gentleman.

He died in Roxbury on Monday, November 7, 1910, the result of a stroke of apoplexy, and his funeral was attended from St. James's Church on the following Wednesday.

SOME DESCENDANTS OF DEACON JOHN DAM OF DOVER, N. H., 1633

Edited by JOHN SCALES, A.M., of Dover, N. H.

JOHN<sup>1</sup> DAM, the second deacon of the First Church in Dover, N. H., was born in England about 1610. He came to Dover with Capt. Thomas Wiggins's company in 1633, which company took possession of Edward Hilton's grant and commenced the settlement on Dover Neck, where the first meeting-house was built of logs that year, a few rods southwest of where the second meeting-house was built twenty years later. John Hall was the first deacon, and at his death in 1675 John Dam was elected to succeed him. In a petition to the governor by the inhabitants of Dover in 1689, John Dam and Nicholas Dam are among the signers. No further mention of Nicholas has been found. John Dam received valuable grants of land from, and held high official positions in the town. His will, dated 19 May 1687, was proved 23 Mar. 1693-4.

John Dam married, date not known, ELIZABETH POMFRET, daughter of William, for many years town clerk of Dover.

Children:

2. i. JOHN,<sup>2</sup> b. at Dover 8 Jan. 1636-7.
  - ii. ELIZABETH, b. 1 May 1649; m. THOMAS WHITEHOUSE.
  - iii. MARY, b. 1651.
  3. iv. WILLIAM, b. 14 Oct. 1653.
  - v. SUSANNAH, b. 14 Dec. 1661.
  - vi. JUDITH, b. 15 Nov. 1666; d. 22 Oct. 1728; m. 6 July 1684, THOMAS TIBBETTS of Dover. Children: 1. John, b. 29 Aug. 1685. 2. Thomas, b. 2 Nov. 1687. 3. Ephraim, b. 4 Mar. 1690. 4. Elizabeth, b. 8 Sept. 1692. 5. Samuel, b. 8 Oct. 1693. 6. Elizabeth, b. 25 July 1696. 7. Moses, b. 27 Jan. 1701. 8. Abigail, b. 2 Sept. 1705.
2. SERGT. JOHN<sup>2</sup> DAM (John<sup>1</sup>), born at Dover 8 Jan. 1636-7, died there 8 Jan. 1706. He married twice: first SARAH HALL, who died in 1663, daughter of Sergt. John of Dover; secondly, 9 Nov. 1664, ELIZABETH FURBER, daughter of Lieut. William of Dover. In the town and provincial records John Dam is called sergeant. He was an officer of the militia, and did service in the Indian wars. He resided in that part of Dover called Bloody Point, now Newington, settling upon a grant of land his father had received on the east shore of Little Bay, now known as Dame's Point, where several generations of the Dam family were afterwards born. The records show that Sergt. John Dam held various official positions.

Children, by second wife:

- i. JOHN,<sup>3</sup> b. 11 Jan. 1666; d. in infancy.
- ii. JOHN, b. 23 Feb. 1667-8.

ORIGINAL PROPRIETORS OF GALLIOPOLIS, OHIO

Following is a copy of a document accompanying the returns of a survey and partition of lands in Ohio found in the General Land Office, Drafting Division, Washington, D. C., while this writing was in preparation. The document is a ms. letter folded and stitched in a leather book of field notes bearing this inscription stamped on the cover :

A Survey of the Tract of Land
Granted by Act of Congress to the French Inhabitants at Gallipolis.
List of Actual Settlers &c.
Rufus Putnam's Letter, dated
12th May 1796.<sup>99</sup>

Superscription on the letter : Oliver Wolcott, Esquire, Secretary of the Treasury of the United States.

Sir

MARIETTA May 12th 1796

By the papers herewith enclosed you will perceive that the Lands proposed by the Act of Congress of the Third of March 1795 to be granted to the French inhabitants of Galliopolis, are surveyed and assigned to the several persons entitled thereto (as I trust) agreeably to the intention of the afore-mentioned act, and your instructions of the Twenty-ninth of September 1795.

Mr Martin<sup>100</sup> arrived at Galliopolis the Second of November and within a few days after commenced his survey; which which he completed as soon as could be expected, but from an ill state of health, as he informs me, he was not able to make the returns before the 25th ult. On receiving them I proceeded to Galliopolis, as soon as I could with convenience, and the several lots were assigned to individuals on the Third instant in maner certified in the list of Drafts, and I beleave the whole business has been conducted to the satisfaction of all concerned.

Mr Martin states the distance run in executing this survey to be 125 miles 72 chains & 98 links, and the time necessarily employed in making duplicate plans & certificates 34 days. My agreement with Mr Martin was to execute the survey at "the rate of three Dollars permile for every mile actually run including the pay of assistants and all expense of the survey And for the making Duplicate Plans with Certificate of the Courses Distances and boundaries; two dollars per day for the necessary time. I have furnished Mr Martin with a certificate of the compensation contracted for, also that he has executed the surveys agreeably to the Act of Congress and returned Duplicate Plans Certificates &c., to me: but have referred him to the Treasury Department for auditing his accounts which I presume was your expectation

I am with great respect & esteem

RUFUS PUTNAM

OLIVER WOLCOTT, Esq<sup>r</sup>

JAMES BOURNE AYER, M.D.

By MARY A. ROUSMANIERE of Roxbury, Mass.

JAMES BOURNE AYER was born in Boston January 6, 1849. His father, Dr. James Ayer, a graduate of Bowdoin College in the class of 1834, had lived for many years in the vicinity of Newfield, Maine, where he had followed in his father's footsteps in the practise of medicine. As the field, however, proved but limited, Dr. Ayer had removed to a more remunerative district on Cape Cod, where he had first settled at Monument, and later at Sandwich. This proved a happy move, and resulted before long in the building up of a thriving practise.

Among his patients at Monument was Martha, daughter of Benjamin Bourne, who subsequently became his wife. Through her his grandchildren are able to trace their descent from Richard Bourne, the missionary who labored for many years among the Mashpee Indians.

Dr. Ayer had an elder brother, J. Cullen Ayer, who was practising medicine at the time in Boston. His sudden death in 1846, just at the opening of what appeared to be a brilliant future, was an inducement for his brother to remove from Sandwich and take up his practise. It was not long before we find the young couple settled on Hanover Street at the old North End, where in 1849 a son, James Bourne Ayer, the subject of this memoir, was born to them. The following year another son, Frederick Bourne Ayer, was born, but died when only a little over two years old.

A few years later the husband was forced to sustain an even greater loss in the death of his young wife at the early age of thirty-four. Although Mrs. Storms, a sister of his first wife, whom Dr. Ayer subsequently married, came to preside over his household, the little boy never entirely forgot his own mother, whom in later years he was wont to refer to in words of reverence and affection. As no children were born of this second marriage, the boy's bringing up was practically that of an only child. He led a quiet life, and was much thrown upon the companionship of his father, for whom he had the greatest reverence.

From 1856 to 1861 he attended the Eliot School, which he left for the Boston Latin School. All the records seen of him show that he was a good boy and stood well in his classes. At one time he received a Franklin medal, an award for good conduct. At the age of sixteen he entered Harvard College in the class of 1869, and the year following his graduation began his work at the Harvard Medical School.

In further pursuit of medical knowledge the young physician went abroad for several years, where he also learned the German language, which proved of value to him throughout his life. It was during these foreign wanderings that he first made the acquaintance of Mary E. Farwell, daughter of Nathaniel Whittmore Farwell of Lewiston, Maine. On his return to Boston in 1875 the renewal of this acquaintance resulted in their marriage on April 4, 1877.

Dr. Ayer, Senior, who at this time was living at 6 Hancock Street, vacated in favor of his son, and removed to Boylston Street, then nearer the medical centre of the city. Here on Beacon Hill the young couple settled, and Dr. Ayer first entered upon the practise of medicine. A few years later he removed to 53 Mt. Vernon Street, where he lived until his removal in 1894 to 518 Beacon Street.

Dr. Ayer led a busy, active life, broken only by occasional trips to Europe, the only form of vacation that ever held any charm for him. For many years he was busy with private practise, but later other phases of the profession absorbed more of his time. Besides the contribution of articles to medical journals, he acted as councillor of the Massachusetts Medical Society for many years, and for five years was one of the censors. When it was proposed to erect the new Medical Library in the Fenway he was appointed treasurer. In 1906 he also acted as treasurer of the committee chosen to entertain the American Medical Association.

The position he held on the State Board of Insanity from 1902 to 1907 took up much of his time, and during the last few years of his life the research work he caused to have carried on in relation to arterio-sclerosis proved of great interest to him.

He had other interests aside from the profession. For many years he was a constant attendant at Mt. Vernon Church, and he numbered one of the former pastors, Rev. Samuel E. Herrick, as his father had before him, among his most intimate friends.

His chief diversion of late years was his increasing interest in early Boston history, in connection with which hobby he gradually accumulated a collection of early maps and views of the city. He collected a mass of material relating to the treatment of the sick and insane in colonial days, which he hoped some day to put in book form. The constant changes in the Fenway also greatly interested him, and during the last year of his life he was endeavoring to collect views showing the development in this particular part of the city. He was fond of tracing the history and expansion of the church in the colonies, and in his library of Americana are to be found many sermons preached in olden days by Cotton Mather and other New England divines.

Dr. Ayer was a member of the Bostonian Society, the Society of Colonial Wars, the Colonial Society of Massachusetts, and the New England Historic Genealogical Society, on the Council of which he served in 1908 and 1909. He often said that this love of early

New England history was to be the absorbing interest of his old age, but fate decreed otherwise.

For a year or two before his death he had been far from well, although able to be out almost daily. On the fourteenth of May, 1910, he died peacefully, at the age of sixty-one, and was buried in the family lot at Mt. Auburn, near the father he loved so well. Dr. Ayer is survived by his widow, two daughters, Mrs. John E. Rousmaniere (Mary Farwell Ayer), and Elizabeth Ayer, and two sons, Nathaniel F. and James B. Ayer.

A SHORT HISTORY OF THE ORIGIN AND DEVELOPMENT OF CONVEYANCING*

By HON. WILLIAM T. A. FITZGERALD, Register of Deeds for Suffolk County, Massachusetts

In the beginning of the world the Creator gave to man "dominion over all the earth, and over the fish of the sea, and over the fowl of the air, and over every living thing that moveth upon the earth." The earth, therefore, and all things in it became the general property of mankind, and while the earth continued practically bare of inhabitants each person took what land he required for his immediate use, and while he occupied it he acquired a sort of transient property therein, but he had no permanent interest in it, and when he ceased to occupy it, his neighbor was free to use it. In other words, his right of possession expired when his actual occupancy ceased.

There was no need of conveyancers in those days. The earth was owned in common by all the people.

But when the increase and multiplication of the race began in earnest, it became necessary to establish a more permanent dominion in property, both real and personal, in order to insure the peace and comfort of society; because no man would exert himself to build a house and furnish it, or cultivate a farm or raise live stock, if, when he walked out, any stranger might come in and occupy his house or take his crops or kill his stock. It therefore became the custom that a man who occupied land, tilled the soil, and built a house, was given a right of property therein. In the primitive days men lived in tents, and when one wanted to move he simply folded up his tent and moved away, and pitched it again where his fancy suited him; but when a right of property was given in lands and buildings, tents and huts gave way to permanent abodes, and villages and towns came into existence.

It was found that a house or farm which no longer suited the tastes or purposes of its owner might be desired by his neighbor, who was willing to exchange some valuable equivalent therefor, and a traffic in land grew up. This transfer or conveyance could be considered either as a continuance of the original possession or right of property, or as an abandonment by the owner and an immediately succeeding occupancy by the new proprietor.

But no owner had any right to make a transfer beyond the term of his own life. After the death of the occupant the next immediate occupant could acquire a title in the property of the deceased, but inasmuch as the adoption of such a system would be likely to cause a grand rush to seize a man's property immediately upon his death, the presumption arose that a man's children or his nearest relatives were with him at his death and constructively became the next immediate occupants, and this presumption or custom gradually ripened into law. If the occupant of the land had no children or relatives, his servants born in the house were deemed the next immediate occupants and became his heirs.

The right to transfer real property by will was not established until many years after inheritances were recognized, but at length it was found that the strict rule of inheritance made heirs obstinate and independent and listless, and also resulted in defrauding creditors of their debts. Consequently statutes were adopted giving land owners the right to dispose of their property by will. The English Statute of Wills, enacted in 1540, allowed freeholders to devise all lands held in free and common socage, and two-thirds of their lands held by knight service tenure. One who held land by knight service was under the obligation to render military service to the king, while those who held under the tenure of free and common socage were expected to yield a part of the profits of the land to the superior lord. The grants that were made by the king to the American colonists provided that the lands should be held in free and common socage. A statute passed in the reign of Charles II abolished the tenure of knight service, and thereupon all freehold estates could be conveyed by will.

The earliest well-defined system of conveying or transferring real property in England was introduced by William the Conqueror after his invasion of England in the year 1066. The conveyance was called a feoffment. It was a very solemn and public ceremony, supposed to be easily remembered and proved. Every feoffment to be effective was accompanied by what is known as "livery of seisin." The livery of seisin, or delivery of possession, was conducted as follows: the feoffor, that is the grantor, together with the feoffee, entered upon the land or house to be transferred, and there in the presence of witnesses declared the conditions of the transfer. The feoffor then took a handful of earth, or a twig or bough from the land, and delivered it to the feoffee with appropriate words expressing his intention to convey the premises, or sometimes, if the subject of the sale was simply a house, the knocker or latch of the front door was given by the feoffor to the feoffee, who entered the house alone, shut the door, then opened it and let in the witnesses and others. If there were several parcels of land in one county to be sold, livery of seisin of one parcel would answer for the whole; but if there were several parcels located in different counties, there would have to be as many ceremonies of livery of seisin as there were counties. This form of livery of seisin was called livery of seisin in deed or in fact. There was also a livery of seisin in law which was not made on the land to be conveyed, but near to it or in sight of it. If the feoffor was afraid to enter on the land because, perhaps, he feared bodily harm from a hostile occupant, he would approach as near the land as he dared, and pointing it out to the feoffee would say, "I give you yonder land, enter and take possession;" then if the feoffee entered upon the land during the lifetime of the feoffor it was a good livery of seisin, otherwise not, unless the feoffee by reason of fear did not dare to enter, in which event he was required to go as near the land as he dared, yearly, and make his claim.

Title under livery of seisin was said to pass by "transmutation of possession." Under the feudal system all lands were held under the favor of the king, who made grants to his vassals, who in turn gave a certain part of their holdings to their vassals, and so on. Under this system the occupant of land could not transfer it without the consent of his immediate lord. Gradually it became apparent that the interest of the country would be better served if the transfer of real property was free and unrestrained, but it took time to bring about this result.

In the reign of King Henry I a man was allowed to dispose of land which he himself had purchased, but he was not allowed to sell so much of it that he might disinherit his children. A statute passed in the year 1290 (Quia Emptores) allowed all persons to sell their lands at their discretion, excepting those lords who held their lands immediately from the king, and even these tenants were relieved of this restriction in the reign of Edward III upon the payment of a fine to the king. These fines were abolished in the reign of King Charles II.

Conveyances were not recorded in England until after the Statute of Uses, passed in the 27th year of the reign of Henry VIII, 1536. The Statute of Enrollments was passed by the same Parliament, and required all contracts of bargain and sale of lands to be in writing and enrolled within six months after their delivery, but people still desired to avoid publicity in the purchase and sale of lands, and contracts in writing for the sale of land were not generally adopted until the Statute of Frauds was passed in 1676, which provided that no contract for the sale of lands, tenements, or hereditaments should be valid unless the same, or some note or memorandum thereof, was in writing signed by the party to be charged therewith, or by some person thereunto duly authorized. Even then, impelled by this desire to prevent publicity, Sir Francis Moore resorted to the strategy of making a bargain and sale or lease for a year, which it was not necessary to record, and then executing a release to the bargainee, which consummated the seisin in the latter. This form of transfer came to be known as a lease and release, and was adopted as the most common method of conveyancing in England until very recent times.

When it became common in England to transfer land by a deed in writing, it was the custom to make as many copies as there were parties thereto, and each copy was cut or indented, first like the teeth of a saw, and afterwards in a waving line, so that each copy would fit into the other when it was desired to make a comparison to test the genuineness of any of them. This form of deed was called an indenture. It was probably copied from the system of indented paper checks that were used as receipts for payments into the exchequer, and which superseded the ancient system of "tallies in exchequer," which were made by means of wooden sticks marked on the edge with notches to indicate the amount paid, while on the two sides were written the amount, the name of the payer, and the date of the transaction, the stick being then divided longitudinally so that it could be fitted together again and read, one-half being reserved in the exchequer, and the other half being given to the person paying the money. This rude form continued in existence until 1782, when the office of "tally cutter" was abolished. Most of the accumulated tallies were burned up. If the tally cutting system of recording deeds were in vogue in Suffolk County to-day, the Registry of Deeds would probably resemble a lumber yard. The tally cutting system and the indentures were founded on the same basis as the Chinaman's laundry check, which is torn irregularly, one-half being given to the customer, and the other half being retained so that the two may be fitted together when the laundry is claimed.

The origin and history of the system of conveyancing in America is not definitely settled. The systems of the various English colonies were not uniform. The earliest English colony established was that of Virginia. The first known legislation on the point in this colony was a vote in 1626 requiring all sales to be brought to Jamestown and enrolled within a year of their date. In 1640 an act was passed providing that a deed or mortgage of land without delivery of possession should be adjudged fraudulent unless entered in some court. The next colony established was Plymouth. The earliest transfer recorded in that colony was a deed in 1627, which, instead of being copied in the record book, was written in the book itself and signed by the parties. In 1636 a commission was appointed to alter and revise the laws. The revision was adopted, and provided that all conveyances of land should be acknowledged before the governor and recorded upon the payment of the fees. This was the origin of the requirement in America that deeds should be acknowledged before recording.

In the Virginia and Plymouth colonies no force or value was given to the prior recorded deed, which is one of the chief features of the Massachusetts system.

The Massachusetts system of recording transfers of land was formally established by an act or ordinance, as it was called, of the General Court, October 7, 1640, which provided: "For avoyding all fraudulent conveyances, & that every man may know what estate or interest other men may have in any houses, lands, or other hereditaments they are to deale in, it is therefore ordered, that after the end of this month no mortgage, bargain, sale, or graunt hereafter to bee made of any houses, lands, rents, or other hereditaments shalbee of force against any other person except the graunter & his heires, unlesse the same bee recorded, as is hereinafter expressed." Provision was made for acknowledging the deeds, and they were to be recorded within the districts into which the Colony had already been divided for holding courts. The ordinance further provided that "it is not intended that the whole bargain, sale, &c, shalbee entered, but onely the names of the graunter & grauntee, the thing & the estate graunted, & the date; and all such entreyes shalbee certified to the recorder at Boston." Magistrates were also appointed to take acknowledgments.

Of course there had been sundry transfers of land in the Massachusetts Colony before the date of this ordinance, and certain rules and restrictions had been made by the various towns concerning transfers. Cambridge, for instance, became a very exclusive section in 1632, and the town ordered that any one desiring to sell his land should offer it first to the town, and that no stranger should be permitted to buy land without the consent of the town. Cambridge, however, was not peculiar in this respect, for Dorchester in 1634, and Boston in 1635, passed similar orders.

On April 1, 1634, the General Court ordered that the constable and four or more of the chief inhabitants of every town, to be chosen by the freemen with the advice of some one or more of the next assistants, should make a survey of houses and lands and enter the same in a book with the several bounds and quantities by the nearest estimation; "& shall deliuer a transcript thereof into the Court, within sixe monethes nowe nexte ensuing, & the same soe entered and recorded shalbe a sufficient assurance to eu'y such Free inhabitant, his & their heires and assignes, of such estate of inheritance, or as they shall haue in any such howses, lands, or Franktenem's." This order of the General Court was undoubtedly the authority for the "Book of Possessions" in Boston and the various towns, upon which practically all the titles to land within the limits of the old towns have since rested.

Some of the towns were apparently governed by law-abiding men, and prepared their books of possession as required by the General Court, but others were negligent, and on December 3, 1639, the towns of Concord, Lynn, Weymouth, and Dorchester were fined five shillings each for failure to comply with the law. Possibly the people of these towns did not take the law seriously in view of the fact that it was passed April 1st.

The work of preparing the Book of Possessions did not progress to the satisfaction of the General Court, which, in 1640, passed the ordinance to which I have already referred. This ordinance has passed through twelve revisions and has been slightly amended, but it has remained unchanged in substance with the exception that the provision making it unnecessary to record deeds in full has been omitted in the subsequent revisions. "Second thoughts," they say, "are best," but it has been said that "it is not true that second thoughts are best, but first, and third, which are a ripper first."

I had the honor of serving as a member of the committee on the part of the Senate to revise the laws in 1902, and if at that time I had had as much knowledge, experience, and responsibility in connection with the transcribing and storing of records as I have now, I think I might have been tempted to make available the ripper first thought of the legislators of 1640, by restoring the provision that instruments need not be recorded in their entirety, but only as to the essential parts, and thereby obviate the perpetuation of much of the unnecessary verbiage that is encumbering the records from day to day.

The requirement that a deed must be acknowledged to entitle it to record was probably taken from the laws of the Plymouth Colony as they existed in 1636, and the Plymouth colonists in turn probably copied the customs of London and the English boroughs, which required an acknowledgment before the lord mayor or the recorder and one alderman. With the exception of this provision for acknowledgment, the system of recording deeds adopted by the Massachusetts General Court in 1640 seems to have been original, and forms the basis of the present system of recording deeds throughout this country.

The aforesaid act of 1640 authorized three recording districts, one at Salem, one at Ipswich, and one at Boston. The first recorder of Deeds for Suffolk County was Stephen Winthrop, whose commission was "to record things."

Here are some of the "things" recorded: On the first page of Volume 1, two letters in cipher, or shorthand, which purport to be copies of answers to certain inquiries regarding one Hansard Knolles, then minister at Piscataqua, now Dover, New Hampshire, and a copy of a letter written by said Knolles to retract certain accusations that he had made against the Massachusetts authorities, among which were that the government "was worse than the high commission . . . and that here was nothing but oppression . . . and not so much as a face of religion."

These are only a few of the hundreds of interesting and peculiar "things" recorded in the early Suffolk records. A member of the Bar has recently called my attention to an instrument recorded with the early Middlesex deeds, containing this language in the description: "southerly to a stake and stones where Daniel Harrington licked William Smith."

On May 3, 1643, the Massachusetts Colony was divided into four counties, namely Essex, Suffolk, Middlesex, and Norfolk. Suffolk County included Boston, "Roxberry," Dorchester, Dedham, Braintree, Weymouth, Hingham, and "Nantaskot." Plymouth Colony was consolidated with Massachusetts in 1692.

In the early days the records did not accumulate very rapidly, and nineteen volumes were sufficient to record the instruments left for record prior to January 1, 1700, in the Suffolk Registry of Deeds. On January 1, 1800, the number had reached only 193. On January 1, 1850, the total was 606, but during the last half of the nineteenth century there was a wonderful increase in the number of transfers of real estate, and on January 1, 1900, there were 2656 volumes on the shelves. During the past few years there has been a steady growth, and to-day the copyists are finishing volume 3506 of Suffolk Deeds, so that the growth for the last eleven years is 244 volumes in excess of that from 1640 to 1850. This tremendous increase in the volume of land records illustrates what a serious problem will confront posterity in the mere matter of the storage of the records in the course of a few generations.

The modern Massachusetts method of conveyancing constitutes one of the most technical, responsible, and at the same time most tedious branches of the law. It is also one of the least remunerative lines of practice. Conveyancing requires peculiar skill and very close application to detail. The very title and the entire value of the land in question is involved in the work, and yet the amount of work and detail that would warrant a fee of perhaps $500 in the trial of a comparatively small action of tort, rarely brings more than $50 when applied to the examination of a title.

When a person buys a piece of real estate he usually feels that he has paid all it is worth and perhaps a little more, and he is therefore anxious to spend as little as possible for the examination of a title, which he considers in the nature of a somewhat unnecessary extra frill, when in point of fact it is the most important part of the whole transaction, and should be paid for accordingly. The grantor sometimes tells the grantee that it is unnecessary to examine the title because the property has been in his own family for a great many years, or that he has recently purchased the property and that he had the title examined then by his lawyer, and he knows it is all right; but no person should purchase real estate unless the title is thoroughly examined by a competent conveyancer, or unless he satisfies himself conclusively that it has been recently examined by such a conveyancer, and then has it run down to date.

Very few lawyers are good conveyancers. They have not had the necessary experience, perhaps, because they have devoted their time to other lines where the returns are greater, but if one employs a good lawyer, of course he can be depended upon to obtain the services of a competent conveyancer to assist him in the work if he does not feel qualified or has not the time to attend to it himself; and one's lawyer can then attend to the final details of passing the papers and dividing the fee.

I have known a case where the purchaser of a lot of land gave the examination of the title to a legal friend who agreed to do it for a small sum, and a few years after he had built his house it was found that he had built it on the wrong lot, and was put to considerable expense to remove it to the proper location.

I have had personal experience with a lot where I was counsel for the purchaser, and the grantor was an old member of the bar, whose son was considered a good conveyancer and had examined the title a few years before. Upon examination I found that the land had been sold for non-payment of taxes, and that an attachment made against a prior owner had never been dissolved.

I have often wished that I could speak to some intending purchaser who was investing his entire savings in a house and lot, to advise him to get a conveyancer to assist some inexperienced member of the bar whom he had employed to examine the title, because I felt certain that he was not likely to do justice to the examination.

Ridiculous mistakes are caused by carelessness on the part of inexperienced conveyancers who seem to dislike the work and are anxious to rush it through as soon as possible. Recently a member of the bar drew a deed and took the acknowledgment as justice of the peace, and of course signed his own name, but in the mortgage which accompanied the deed he signed the acknowledgment with his own first name and the surname of the grantor.

It is not an infrequent occurrence for the grantee, if a justice of the peace, to take the acknowledgment of the grantor, which of course is bad practice and would meet with objection from future title examiners. I believe there have been cases where the grantor assumed to take his own acknowledgment.

If these irregularities are noticed when the paper is presented for record they are called to the attention of the grantee and corrected on the spot, but in the rush of business if the instrument is apparently in proper form, and is sealed and acknowledged, it is received, and irregularities may not be discovered until the document is spread upon the records. Many of the irregularities are not fatal to the title, but they all cause annoyance and sometimes considerable expense to the purchaser in order to clear the title when he attempts to sell his property.

On a recent trip I met a clergyman who asked me to look up a deed to his property, which had been left for record a year ago. I took the instrument from the files to mail it, and found that the property had been conveyed to him through a third party who conveyed simply one undivided third part, so that the grantee, according to the record, owned only one-third of the house and lot instead of the whole. If the grantee succeeds in finding the third party he may yet obtain that which properly belongs to him.

The necessity for a proper examination of a title before the purchase of property was admirably illustrated by the late Uriel H. Crocker in a very interesting article written for the American Law Review in October 1875, and since published in pamphlet form, entitled "The History of a Title; A Conveyancer's Romance." After reading this article one will readily realize how full of pitfalls is the ground which a conveyancer is accustomed to travel, and how extensive should be his knowledge and how great the care to be exercised in the examination of a title.

Of course the old custom of livery of seisin has long fallen into disuse, and to-day in Massachusetts the delivery of a deed in writing under seal, and properly acknowledged, is sufficient without any other act or ceremony to convey real estate. The deed must be delivered to the grantee in the lifetime of the grantor or it is of no effect. For instance, where a grantor had drawn a deed and kept it in an old chest, and the chest with all its contents was given to the grantee by will, it was held to be no delivery and the deed was void.

Leases for more than seven years must be recorded in order to be effective against third parties. There are on record in the Registry of Deeds for Suffolk County many interesting leases in the neighborhood of the Cornhill district, some of them being for 1000 years, and for most peculiar rents. For instance, the building at the corner of Court Street and Cornhill is leased under a thousand year lease for the rental of ten tons of Russia old sables iron, delivered quarterly on the premises. During the early life of the lease the rental was paid as called for by the terms of the lease, but after a while when Russia old sables iron was not commonly used in this country, the custom grew up to pay the rental in gold. The heirs of the original lessors some years ago desired to break the lease and demanded payment in iron as called for by the terms of the lease, knowing that the tenants could not pay it; and upon failure to pay, declared the lease terminated. It was held by the Supreme Court, however, that the lessors were entitled to the iron if they wanted it, but by reason of change in customs the tenants must be given a reasonable time in which to procure the iron.

In examining the records in the Suffolk Registry it is important to remember that prior to the year 1752 the Julian calendar was in force, and March was the first month of the year, the year beginning on the 25th day of March; so that in the old records where the first month is referred to, it means the month of March and not the month of January.

Two volumes of the Suffolk records, numbers 112 and 114, have been missing from the registry since the days of the Revolution. The tradition is that when the British occupied Boston, Dedham was made the shire town of Suffolk County, and in moving the records to and from Dedham the books were lost and have never been found. There is another tradition that these books were taken to Halifax by the Loyalists.

When I assumed the office of Register of Deeds nearly all of the Register's time was consumed in writing his name upon records and upon the recorded instruments to be returned to the grantees. It seemed to me unwise to spend so much time writing my long name to attest records that I knew nothing of personally, because of course I could not find the time to examine them. I was therefore glad to co-operate with the Register of Probate and the Recorder of the Land Court in obtaining the passage of an act which authorized the Register to attest the deeds by the volume after they are bound, and which authorizes the Register or Assistant Register to affix a fac-simile stamp of the Register's signature on the original instrument. The passage of this act afforded the Register much more time to meet the conveyancers, members of the bar, and public in general, to hear complaints, listen to suggestions, and supervise the general conduct of the office.

I believed that there was much danger of fraudulent dissolutions of attachments under the old law and the old system in use throughout the Commonwealth, and I petitioned the Legislature for the passage of an act requiring that every dissolution of an attachment on the margin of the docket should be witnessed by the Register or one of his assistants thereto duly authorized. The bill was passed, and the act became operative May 23, 1907.

On July 1st, 1907, I substituted the use of the typewriter for pen and ink in writing the records, and I think the change has given general satisfaction.

The early recorders received everything for which a fee was paid, but one of the most important duties of the present Register is to prevent the recording of matters that are not entitled to record. For instance, a party who has a tract of land in one of the suburbs makes a contract with the promoter or broker who is to sell the land at auction and get a certain commission for selling it, but he is somewhat uncertain as to whether the land owner will carry out his agreement. He therefore tries to record the personal contract, which would have the effect of using the Register's office for a collection agency, because no one who examined the title would recommend it to a purchaser if there was any such cloud upon it. Such papers are rejected by the Register after a wordy warfare.

Again, another man brings in a receipt dated forty years ago, reciting that John Smith has received a deed of land from Thomas Jones, which he is to reconvey if the said Jones pays the said Smith for legal services. The instrument is unsealed and not acknowledged. It is simply a receipt for a deed. It is not entitled to record, but the attorney who brings it in makes a strenuous contest to have it placed on record, and admits that the reason he does it is that it will cost less to record such a paper than to pursue his remedy in court.

All kinds of personal requests and favors are asked of the Register to help out a lame case, but in the interest of real property rights the Register must have the courage to say "no" to any unreasonable or improper request of this kind.

There were one or two imperfections in the law that were forcibly called to my attention during my first year in office. For instance, it was possible under the law for a mortgagor to go to a record book and write a discharge on the margin of his mortgage, forging the mortgagee's name. If not discovered, this would deceive a title examiner and lead him to believe that the mortgage had been discharged. There was nothing in the law requiring a marginal discharge of a mortgage to be witnessed. I introduced a bill, which was enacted, to have a proper safeguard thrown about such discharges similar to the law regarding the dissolutions of attachments.

The typewriting system of recording will reduce the space occupied by the records about one-third, but some system will have to be adopted eventually that will not require as much space as is now necessary for recording or registering titles. It is possible that standard forms of deeds and mortgages may be devised, and that in recording an instrument reference may simply be made to the grantor and grantee, date, consideration, and any peculiar conditions of the instrument, and then have it noted that it was a certain standard mortgage or deed of the form prescribed by statute. Such forms are now in use in some of the western states.

Under the laws of Maryland every Register of Deeds is required to make an abstract of all the essential details of instruments that are recorded, and they are sent to the capitol at Annapolis and kept there to preserve the record of titles in case any registry of deeds should be destroyed by fire or otherwise. This is a wise provision, which I think should be adopted in all the states.

The Massachusetts act authorizing the registration of titles to land went into effect on October 1, 1898, and the Land Court was opened for business on the fourteenth of the same month. This law was established for the purpose of simplifying the transfer of land and making it unnecessary to have an extensive search of the title when it was desired to make a transfer.

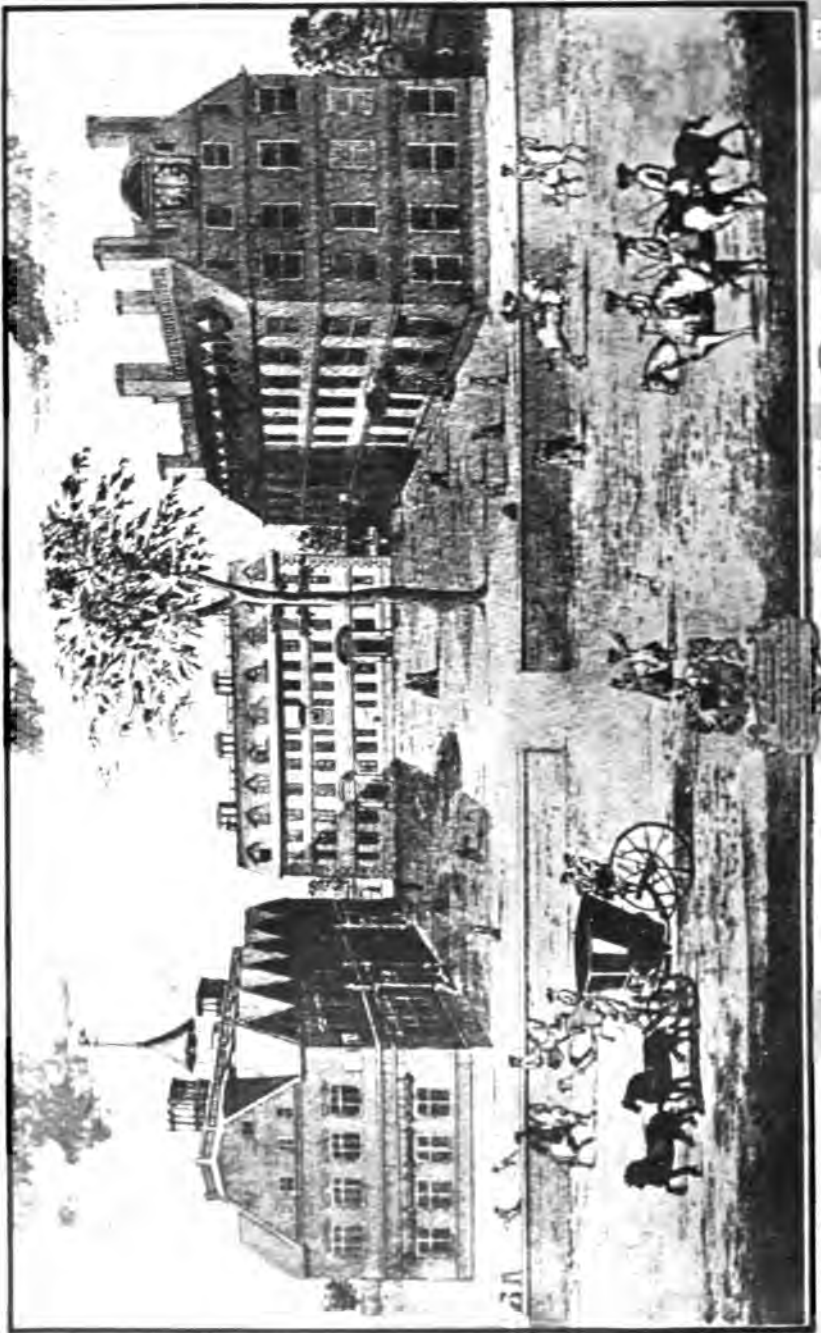

Under this system a person desiring to have his land registered first files a petition in the Land Court, which is immediately referred to an examiner to report on the state of the title. After the examiner's report is received, notice is sent to the petitioner, and if the title is passed by the examiner, a notice to all interested parties is issued. The petitioner is required to file a notice of his petition in the registry of deeds for the district in which the land lies. The register of deeds in each county is the assistant recorder of the Land Court for his district.

If the court is satisfied that the petitioner is legally entitled to the land, a decree for the confirmation and registration of the title is entered in the name of the petitioner, and a copy of the decree is sent to the assistant recorder for the district within which the land included in the decree is situated, together with a copy of a plan of the land as finally established by the court.

The assistant recorder transcribes the decree in a book called the registration book, and this entry is the "original certificate," which is accompanied by the plan. An exact copy of the original certificate is then made by the assistant recorder, and is labelled "owner's duplicate certificate." On the back of the certificate is entered a memorandum of any encumbrances stated in the decree.

When it is desired to transfer registered land, the grantor makes a deed in common form setting forth the fact that the land is registered and referring to the certificate number, and surrenders his owner's duplicate certificate to the purchaser, who brings both instruments to the office of the assistant recorder for the district. The instrument of conveyance is properly stamped and filed, the old certificate of registration is cancelled, and a new original certificate is prepared and filed; then a new owner's duplicate is given to the new owner, any outstanding encumbrances being noted on the back of each new certificate.

During the year 1910 there were 48,518 transactions at the Suffolk Registry of Deeds, and 3906 transactions through the Suffolk Registry District of the Land Court.

BELLS OF HARVARD COLLEGE*

By ARTHUR H. NICHOLS, M.D., of Boston

Member of the Ancient Society of College Youths, London

IN the college buildings, to each of which the term "College" was invariably applied from 1642 to 1720, there have been installed at various times no less than eight bells, as verified by information, authentic if often very meagre, that has come down to us. The recent discovery, incident to the excavation for the Cambridge Subway, of ancient foundation walls has been thought to strengthen the theory that the original College stood near the site of Gray's Hall, though Goffe's College, of which little is known, must have been situated in that vicinity.

While no picture of the first College exists, detailed descriptions of the floor-plans make it possible to reproduce an approximate design of the exterior, the front of which we know was broken by a turret surrounded by a "lanthorn." This turret shows the intent to provide a bell, an instrument at that date of prime necessity in every community, clocks and watches not having come into general use. The following extract† from the "Rules and Precepts that are observed in the Colledge," contained in a book entitled "New England's First Fruits," published in London in 1643, indicate that a bell was already in use:

FIRST BELL

7. Every schollar shall be present in his Tutor's Chambers at the 7th houre in the morning immediately after the sound of the bell at his opening the Scriptures and prayer, so also at the 5th houre at night, and their give an account of his own private reading, as aforesaid, in particular the third, and constantly attend lectures at the houres appointed. But if any without necessary impediment shall absent himself from prayer or lectures, he shall be lyable to admonition, if he offend above once a week.

A second reference to this bell is found in "Certain Orders by the Scholars and Officers of the Colledge to bee observed, written, 28 March, 1650:" ‡

The Butler upon every Sixt Day of the week at noon is to give an account to every Schollar demanding his weeks sizings in the Buttery & is not bound to stay above half an hour at Bevers in Buttery after the Tolling of the bell, Nor above a quarter of an hour after Thanksgiving in the Hall at Meals, The Cook on the Sixt Day at Noon shall give in the weeks expenses of the whole society. w<sup>ch</sup> the Butler shall enter into his Book, according to Custome & shal keep the Bills from Quarter to Quarter and shew them to the Stewart at his demand for his satisfaction.

A shade of doubt may, indeed, be cast upon the identity of this bell by the suggestion that the College may have had the use of the bell of the First Parish, with which close relations had been established from its foundation. In fact one of the reasons for selecting Cambridge as the site of the College was the proximity of this church, then under the ministry of Thomas Shepard,* a clergyman of marked ability and piety, and the first Commencement was held in this meeting house.

To remove all uncertainty on this point it becomes necessary to show that the College possessed the only bell in Cambridge at the time when these "Rules and Precepts" were framed. Now it is known that the first mention of any bell in use in Massachusetts occurs in the History of Cambridge by Prince, who says that in 1632 "the first house for public worship at Newtown [Cambridge] with a bell upon it" was built; and Holmes states that the town records confirm this statement, and that the town meetings were called by the ringing of the bell. Goss† adds that for some reasons not known a drum was afterwards substituted, as mentioned by Edward Johnson in "Wonder Working Providence" when on approaching the town a drum was heard calling the people to meeting. Furthermore, in 1646, the records contain an order for the payment of fifty shillings to a man for his services to the town in beating the drum.

The explanation of this temporary substitution of a drum is found in the history of the Society organized under Thomas Hooker. Of two hundred Puritans who came over in one company, many had settled in Newtown and built the first meeting house, which stood on the west side of Water, now Dunster Street, a little south of Spring, now Mt. Auburn Street. In the summer of 1636 Mr. Hooker with his entire congregation, one hundred in number, emigrated to the place in Connecticut called Hartford; and it is recorded that they carried with them their bell. Here it is said to have been in use upon the First Church till it was broken in 1825. It was replaced by another, cast in 1827.‡

The meeting house in Cambridge thus left vacant was at once bought by the Society, which had been organized February 1, 1636, under Mr. Shepard, known thereafter as the First Church in Cambridge; but for at least ten years thereafter the church seems to have been without a bell. That on the College therefore was the only one in use during this interval.

A vote of the Parish in 1648 indicates that the first bell had then been replaced by another, for it was ordered:

That there shall be an eight peny ordinary provided by the Townsmen [Selectmen] every second munday of the month upon there meeteing day; and that whosoever of the Townsmen fail to be present within half an houre of the ringing of the bell, (which shall be halfe an houre after eleven of the clock) he shall both lose his dinner and, pay a pint of sacke, or the value thereof, to the present Townsmen.

Tracing further the history of this second church bell, it was removed to the second meeting house, erected in 1650, upon Watch House Hill, within the present College Yard and near the site of Dane Hall. Replaced by a larger bell given in 1700 by Capt. Andrew Belcher, it was then voted by the Town to give "the little meeting house bell" to the Cambridge Farms, now Lexington.

SECOND BELL

In College Book III is the following entry in the handwriting of the Treasurer, Danforth. It is uncertain whether the date of this entry is 1658, 1659, or possibly a year or two later, but the reference is unquestionably to a second bell.

Mr. John Willet gave to the Colledge the Bell now hanging in the Turrett.

Subsequent allusions to this bell are found in the College Records, for example:

At a meeting of the Overseers, in 1660, it was ordered:

4. Whereas (through long experience) former Laws have not been effectual for the p'venting of unnecessary dammagages to the Colledge, by the violence or carelessness of those for whose Accommodation great cost & charges have from time to time been expended. The Overseers do therefore order, that henceforth all due care be taken for the p'venting thereof; And that where any dammage shall be found done to any Study or Chamber inhabited, The p'son or p'sons resident therein shall make good the same, and where any dammage is done to y<sup>e</sup> Edifice of the Colledge (excepting by the inevitable providence of God) to any vacant Chamber, or Study, the Colledge fences about the yard, pump, Bell or clock &c.: the same shall be made good again by all the Students resident in the Colledge at the time when such dammagages shall be done or discovered to be done & shall be duly paid in their Quarter Bills to the Steward of the Colledge, who shall repay the same to the Treasurer or oth<sup>r</sup> such officers of the Colledge as shall be appoynted to disburse the same. (Coll. Bk. III, p. 24.)

At a meeting of the Overseers at the President's house, March, 1667:

The Orders following were confirmed untill the Overseers shall see cause to take them into further consideration. (Coll. Lawes. Eadem. Lib. I, p. 37.)

4. The Steward is from time to time to pay the Colledge officers, viz. The Tuto's, Cook, Butler & Bellringer, their respective dues, salaryes, also to allow the monito's Account. (Coll. Bk. III, p. 34.)

23. The Bell-Ringers office is to ring the Bell (except for meales) to keep the clock & call the president to prayers, for which he shall receive from the Steward five pound per annum. (Coll. Bk. III, p. 36.)

An abbreviate of the College Accounts conteyning both receits and disbursements from October, 1654, untill Decemb. 1663. Extracted out of the Colledge Books, made and given in by Thomas Danforth, Trear.

The amount allowed as above in exchange of a bell, doubtless the original bell, indicates that its weight was about 150 pounds. Of the early bells of the colonists none are known to have exceeded three hundred pounds in weight.

MASSACHUSETTS HALL, from a Sketch circa 1798

It is to be observed that while the colonists brought from England an attachment for musical bells they were also accurate in the use of technical words relating to them, many of which, such as "gudgeons," "baldrick," "rowel,"* "brasses," "fillet," "flight," "clapper-clamps," having since become virtually obsolete in this country. Hence their discrimination in the use of the words "ring" and "toll." For instance, the bell was "rung" to give preliminary warning of approaching service, recitation or meals; that is, it was swung so as to describe a complete revolution, backward and forward, with each impact of the clapper, and the interval between the strokes was therefore long.

But to give notice that service or recitation was about to begin, or that meals were about to be served, the bell was "tolled," or swung only over a small arc of the circle in such a way as to allow the clapper to fall upon but one side of the sound bow. For deaths and funerals, however, it was customary to mount the belfry and toll the bell once in fifteen seconds by means of a rope hitched to the flight, or lower extremity of the clapper. In many country towns this custom is still kept up.†

The second Harvard College, built between 1672 and 1680, was a substantial brick edifice from the middle of which arose a low but capacious belfry. Inasmuch as this building was designed to take the place of the original College, then ruinous and pulled down in 1680, it is probable that Willet's bell was transferred to the new belfry. Here it is believed to have done service for nearly a century; and later was melted or, at least, badly damaged in the disastrous fire of 1764, which destroyed the library, philosophical apparatus, and personal effects of certain students who occupied rooms there. President Holyoke, writing to the General Court, declared the destruction to have been complete and that nothing was saved.‡ A passage from the Corporation Records of January 13, 1764, entered but a few days before this fire, furnishes final reference to this second bell:

"The Governor came to town about one o'clock, soon after which all went into the Chapel [Holden] at the tolling of the bell, the President and Corporation leading."

THIRD BELL

Massachusetts College, or Hall, was built 1718-20.§ On September 5, 1722, it was "Voted, that Mr Treasurer be desired to enquire what may be the cost of a bell and clock proper for the College." On June 2, 1725, it was "Voted, that the Steward be desired to see the bell for the clock to strike on, and give an account of the charges thereof; and that the care of the clock be committed to him for this year to keep it going, and that he

*The word "rowel," a little wheel, apart from its use in heraldry, is now employed only in connection with a spur.

†The tolling of the passing bell was a notification of death, while the number of strokes, called "tellers," indicated the sex. Three times three strokes (3×3) was the usual number for a male adult: hence the expression "nine tellers make a man," which has been corruptly applied to the sartorial craft.

‡Mrs. Mascarene, daughter of President Holyoke, states in a letter written January 30, 1764 to her husband John Mascarene, who was then in London: "The College Bell also is gone." (See "The College Fire in 1764," by Henry F. Waters, in the Harvard Register, iii, p. 297.)

§It is here pertinent to note that coincident with the erection of this dormitory there came into use the word "Hall," employed indifferently with the word "College" until 1780. With the demolition of Stoughton College in that year the term "College" as an official designation of buildings became obsolete. For the use of the words "College" and "Hall," in the United States, see an exhaustive treatment of the subject by Albert Matthews, Esq., in Dialect Notes (American Dialect Society) for Dec. 1900, ii, 91-114, and Harvard Graduates Magazine for December, 1904, pp. 244-246.

have £4 for his services in keeping it in order."

The "Prospect of the Colledges in Cambridge in New England," engraved in 1726 by W. Burgis, represents this clock on the western gable of Massachusetts; and as the dormitory was topped with neither belfry nor bellcote, the bell must have been hung behind the dial-panel still affixed to the brick wall, the rectangular opening on each side permitting to a limited extent the exit of sound waves.

Dr. Alexander Hamilton, an English traveller, in his itinerarium of 1744 notes his impressions as to the artistic merits of the three College buildings then standing, and incidentally transmits our last knowledge of this bell, the fate of which is not known, though it may have been returned to England in partial payment for another, as will appear later.

"The building upon the left hand as you enter the court [Harvard] is the largest, handsomest, and most ancient, being about 100 years old; but the middle, or front, building [Old Stoughton] is indifferent and of no taste. That upon the right hand [Massachusetts] has a little clock upon it which has a very good bell."

Dr. Hamilton's estimate as to the superior quality of this instrument can be accepted as presumably correct, as it was doubtless of English casting, no bells at that date having been made in the Colonies; and small bells of that period of foreign importation were more musical, mellow, and penetrating than the products of modern founders. Thus the sweet-toned troubles of Christ Church, Boston, have a carrying power equal to the heaviest bells of the ring, and under favorable conditions are distinctly audible within the precincts of the College Yard. A bell, such as was connected with the clock upon Massachusetts, was generally of light weight, suspended rigid by means of iron straps and bolts from a beam, to be struck by a hammer on its outer sound bow. Not being supplied with headstock or wheel it could not be swung.

FOURTH BELL

Harvard Hall was promptly rebuilt after the fire at the expense of the Province, which assumed responsibility for the loss because the Legislature had been occupying it for its sessions in consequence of the prevalence of small-pox in Boston. In a new set of "articles respecting the diet of the College," adopted by the Corporation, September 10, 1765, reference is made to a fourth bell, doubtless raised to the newly erected belfry:

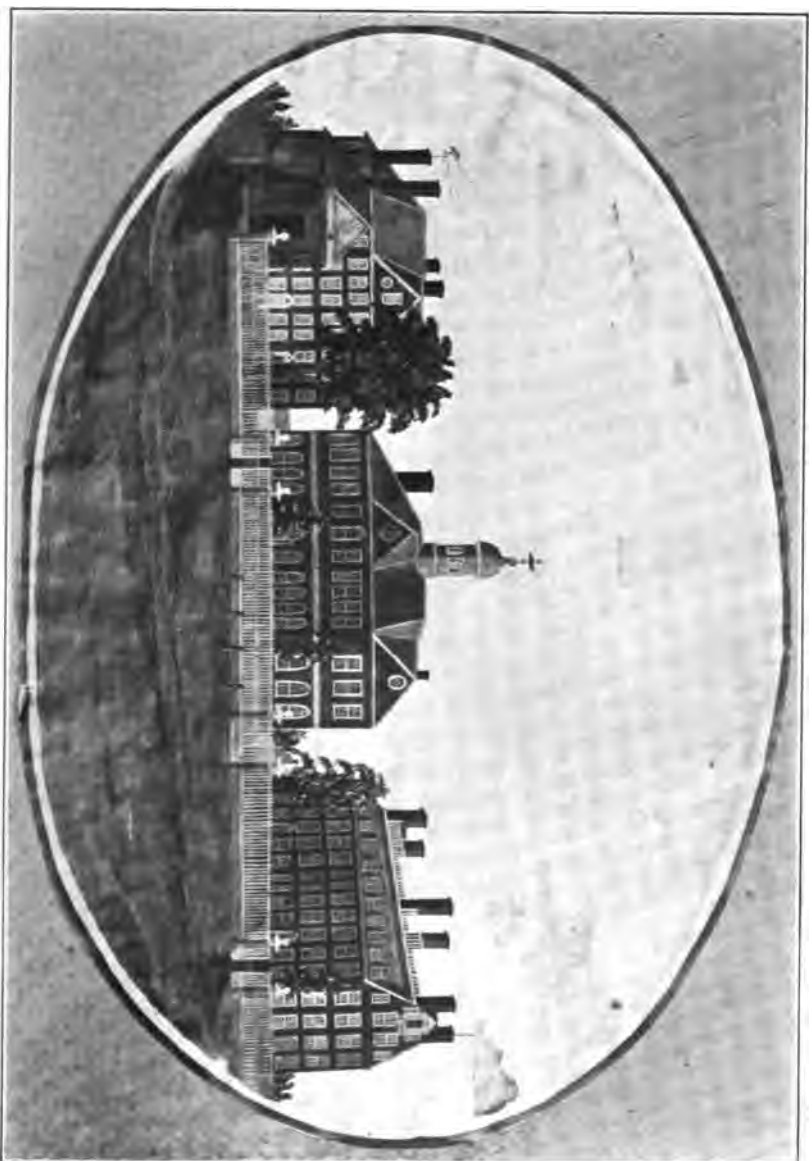

"4. The waiters when the bell rings [originally written 'tolls'] at meal times shall take the furniture of the tables and the victuals at the kitchen hatch, and carry the same to the several tables for which they are designed, immediately upon which the bell shall toll."

In prints and sketches of Harvard Hall taken in the latter part of the eighteenth century a clock dial is shown on the gable over the front entrance. Peirce speaks of this clock as still attached to the building in 1831. It seems possible, therefore, that the clock may have been transferred thither from Massachusetts.

FIFTH BELL

The fate of the fourth bell is briefly indicated by an entry of January 15, 1793: * "Voted, that the President and the Treasurer be a Committee to procure the recasting of the College Bell lately split, according to their best discretion.

* Coll. Bk. VIII, p. 348.

HARVARD HALL, from a Sketch since 1798

This bell, like its predecessors was ordered from England, and was, doubtless, of heavier metal, weighing according to the following invoice 2 cwt. 3 q. 10 lb., or 318 pounds. Inasmuch as its diameter at the brim would measure about 24 inches, the cask charged in the invoice would provide a convenient and safe method of packing for the ocean voyage.

As to the identity of the two bells returned to the founder in part payment, one was plainly the bell recently broken upon Harvard Hall, whose weight was probably about 2 cwt. This would leave 1 cwt. 2 q. 14 lb. for the weight of a clock bell such as had about that time been removed from Massachusetts Hall. In view of the total destruction of Harvard Hall in 1764, nothing but the bare walls being left standing, it is inconceivable that the Willet Bell should have alone escaped destruction and no record be made of it.

SIXTH BELL

In the autumn of 1807 the fifth bell appears to have been damaged by vandalism on the part of the students, for on November 23 it was "Voted, that the President and others be a committee to examine the state of Harvard Hall, and to consider the most effectual method of securing it against eruption, make an estimate of the expense, and report to the Corporation." At this same date it was also voted, "that the President be requested to cause a new bell to be purchased for the College on as reasonable terms as he can." On January 11, 1808, this Committee made its report, when it was "Voted, that when a bell is procured for the College, the President be requested to cause good security to be provided against all improper access, and that a chain be used, instead of a rope, to ring the bell as far as [it] is exposed to common access, or below the floor next the bell." It may be added that this grotesque suggestion of a chain attachment, while affording no protection against trespass, would have made the proper management of the bell impracticable.

This sixth bell was cast in 1808 by Paul Revere at his foundry, which had been removed in 1804 from the north end of Boston to Canton, this estate being still in the possession of his descendants. It weighed 434 pounds, as recorded in his old stock book now in the possession of William B. Revere.

SEVENTH BELL

Becoming cracked in 1836 this bell was replaced by another the same year weighing 450 pounds, cast by George Handel Holbrook of East Medway, Mass. The Holbrook bell was faultily suspended, and became broken in 1899, after having been rung for forty-two years by the veteran janitor, Mr. Jones. It was preserved for a few years as a relic by Mr. Jones, but in 1904 it was given by him to the Harvard Memorial Society and was broken up, a part of the bronze being used for tablets placed on Hollis and Holworthy Halls. A model of the old bell was made from the same metal and presented to Mr. Jones.

It is a current tradition in Harvard, Mass., that a condemned bell once used in Harvard Hall was sold to be placed later on the Baptist church in the parish of Still River. This story finds endorsement in the history of the town by Henry S. Nourse, while the name of the teamster who is said to have hauled the bell from Cambridge is cited by old residents, who are even able to describe the pranks by which it was injured. Inasmuch as legends of this character usually contain an element of truth, the writer, having traced all facts bearing on the matter, ventures to suggest the following as the most probable explanation of the error. The bell in question, which is indeed cracked, bears the inscription "George Holbrook, 1807," this being the year when the fifth Harvard bell was wantonly damaged; and, as a further coincidence, it was also the year in which the first bell of the town was placed upon the Congregational Church, paid for chiefly by private subscription. If it is assumed then that this damaged bell was sold for old metal to Holbrook and recast in the same year, it would not be unnatural that he should attempt to impart a sentimental value by designating it the bell of Harvard Hall. But how, then, are we to account for its appearance at Still River, whose church was not erected till 1832? On this point light is thrown by the inscription on the bell now in use on the Congregational Church, to wit: "G. H. Holbrook, Medway, 1827," ordered, it would appear, to replace the original bell of 1807 which had become cracked. And if the damage to the latter had not been considerable, or enough to impair materially its tone, it would probably have been retained on the chance of disposing of it later for further use. And this opportunity was certainly presented five years later, when a bell, now said to have been slightly cracked at the time of purchase, was given in 1832 to be hung upon the Baptist Church in Still River, completed in that year. If this theory is correct, then the fact that this cracked bell is composed in part at least of the metal of the Harvard bell may afford some consolation for the correction of this fiction.

To most living alumni of Harvard the clear-toned, aggressive sound of Holbrook's bell will have been the most familiar, and it will be of interest to know that Major George Holbrook acquired the art of bell casting by serving as apprentice to Paul Revere at his original foundry at the northern extremity of Boston. He started to cast bells on his own account in Brookfield, and was establishing a lucrative business when, by the endorsement of notes, he became financially ruined. He was thus obliged to relinquish his home and retire impoverished to his native town, Wrentham. While living there in retirement he managed to secure the contract for casting a bell for the new meeting-house in East Medway. The casting was done in an improvised structure and in the presence of a concourse of people in East Medway. His success in turning out a bell of excellent tone led to the offer of capital and the establishment of a foundry in the place, conducted by four successive generations until the year 1880. During this period these bells acquired a reputation equal to that of the best English and Belgian founders, the best known in Boston being those in the Hollis Street and the West Church towers. No attempt was ever made at this foundry, nor by Revere, to cast a chime, or peal, a matter of much greater difficulty than making single bells.

EIGHTH BELL

The present bell in Harvard Hall, cast by Meneely & Co. of West Troy, N. Y., weighs 550 pounds. It was first rung January 7, 1900.

In 1894 an appeal was made through the Harvard Graduates' Magazine for a complete ring of heavy bells to be hung in the tower of Memorial Hall, designed to facilitate the introduction of scientific change ringing, as practiced at Cambridge and Oxford Universities. In reponse to this appeal the entire amount necessary to defray the cost of such a peal was promptly offered, and from two different sources. The scheme, however, met with failure, for an inspection of the imposing tower by engineers disclosed the surprising fact that its walls were too unstable to withstand the thrust of even light bells swung upon the principle of the pendulum, while all other requirements of a ringing guild, including a ringing chamber, had been omitted from the architect's designs.

NINTH BELL

Memorial Hall now contains a clock and fine-toned bell of 3000 pounds, cast by Van Duzen & Co. of Cincinnati, the gift of the class of 1872, installed and formally presented after Commencement, 1897.

It has been suggested that the site of old Stoughton might be appropriately marked by the erection of a lofty campanile which would serve for a clock and peal of bells. Indeed, within a few years a very large sum has been offered to the College, more than adequate to provide for the construction of such a monument. This offer was, however, declined from the feeling that any benefit thus accruing to the College would be hardly commensurate with the amount expended.

Shortly afterwards came another offer of a ring of twelve heavy bells as a memorial of a graduate of the Class of 1847. This generous offer was likewise made in vain, one of the reasons assigned being that no tower was available for its installation.

Incidentally, it may be mentioned that change ringing on tower bells has been systematically taught for several years at Groton School. Hence there can always be found at Cambridge graduates of this school sufficient in number to make up a guild of experienced ringers qualified to manage church bells of any weight.

The data above collated establish the fact, not before noted, that of fifteen bells listed below, comprising all known to have been in use in Massachusetts up to 1680, inclusive, three were hung within the precincts of the present College Yard, viz. the original College bell, that of Willet, and the bell of the First Parish Church (Shepard).

GENEALOGICAL RESEARCH IN ENGLAND

Transcribed by Miss ELIZABETH FRENCH, and communicated by the Committee on English Research

FRENCH

For many years the descendants of William French of Cambridge, Mass., who came to New England in 1635 in the Defence, have supposed that he was the William French who was baptized in Halstead, Essex, 15 March 1603, son of Thomas French of Stanstead Hall, Essex. We know that the emigrant had a brother John of Cambridge, Mass., whose estate he administered in 1645-6. Thomas French of Stanstead Hall also had a son John. William French is said to have been seventy-seven years of age when he died in 1681. The names of some of his children agree with the names of some of Thomas French's children, namely Francis, John, Elizabeth, and Mary. All these things made the connection seem most probable, especially as the Harlakendens and Rev. Thomas Shepherd, the leaders of the party that came in the Defence, came from Earl's Colne, but two miles from Halstead.

Now, however, it appears that this supposed ancestry of William French is wrong, as the investigations of H. Hutchins French, Esq., of London, have disclosed. Mr. French has made an extended research into the French families of Suffolk and Essex, and has kindly showed all his papers and has allowed extracts to be made from them. It was he who first called attention to the fact that William, the son of Thomas French of Stanstead Hall, died in England. The evidence is as follows:

1. THOMAS FRENCH of Arkesden, Essex, held the manor of Pitley in Bardfield, Essex. Will proved 1551. Wife ELIZABETH, whose will was proved in 1556. They had daughters Elizabeth, Joane, and Agnes, and one son
2. THOMAS FRENCH of Wethersfield, Essex, who married first ELIZABETH, and secondly BRIDGET. He inherited the manor of Pitley from his father. Will proved 1599. He had daughters Mary and Elizabeth, and one son
3. THOMAS FRENCH, who married ANNE or AGNES, daughter and co-heiress with her two sisters of JOHN OLMSTEAD, gentleman, of

HARVARD HALL, 1911

Stanstead Hall, Halstead, which place she either inherited or had as her marriage portion. Thomas French was buried in Halstead 20 Nov. 1613, his will being proved in the Prerogative Court of Canterbury 27 Jan. 1613-14. He mentions wife Ann, son Thomas, and his mother[-in-law] Palladia. To sons John, Edward, William, Robert, and Francis £400 each, and to each daughter £300. His wife Ann was buried in Halstead 11 Feb. 1624-5, and her estate was administered by her son Edward and daughter Margaret.

4. THOMAS FRENCH "of Frating," who married at Canterbury PALLADIA WOOD, died intestate, and administration was granted to his widow Palladia 2 Mar. 1620-1. In November previous he sold Stanstead Hall to Sir Oliver Luke for £3500. He had no male issue, and 17 Feb. 1635-6 a commission was issued to John French, brother of Thomas, to administer the goods left unadministered by Palladia, who had died. On 15 July 1639 a commission was issued to Edward French to administer the goods of Thomas left unadministered by John French, who had died. In 1642 this commission was revoked and the power given to Thomas Lewyn and his wife Dorothy Lewyn alias French.
5. WILLIAM FRENCH, bapt. at Halstead 15 Mar. 1603, of St. Dunstons in the West, London, made his will 14 May 1621. To be buried in the churchyard of St. Dunstons. Various sums to William Drury, Mr. Harmond Johnson, Mrs. Whiteblood, Morgan Symonds. All the rest of his goods to be equally divided between his brothers and sisters unmarried, namely John, Edward, Robert, Francis, Ann, Elianor, Elizabeth, Margaret, Jemima, and Dorothy French. He mentions the sum of £400 given him by his father. Proved in the Commissary Court of London 27 Nov. 1637 and 1639 [both dates given] by Elianor Gunter. On 12 Feb. 1637-8 a commission to administer the goods was issued to John French of Halstead, County Essex, gentleman, brother of William French late, while he lived, of the parish of St. Dunstons in the West, London, bachelor, deceased. [After the death of John French the sister Elianor probably took out letters of administration.] This disposes of the William and John French, son of Thomas of Stanstead Hall, and proves that they could not have emigrated to New England. There was, however, another family of French in Halstead, to which belonged a William, born in 1606. The information regarding them in the church registers is slight.

FROM THE PARISH REGISTERS OF BIDDENDEN

1626 A child of Peter Branch buried unbaptized 22 September.

[Peter Branch of Halden died on the voyage to New England in the ship Castle in 1638, and by his will dated 16 June 1638 bound his son John to Thomas Wyborne for eleven years, probably until he came of age, which would make him born about 1628.* This John was of Marshfield, married Mary Speed, by whom he had issue, and died 17 August 1711. The Branches in England seem to have been of nomadic habits. The father, Symon, died in Tenterden, though there is no other mention of the family in the registers. Peter lived in Nettledon, Frittenden, Biddenden, and Halden, and his sister was in service in Hothfield.—E. F.]

I make my sister Richarden How my executor, and leave to her all the rest of my goods and chattels. Witnesses: Gregory Bassett and Ed: Taylor. Proved 21 February 1661-2 by the executrix named in the will. (Archdeaconry of Canterbury, vol. 71, fo. 111.)

The Will of JAMES HINCKLEY of Doddington in the County of Kent, yeoman, 15 November 1678. After the decease of my wife Mary Hinckley, I give my lands in Lingstead in the County of Kent, now in the occupation of Thomas Hart, to my son Benjamine Hinckley and his heirs, and for want of such heirs to my daughter Elizabeth Hinckley and the heirs of her body, and for want of such heirs to the right heirs of me the said James Hinckley. Son Benjamine not to have said lands until he come to the age of twenty-four years. To my son-in-law John Bradford 1s., and to my daughter Jane, his wife, 5s. a year for life and £5 one month after she become a widow. To James Bradford and Mary Bradford, children of the said John Bradford, 10s. apiece. To my brother Symon Hinckley, my sister Frances Crumpe, widow, and my cousin James Hinckley, son of my brother George Hinckley, 1s. each. To Dorothy Peniale, now wife of John Peniale, and Amy Moone, now wife of Anthony Moone, 5s. each. To my daughter Elizabeth Hinckley £80, to be paid to her when she come to the age of twenty years. My wife Mary to have the use of my personal estate toward the education and bringing up of my two children.

My wife and my cousin John Garner of Milstead, yeoman, overseers, and son Benjamine, executor. [Signed] James Hinckley his marke. Witnesses: James Allen, William Skeere, and Finch Allen. Proved 27 November 1681, execution being granted to Mary Hinckley, the relict of the deceased and guardian of Benjamin Hinckley, son and executor named, during his minority. (Archdeaconry of Canterbury, vol. 75, fo. 265.)

[Owing to a pressure of other contributions the balance of the Hinckley material is, of necessity, postponed to the October REGISTER, in which it is hoped to print the Sealls and Tilden data.—EDITOR.]

P A I N E

[In addition to the foregoing material received from Miss French, the Committee presents the following data in relation to the ancestry of Moses Paine.]

Among the emigrants from co. Kent, England, who came to New England with the company in The Castle in 1638, was Moses Paine (with his children Elizabeth, Moses, and Stephen), whose forebears had long resided in Frittenden and vicinity, among them Stephen Payne of Frittenden, supervisor of the will of Thomas Igylden in 1497. (See above, p. 175.)

The emigrant's first marriage appears in the Marriage Licenses of Canterbury: Moses Paine of Frittenden and Mar. Benison of Tenterden, virgin. At Tenterden. Hope Tilden of Sandwich, "grosser," bondsman. Dated Oct. 12, 1615.

This Hope Tilden was the Hopestill Tilden, brother of Nathaniel Tilden the emigrant to New England, whose will is to appear in a future number of the REGISTER. A few years after his marriage Moses Paine appears in Tenterden, where the registers give the following records of some of his children and his second wife:

1620 Elizabeth Paine ye daughter of Moses Paine was baptized ye 23 of Julye.

1623 Moses Payne son of Moses Payne baptized November [day missing.]

1632 Elizabeth wife of Moses Payne was buried the 11th October.

The following entries from the parish registers of Frittenden give data in regard to the parents and brothers and sisters of Moses Paine:

PROCEEDINGS OF THE NEW ENGLAND HISTORIC GENEALOGICAL SOCIETY

By JOHN ALBREE, Recording Secretary

Boston, Massachusetts, 1 March, 1911. A stated meeting of the New England Historic Genealogical Society was held at Pilgrim Hall, 14 Beacon Street, at 2.30 P.M., President Baxter presiding.

The records of the February meeting were read and approved.

The reports of the Corresponding Secretary, Librarian, and Historian were accepted.

Upon acceptance of a report of the Council, on motion of Charles F. Read, it was Voted, That the President of the Society be authorized to appoint a member of the Society as one of a Standing Committee, to be composed of delegates from historical, patriotic and allied societies, to represent these societies in the matter of the change of the names of historic sites, streets or buildings in Massachusetts.

The President appointed John Albree.

One honorary member and eleven resident members were elected by ballot.

Robert Lincoln O'Brien, editor of the Boston Herald, delivered an address on Southern Battlefields To-day, in which he told of recent visits to the famous places of the Civil War, from Harper's Ferry to Appomattox, using slides made under his direction for purposes of illustration.

On motion of Colonel Francis Hesselstine a vote of thanks was given to the speaker.

After remarks by Hon. Henry Nichols Blake, late Chief Justice of Montana, and by Archibald M. Howe, it was voted at 3.55 P.M. to dissolve, after which refreshments were served.

5 April, 1911. A stated meeting of the New England Historic Genealogical Society was held at Pilgrim Hall, 14 Beacon Street, at 2.30 P.M., Vice-President Cunningham presiding.

The records of the March meeting were read and approved.

The reports of the Librarian, Corresponding Secretary, Historian, and Council were read and accepted.

It was voted to accept the recommendation of the Council, that the election of members be by printed ballots.

Henry Edwards Scott and Walter Kendall Watkins were appointed tellers, and reported the unanimous election of thirteen resident members.

The paper of the afternoon was by Hon. John Adams Aiken, Chief Justice of the Superior Court of Massachusetts, on The Mohawk Trail in Massachusetts, in which he told how he followed this old Indian trail from Williamstown to Deerfield and identified the landmarks.

On motion of Charles S. Rackemann, the thanks of the Society were voted to the speaker.

After a report by Vice-President Cunningham as to the progress of the fund for a new building and the need of general, interested work on its behalf by members of the Society, it was voted at 3.45 to dissolve the meeting. Refreshments were then served.

NOTES

It having come to the attention of this Society that certain genealogists and publishers have used the name of the Society in connection with their own enterprises, the Society again desires to state that it has NO genealogical representatives in this country or in England, nor is it in any way connected with any publications other than those that it issues over its own name at 18 Somerset Street, Boston.

The Committee on English Research desires to state, however, that although the Society has no official representative in England the Committee is employing Miss French as a record searcher there along special lines for the benefit of the REGISTER.

WHITNEY, A CORRECTION.—In the REGISTER of 1871 (vol. 25, pp. 188 and 189), "vi. Lt.-Col. Daniel Whitney," and "vii. Maj. Daniel Whitney," the name should be, I am sure, Daniel Whiting. See "Mass. Soldiers and Sailors of the Revolutionary War," vol. 17, pp. 166-7.

OLIVER A. ROBERTS.

Masonic Temple, Boston.

MEADE.—In the Register of Derry Cathedral, recently published by the Parish Record Society of Dublin, vol. 8, p. 214, is this entry: "Richard Meade, a stranger out of New England, buried 16th [December 1672]." This is, probably, the Richard Meade, son of Richard of Roxbury, Mass., of whom Savage (vol. 3, p. 191) says: "a mariner, wh. d. bef. 15 Feb. 1679, when the f. took admin. on the est. but that s. was, I think, not b. at R." (Ex. inform. Charles K. Bolton.)

THE EDITOR.

SCAMMON, ATKINS.—The Scammon genealogy states that the first known of Humphrey Scammon was the birth of his son Humphrey at Kittery, 1677, during the Indian war; but before the war, 7 May 1674, Humphrey Scammon, no addition or residence given, bought land in Wells from Nathaniel Fryer of Great Island. The will of Mrs. Elizabeth Saffyn, widow of Mr. Peter Lidgett of Boston, dated 14 Apr. 1682, gives her brother John Scammond £20; brother Richard Scammond £20; sister Anne Waldron £20; cousin Elizabeth Attkins, my brother John Scammond's daughter, £40; cousin Jeane Scammond, daughter of my brother Richard Scammond, £60; cousin Hannah Gerrish £5. As brother John was first named he was presumably the eldest, and my theory is that Humphrey was his son, born 1640, his sister Elizabeth being remembered by her aunt in Boston as her namesake. This Elizabeth Atkins I surmise may have been the wife of Thomas Atkins at the mouth of the Kennebec, who left ten daughters and no sons, among them Elizabeth, who married — Davis; Anne, who married Samuel Clark of Marblehead; Sarah, who married Samuel Gurney of Little Compton; Susannah, who married — Green; Hester, who married George Pike of Mendon; Rachel, who married James Berry of Boston; Abigail, who married Thomas Washburn of Bridgewater; and Ruth, who married John Haskins of Scituate. My conjecture is that John Scammon and his family may have lived in remote parts, and came out to the older settlements when they foresaw trouble with the Indians. It seems hardly possible that so active a man as the first Humphrey Scammon could have lived about Portsmouth until 34 years old before getting his name into any record. Can anything be added or detracted from the foregoing? •

ROBIE.—The REGISTER, vol. 60, p. 92, gives extracts from the journal of Dr. Ebenezer Robie during his visit to England in 1726, including a copy of the records in a Robie family Bible which he found among the relatives in Yorkshire. Three of the family were marked "went to N. E.," namely: Henry, born 12 Feb. 1618; Samuel, born 12 Feb. 1628; and William, born 26 Apr. 1648. The first two were brothers, their father being Thomas, and their brother Thomas was the father of William who was the father of Dr. Ebenezer. Savage saw this journal, but conjectured that Samuel might have lost his life in the English wars before getting away for New England. On the contrary, Samuel Robie lived perhaps thirty years in the vicinity of his brother in New Hampshire (the one at Hampton, the other at New Castle), married a sister of the distinguished councillor and military man, Col. Shadrach Walton, and left probably three children. The reason why Savage missed him, doubtless, was that he lived in the city instead of in the country, on Great Island, the Boston of New Hampshire, afterwards New Castle, the city of shops and rented houses, politicians and high life, fort soldiers and taverns, but without the saving puritanism of Boston.

The few mentions of Samuel Robie which Savage failed to observe are as follows:

1665, July, petition signed by Sam Robie; his name preceded by George Walton and followed by Edward West, who also married a daughter of Walton.

1677. The minister's rates for Great Island show Sam Robie taxed at 6 shillings, followed seriatim by Ed Cater, Jno. Clark, Geo. Walton, Sen., "for the town," George Walton, Jr.

1678, March 22, an apportionment of the inhabitants among the tythingmen named consecutively: George Walton, Sen., Jno. Menseene, Sam Robie, Wid. Joanes.

1682, May 30. Mr. Roby concerned in a law suit between George Walton and Henry Crown.

1682, Aug. In the trial of Goody Jones for stoning George Walton by witchcraft, among the witnesses were "John Shaw, servant of Samuel Roby," Thomas Roby who was working on George Walton's boat, Walton Roby, Samuel Walton and Elizabeth Treworthy.

1686. In the will of George Walton, Sen., he gave forty acres of land to Thomas Roby, Walton Roby, and Elizabeth Treworthy.

Another grandchild, doubtless, was Mary Roby, who was married at Portsmouth, 13 Aug. 1683, to William Tetherly; administered on his estate, 1693; and was married again to John Lydston. She bore children: Mary, 8 May 1684; William, 3 Nov. 1685; Samuel, 26 Feb. 1686-7; Elizabeth, 20 July 1689; and others as late as about 1701, or possibly much later, as her younger Lydston children were not recorded. This is inconsistent with her being Samuel Roby's widow, but quite consistent with her being sister to Thomas Roby who was working on George Walton's boat in 1682. The fact that she was not mentioned in her grandfather's will is without significance. There were no small bequests in his will; he gave everything to his wife, except certain lands to his chosen heir, Shadrach, afterwards colonel, and to some unprotected grandchildren. This Mary Roby could not have been Henry Roby's daughter Mary, as she was married at Hampton, 22 Dec. 1663, to Samuel Folsom; and the nephew, William Roby, was not old enough to be her father.

That this William Roby came first to New Castle, before settling in Boston, is shown by his deposition, 21 July, 1679, aged 30, to the effect that being desired by George Walton to take account and value the goods that were in the shop that his daughter Taprielle kept, etc. Also by his serving as an appraiser with his uncle Henry Roby on the estate of another of George Walton's daughters, Martha West. Still another Walton-Roby incident was the conveyance of a house and land by George Walton to Henry Roby, 1662.

Incidentally speaking, it should have been noticed long since that Henry Roby's wife Ruth, who died at Hampton 5 May 1673, was the daughter of William Moore of Exeter and Ipswich, mentioned in his will, 14 Aug. 1660, and sister of Capt. William Moore of Exeter. The father and son Moore are made one in Bell's History of Exeter.

GEORGE WALTER CHAMBERLAIN.

TREADWAY, HAYNES, HOWE.—That Nathaniel Treadway's wife, Sufferana, was the daughter of Walter<sup>1</sup> Haynes of Sudbury, and not of Elder Edward Howe of Watertown, as stated in 1860 by both Savage and Bond, is the inevitable conclusion from a study of the case in its various aspects.

Mrs. Alice Haynes of Semley, Wilts, in her will dated 2 March 1620-1, mentioned her son Walter Haynes, his son Thomas and daughter Elizabeth, and Sufferaine and Marie Haynes, her granddaughters (REGISTER, vol. 39, pp. 263-4).

Walter Haynes with his wife Elizabeth, sons Thomas, John, and Josias (under 16), and daughters Suffranc and Mary, came in the Confidence in 1638 (Drake's Founders of New England, p. 57).

Both Walter<sup>1</sup> Haynes and Nathaniel<sup>1</sup> Treadway had settled in Sudbury by 1639, as they are found in the list of "1638 or 1639" given by Hudson (History of Sudbury, p. 26). That they were, comparatively, near neighbors is seen by the map of the early settlement (Ibid, p. 76).

The next definite fact regarding Sufferana<sup>3</sup> Haynes is found in the will of Walter<sup>1</sup> Haynes, dated 25 May 1659, "signed again by mee" 4 March 1663-4, and proved 4 April 1665, who mentions his wife Elizabeth, his four children now in New England, John Haynes, Josiah Haynes, Suffrany [or Suffrans] Treddoway, and Mary Noyes; also his son-in-law Thomas Noyes, son-in-law Roger Gourd and daughter Gourd in England, and "lands in Sudbury which were sometime owned by my son Thomas Haynes" (Middlesex Co. Probate, No. 10939).

Thomas Noyes of Sudbury, by his will made 20 August 1664 and proved 2 April 1667, left "twenty shillings apiece unto ye two eldest daughters of brother Tredaway." To each of his three sisters he left twenty shillings, and, except two other small legacies, all the rest of his estate, real and personal, to his wife Mary. Overseers: Mr. Joseph Noyes and Josiah Haynes. Witnesses: Joseph Noyes, Mary Treadway, Thomas Battelle, Ralph Day. (Middlesex Co. Probate, No. 16084.)

Savage tells us that Sufferana<sup>2</sup> Haynes married Josiah Treadway of Sudbury. Hudson repeats this statement, changing the residence to Watertown and adding that in the will of Walter Haynes his daughter Sufferance is mentioned "as being the wife of Josiah Treadway" (History of Sudbury, p. 33). This statement, however, is erroneous, for the given name of Sufferana's husband does not appear in connection with her father's will nor the probate of his estate; nor does Thomas Noyes mention it. Mary Noyes, widow of Thomas, married secondly Michael Bacon of Woburn, 28 November 1670 (Woburn Marriages, p. 14). He died 4 July 1683, and she died at Sudbury 1 March 1697-8. Her estate was not, apparently, settled by the probate court of the county, but she disposed of some, at least, of her real estate by deeds in 1669, 1670, 1696, and 1697. Neither John<sup>2</sup> Haynes nor Josiah<sup>2</sup> Haynes left any legacy to their sister Sufferana or any of her family.

A somewhat extended search, including probate, land, and court records of Middlesex and Suffolk counties, the printed records of the Colony, the lists of early emigrants, Pope's Pioneers, and the lists of early proprietors printed in the histories of Sudbury and Watertown, fails to reveal any evidence of a Josiah Treadway in the Colony until the birth in 1650 of Josiah<sup>2</sup> (Nathaniel<sup>1</sup>).

Nathaniel Treadway was married by 1639 or the early part of 1640, for his first child, Jonathan, was born at Sudbury 11 November 1640. Mary, daughter of Nathaniel and Suffrany Treadway, was born at Sudbury 1 August 1642. Their daughter Elizabeth was born at Watertown 3d of the 2d mo. 1646, and Deborah, 2d of the 6th mo. 1657. The other children, James, Lydia, and Josiah, mentioned in their father's will, were not recorded. Nathaniel Treadway died at Watertown 20 July 1689, and Sufferana his wife died there 22 July 1682.

A comparison of the Christian names of Nathaniel Treadway's children with those of the Haynes family is highly suggestive. Sufferana Haynes's mother was Elizabeth. She had sisters Elizabeth and Mary, and a brother Josiah. The latter named a daughter Deborah, and John<sup>2</sup> Haynes named a son James.

Nathaniel Treadway of Watertown, with John Haynes, Josiah Haynes, and Thomas Noyes, all of Sudbury, purchased a tract of 3200 acres of land at "Quansicamug" Pond in 1664 and 1665 (Middlesex Co. Deeds, vols. 3, p. 69, and 7, p. 194; Mass. Bay Records, vol. 4, pt. 2, p. 293; Hudson's Sudbury, p. 163).

From the foregoing it is seen that Sufferana Haynes was of the right age; that she married a man named Treadway; that she had more than two daughters by 1664; that Nathaniel Treadway lived near her in Sudbury; that he was married to a Sufferana not long after her arrival from England; that his children's names are, with two exceptions, found also in the Haynes family; that he had gained the confidence of her brothers and brother-in-law to a degree which led to their business association twenty years after his removal from Sudbury; and that there must have been visiting between the families, as his eldest daughter was a witness to Thomas Noyes's will.

When it is also considered that not only can there be found no Josiah Treadway, but no other in the Colony of the name except Nathaniel Treadway, until Nathaniel's sons were born, it seems almost superfluous to consider the Howe statement at all.

Elder Edward Howe of Watertown made his will 13 June 1644, giving to Nathaniel Treadway about thirteen acres of land, an equal interest with Mrs. Margaret Howe ye "Anne Stonne ye wife of John Stonne of Sudbury" in the wiers and in money due from Mr. Thomas Mayhew, and, after his wife Margaret's death, whatever estate, real or personal, might be left, except that "Anne Stonne shall haue one third part of all the Cattle" (Suffolk Co. Probate, vol. 1, p. 81; REGISTER, vol. 8, p. 77).

Widow Margaret How of Watertown made her will "The eight of the Second 1647." It was proved 18 December 1660, before which time she had become

Mrs. George Bunker. She gave one half of her whole estate to Nathaniel Treadway, one third to John Stone, and one sixth to her sister Mary Rogers, widow, and her children John and Elizabeth Rogers in England, if living at time of her decease, otherwise this sixth to be divided by Treadway and Stone, three fifths to the former and two fifths to Stone. (Middlesex Co. Probate, No. 12074.)

In neither of these wills is Nathaniel Treadway called son or son-in-law, while Sufferana is not even alluded to in either; nor is Ann Stone's relationship to either Howe expressed. Several deeds are recorded in which some of the land received by Nathaniel Treadway under Howe's will was disposed of. It is described as "land which Sometime was Elder Howe's," "land commonly Called by ye name of Hows field," and "land originally granted to Elder How of Watertown." On 4 July 1728, Josiah Treadway of Charlestown sold "all my right . . . in Common or undivided lands in the Township of Watertown . . . that is to Say the right of M<sup>r</sup> Edward How formerly of said Town given by him (with his other Estate) in his last will . . . to my father Nathaniel Treadway and by him conveyed to me" (Middlesex Co. Deeds, vol. 29, p. 102).

Whether Nathaniel Treadway and Ann Stone were brother and sister and Edward Howe was their uncle, or the kinship was more remote, or they were his wards, may later be settled, but at present it is matter for speculation only.

MISS ELLA F. ELLIOT.

In vol. 16 of the Middlesex Co. Deeds are three deeds filed on the same date, 8 June 1713, and following each other in the book. The first (p. 311): "John Page of Groton, Middlesex Co. husbandman do give to my loving son Samuel Page of Groton . . . a five acre right lying . . . in Groton . . . first for his houselot fifteen acres bounding Southerly on the land of John Longley, Northerly upon my own land, easterly upon the Country Highway, Westerly upon the Town Comon. Nextly five acres lying upon ye River, bounded upon ye river Westerly, Southwardly by the land of Samuel Davis, Northwardly and Eastwardly by my own land, and Thirdly Three acres of Intervale lying upon the West side of the river bounding by the land of Deacon Lawrences, Southward and Northward by my own land Westward by the Town Comon eastward by the river. . . [other places mentioned] . . . and I the said Samuel Page do receive this the above written as my full portion given me by my honored Father and . . . bind myself . . . not to molest the abovesaid John Page . . . for any more of his estate without the s'd John Page my honored father sees just cause for to give it to me by Will or Deed," etc. Signed by John Page, Sr., and Samuel Page, 13 Jan. 1693.

Second deed (p. 311): Samuel Page of South Carolina, formerly of Groton, Mass., and Nathaniel Lawrence of Charlestown, sell to Stephen Holden of Groton land in Groton, 5 June 1713.

Third deed (p. 312): "Samuel Page Senr of South Carolina . . . for and in consequence of £38 8s. paid by Joseph Sanderson of Groton" . . . sells to him "a five acre right lying and being in Groton as followeth, First the houselot of fifteen poles wide, the whole length of the Lott, bounded Southerly upon land of John Longley, Northerly on land of John Page, easterly on the country Highway, Westerly the town Comon . . . also five acres . . . bounded W . . . upon the river, S . . . by land of Samuel Davis, N . . . and E . . . by lands of John Page" [etc., for all other places mentioned in the first deed]. Signed by Samuel Page 30 Apr. 1713.

This Samuel Page married first a daughter of Nathaniel Lawrence, probably Sarah Lawrence who deceased before her father, as in his will in 1718 he leaves a bequest to son Samuel Page (Lawrence Genealogy, vol. 17, p. 18). By the wording of the will of Samuel Page I should judge the following children belonged to her: Samuel, born 1692, John, Joseph, Jonathan, William, Nathaniel, and David, and perhaps the daughter Sarah. On his return from South Carolina he settled at Lunenburg, but entered the births of two children on the Groton records, viz. Elizabeth and Daniel. On the Lunenburg records he entered these children with the rest of his family, and at this time he had a wife Martha. Children on record: Elizabeth, born 23 Mar. 1719; Zachariah, born 10 Apr. 1721, died 1731; Daniel, born 10 Aug. 1722; Martha, born 31 May 1725, died 1728; Benjamin, born 12 Oct. 1727; Thomas, born 6 Sept. 1730. In 1740 the death of John Page, son of Mr. Samuel Page, at Jamaica is recorded "Being there on ye Spanish expedition." His wife Martha died in 1746, and he married thirdly, 9 July 1747, Sarah Parce of Leominster. He died on 7 Sept. 1747. His will (Worcester Co. Probate, vol. 2, p. 655), proved 3 Nov. 1747, is peculiar in the order of the naming of the children. It would seem that the children by the first wife had already received property from him, because he starts with specific bequests to the sons of Martha, mentioning first "son Daniel, son Thomas," his daughters "Heirs of dau. Sarah Farnsworth dec'd," "dau. Elizabeth Parker," then "goldheaded came to son Samuel Page," and "all the residue to be divided between my sons Samuel Page, Joseph Page, William Page, Nathaniel Page, and David Page," with reservations for wife Sarah. Sons Jonathan and Nathaniel Page, executors.

All the sons, with the exception of Samuel Jr., settled with the father at Lunenburg. Samuel Page, Jr., returned to Charlestown, and married, 20 May 1719, Susanna Page. He lived there for some years, but settled finally at Medford. He died in 1749, and his age at death makes him born in 1692, so that he must have been the eldest son. In his will he mentions, besides his family, his property at Medford, Charlestown, and Lunenburg. It would seem probable from this data that Samuel Page, Sr.'s first wife, Sarah Lawrence, died in South Carolina, and that he married his second wife there.

Pearson v. Kirbye. May 1667. Orator Henry Pearson of Southampton in Longe Island, an Ancient. Whereas about May 1659, before your Orator went out of this Realme, your Orator lent to John Brimley of Olney, Bucks, £21 on security of three acres of land in Olney. Brimley neglected to repay the principal & interest & died in the Orators debt. Your Orator before his departure by letter of attorney appointed Edward Fuller of Olney, William Geynes of Olney, Mercer, Thomas Constable of the same, all now deceased, to recover his debts. Daniel Howes, in right of his wife Jane, has sold the lands to Jo Kirby of Olney, Haberdasher. Object of this suit is to obtain principal & interest.

The answer of John Kirby is that he purchased the lands about eight or nine years ago free from mortgage. Sworn at Olney 7 Nov. 1664. (Chancery Proceedings before 1714. C 22: 113.)

Neale v. Gibbs. 12 June 14 Charles I [1638]. Subject & servant Walter Neale of London, esq. Whereas about seven or eight years ago your Subject was employed in New England as commander of a Collonie there. One John Gibbs, master of a ship, came to the said Plantacon and intreated your subject to receive some small p'cell of goods & brought the Surgeon of the Plantacon to testefie the want of such commodities, your Subject replied that if he would leave his goods there he might, but your Subject would not become his Paymaster for that the said Gibbs must expect his money in England from the Company in London. About a year ago Gibbs came & said he had not received the money for the goods left in New England. Gibbs has commenced a suit against your Subject contrary to all equity, pretending your Subject promised him payment. A writ is asked for against John Gibbs, Sir Ferdinando Georges knt, John Mason esq, John Cotton, George Griffiths, Wm Cotton, Richard Pulford, Thomas Wannerton, Henry Gardiner, & Thomas Eyre. #### HISTORICAL INTELLIGENCE

GRAZEBROOK-SEWALL.—An interesting feature shown in Mr. George Grazebrook's Pedigree of the Family of Grazebrook, omitted from the book notices (p. 194), is the male descent of the ancestors of Margaret Grazebrook, the mother of the Henry Sewall, born in April 1576, emigrated to New England and died in 1657, three of whose descendants became chief justices of Massachusetts.

ANNE HUTCHINSON MEMORIAL.—A bronze tablet to the memory of Mrs. Anne Hutchinson has been erected at Split Rock by the Colonial Dames of the State of New York. Money will be needed for grading, sodding, shrubbery, paths, railing, etc., and subscriptions for these purposes may be sent to J. Edward Weld, 55 East 59th Street, New York City.

LEE FAMILY IN ENGLAND.—Eugene F. McPike, 1 Park Row, Chicago, reports that considerable information concerning the early history of the Lee family in England has already been collected by Ralph J. Beavor, M.A., (Trinity Collge, Cambridge), of "Langley," Lemsford Road, St. Albans, England. Mr. Beavor is also interested in the genealogy of other families, including Hare, Halley, Hawley, Parry, Pike, Pyke, Stuart, etc., and might, perhaps, be willing to open communication with serious investigators, who should enclose response-coupon.

EUGENICS AND GENEALOGY.—The attention of all genealogists is called to the recent establishment of the Eugenics Record Office at Cold Spring Harbor, Long Island, N. Y., by the Eugenics Section of the American Breeders' Association. This office has for its object the study of the inheritance of mental and physical traits in the human family, and while the data required is largely of a biological nature it is believed that there is a close connection between its work and that of the genealogies, and co-operation is sincerely offered and earnestly solicited. It is hoped that it may be possible to establish a reference library of current genealogies which will be of great value in connecting links and in verifying and extending pedigrees, and any contributions to such a library will be gratefully received. The office also solicits correspondence and collaboration, and cordially invites any who are interested to pay a personal visit to it and learn further of the work. Address C. B. Davenport, Secretary.

VERMONT VITAL RECORDS ACT.—The following act was introduced by Senator Darling at the last session of the Vermont legislature, and took effect upon its passage:

An Act Requiring Town Clerks to Transmit Birth, Marriage and Death Records, Not Previously Returned, to Secretary of State.

It is hereby enacted by the General Assembly of the State of Vermont:

Section 1. As soon as practicable after the passage of this act the secretary of state shall ascertain from what towns and for what years returns of births, marriages and deaths have not been made to the state, or are not to be found among the archives of his office, and shall convey this information to the clerks of such towns, together with suitable blanks upon which to make returns.

Sec. 2. It shall be the duty of such town clerks to transcribe in full upon said blanks all records of births, marriages and deaths in the possession of the town, and churches, not already returned, and to transmit the same, properly certified, to the secretary of state within such reasonable time as may be allowed by him, but not later than October 1, 1911, and for such service the town clerk shall receive from the town the sum of five cents for each record so transcribed, certified and transmitted.

Sec. 3. All records returned, under this act, to the secretary of state shall be so filed and indexed as to be made readily available for reference, and when required for any legal purpose, the secretary, of state shall furnish a certified copy, under his seal, free of all expense.

Sec. 4. This act shall take effect upon its passage.

Leighton P. Slack, President of the Senate.

Frank E. Howe, Speaker of the House of Representatives.

Approved December 14, 1910.

SALVAGE FROM THE FIRE IN THE NEW YORK STATE LIBRARY, ALBANY

Books.

From the 450,000 printed books which were destroyed with the New York State Library in the fire of March 29, there were saved no more than 10,000 volumes. About one-third of this salvage was from the general reading and reference room and comprised the standard cyclopedias and sets, partial or complete, of the more important general periodicals. The other two-thirds of the salvage was from the collections on local history and genealogy. Exclusive of general works on United States history, regimental histories, church histories and manuals, the collections in local history and genealogy comprised about 15,000 volumes—7000 genealogies, 8000 state, town and county histories. Perhaps one-third of these were saved—4000 volumes of the local history and 1000 individual genealogies. The loss in the latter subject was complete in the department of vital records, church registers, heraldry, and genealogical periodicals. The local history saved consisted principally of material relating to New York, New Jersey and Pennsylvania. Most of the books on Connecticut, Massachusetts, and all of Rhode Island were totally destroyed. It is probable that when the final counting is made the salvage in this department will be rather less than indicated by the above figures, for many of the books counted with the salvage will prove to be so badly burned, or odd volumes of sets, that it will be either impossible or unwise to rebind them.

The salvage is being rapidly catalogued. This will have been finished by June 1. At that time active efforts will be begun to rebuild the collections. To this end, the Library will be glad to have the help of all who are interested in these subjects, and gifts will be welcomed from every direction. As the salvage is so considerable, it will be well to ascertain first from the Library whether contemplated gifts are needed. Lists of books sent to the New York State Library, 162 State St., Albany, N. Y., will be examined with care and promptness. It is to families, or publishers of genealogies and items of local history, that the Library gratefully acknowledges so much help in making its collection pre-eminent in the past, and because of this assistance it looks to the same sources with confidence for material help in its restoration.

Manuscripts

N. Y. COL. MSS., 1638-1800. 103 v. About 70 v. saved, in fairly good state of preservation.

V. 1-19 and 23 are in Dutch, and the rest in English. Of the Dutch mss. all but the first volume (containing contracts, leases, wills, powers of attorney, etc.), 1638-41, have been saved. Of the English mss. the lost volumes relate largely to the administrations of colonial governors during the periods 1685-87, 1700, 1702-4, 1721-41, 1762-69, 1771-2, and to the boundary dispute between New York and Massachusetts, 1785-1800.

LAND PATENTS, GG and HH, 1630-64. Both volumes saved.

GENERAL ENTRIES AND (EXECUTIVE) ORDERS, LETTERS, WARRANTS, ETC., 1664-1712. 10 v. Nearly all lost.

COURT OF ASSIZES, 1668-72. 1 v. Fragment saved.

COUNCIL MINUTES, 1668-1788. 28 v. Saved about 20 v.; some badly burned.

SIR WM. JOHNSON MSS., 1738-1808. 26 v. Saved 4 v. in good state of preservation and fragments of a few others.

GEORGE CLINTON PAPERS, 1765-1840. 52 v. Saved about 10 v. in good condition and fragments of a few others.

D. D. TOMPKINS PAPERS, 1795-1845. 36 v. Saved portions of 10 or more volumes, some in fair condition, others badly burned.

ASSEMBLY PAPERS, 1777-1830. 44 v. Saved about 20 volumes, many in excellent condition.

LEGISLATIVE PAPERS (SENATE), 1777-1803. 18 v. Saved parts of 5 volumes in fairly good condition.

LEGISLATIVE FILES (UNBOUND PAPERS OF SENATE AND ASSEMBLY), 1777-1910. About 100,000 papers. Saved about 2000 papers, nearly all badly burned.

STATE CENSUS RETURNS, 1801, 1807, 1814, 1821, 1845-1905. About 700 v. Saved fragments of 1801, 1814 and 1821.

MARRIAGE BONDS, 1786-88. 41 v. Saved about 12 volumes, all badly burned.

MINUTES OF THE PROVINCIAL CONGRESS, ETC., 1775-78. Original drafts, 6 v.; engrossed minutes, 10 v.; saved fragments of volumes of both sets in badly burned condition.

CORRESPONDENCE OF THE PROVINCIAL CONGRESS, entitled "REVOLUTIONARY PAPERS," 1755-77. 12 v. Saved portions of some volumes in fairly good condition.

PAPERS LAID BEFORE THE PROVINCIAL CONGRESS, 1775-78. 16 v. Saved fragments of some volumes, most of them badly burned.

MSS. OF THE COLONY AND STATE OF NEW YORK, RELATING TO THE REVOLUTIONARY WAR, 1775-1800. 52 v. in 55. Saved the contents of some 20 volumes in good condition.

TREASURER'S CERTIFICATES, for service in the N. Y. levies and militia during the Revolutionary War, 1776-83. 10 v. All saved, but one corner of volumes destroyed.

FILES OF THE COUNCIL OF APPOINTMENT, 1777-1821. About 10,000 papers, unbound. Saved about 300 to 400 in good condition.

RECORDS OF THE WAR OF 1812. 25 v. (unbound). All saved.

STEVENS PAPERS. 1750-1850. About 250 v. Saved about 60 v., many in very good condition, others partly burned.

ELECTION RETURNS, 1777-1905. 10,000 papers, unbound. Fragments of 300 to 400 papers saved.

RENSSELAERSWYCK MSS., 1634-1870. About 200 account books, 1000 Dutch letters, 3000 leases, 500 maps and surveys, and 25,000 miscellaneous papers. Saved nearly all the early Dutch account books, a court record, 1648-52, the letter book of Jeremias van Rensselaer, 1661-74, a few letters, and about 1000 leases.

In addition to the above-mentioned records there were saved the charter of the colony, 1664, the Duke's laws, the Dongan laws, the Constitutions of the State, 1777, 1821, 1846, 1867 and 1894, the André papers, the Washington relics, the collection of autographs of the Signers of the Declaration of Independence, the Dongan patent to the manor of Rensselaerswyck, and about 20 commissions from colonial governors to members of the Van Rensselaer family—all of which were not in the archives room, but in a safe in the room of the Commissioner of Education on the first floor of the Capitol, which was not exposed to the fire.

GENEALOGIES IN PREPARATION.—Persons of the several names are advised to furnish the compilers of these genealogies with records of their own families and other information which they think may be useful. We would suggest that all facts of interest illustrating family history or character be communicated, especially service under the U. S. Government, the holding of other offices, graduation from college or professional schools, occupation, with places and dates of birth, marriage, residence, and death. All names should be given in full if possible. No initials should be used when the full name is known.

WILLIAM CARVER BATES

By CHARLES SIDNEY ENSIGN, LL.B., of Newton, Mass.

WILLIAM CARVER' BATES was born in Hanover, Mass., May 25, 1838, and died in Newton, November 6, 1910. His father was Rufus,' who married Huldah Keith. The paternal line is Gamaliel,' Clement,' Joseph,' James,' and Clement' Bate of Hingham, 1635, descended from John Bate of Lydd, co. Kent, England, who died there in 1522, and also from Robert Carver of Marshfield, 1638.

His maternal ancestry was from Experience Mitchell of Plymouth, 1623, and Bridgewater, and Rev. James Keith, who came in 1660 and in 1665 was the first minister settled in Bridgewater, and Col. Edward and Major Thomas Mitchell. Experience Mitchell came to Plymouth in the Anne in 1623, and was undoubtedly the son of Thomas, an original member of the Separatist Church in London, which removed to Amsterdam and settled there before the Pilgrims went to Holland. This Thomas Mitchell was born about 1566. His first wife, Maria ———, died before May 9, 1606, and he then married Margaret (Williams) Dickens at Amsterdam, May 9, 1606. She was the widow of Christopher Dickens, also a member of the London Separatist Church, and who also went to Amsterdam. Various searchers of the Amsterdam records have read this name Digchin, Diggins, Thickens, Uochin, Urchin.* Mr. Bates was also descended from Richard Warren, Francis Cook, and Gov. William Bradford, who came in the Mayflower in 1620.

He was educated in the district school of Hanover, and at the age of twelve entered its academy, where he remained until the autumn of 1854. Fond of biography, history, and travels, and a keen observer, he was regarded in after life as a well educated man.

His business life commenced in the store and family of John C. Calif of Gloucester, where he remained two years. On January 1, 1857, he became a clerk in the dry goods house of Houghton, Sawyer & Company of Boston.

* See Dexter's "English Exiles in Amsterdam" in 2 Proceedings Massachusetts Hist. Soc., vol. 6, pp. 41-64; Dexter's England and Holland of the Pilgrims; Dexter's Congregationalism as seen in its Literature; and Russell's Pilgrim Memorials, 1860, pp. 223-324.

At the beginning of the Civil War he enlisted, April 9, 1861, in Co. G from Concord of the Fifth Regiment, M. V. M., under Capt. George H. Prescott. Captured in the first battle of Bull Run, July 26, 1861, he was confined in the prisons of Libby and Richmond, Va., for two months, New Orleans, La., four months, and Salisbury, N. C., four months—in all ten months.

Retiring from service, he married in Hanover, April 14, 1863, his schoolmate Emma Barstow, of good ancestry, born in Scituate June 15, 1837. Their children were three boys, named Rufus Carver, William Haviland, and Wilfred Barstow, and three girls, of whom the last survive, and are actively engaged in educational work in New York City.

Soon after his marriage Mr. Bates became a member of the firm of Holmes, Bates and Nichols, commission merchants in Boston, who transacted a large business in the British Provinces, the West Indies, and South America. During his mercantile career he travelled in the British North American Provinces, the British West Indies, the northern coast of South America, British Guiana, Venezuela, Honduras, the Bahamas, and Bermuda.

Having retired from mercantile business, after serving as commissioner at the New Orleans Exposition in 1884, he entered into the service of the Mutual Life Insurance Company of New York, in which he remained until his death.

In 1866 the family removed to Newton, and became identified with its civic and church life. Connected with Grace Episcopal Church, he faithfully served its corporation and church in various capacities, and at his death was the oldest member of the corporation, having been elected April 13, 1868.

Mr. Bates was very active in the erection in 1876 of the Eliot Terrace at Nonantum (Newton), in commemoration of the locality where John Eliot preached the gospel to Waban and his tribe of Indians, October 28, 1646, and the founding and donation to the city of the "Eliot Fund" of three hundred dollars, the income from which is expended annually in prize essays on historical subjects written by pupils of the Newton public schools. He was elected a member of the Newton Common Council in 1889 and 1890. At the celebration of Newton's Centennial, June 17, 1876, he presented a portrait of Col. Joseph Ward of Revolutionary fame to the city with an historical address.

He was connected with many clubs, societies, and associations of prominence, among which were The Young Men's Christian Union (life member); Boston Mycological Club (charter member and vice-president); Boston Chess Club (a director); Charles Ward Post, No. 62, G. A. R., Newton; Massachusetts Association of the Prisoners of War; Hunniwell Club, Newton; Tuesday Club, Newton, before which he read some seventy-three papers; Newton Natural History Society (charter member and treasurer); and the old Bridgewater Historical Society (life member).

Mr. Bates was frequently called upon for lectures and addresses before private and public organizations, among which was that at the Hanover Academy in 1858 on "The Outer and Inner Life"; "Return from Rebel Prisons," in 1863, in Hanover, Gloucester, and Abington; the historical address at the 150th anniversary of Hanover and dedication of the soldiers' monument, in 1876; Memorial Day address in Newton in 1876, and in Hanover in 1908; the presentation of the Eliot Memorial in 1876; the dedication of the Hanover Free Public Library in 1907, for which he had provided the Hanover Alumni Fund; the anniversary of the Boston Chess Club in 1907; and the Bostonian Society.

He edited a unique volume named "Stars and Stripes in Rebellion," consisting of compositions read at their meetings by his fellow-prisoners, and which upon his release were brought away under the cover of a canteen. Also the following monographs: "Rambles in the Tropics," "Venezuela and British Guiana," "Creole Folk-Lore," and "Mushrooms"; and memorials upon Col. Joseph Ward, 1737-1812, Gen. Adin Ballou Underwood, Benjamin Barstow Torrey, 1906, and Col. Francis Jewett Parker, 1909.

Mr. Bates became a member of the New England Historic Genealogical Society December 7, 1870, and continued such until December 31, 1885, but was elected a life member at the annual meeting in 1897. During his membership he had read papers at the Society's meetings, been a contributor to the REGISTER, and had prepared numerous memoirs. He was a member of the Committee on Papers and Essays from 1877 to 1885, inclusive, and from 1906 until his death, was elected a member of the Council for 1910-1911, and had rendered valuable services in bringing the Society more prominently before the public since its meetings in Pilgrim Hall. He served on various committees, including the special committees upon "The question of the circumstances attending the formation and execution of the plan of what is known as the Boston Tea Party," and "The location of the scion of the Old Elm" on Boston Common; also as historiographer pro tempore. As Chairman of the Committee on the Sale of Publications, in 1910, he rendered valuable services. Mr. Bates, accidentally finding some valuable papers belonging to the late Daniel Webster, delivered an address upon them before the Society in May, 1896, and in 1897 presented it with one of them. Among them was a copy of an answer to a request that Mr. Webster undertake a lawsuit upon a contingent fee. "I do not desire employment in professional matters although I do sometimes engage in them. But I never engage in contingencies merely, for that would make me a mere party to a lawsuit.—D. W."

Mr. Bates died, having spent a useful and fruitful life, leaving his widow and three daughters, Abby Barstow, Elizabeth Carver, and Sarah Loveland Bates, and the final tribute was paid him in the church he loved before a representative body.

The Society feels that it has lost in Mr. Bates an enthusiastic and useful supporter, for he was ready with practical suggestions, apt in Committee work, and never accepted failure.

* The village of Harrietsham lies next to Lenham, and seven miles southeast of Maidstone. It contains a very ancient church, the earliest part of which is said to date from 1150. The old font, in which doubtless the Hinckley children were baptized, still remains. Stedea Street, where one of John Hynckley's tenements was, is not a name known to the present inhabitants of Harrietsham, but it seems probable that it was in that part of the village where rises Stede Hill, at the foot of which nestles the church, and on the crest on which is Stede Court.

† The years 1564-9 are missing in the Registers and B. T.

there, 10 Feb. 1574-5, KATHERINE LEESE, widow. She may have been the widow of Thomas Leese of Throwley, who died in 1574. She died probably before 1605, as her husband does not mention her in his will.

Children by first wife, baptized at Harrietsham :

7. i. THOMAS, bapt. 28 Dec. 1562.
- ii. CLEMEN, bapt. 1570; not mentioned in her father's will.
8. iii. ISAAC, bapt. 8 Oct. 1571.

Children by second wife, baptized at Harrietsham :

- iv. STEPHEN, bapt. 2 Feb. 1575-6; bur. at Harrietsham 10 Apr. 1577.
9. v. STEPHEN, bapt. 15 Feb. 1578-9.
- vi. MARGARET, bapt. 30 Oct. 1580; bur. at Harrietsham 30 Apr. 1598.
- vii. ELIZABETH, bapt. 30 Sept. 1582; m. and had daughter Cicely, mentioned in her grandfather's will.
- viii. CATHERINE, b. probably abt. 1584-5; mentioned in her father's will.

- xi. JOHN, b. probably abt. 1591; mentioned as a minor in his father's will.

6. HENRY HINCKLEY, baptized at Harrietsham 21 June 1562, was buried there 26 Aug. 1638. No will or administration of his has been found. He married KATHERINE, who was buried at Harrietsham, where they lived, 11 Nov. 1634.

Children baptized at Harrietsham :

- i. RECHARDE, bapt. 3 Feb. 1588-9; m. — How; living in 1661-2.
- ii. SARA, bapt. 19 Oct. 1591.
- iii. JOHN, bapt. 26 Aug. 1593.
- iv. GEORGE, bapt. 24 May 1596; the testator of 1661-2; lived at Sandwich.
- v. SUSANNA, bapt. 5 July 1600; m. — ADAMS; living in 1661-2.

7. THOMAS HINCKLEY of Harrietsham and Ulcombe, yeoman, the testator of 1634, was baptized at Harrietsham 28 Dec. 1562, and died between 3 Dec. 1634 and 16 Jan. following. He married ANN —, who survived him and was executrix of his will. He lived at Harrietsham (where he was a churchwarden in 1609) until after 1617, but at the time of making his will he was of Ulcombe.

Children, baptized at Harrietsham :

- i. ANN, bapt. 21 Sept. 1606; m. —; she and her three children, Thomas, Edward, and Martha were living in 1634.
- ii. ROBERT, bapt. 2 June 1609, living in 1635.
- iii. EDWARD, bapt. 20 June 1613; living in 1634.
- iv. ELIZABETH, bapt. 20 Sept. 1617; living in 1634.

8. ISAAC HINCKLEY, baptized at Harrietsham 8 Oct. 1571, was buried there 26 July 1635. He married at Harrietsham, 11 June 1610, DOROTHY QUESTED of that place, who survived him and to whom administration on his estate was granted 28 Sept. 1636, her sons George Hinckley of Bromfield, husbandman, and James Hincly of Linstead, husbandman, being bound in the sum of £140 (twice the value of the personal estate). Isaac Hinckley's children were all baptized at Harrietsham, where he apparently lived until after 1628, but his burial record describes him as of Ulcombe. He was a churchwarden of Harrietsham in 1611.

Children, baptized at Harrietsham :

- i. GEORGE, bapt. 13 May 1611; of Bromfield, husbandman, in 1636; m. and had a son James living in 1678.

  - vi. ANN, bapt. 3 Apr. 1625.
  - vii. FRANCES, bapt. 15 Oct. 1628; m. ——— CRUMPE; a widow in 1678.
9. STEPHEN HINCKLE of Milton by Sittingbourne, yeoman, the testator of 1629-30, baptized at Harrietsham 15 Feb. 1578-9, died between 1 and 27 Jan. 1629-30. He married first at Milton, 24 Nov. 1608, JANE BECKE. The date of her death is unknown, but she was probably the mother of his first three children, if not of all; married secondly ELIZABETH ———, who was buried at Milton 23 Dec. 1625; married thirdly there, 7 Feb. 1627-8, ELIZABETH TOLPOTT. He was churchwarden of Milton in 1616 and 1617.

Children, baptized at Milton :

  - v. ELIZABETH (twin), bapt. 27 July 1617; mentioned in her father's will.
10. SAMUEL HINCKLEY of Tenterden, co. Kent, and of Scituate and Barnstable, New England, baptized at Harrietsham 25 May 1589, married first SARAH, whose maiden name is unknown, although the records of a dozen parishes around Tenterden and Harrietsham have been searched for this marriage and for the baptism of their son, Governor Thomas Hinckley. Samuel Hinckley came to New England in the ship Hercules in March, 1634-5, accompanied by his wife Sarah and four children, whose names are not given in the passenger list. He settled at Scituate, where he was admitted freeman 7 Feb. 1636-7. Later he removed to Barnstable, where he was juror and town officer. His wife Sarah was admitted to the church 30 Aug. 1635, and died 18 Aug. 1656. He married secondly, 15 Dec. 1657, BRIDGET BODFISH, who survived him. He died 31 Oct. 1662. There is a brief abstract of his will in the REGISTER, vol. 6, p. 95.

Children, all by first wife :

- i. THOMAS, b. probably abt. 1619, the well-known Governor of Plymouth Colony; m. twice, and had issue.
- ii. JOHN, bapt. at Tenterden 28 Apr. 1622; bur. there 25 Feb. 1627-8.
- iii. SUSANNAH, bapt. at Tenterden 6 Nov. 1625; m. abt. 13 June 1643, Rev. JOHN SMITH, and had issue.
- iv. MARIE, bapt. at Tenterden 23 Mar. 1627-8; probably d. young.

FROM THE TAX LISTS, KENT

10 November 36 Henry VIII. Lathe of Scray, Hundred of Cranbrook [which included Cranbrook, Frittenden, Gondherst, and Staplehurst].

John Selylyes "Alyen" in goods [value] 20s., [tax] 2d.
(Lay Subsidy, vol. 125, fo. 273. Public Record Office.)

[The foregoing entry is from the part of the list assigned to Cranbrook. The principal industry of Cranbrook was the manufacture of woollen cloth. The Sealis family may have been of French or Flemish origin, and may have come over to engage in weaving. But "aliens" also included Irish and Scotch.—E. F.]

[On the foregoing entries in the registers is based the following Sealis pedigree:

1. JOHN SELYS of Biddenden was probably the man who was buried there 7 August 1570, reference being made to him as "Father Seelis householder." Nothing further is known of him.

Children, baptized at Biddenden:

- i. STEPHEN, bapt. 18 Sept. 1547; bur. there 28 Sept. 1547.
- ii. JOHN, bapt. 17 Dec. 1553.

Clement, bapt. 2 Feb. 1538-9, Symond, bapt. 20 July 1545, bur. 20 July 1551, Rachell, bapt. 19 Apr. 1551, Christopher, Richard, Katherine, and Susanna may also have been his children, but owing to the lack of Seelis wills it is impossible to settle this point.

2. JOHN SEELIS of Biddenden, baptized there 17 Dec. 1553, was buried at Biddenden 10 Feb. 1609-10. He married, 28 Apr. 1578, MARY STEDMAN, daughter of Richard of Biddenden, baptized there 2 Aug. 1553. She was probably the "Widow Seelis" who was buried at Biddenden 6 May 1614.

Children, baptized at Biddenden:

- i. JOHN, bapt. 22 Feb. 1578-9.
- ii. RICHARD, bapt. 29 Nov. 1581.
- iii. ANNE, bapt. 18 Sept. 1586; bur. at Biddenden 18 Aug. 1593.
- iv. MARY, bapt. 2 Apr. 1592.
- v. ELIZABETH, bapt. 23 Feb. 1594-5; probably d. young.
- vi. MOSES, bapt. 21 May 1598.
- vii. ELIZABETH, bapt. 9 June 1605.

3. RICHARD SEALIS of Biddenden, co. Kent, and Scituate in New England, "planter," was baptized at Biddenden 26 Nov. 1581, and died in New England between 17 Sept. 1653 and 26 Mar. 1656. His first wife, name unknown, was buried at Biddenden 10 Aug. 1612. He married there secondly, 4 May 1613, MARGERY LEA. She was probably the Margery Ashenden who married at Biddenden, 27 Nov. 1610, Thomas Lea, buried there 9 Sept. 1612, by whom she had a son buried at Biddenden, unbaptized, 27 Feb. 1611-12, and a son Thomas baptized 14 Mar. 1612-13. There are no wills which prove or disprove this point. The records of Biddenden do not state whether the women married there were widows or spinsters. The date of Margery Sealis's death is unknown. Richard Sealis went to New England, and married thirdly, at Scituate, 15 December 1637, Widow EGLIN HANFORD, sister of Timothy Hatherly, joining the church 24 December following. He was admitted freeman 4 Sept. 1638, and was deacon in 1653. He was called "Mr." Sealis in the colony records. A brief abstract of his will appears in the REGISTER, vol. 5, p. 335.

Children by first wife :

- i. MARGARET (possibly), bapt. at Frittenden, the adjoining parish to Biddenden, 1 Aug. 1601.
- ii. SARA, bapt. at Biddenden 11 Sept. 1608 [sic].
- iii. MARGARET, bapt. at Biddenden 17 Jan. 1608-9 [sic]. (Did she m. 8 Apr. 1630, LAURENCE WHITTEN ?)
- iv. ELIZABETH, bapt. at Biddenden 24 Dec. 1609. (Did she m. 24 Oct. 1633, RICHARD NEWMAN ?)

Children by second wife, baptized at Biddenden :

- v. HANNAH, bapt. 8 Jan. 1614-5; d. 18 Sept. 1697; went to New England; m. at Scituate, 15 Oct. 1638, JOHN WINCHESTER of Hingham; had issue.
- vi. A CHILD, bur. at Biddenden unbapt. 9 May 1618.
- vii. HESTER, bapt. 26 Sept. 1619; went to New England; m. 20 Nov. 1639, SAMUEL JACKSON of Scituate; had issue.
- viii. A CHILD, bur. at Biddenden unbapt. 3 Dec. 1621. E. F.]

My last will concerning my lands. My feofees of all my lands in Benynnden and Cranbrok in the County of Kent are Thoe' Wat'man, Richard * From many Tilden wills the following have been selected as throwing light on the ancestry of Nathaniel Tilden of Scituate.—E. F.

Evynden, Water Denman, John Stace son of Thomas Stace, and John Nenne son of Robert Nenne. To wife Alice during her widowhood my lands on the den of Crotehole, with reversion after her death or marriage to son John at the age of eighteen years. To son John, after my wife's decease or marriage, seven pieces of land called hersetgrove, Grefefeld, longfeld, Fyveacres, Griggismede, and the two pypesland. Provision made for any further child born. To brother John Telden two pieces of land called yaldfeld and yaldfeldwode, he to pay to my daughter Johane 12 marks at her marriage, and if she die before legal age and unmarried, reversion to any other daughter I may have, to whom I give 12 marks at marriage. If son John or any other son I may have die before eighteen years without heirs of their bodies lawfully begotten, my garden and lands on the den of Crotehole, after the death of wife Alice, to my brothers John and Thomas, they paying to my daughters at marriage or the age of twenty-eight years £20 each. To brother John arrable land and wood called le knoll, knol wode, whithm̄, whithm̄ wode, cul'towne, and culv'towne wode, containing twenty acres, in payment of £22 13s. 4d. which I owe to him; 16 marks which Thomas Hendle of Crnebrok owes me for land there he bought of me, in payment of 50 marks which I owe my said brother; and two pieces of land called Jociscrofte and Slystowne on the den of Telden, in payment of 6 marks which I owe him. Proved 11 July 1480 by the executors named in the will. (Archdeaconry of Canterbury, vol. 3, fo. 18.)

The Will of RYCHARD TYLDEN of Tenterden in the County of Kente, yeoman, 22 January 1565-6. My body to be buried in the parish where I die. To the poor people of Tenterden. To my wife Elizabeth half of my household stuff, and various articles, including barley due me from Wylliam Gerrys, live stock, all woollen cloth not made into garments, an angel noble, a double ducat, and 20s. The residue of my household stuff to my four daughters, Julyan, Agnes, Thomasen, and Mary Tylden, equally divided, and to each £30 at marriage or age of twenty years. To servant John Milles £30 in satisfaction of an account between him and me, and a cloak. To son John Tylden four pairs of hose, two coats, one of marbyll and another of russet, two hats, two new leather jerkins, a dublet of chamblett, and my white dublet. To Thomas Tylden my son a coat to be had of Peter Peyrs, my next best hat and a pair of hose. To Richard Adams of Benynden a coat dublet and a pair of hose of Winchester russet. To Richard Peyris's widow. To Thomas Berry. To George Pellond. To Henry Meryote, Mother Crotholl, and John Ilverd. To my servant Richard Cheseman. To Rychard Peyrs, son of Rychard Peyrs of Tenterden deceased, Myldred Pyers, and Thomas Berry son of Thomas Berry. The residue of my moveable goods to son John Tylden, and I make him and Walter Bygge of Tenterden, tailor, my executors; my son not to meddle in the execution of my testament until he come to the age of four and twenty years, except it fortune Walter Bygge to die. If son John die before that age, son Thomas to have his legacy and take his place as executor. If both sons die before said age, then to my daughters. To Walter Bygge for his pains 20s. Witnesses: Wylliam Cocks, Clerk and curate of Tenterden, Robert Ashenden, Wylliam Marden yonger, and Peter Pyerse.

This is my last will concerning all my lands in Tenterden and Benynden. My wife Elizabeth to have during her widowhood the occupation of my parlor and buttery adjoining, two chambers over them, and the garret loft over, the buttery next the hall door, with use of bakehouse, brewhouse, malt house, the head of my barn called the tan house, east garden, and water of the pits or ponds. Also I give her eight loads of wood and two hundred faggots. My garden called new garden and five pieces of land and wood containing twenty acres at the back side of my messuage in Tenterden, and three other pieces called pigge holes, containing seventeen acres of land and wood, to my wife until my son John Tilden shall accomplish the age of four and twenty years, if she remain my widow so long, and not else. Son John to have the said lands at the said age and pay to my wife £6 13s. 4d. a year during her life. I give to my wife toward the keeping of my children £6 to be paid out of my lands in Tenterden until my youngest child come to the age of twelve years, and if she die before that time, then Walter Bygg my executor to have the bringing up of my children. To Thomas Tilden my son all my lands and tenements in the parish of Benynnden, when he shall accomplish the age of four and twenty years. My executor to take the residue of all profits of my lands and tenements in Tenterden and Benynnden until my son John come to his said age toward the performance of my will and paying my debts, and when son John accomplish the said age, then he to receive all the profits of the foresaid lands in Tenterden and Benynnden before willed to Thomas Tilden until the said Thomas accomplish his said age, and then John to pay to Thomas £50. My executors shall take down and sell the long houses along the street at my tenement in Benynnden, and make a pale and gate for the passage into said tenement, and build a barn there at my house where it stood before thirty-six feet by twenty feet. If either of my two sons die before the age of four and twenty years without lawful issue, the survivor shall pay to my daughters then living £20 apiece. If all my children die without lawful issue, then the said lands and tenements in Tenterden to John Mills and his heirs, and my lands and tenements in Benynnden as follows: to my brother-in-law Thomas Glouer of Benynnden two pieces of land called Barnfield and Oxenlease lying between a lane there and his house, and the residue of my lands and tenements in Benynnden to the relief of the poor of Tenterden and Benynnden, to be letten and the profits distributed by the church wardens. Witnesses: Wylliam Cocks, Clerke, Curate of Tenterden, Robert Asshenden, William Mardin yonger, and Peter Pyers. Proved 15 May 1566 by Walter Bygge, one of the executors named in the will, with power reserved to grant a like probate to John Tilden the other executor named, at the age limited in the will. (Archdeaconry of Canterbury, vol. 39, fo. 169.)

The Will of THOMAS TYLDEN of the parish of Wye in the County of Kent, 14 March 1616-17. To the poor of Wye 20s. £5 to be distributed among poor ministers. I make my son Joseph Tilden my executor and give him all that debt due me from James Thetcher of Willingdon in the County of Sussex. My wife Alyce shall have the use of all my household stuff and moveable goods during her life, with liberty to dispose of them to all or any of my children during her life and at her death to dispose of them that remain to such of my children as shall be living and not elsewhere. To son Thomas Tylden £5.

My will concerning the disposition of all my lands, tenements and hereditaments in the Counties of Sussex and Kent or elsewhere within the Realm of England is as follows: "First my will & meaninge is that Nathaniell my sonne his heyres & Assignes shall for ever holde and enioye on peece of fresh mershe land lyinge in the parish of East Gyldeford in the Countye of Sussex called by the name of Cowelees contayneinge by estymation xxx acres accordinge to one deede of feafment thereof by me made to the vse of the said Nathaniell Itm I doe will giue and bequeath to the said Nathaniell my sonne & to his heyres forever one peece of fresh mersh land with the appurtenances called or knowne by the name of the Fyve acres lyinge & beinge in the aforesaid Parish of East Gyldeford together with a sufficient carrying way to carrye driue goe to & for him his heyres & Assignes through one peece of land called the vpper peece of the lesser Spanyards lyinge in Gyldeford aforesaid." To my two sons Joseph and Hopestill Tilden their heirs and assigns forever the aforesaid piece of land called the upper piece of the lesser Spanyards containing twenty acres. To son Freegift Tylden and his heirs forever, if he live to the age of one and twenty years, a piece of fresh mersh land in East Gyldeford containing fifteen acres known by the name of the nether piece of the lesser Spanyards and abutting upon Cowe lees aforesaid toward the south, with right of way to said land through the land called the upper piece of the lesser Spanyards bequeathed to son Nathaniel. If Freegift die before the age of one and twenty years, reversion to sons Nathaniel and Hopestill and their heirs forever. During the minority of Freegift £10 a year to be paid to wife Alice toward her jointure of £20 made by me to her during her life, the other £10 of the said £20 to be paid out of the lands bequeathed to sons Joseph and Hopestill. To son Freegift at the age of one and twenty years my messuage with the barn and other buildings, orchard, garden and seven pieces of land containing seventeen acres now in the occupation of the widow Gylbert, lying in the parish of Cranbrook upon the den of Omenden. If he die before said age, reversion to my son Joseph and his heirs. Wife Alyce to receive the profits of all Freegift's land during his minority and use them to see him brought up to learning, and if she die, son Joseph to receive them for that purpose, allowing to Freegift sufficient maintenance and yielding an account to him when he accomplishes his age of one and twenty years. [Signed] Thomas Tilden. Witnesses: Suretonhie Nicholes, Robart Hall, and Willyam Avesten. Proved 20 June 1617 by Joseph Tilden, son and executor named in the will. [The will was contested 23 September 1617, the widow Alice Tilden and sons Nathaniel Tilden of Tenterden, Hopestill Tilden of the town of Sandwich, and Thomas Tilden and Freegift Tilden of Wye bringing suit against the executor Joseph Tilden.* 27 March 1618 sentence was given for the confirmation of the will, the judgment being that the testator was sane at the time the will was made.] (Consistory Court of Canterbury, original will, bundle for 1617.)

Administration on the estate of JOHN TILDEN of Sandwich in the County of Kent was granted 16 February 1637-8 to Hopestill Tilden, father and creditor of the deceased, during the minority of Elizabeth, daughter of the deceased. (P. C. C., Act Book, 1638, fo. 149.) [29 May 1638 the former grant lapsed owing to the death of the said Elizabeth. (Ibid., fo. 179.))

* Doubtless because the testator left to son Thomas but £5, while the other sons received generous portions of land.—E. F.

The Will of HOPESTILL TILDEN, one of the jurats of the Town and Port of Sandwich in the County of Kent, 19 November 1661. I give and bequeath unto and amongst the children sons and daughters of my brother Nathaniel Tilden late of Tenterden in the said County, gent., £100 to be equally divided between them, £50 within twelve months after my decease and £50 in two years. To John Hughes, nephew of Deborah my now wife, £20. To my former servant John Iggledden 10s. to buy him a Bible. To my cousin Samuel Tilden 20s., to his daughter Anne Tilden £10 at the age of two and twenty years, and to his daughter Elizabeth 20s. at that age. To my two grandchildren Joseph Rumsey and Thomas Rumsey, sons of my daughter Sarah by Thomas Rumsey, 5s. apiece. To wife Deborah the use and benefit of the household stuff, one of my best chambers during her life, and an annuity of £20 to be paid out of the profits of my lands and tenements in Sandwich or elsewhere in the County of Kent. If she stay not with my executors for three months after my death then she shall have £5. To the poor people of Sandwich. All the residue of my goods, chattels and personal estate, and my messuage, lands and tenements in Sandwich in the Isle of Thanet or elsewhere in England, I give to my grandchildren Robert Smith and John Smith, sons of my late daughter Sarah deceased, Robert to have three fourths and John one fourth, and I make them joint executors of this my will. Witnesses: William Picard and John Verrier. Proved 9 February 1661-2 by Robert Smith and John Smith, the executors named in the will. (Archdeaconry of Canterbury, vol. 71, fo. 194.)

TILDEN ENTRIES IN THE BISHOP'S TRANSCRIPTS OF WYE.

1617 Mr. Thomas Tilden an aged man buried 6 June.

1617 Samuel son of Thomas Tilden bapt. 5 February [1617-18].

[From the foregoing wills and entries the following Tilden pedigree has been constructed:

JOHN TYLDEN, Senior, of Crotehole in the parish of Benynnden, the testator of 1463, born probably about 1415, died probably shortly after making his will. He married JOHAN, the testator of 1474, who died between 15 June 1474 and 1 Apr. 1476. She may possibly have been a second wife and mother only of Agnes and Thomas.

Children:

- i. JOHN, b. bef. 1445; living in 1480. (Was Elizabeth, daughter of John Telden, who is mentioned in Joane Telden's will, the daughter of this John?)
- ii. ROBERT, b. bef. 1445; see below.
- iii. THOMAS, b. after 1454; m. MARGARET ———; made his will in 1479, leaving to wife Margaret, sister Alice, brother John, and the son of brother Robert at 18 years, and to Robert's daughter at marriage.
- iv. ALICE, b. after 1438; unm. in 1474.
- v. AGNES, b. after 1438; unm. in 1474.

ROBERT TELDEN of Benynnden, born before 1445, the testator of 1479, died between 25 July 1479 and 11 July 1480. He married ALICE, who was one of his executors. His children were probably very young at his death, as he makes provision for any posthumous child.

Children:

- i. JOHN, b. after 1461.
- ii. JOHANE, under age and unm. in 1479.

It seems probable that either from John, son of John of Crotehole, or from John, son of Robert and Alice, was descended Richard Telden of Benynnden and Tenterden, the testator of 1565-6, although no evidence has yet been found to prove the connection.

1. RICHARD TILDEN, yeoman, the testator of 1565-6, born probably at Benenden between 1510 and 1520, died between 22 Jan. 1565-6 and 15 May following. He married ELIZABETH, who survived him. Was she a sister of Thomas Glover?

Children:

2. i. JOHN, b. after 1541.
- ii. THOMAS, b. after 1541.
- iii. JULIAN, b. after 1546; m. at Tenterden, 21 June 1568, THOMAS FYNCHE.
- iv. AGNES, b. after 1546; m. at Tenterden, 14 Feb. 1568-9, PETER PIERSE.
- v. THOMASEN, b. after 1546; living in 1565-6.
- vi. CATHERINE, bapt. at Tenterden 30 Sept. 1554; probably d. young.
- vii. MARY, bapt. at Tenterden 8 June 1556; probably d. young.
- viii. ALICE, bapt. at Tenterden 6 Apr. 1559; bur. there 30 Sept. 1560.
- ix. MARY, bapt. at Tenterden 15 May 1561; living in 1565-6.
2. JOHN TILDEN of Tenterden, born probably at Benenden after 1541, was buried at Tenterden 29 Jan. 1625-6. He married there, 23 Jan.

1569-70, PATIENCE CASSLEN, who was buried at Tenterden 23 Nov. 1615. We learn from the church records that he was jurat in 1587, 1588, 1615, and 1625. He is called "Mr." Tilden, his wife "Mistress" Tilden, and in their marriage licenses several of his children are described as gentlemen.

Children, baptized at Tenterden :

- i. ANNE, bapt. 5 Nov. 1570; m. at Tenterden, 26 July 1587, WILLIAM HATCHE.
- ii. RACHEL, bur. at Tenterden 17 Mar. 1572-3.
- iii. GEORGE, bapt. 28 Feb. 1573-4; bur. at Tenterden 4 Jan. 1604-5; m. —, and had Elizabeth, Annah, George, and Samuel (dates in Tenterden registers).
- iv. ELIZABETH, bapt. 23 Apr. 1576; m. at Tenterden, 23 July 1594, PETER FINCHE.
- v. JUDITH, bapt. 17 Aug. 1578.
- vi. SAMUEL, bapt. 25 Sept. 1580; bur. at Tenterden 3 Mar. 1623-4; m. there, 28 May 1612, REBECCA GYLES, and had Gyles, John, Samuel, Thomas, Mary, Rebecca, and Jeremy (dates in Tenterden registers).
- vii. JOHN, bapt. 4 Nov. 1582; m. ANNE —, who was bur. 27 May 1636; had Thomas and Samuel; license to marry widow CICKLY MAY of Ashford dated 10 Nov. 1637, and their son John was bapt. 4 Nov. 1638.
- viii. DANIEL, bapt. 16 Dec. 1584; m. JUDITH SHORT of Tenterden, license dated 23 June 1612, and had John, Margaret, and Patience.
- ix. } TWO CHILDREN, bur. unbapt. 1 Dec. 1587.
- x. }
- xi. JONATHAN, bapt. 28 Oct. 1588; m. (1) ANN HALL of Willesborough, license dated 17 June 1616; had a son Gregory; m. (2) ALICE HALL; had Richard, George, John, Jonathan, Anne, and Sarah. (Second marriage and children in 2 Misc. Geneal. et Herald., vol. 1, p. 333. See below.)

3. THOMAS TILDEN of Tenterden, the testator of 1616-17, born probably at Benenden after 1541, was buried at Wye 6 June 1617. He married first at Tenterden, 10 Mar. 1576-7, ALICE BIGGS, who was buried at Tenterden 13 May 1593; married secondly, 13 Nov. 1593, ELLEN EVERNDEN, widow, of Rolvinden. The date of her death is unknown, but Thomas Tilden left a widow ALICE, probably the mother of his son Freegift. Between 1604 and 1614 Thomas Tilden left Tenterden, and moved perhaps to East Guilford in Sussex, not far across the border from Tenterden, as he owned lands there. What reason he had for moving to Wye does not appear.

Children by first wife, baptized at Tenterden :

- i. SARA, bapt. 30 Aug. 1579; m. probably, 20 Nov. 1600, JOHN STANSHAME; not mentioned in his father's will.
- ii. ABIGAIL, bapt. 26 Feb. 1581-2; bur. at Tenterden 5 Aug. 1582.
4. iii. NATHANIELL, bapt. 28 July 1583.
- iv. JOSEPH, bapt. 28 Nov. 1585; citizen and girdler of London; will dated 1 Feb. 1612. (See Waters's Gleanings, vol. 1, p. 71.)
5. v. HOPESTILL, bapt. 1 May 1588.
- vi. THEOPHILUS, bapt. 11 Oct. 1590; not mentioned in his father's will.
- vii. THOMAS, bapt. 1 May 1593; m. and had a son Samuel, bapt. at Wye 5 Feb. 1617-18. Samuel and his daus. Anne and Elizabeth are mentioned in the will of his uncle Hopestill, 1661.

Child, either by second or third wife, baptized at Tenterden :

- viii. FREEGIFT, bapt. 29 May 1604; living in 1660. (See Waters's Gleanings, vol. 2, p. 1305.)

4. NATHANIEL TILDEN, baptized at Tenterden 28 July 1583, came to New England in the Hercules in March 1634-5, with wife, seven children, and seven servants; settled at Scituate; and died, probably at Scituate, between 25 May and 31 July 1641. He married in England LYDIA, who, Savage thinks, was perhaps daughter of Thomas Bourne. But as Thomas Bourne was born about 1581, he would have been only twenty-seven when Nathaniel Tilden's eldest child was born, and therefore Savage's conjecture is wrong. The "son Tilden" referred to in Thomas Bourne's will, made in 1664 (see Pope's Pioneers of Massachusetts), could not have been Nathaniel, who had been dead twenty-three years, but was probably Thomas Tilden, son of Nathaniel and husband of Elizabeth Bourne. That the wife Lydia was the mother of all of Nathaniel Tilden's children is proved by the bequest in Joseph Tilden's will: "to my sister Lydia Tilden, late wife of my brother Nathaniel Tilden . . . and to her two daughters who are married in New England" (Waters's Gleanings, vol. 1, p. 71). These daughters were born in 1610 and 1613.

Tenterden, a limb of the Cinque Port of Rye, was a prosperous and important place in our ancestors' day, as now, and the principal town in the Weald of Kent. Nathaniel Tilden, called "Mr" in both the Old and New England records, and "gentleman" in his brother Hopestill's will, was a man of importance, mayor in 1622 and jurat—a jurat was also justice of the peace—in 1624, 1625, 1627, and 1629. In New England he was also a town officer and a ruling elder. (For an abstract of his will see REGISTER, vol. 4, p. 173. See also, for him and his descendants, Deane, History of Scituate, 353 ff.)

Children, baptized at Tenterden:

- i. THOMAS, bapt. 23 Oct. 1608; bur. at Tenterden 19 Jan. 1618-19.
- ii. MARY, bapt. 20 May 1610; came with her father to New England; m. 13 Mar. 1636-7, THOMAS LAPHAM.
- iii. JOSEPH, bapt. 12 Jan. 1611-12; bur. at Tenterden 15 Mar. 1611-12.
- iv. SARAH, bapt. 13 June 1613; came with her father to New England; m. 13 Mar. 1636-7, GEORGE SUTTON.
- v. JOSEPH, bapt. 29 Apr. 1615; came with his father to New England; m. 20 Nov. 1649 ALICE or ELIZABETH* TWISDEN, widow or daughter of John; lived in Scituate.
- vi. STEPHEN, bapt. 31 Mar. 1617; bur. at Tenterden 21 Oct. 1619.
- vii. THOMAS, bapt. 19 Jan. 1618-19; came with his father to New England; m. ELIZABETH (BOURNE) WATERMAN, widow of Robert Waterman and daughter of Thomas Bourne of Marshfield; lived at Marshfield.

- ix. WINIFRED, bapt. 20 Oct. 1622; bur. at Tenterden 14 Sept. 1627.
- x. LYDIA, bapt. 30 May 1624; bur. at Tenterden 15 Sept. 1624.
- xi. LYDIA, bapt. 28 Sept. 1625; came with her father to New England; m. RICHARD GARRETT.
- xii. STEPHEN, bapt. 11 Oct. 1629; came with his father to New England; m. 25 Jan. 1661-2, HANNAH LITTLE; lived at Marshfield.

5. HOPESTILL TILDEN, the testator of 1661, baptized at Tenterden 1 May 1588, died between 19 Nov. 1661 and 9 Feb. following. He married DEBORAH, perhaps not his first wife, who survived him. He lived in Sandwich, England, as early as 1614, and was jurat of that town at the time of his death. He was a grocer, as the marriage license of his daughter states.

Children :

- i. JOHN, d. bef. 16 Feb. 1637-8, when administration on his estate was granted to his father; he m. and had an only child Elizabeth, living at his death, but dead bef. 29 May 1638.
- ii. SARAH, b. abt. 1619; d. bef. 1661; m. (1) JOHN SMITH of St. Johns, Thanet, woollen draper, and had by him Robert and John; m. (2) THOMAS RUMSEY, by whom she had Joseph and Thomas.

In Miscellanea Genealogica et Heraldica, Series 2, vol. 1, p. 333, there is printed a Tilden pedigree, taken from the Visitation of London, 1687, and headed "Tower Ward, Dolphin Precinct. Bakers' Hall in Harp Lane, Tuesday 2<sup>o</sup> August a<sup>o</sup> 1687."

The arms there portrayed are Azure a saltire ermine between four pheons or. The crest, a broken spear inverted gules, head or, environed by a snake proper.

In this pedigree it is stated that there is "No Descent of this Family in the Visitations of Kent or Sussex. The Arms he produced are in a Book of M<sup>r</sup> Philpots Intituled Quartered Coats & Crests fo. 80."

According to this pedigree, as corrected by R. G. Fitzgerald-Uniacke, Esq., after comparison with the original in the College of Arms, RICHARD TILDEN of Tenterden, co. Kent, had a son JONATHAN TILDEN of Breade, co. Sussex, who died about 1635, aged 46, and had as his second wife ALICE, daughter of ——— Hall of ———, near Gillingham, co. Kent. The children of Jonathan and Alice (Hall) Tilden were :

- i. RICHARD, citizen and merchant of London, aged 63 in 1687, who m. HANNAH MILLER, dau. of John of Biggleswaide, co. Bedford, and had sons Richard, aged 22, unm.; Daniel, aged 16; Samuel, aged 14; Gabriel, aged 13; and Jonathan, aged 9; and daughters Hannah, wife of Thanks Holland of Stepney; and Rose and Mary, both living unm. in 1687. It is this Richard Tilden, citizen and merchant of London, who signs the pedigree.
- ii. GEORGE, of Breade, co. Sussex, aged 60 in 1687, who m. and had issue.
- iii. JOHN } both dead without issue.
- iv. JONATHAN }
- i. ANNE, wife of ROBERT GIBBON of Beckley, co. Sussex.
- ii. SARAH, wife of THOMAS BEDINGFIELD of Dover, co. Kent.

The Jonathan Tilden of this pedigree, with second wife Alice Hall, was, however, not a son but a grandson of Richard Tilden of Tenterden; for he is identical with Jonathan, youngest child of John of Tenterden, who was a son of Richard Tilden, our testator of 1565-6. (See above.) Jonathan Tilden moved into Sussex, and died when his son Richard was only eleven years old, and this may account for the meagreness of the latter's knowledge regarding his father's family. He does not mention any child or children by his father's first marriage, although we know from the Tenterden registers that Jonathan had at least one child (Gregory, baptized 28 July 1617) by his first wife.

The Richard Tilden who entered this pedigree was a first cousin once removed of Nathaniel Tilden, the emigrant to New England, and he evidently proved to the satisfaction of the College of Arms his right to bear the arms described above. Since he tried to trace his ancestry back to

Richard Tilden, the testator of 1565-6, it is likely that this Richard, his great-grandfather, had borne these same arms; and, if this should be proved, then Nathaniel Tilden and his descendants in the male line would be entitled to bear them.—E. F.]

[For the Tyldens of Milsted, co. Kent, see Berry, Pedigrees . . . in the County of Kent, pp. 30-31; Burke, Commoners, vol. 2, p. 381, and Landed Gentry. The Tyldens of Milsted bore the same arms as Richard Tilden of London, but their crest was somewhat different. According to Berry, William Tylden of Wormshill, Kent, who died in 1613 and who was father of Richard Tylden, the purchaser of the manor of Milsted, was a descendant of William Tylden who paid aid for his lands in Kent at the knighting of the Black Prince, 20 Edward III, but the intermediate generations are not given. (See Hasted, History of Kent, 2d ed., vol. 6, p. 109.) Berry says, loc. cit.: "The Tyldens are a very ancient family in this county [Kent], and appear to have separated into three distinct branches. The first, and the most ancient, is here recorded. The second were originally of Tenterden, and went into Sussex: mention is made of this family in the visitation for that county. One of the Tenterden branch went to America, with the Pilgrims, and has founded a numerous family of the name in that country, but they spell their name with an i instead of a y. The third branch settled at Ifield, in Kent, and spell their name with an i." (See also Burke, General Armory, sub voce Tylden.)—HENRY EDWARDS SCOTT.]

JACOB SHERMAN'S COPY-BOOK, WITH GENEALOGICAL NOTES

By WILLIAM BRADFORD BROWNE of North Adams, Mass.

ABOUT ten years ago Mr. Brimmer Sherman of Williamstown, Mass., found among a collection of supposedly worthless papers the old book which is the subject of this sketch. It served originally as a copy-book for instruction in the rudiments of arithmetic, is entirely in manuscript, and consists of about fifty-eight leaves, 8x13 inches, bound in a homespun linen cover somewhat ragged from much use.

The value of this old book was realized when there were found scattered through it, on unused pages, records of an old Rhode Island family, the ancestors of Mr. Sherman, telling of their removal from that state to Pownal, Vt., giving a detailed record of births, marriages, and deaths, and finally, on the last few sheets, furnishing accounts dealing with other early settlers of the town.

Pownal, Vt., which is geographically among the Berkshire Hills and easily surpasses most of the towns of Berkshire County, Mass., in beauty, is an extremely interesting town genealogically. It is really a portion of East and West Greenwich and Kingston, R. I., transplanted intact to Vermont. As the Bates, Sherman, Gardner, Myers, Niles, Matteson, Barber, Pratt, and other families intermarried in Rhode Island until they were practically all related, so did these same families upon removal to Pownal continue the same practice, and have continued it ever since. A comparison of the Pownal town records with those of East and West Greenwich shows curious results—the similarity of names and the combination of names being astonishing.

* It is not known why Jacob Sherman called Francis Bates brother, unless they were brothers of the church. Jacob's daughter married a son of Francis, and the families were doubtless related in Rhode Island. It is possible that the connection is through the Bissells, Susanna (Bissell) Sherman having had two sisters whose marriages are not known.

BISSELL

Susanna Sherman, who wrote and signed the records printed on page 344, was sister of John and William Bissell, children of John and Ann Bissell of North Kingston, R. I. Susanna (Bissell) Sherman died 1 Jan. 1813, aged 76 (gravestone),<sup>d</sup> so that she was born in 1737; John Bissell died in 1750, aged 18, so that he must have been born in 1732; and William Bissell died 6 Feb. 1759, aged 30 years, 5 months, which would bring the time of his birth in the second half of 1728. With the exception of the month in William's date of birth these results tally with the records of three of the five children (only sex mentioned) credited to John and Ann Bissell (R. I. Vital Records, vol. 5, North Kingstown, p. 58), viz. a daughter born 26 Mar. 1737, a son born 4 Apr. 1732, and another son born 21 July 1728.

Job Bissell of Newport, R. I., had children Job, William, Hannah, Sarah, Joan, and Susanna, all under twenty-one in 1747. There was no John in the family, which disposes of the possibility of Susanna (Bissell) Sherman being a member of it.

Harry Bissell and wife Sarah of Newport had a son born in Mar. 1708. He (Harry) was likely a brother of Job of Newport, and could well have been the father of John of North Kingston who married in 1717-8. Job Bissell of Newport might possibly have been the son of Harry, instead of his brother.

<sup>c</sup> This and the next item were carried out so minutely evidently in order to furnish material for problems in computing time.

<sup>d</sup> She and her husband, Jacob Sherman, are buried in the cemetery at Pownal Center. The spot was originally in the town green, but this has been given over entirely to the cemetery. Nearby are buried their daughter Experience Bates and many of her family.

There is on record at Providence, under date of 20 Jan. 1800, a power of attorney signed by Jacob Sherman and wife Susanah of Pownall, Vt., and Jeremiah Vallet and wife Anne of Lee, Mass., stating that Anne and Susanah are heirs of their brother William Bissell. The Vital Records of Lee, p. 234, give the death of "Anne, w. Jeremiah, July 8, 1806," aged 72, which age agrees with the date of one more of the family accredited to John and Ann Bissell, viz. a daughter born 4 Mar. 1734.

The origin of the Rhode Island Bissells is yet to be solved. Assuming that they were connected with the Connecticut Bissells there appears to be but one available chance for the connection. John<sup>8</sup> Bissell (Thomas,<sup>8</sup> John<sup>1</sup>), born 26 Jan. 1660, seems untraced. In "Middlesex, Mass., Families," p. 1223, it is stated that this John had Samuel and John of North Kingston, Job of Newport, and George, but no proof of the assertion is offered. The difficulty about this is that the will of Thomas Bissell of Connecticut in 1688 does not mention his son John, the inference being that he was then dead.

WILLIAM BISSELL<sup>5</sup> SHERMAN, brother of John, married SARAH GARDNER, a sister of John's wife. He early removed to Williamstown, Mass., where he died 13 Mar. 1846. In the Revolution he served under Washington, La Fayette, and Ethan Allen (gravestone).

Children:

- i. POLLY,<sup>6</sup> d. 1782.
- ii. ABRAHAM, b. 11 Sept. 1784.
- iii. PHEBE, b. 1786; d. 1802, aged 16.
- iv. WILLIAM, b. 7 May 1793.
- v. AMY, b. 14 Jan. 1795.
- vi. JOHN, b. 15 Sept. 1803.
- vii. EBER, b. 30 Mar. 1805.
- viii. WILLARD, b. 17 Sept. 1807.
- ix. OLIVE.

* Mentioned in the account on page 348. It is not recorded that John had a son Gardner, although such might have been the case. Gardner may refer to his wife's father and grandfather, perhaps living with him.

BENJAMIN<sup>6</sup> SHERMAN, brother of John and William Bissell, married first, 31 Dec. 1798, PHILENA AIKENS; secondly, about 1810, BETSEY CLARK; and thirdly, 23 June 1819, MERCY BRIGGS. He died 25 Dec. 1844. He had two sons, George<sup>6</sup> and Isaac, who became wealthy merchants in New York City, Isaac being the father of Mrs. Bradley Martin, the noted society leader.

GARDNER

The Gardner family, so numerous in Pownal at the present time, descends from Joseph<sup>3</sup> (George,<sup>2</sup> George<sup>1</sup>) of East Greenwich, R. I., who married Hannah Briggs. The names of all their children are not known, but two of them, George, who certainly was a son, and Benjamin, beyond doubt another son, came to Pownal.

GEORGE<sup>4</sup> GARDNER married at Newport, R. I., 11 Nov. 1737, ALICE BROWNE, daughter of Tobias. He died 10 Aug. 1801, aged 94 years, leaving a will in which he mentioned the eight children noted below. In 1752 he sold his West Greenwich lands and settled at Beekman's, N. Y., living there until 1762, when he made his purchase of Pownal lands. It was he who laid out the settling lots for the proprietors of Pownal in 1782.

In 1779 George Gardner became involved in a dispute with the town proprietors. As their clerk and the keeper of their records he was accused of removing certain sheets from the land records. He was finally prosecuted and forced to leave town, and his lands were seized. Gardner removed to Hancock, Mass., where he remained until about 1790, when he returned to Pownal to spend his last days. Under date of 27 June 1782 there appears on the town record this report:

Your Committee to whom was referred the petition of George Gardner Esq. of Hancock in the State of Mass. begs leave to report, that it appears that a judgement was obtained before the Honorable Superior Court by a Committee of the Proprietors of the town of Pownal in 1779, for cutting a number of leaves out of the Proprietors books, for which without doubt the Honorable Superior Court thought they had a sufficient reason, but it does not appear to your committee from the witnesses that have been heard by them that said George Gardner ever did cut out all or any of the leaves that are cut out of the Proprietors books, and they recommend that the aforesaid Committee who obtained a judgement against said George Gardner and a sum of money in damages for cutting out a number of leaves from the Proprietors Books, pay the same again unto the aforesaid George Gardner except the lawful cost occasioned by said suit.

Children, the first three recorded at West Greenwich :

- i. GEORGE,<sup>5</sup> b. 3 June 1739.
- ii. DAVID, b. 13 June 1741.
- iii. PAUL, b. 29 Aug. 1743.
- iv. ABRAHAM.
- v. BENJAMIN.
- vi. JOHN.
- vii. THOMAS.
- viii. MARY.
- ix. HANNAH.
- x. TABATHA.

The Rev. Elder Benjamin<sup>4</sup> Gardner was an interesting resident in Pownal in its early days. In 1765 he sold his West Greenwich lands for £4000. On Pownal records, under date of Dec. 1789, appears the following:

Reporting of Committee on granting Benj. Gardner his claim for a gift of land.

In or about 1763 Elder Gardner then a Public preacher and an ordained Elder of the Baptists so called removed into the town of Pownal to reside and was duly appointed to preach and administer in all the rights and ordinances of that Society.

He had evidently claimed a deed of glebe land for his services, and his claim was allowed.

Rev. Benjamin Gardner died 10 Dec. 1793, aged 78 (gravestone), and his wife Jemima died 5 Feb. 1806, aged 82 (gravestone). His will names one son, Benjamin, Jr., and two daughters, Anna Stuart and Jemima Williams. Comparing his age, close companionship with, and the fact that he went bond for George Gardner at the time of his litigation with the proprietors of Pownal, there seems to be no reasonable doubt that they were brothers.

GEORGE<sup>6</sup> GARDNER, born 3 June 1739, died 8 Sept. 1839, well over 100 years of age—his gravestone calling him 102. He married ANN MYERS of West Greenwich. He appears from the land records to have left Beekmans in 1763, the year after his father. His first daughter, Amy, has been considered the first white child born in Pownal—a tradition which seems to have some basis of truth.

Children:

- i. AMY,<sup>6</sup> b. 25 Feb. 1763; m. JOHN SHERMAN (see above).
- ii. SARAH, b. 23 Feb. 1765; m. WILLIAM BISSELL SHERMAN (see above).
- iii. OLIVER, b. 19 Feb. 1767.
- iv. JOHN, b. 16 Feb. 1769.
- v. ELSE, b. 10 Mar. 1771.
- vi. SUSANNA, b. 29 Jan. 1773.
- vii. MARY, b. 3 Apr. 1775.

The Gardners, with the exception of the Rev. Benjamin, were all Tories in the Revolutionary war. After the battle of Bennington they were levied upon for supplies for the troops, and gave most grudgingly.

In Jacob Sherman's cobbling accounts, written partly by himself and partly by his wife Susanna, appear many items of genealogical interest. In his settlement for work done for Isaac Buckling, 1798-99, are named "yourself," David, Silvenes, Body, Lucindy and, later, Hannah, evidently another daughter. In David Akin's account, 1798, shoes were made for Sarah; in Silas Pratt's, shoes for wife, Zadoc, and Nehemiah; Isaac Grover (1797); in Josiah Donning's (1796), shoes for Aling, Limon, Josiah, Ebenezer, Elmer, and Martin; in Virgil Page's (1795), Simon, David, Benjamin, and Eanis; in John Sherman's (1796), shoes for Garner Gardner, Sarah, Susanna, Jacob, George, Amy, William, Abel, and "Granny Mias."

MYERS

The item about "Granny Mias" is interesting. She was Mary Munro, daughter of Joseph of Bristol, R. I., born 23 Oct. 1715, died at Pownal Nov. 1800, aged 86 (gravestone), the grandmother of Amy Gardner (wife of John Sherman), and widow of Oliver Myers of West Greenwich who died 29 Aug. 1769. All the sons of Oliver Myers settled at Pownal, and their sister Ann was the wife of George Gardner of that place. Their mother also evidently moved to Pownal in her old age. At the date of the account in 1796 she was aged about 81 years.

Oliver Myers was son of Nicholas "Mias" of Little Compton, R.I., and his wife Elizabeth Nichols. His will, dated 7 Aug. 1769 at West Greenwich, names sons Oliver, Hezekiah, Nicholas, and Gideon; and daughters Ann Gardner, Elizabeth Howard, and Mary Myers. All these, except the last two, came to Pownal. Oliver Myers, Jr., married Elizabeth Niles, whose brothers were also Pownal settlers.

<sup>1</sup> I would be glad to know more of "Brother Jack Stiles;" the maiden name of "Widow Alice Walker" who had two daughters, Relief and Linda, who cared for their step-father in his last years; and of "Sister Rebecca Russell" and her husband. But chiefly I wish to know the name of the mother of the second Jonathan Wilson, Rebecca — who married secondly — Cutler, who perhaps outlived her. Is she the Rebecca Russell who married a Jonathan Wilson at Thompson, 31 May 1738 (Connecticut marriages)? And if so, who were her parents? This Jonathan Wilson was a son of James who married Margaret (Russ) Peters. James being the son of John and Hannah (James) Wilson of Lexington.

George born 30 of September 1816.
 Charlotte Dwight born January 22, 1819

THE DRURY DEATH BOOK

Communicated by THOMAS W. BALDWIN, A.B., S.B., of Wellesley, Mass.

SINCE preparing the Vital Records of Natick for publication, I have learned of a book commonly called "The Drury Death Book," which undoubtedly contains many records not otherwise available. Through the courtesy of Mr. Fisher Howe, the present holder of the book, I have made a copy of it for publication, so that its records may be put in a permanent form for future reference.

The book was begun in 1757 by Lydia (Fuller) (Willard) Drury. She was born December 31, 1717, was of the family of Fullers in Newton, and married Ephraim Willard, son of Jonathan. Their marriage intention was published August 7, 1737. After his death, she married Joseph Drury, January 10, 1744-5. At a later date the book is said to have been handed down to her daughter, Zeruiah Drury, who continued the records. Zeruiah Drury was born June 8, 1748, and married John Bacon, November 27, 1766. He was the eldest son of John Bacon, who fell at Lexington April 19, 1775. They had two children, Lydia and Submit. The latter, commonly known as Mitta Bacon, married Jonathan Bacon, December 25, 1788. In 1798, as the book says, she began the records, and is said to have carried them on till the end in 1803, although it is also claimed that the handwriting during that period is that of her husband, Jonathan Bacon. As will be seen, this is not a record of deaths in one family, but contains records of all deaths of which they may have heard.

On the fly-leaf of the book occur these entries: "My father Joseph Drury Died october the 25, 1770;" "my Husbands father John Bacon Bacon Died April the 19, 1775;" "Mr Elezar Kingsbury Died June the 1, 1796 at the last and very suddinly, formerly of Needham." In the first of the book are a few leaves from the Prophets of the Old Testament, and on the flyleaf of these occur these entries: "Sarah Bacon was born January 24th day in the year 1772;" "my mother died September 23, 1754" [this entry is thought to refer to the mother of Lydia (Fuller) Drury]; "Amasa Bacon was born august the 11th in the year 1765." At the bottom of the last of these pages is this entry: "Mical Bacon was born January the 13, 1774 and he Died July the 17, 1776."

Following these pages are the death records from which the book takes its name, and they are as follows:

SOME DESCENDANTS OF THOMAS MORLEY

By HERBERT S. MORLEY of Newton Center, Mass.

1. THOMAS<sup>1</sup> MORLEY, also spelled Morlow, Marlow, and Marlo, in different records, whose parentage and ancestry are uncertain, was married 8 Dec. 1681, by John Pynchon of Springfield, Mass., to MARTHA WRIGHT, born 29 Nov. 1662, died at Glastonbury, Conn., where her estate was inventoried 2 Jan. 1741, daughter of Lieut. Abel and Martha (Kitcherel, of Hartford) of Springfield. In 1686 he was granted land at Pochasic, now a part of Westfield, Mass., to which he subsequently added by purchase, and was admitted to the church in Westfield 18 Nov. 1702. His wife and daughter Martha were baptized at the church 10 June 1683. Thomas died at Glastonbury, Conn., in Jan. 1712, leaving a will mentioning wife and children.

Children, born at Westfield :

- i. MARTHA,<sup>2</sup> b. 7 Sept. 1682; d. 22 Feb. 1753; m. 13 Jan. 1704, WILLIAM LOOMIS; had ten children.

ABSTRACTS FROM VOLUME I. OF THE PROBATE RECORDS OF ORLEANS COUNTY, VT.

Copied by FRANK MORTIMER HAWES of Winter Hill, Mass.

[1] ADMINISTRATION on the estate of Ralph Blanchard, Peacham, was given to Amos Blanchard of Greensboro, 31 Mar. 1797; Reuben Blanchard, Peacham, gave bonds. Appraisers, Timothy Stanley, Ashbel Sheppard, Levi Stevens, all of Greensboro; inventory returned 27 May; real estate in Greensboro apportioned to Amos Blanchard, "sole whole brother" of Ralph.

[2-5] Administration on the estate of Perez Snell, Craftsbury, was given to Hannah Snell and Daniel Mason, 27 Aug. 1798; Benjamin Hoyt gave bonds. Appraisers, Royal Corbin, Joseph Scott, James Paddock; inventory returned 7 Sept. 1798; list of debtors and creditors given. On 8 Aug. 1800, Nehemiah Lyon was made administrator of this estate and gave bonds with Benj<sup>a</sup> Jennings. Account rendered speaks of boarding and clothing Polly Snell five years, nine months, and boarding the widow and family one year. The court divided real estate between Perez Snell and Polly Snell "according to law."

[6-8] Administration on the estate of Peter Porter of Brownington was given to Amos Porter Esq., of the same town, 9 July 1799. Appraisers, Samuel Smith and John Merriam; list of creditors.

[9-17] The will of Hezekiah Whitney, Wolcott, signed 22 Nov. 1797, was presented for probate 7 Apr. 1801; wife Sarah Whitney (sole executrix); son-in-law John Parsell; daughter Thankful Whitney "when 18"; sons Jeremiah Whitney, Zadock Whitney, Nathan Whitney, William Whitney, Josiah Whitney, Hezekiah Whitney, Jesse Whitney, Ira Whitney; daughters, Sarah, the wife of John Parsell, Hannah, the wife of John G. Hyler, Margaret, the wife of Henry Eaton. Witnesses, Thomas Taylor, Ezekiel Gillman, Jabez Fitch. On 31 July 1801 Josiah Whitney, one of the heirs, petitioned for a division; Thomas Taylor, Esq., Wolcott, made guardian of Ira Whitney. In the division, made 12 June 1802, lot No. 97 is mentioned as owned by said Whitney and the heirs of Levi Taylor of Norwalk, Fairfield Co., Conn. At a court held 4 Apr. 1803, Zadock Whitney was made administrator in room of Sarah Whitney, "lately deceased." As Jeremiah Whitney, Nathan Whitney, and the heirs of Hannah Hyler are not of this State, Thomas Taylor is made their agent. Final settlement 23 May 1804, by Zadock Whitney.

[17-21] Administration on the estate of Gideon Bartlet, Missisquoi, was given to Enos Bartlet, Duncanboro, and Sarah Bartlet, 1 May 1802; appraisers and commissioners appointed; list of creditors. At a court held 6 Oct. 1802, said Bartlet is styled late of Troy (Vt.). At a court held May 1809, an account rendered gives the names of those who received cash payment: Samuel Bartlett; "myself" (Enos Bartlett), Gideon Bartlett, Priscilla Foss, Betsey Holmes, Polly Rynes, Nabby Sias; to the widow "her thirds."

[22-24] Administration on the estate of Oglander Bowley, Irasburg, was given to Amos Conant 26 Nov. 1802, on petition of Benjamin Bowley of Billymead, Caledonia Co., brother of the deceased. Inventory dated 24 Dec.; list of debtors and creditors; balance of the estate to said Benjamin, "legal heir."

[25-28] The will of Gen. Jonathan Warner, Hardwick, Worcester Co., Mass., but more recently of Craftsbury, signed 9 Dec. 1802, was presented for probate 10 Jan. 1803. It mentions wife, Sarah Warner, and surviving children, Susanna Howe, Barbara Brown, Hannah Hitchcock, Frances Parker, Harriet Warner, Alma Warner ("when she arrives of adult age"), Mary White Warner ("when she arrives," etc.), Eleisa Warner ("when she arrives," etc.), William Augustus Warner ("when 21"; "to be educated at college"), and Jonathan Warner to whom is given the home farm in Hardwick; land in Craftsbury mentioned. Wife Sarah and son Jonathan made the executors. Witnesses, Royal Corbin, James Paddock, Eunice Crafts.

[29-35] The nuncupative will of Thomas Trumbell, Craftsbury, made sometime in Nov. 1802, was allowed 15 Feb. 1803, on the testimony of Robert Trumbell, Daniel Mason, and John Babcock. The will was "taken down about 3 or 4 days before the decease of s<sup>d</sup> Thomas." Bequests made to daughter Nancy Trumbell, to eldest son James Trumbell, and to William Trumbell, "the other son." The heirs, "Agnes" Trumbell, James Trumbell, and Daniel Mason, guardian of William, express themselves as satisfied. Daniel Mason appointed administrator. Part of the land of said Thomas was held in common with his brother, Robert Trumbell. An inventory (very interesting) was filed 4 Apr. 1803. An account rendered 26 Sept. 1803, mentions Agnes Somers, James [Trumbell], and the guardian of William Trumbell.

[36-40] The will of Sarah Whitney, Wolcott, signed 27 Dec. 1802, was presented 21 Mar. 1803. To daughter Thankful Whitney, among other things, "my great bible"; daughter Sarah Parsell; "my other children," Jeremiah, Zadock, Nathan, William, Josiah, Hezekiah, Jesse, and Ira Whitney; the heirs of daughters Hannah and Margaret, deceased; reference made to her late husband, Hezekiah Whitney; Thomas Taylor, the executor. Witnesses, Gamaliel Taylor, Darius Fitch, Ezekiel Pond. Inventory taken 1 May 1803.

[41-43] Administration on the estate of Elisha W. Smith, Eden, given to Jedediah Hutchins and Reubin Smith, of the same place, 23 July 1803. Inventory presented 22 Sept. Deceased evidently an apothecary. Appraisers and commissioners appointed; list of creditors given; allowance made to the widow.

[44-46] Administration on the estate of John Marret, Derby, given to Hon. Timothy Hinman, Esq., of Derby, Dec. 1803. Inventory presented 9 July 1804. A list of claims given; but that of John Marrett, Jr., not allowed.

[47-48] The will of John Ward, Greensboro (no date), was presented for probate 16 Sept. 1804 by the executors, Daniel Chase and Nathaniel Norris, both of Hardwick, Caledonia Co. The will mentions Comfort Chase; Thomas Ward who is to have "cloth at Mr. N. Piper's in Sanborntown, N. H., and a piece of Jane Cloth"; residue to Jonathan Ward and Mary Ward, "my brother and sister." Witnesses, Nathaniel Norris, Daniel Chase, Caty Chase. Appraisers and claimants given, among the latter of whom appears the name of Jonathan Ward. Residue paid 17 Sept. 1806, to Jonathan Ward and Mercy Norris [sic] in equal portions.

[49-52] Administration on the estate of Josiah Reed, Westfield, was given to Rodolphus Reed of Westfield, 10 Nov. 1804, a son of the deceased. Inventory presented 21 Nov. 1804; list of creditors. Hannah Reed, the widow, enters a petition, 7 May 1805.

[53] Benjamin Tidd of New Braintree, Worcester Co., Mass., is made administrator of George Wilkinson, of the same, deceased, who had estates in Orleans Co. Power given 3 June 1805. The inventory speaks of a lot in the town of Greensboro, in the original right of Calvin White, which was purchased of David Oane.

[54-57] Administration on the estate of Robert Chambers of Glover, deceased, given to Ralph Parker of same town, 5 June 1806. Inventory taken 4 Aug. A list of claimants given. An account shows articles delivered to the widow of the deceased.

[58-60] Administration on the estate of Roswell Chamberlin, late of Craftsbury, given to Daniel Mason and Martha Chamberlin. The inventory, taken 14 Aug. is that of a country merchant and interesting. An account speaks of money paid to Daniel Chamberlin, the widow's thirds, and support for two children until seven years old; Hiram Mason, guardian of said children, whose names were Schyler and Erastus Chamberlin, both under fourteen.

[61-63] Administration on the estate of Jacob White, late of Craftsbury, was given to Samuel French of the same, 10 Feb. 1807. Inventory dated 14 Feb. A list of creditors given; the widow asks for clemency.

[64-65] John S. Johnson of Haverhill, N. H., is given power to administer on estate of Caleb Johnson, late of Portland, Me., 1 Apr. 1807, said estate located in Greensboro. An inventory taken 14 Apr. speaks of land laid out originally to Julius Demming.

[66-67] At a court held 10 Oct. 1806, Josiah White of Northampton and Elizabeth Stone of Chesterfield, N. H., were made administrators of John Stone, late of Chesterfield, who had estate in Morristown, Orleans Co. Said petitioners held a previous appointment as administrators elsewhere, dated 25 Sept. 1804.

[68-71] Administration on the estate of John Phips, late of Greensboro, was granted 22 Apr. 1808 to Aaron Blanchard of the same. Inventory dated 19 May. In a petition of same date the widow mentions a child under seven years of age. A list of creditors given. In an account, presented 22 Mar. 1809, money had been paid for the support of Samuel Phipps, under seven years of age.

[72-78] On 16 June 1808 William Sanborn and Mary Sheppard, widow of the deceased, and both of Greensboro, were appointed administrators of estate of Ashbel Sheppard, late of Greensboro. Inventory taken 20 June. In the petition the widow speaks of herself as in very feeble health and weakened by the long and exhausting sickness of her husband. Book accounts and creditors exhibited. An account, presented 2 Apr. 1810, speaks of money paid for the support of children under seven. The residue to be paid to the heirs or their guardians, who were appointed 20 Feb. 1809 as follows: Amos Blanchard guardian of William-Scott and Lucinda; David Vance guardian of Ansel and Hervey; James Andrews guardian of Mary, and Aaron Sheppard, Esq., guardian of Ashbel.

[79-82] Luther Bayley of Peacham, father-in-law of the deceased, was made administrator of the estate of John Goss, late of Greensboro, 24 May 1808. An inventory was presented 26 May; a list of creditors given. July 1810 the administrator made report that the real estate had been sold to James Andrew. The widow and "some small children" moving to Peacham before the final settlement, "guardians were appointed by the judge."

[83-87] Administration on the estate of Jotham Howard, late of Westfield, given to James Coburn of Westfield 20 Apr. 1808. Inventory presented 10 July. Real estate bid in at auction by Calvin Eaton, Esq. An account rendered speaks of the widow, Sarah Howard, and four small children, two of whom are under seven; last date, 2 Apr. 1810.

[88-89] James Whitelaw, Esq., made administrator of estate of John Dodd, Jr., late of Hartford, Conn., 3 July 1809. Said intestate had lands in Orleans Co. Inventory speaks of land in the townships of Morgan, Wenlock, and Essex. Account rendered 3 June 1810.

[90-92] The will of Mary Sheppard, widow, late of Greensboro, signed 9 Jan. 1809, was presented for probate 18 Feb. 1809. Capt. James Andrew and David Vance "my brother," are named as the executors. Children named in the will, William-Scott, Lucinda, Ansel, Harvey, Mary, and Ashbel. Of these Mary and Ansel were under fourteen. A bequest to Abigail, wife of Moses Chamberlin, late of Greensboro, and two sheep to Elizabeth, wife of Jesse Whitney of Walcott. Witnesses, Thomas Tolman, Samuel Huntington, and Aaron Shepard. James Andrew rendered an account, 22 Dec. 1810, by which it appears that the two daughters, Lucinda and Mary, were under guardianship.

[93-96] The will of Joseph Washburn (see [108]), late of Greensboro, was presented for probate 13 Dec. 1810; Erastus Washburn, executor. Inventory presented 7 Jan. 1811. The executor rendered an account (? final) 5 Apr. 1812, in which the names of Amasa Washburn, Nathaniel W. Washburn, and Asabel Washburn appear.

[100-101] The will of Abijah Shumway, late of Sturbridge, Mass., signed 12 July 1808, was presented at Worcester, Mass., by the executors, Salem Towne, Esq., and Mr. Comfort Johnson, 7 Sept. 1808. Witnesses, Abel Allen, jun., Penuel Cheney, and Huldah Cheney. The will, received at Orleans Co. 6 July 1809, mentions Lucy, the wife of the deceased; sons Abijah, jun., and Samuel Shumway, 2d; daughters Lucy, Esater, and Nancy Shumway.

[102-103] The will of Obed Dort, late of Brownington, signed 13 July 1809, was presented for probate 18 Aug. 1809; executors, George Nye and Candis Dort, the widow. Witnesses, William Baxter, Stephen Brownson, and Samuel Smith. The will gives to wife Candis; to father Eliphalet Dort; to two brothers, Eli and John Dort; to nephew Obed, son of brother Eli Dort, who is to have his gun, bayonet, and cartridge box.

[104] The will of James Bangs, late of Stanstead, in the District of Montreal, Lower Canada, carpenter, recorded 3 Sept. 1810. To wife Susanna the real estate in Derby (Vt.); to "my children," Reuben, James, Herman, Samuel, Eliphalet, Benjamin, Oliver, Lavinia Smith, Hannah Ludden, Susanna Clark, and the heirs of the late Mary Wolcott; Benjamin Bangs, the executor; Phineas Hubbard, Abraham Martin, and Daniel Martin, witnesses.

[105-107] The will of David Vance, late of Greensboro, dated 13 Nov. 1810 and received 11 Mar. 1811, names his three daughters, Sophia, Minerva, and Myra, who are not yet of age, and his sons, James (others not legible), Hiram(?), Orrel(?), and Burrel(?); land in Hardwick bought of Charles Cook; executor, Amos Blanchard of Greensboro. Witnesses, Abigail Underhill, Ebenezer Hidden, Thomas Tolman. A codicil speaks of his youngest daughter Myra as given and disposed of to Mr. and Mrs. Amos Blanchard.

[108-109] The will of Joseph Washburn (see [98]), dated 12 Nov. 1810 and probated 13 Dec. following. To wife Patience Washburn; to children, Amasa, Lucinda Sessions, Asahel, Nathaniel-Welmore, Amillesant Clark, and the children of son Joseph, deceased; wife and son Erastus Washburn executors. Witnesses, Joseph Chapman, Timothy Stanley, Ephraim Strong.

[110-111] Will of Thomas Cotton, Hartland, Windsor Co., dated 12 May 1807, and allowed in court at Woodstock 4 Oct. 1808. To wife Mary Cotton, but considering her age and blindness, I appoint Dea. Joseph Grow, Jr., her guardian; to daughter Sarah Russell; to sons Samuel and Melvin Cotton; to grandson John, the son of Luther Cotton, and if he is not living, his share to go to the two daughters (? of Luther), Polly and Sally; to son Ebenezer Cotton; the remainder to sons Willard Cotton, Luther Cotton, Samuel Cotton, and daughter Sarah Russell. Stephen Maine, Esq., is named as executor, but if he die, then Mr. Isaac Maine, his father, is to succeed him. Witnesses, Joseph, Samuel, and Jerusha Grow.

[112-113] Obed Dort's estate (see [102]). Inventory taken 31 Aug. 1809, George Nye as one of the executors pays the balance to the widow 30 Dec. 1812.

[114-118] Administration on the estate of Anthony Burgess, late of Westfield, was granted 1 July 1810 to William Hobbs of Westfield; appraisers and commissioners named. The account of the latter exhibits among others the names of Joseph and William Burgess. The widow received her dower rights. William Hobbs, having removed from the State of Vermont, was succeeded by Caleb Hitchcock of Westfield as administrator, who reported to the judge 1 Oct. 1811, and again 4 Jan. 1813.

[119-123] On the petition of Russell Corey for the heirs of Simeon Corey, late of Craftsbury, Leonard Holmes was appointed administrator 25 1812. Various papers were filed by which it appears that the heirs were Mary Corey, the widow of deceased; Russell Corey, a son; Isaac Jenne and wife Millescent Jenne of Lutterloh, Orleans Co.; John Fairman and wife Anna of the same; Benjamin Spalding and wife; Stephen Corey of Craftsbury; Ralph Corey and Lucy Corey, both of the same town.

[124-130] Mary Gates, widow of Elnathan Gates, late of Greensboro, was appointed administratrix 18 Jan. 1812. Inventory taken 30 Jan. and a board of commissioners reported Jan. 1813. After the payment of debts Mary Gates was employed to pay the heirs at law, etc.

[131-134] Matthew [sic] Haines received his appointment as administrator of the estate of his brother, John Haines, late of Greensboro, 29 Jan. 1812. Inventory taken 23 Mar. following; appraisers and commissioners given. In an account rendered the names of Jonathan Haines, Joshua Haines, Matthias Haines, and Matthias Haines, Jr., appear. The final account of Matthias Haines, Jr., the administrator, was examined and accepted 7 Mar. 1814.

[135-140] The will of David Hitchcock, late of Westfield, signed 2 Nov. 1810, was presented for probate 9 Apr. 1811. To wife Olive; eldest son Horatio Hitchcock; son Hiram-Newton Hitchcock; to eldest daughter Mary, and youngest daughter Aphphia, when they are eighteen; speaks of land lying next to Jairus Stebbins; my good nephew Lorin Osman Stebbins; executors, his wife, Asa Hitchcock, and Jairus Stebbins. Witnesses, Amasa Winslow, Jacob Stebbins, and Sarah Hitchcock. Appraisers and commissioners named. Inventory taken 1 Apr. 1811. Asa Hitchcock, one of the executors, presented at court, 7 Mar. 1814, that Olive the widow was then married. He was made guardian of Horatio and Hiram-Newton Hitchcock, 3 June 1814.

[141-143] Administration on the estate of Dr. Gad Morgan, late of Duncansboro, was granted to Nathaniel Dagget 8 Sept. 1812. Inventory taken Feb. 1813.

[144-147] Administration on the estate of Aaron Sheppard, late of Greensboro, on the petition of the widow, was given to Thomas Durkee of Greensboro, 3 June 1811. A list of claims, filed 1 Feb. 1812, includes the name of Prentis Sheppard. An account rendered 5 July 1813 speaks of paying the widow for the support of the family.

ANNABLE.—In the register of marriages at All Saint's, Cambridge (Phillemore's Cambridgeshire Parish Registers: Marriages, vol. 4, p. 9), occurs that of "Anthony Annable & Jane Moumford [Momford] 26 Ap. 1619." Anthony Annable came in 1623 with wife Jane and two daughters. He settled at Plymouth, but removed to Scituate and Barnstable (1638-9), in which latter place his wife Jane was buried. He was married twice afterwards. (See Pope's Pioneers, Savage, etc.) Henry Vickers and Elizabeth Annable were married the 9 May following (p. 10).

WILLIAM P. GREENLAW.

MIXER.—Savage's Genealogical Dictionary says that Isaac Mixer came in 1634, aged 31, with wife Sarah, aged 38, and son Isaac, aged 4. In vol. 1, p. 103, of Phillimore and Blagg's Suffolk Marriages, is found Isaac Mixer Jun. and Sarah Thurston married May 11, 1629.

Isaac Mixer, widower and Anna Bloss widow married 12 Feb. 1628.

These are in the registers of Capel St. Mary, and in the same volume are Joseph Briden and Jane Mixer married June 11, 1618.

George Mixer and Doreth Chisnall married 26 Oct. 1630.

It seems possible that this is the family of Isaac Mixer of Watertown.

MARY LOVERING HOLMAN.

The following, taken from The Boston Evening Post for Monday, July 15, 1774, may be of interest:

We hear from Taunton, that on Wednesday last, one Prat was so hurt by a Fall he receiv'd in wrestling, that he died the next Morning. A. B. PAGE.
Dedham, Mass.

KNAP-PRESTON.—On page 445 of the Reed Genealogy, by John Ludivicus Reed, it is stated that Dolly (Dorothy) Knap married first Otis Preston, secondly, Esqr. Whitney and removed to Uxbridge. This is incorrect as to the second marriage. She was married but once, and then to Otis Preston.

Dolly Knap (dau. of Job and wife Ruth Reed) was born Sept. 2, 1776, at Douglas, Mass., and married July 23, 1797, Otis Preston (son of Amariah and wife Susannah Wood) at Douglas, Mass. They settled at Roxbury, Delaware County, N. Y., and left a great many descendants. Dolly died January 24, 1828, at Roxbury, N. Y., and her husband died April 17, 1838, at the same place. He was a major-general in the New York state militia. H. L. PRESTON.

HAMPDEN COUNTY, MASS., RECORDS.—The Deposition of Benjamin Cooley aged fifty two years or thereabouts

This Deponent sayth that upon his knowledge Jonathan Burt of Springfield lived in the house & upon the lot which was Hugh Parsons at the tyme when Mr. John Allyn of Hartford married Mr. Henry Smiths Daughter then of Springfield. For a day or Two after Mr. Allyn was married I went along with Mr. Allyn down to Jonathan Burts house to give him a visit, so that I am clear he then lived in the house, & on the land of Hugh Parsons, which still to this day he Continues in, & I always reckoned he had bought it, having so heard, & seeing and knowing him peaceably to enjoy it & know noyhing contrary yet, and further saith not.

Taken upon oath this 6th of November 1669.

QUERIES

BRISBANE.—I am preparing a genealogy of the ancestors and descendants of James and William Brisbane, brothers, who emigrated from Scotland and settled in South Carolina before 1743. Known issue of James: Robert and James; of William: William Alexander, Catherine (married first, 1763, Joseph Elliott; secondly, 1773, Andrew Hewatt), Adam Fowler, Margaret (married, 1771-4, Matthew Paterson), Robert, and Hannah. I should be glad to hear from descendants, both in the male and female line, or from others, giving information.

ADDRESS OF THE PRESIDENT

MEMBERS OF THE

NEW ENGLAND HISTORIC GENEALOGICAL SOCIETY :

We have entered upon the second decade of the Twentieth Century. The first lies behind us, a decade of memories, not only of success attained, of useful work accomplished, but, better still, of association with men who in their devotion to our common interests have endeared themselves to us by giving expression to those higher spiritual qualities which lift man out of the murk of selfishness into the clear atmosphere of brotherhood.

Since we entered upon the past decade how many of our fellowship, as full of life and hope as ourselves, have dropped on the busy way. We miss their presence among us, and our hearts echo the words of the poet, "But O! for the touch of a vanish'd hand, And the sound of a voice that is still."

We should be dull indeed if we did not foresee that when this Society enters upon its next decade many of us will have finished our work and passed beyond the vision of men.

Looking outside of our own sphere of activities, the past decade has been one not altogether encouraging. If I were asked what was its dominant characteristic, I should have to reply, a spirit of bitter discontent. My morning newspaper is defiled with the harshest personal criticism and abuse, and with staring headlines describing strikes, riots, kidnappings, holdups, and murderous outrages.

A Russian gentleman, who has been living for some time in New England and is now on his way home, alluding to this state of affairs, remarked recently that in no country in which he had lived had he felt that he was in so much danger of meeting with a violent death as here. In the streets of St. Petersburg and Moscow, where he had lived during the periods which foreigners regard as the worst in modern Russian history, he declared that he had felt far safer than he had in the streets of our large cities, and, in support of his conclusions, cited our newspapers and the criminal statistics of the United States and Russia. His American friends were, of course, greatly surprised. The fact is, that while we have been rapidly advancing in education and wealth, we have had pouring into our industrial centres a vast number of ignorant and vicious immigrants, who, having lived to maturity in countries where the most repressive laws exist, are inimical to the established order which has held them in bondage, and naturally regard all law as oppressive; hence, they revolt against the slightest restraint and are quick to resent attempts to maintain public order.

No lover of his country can fail to regard its overcrowding with undesirable citizens except with apprehension. It is unwise and unfair to our descendants to subject them, and the institutions we are building for them, to the grave dangers which the present almost unrestricted immigration is sure to bring upon them. The popular whim that this country should by right be "the refuge for the oppressed of all nations" finds its refutation in the Black Hand, the Camorra, and other murderous associations which we have so complacently permitted to establish themselves in our midst.

On the other hand, the decade passed will be noted for what has been accomplished for the cause of universal peace. The American Delegation at the Hague will always be held in grateful remembrance for its achievements in supporting and procuring the adoption of measures for the settlement of international disputes by peaceful means, and especially for its persistent efforts towards the establishment of a permanent Court of Arbitration.

I speak of these subjects because I know that the members of this Society, representing as they do an institution which is a bulwark of the social order established by the Founders of New England, are interested in all efforts which are calculated to preserve it in its integrity.

Recurring now to our own activities during the decade passed, our records show encouraging progress. The past year will be especially marked as the beginning of a movement which will result in securing a new home for the Society. Recognizing that the time was ripe to undertake the erection of a fireproof building suitable for our purposes, you voted at our December meeting "That the Council of the New England Historic Genealogical Society be and hereby is authorized and instructed to erect a suitable building for the present and probable future needs of the Society on the land now owned by it on Beacon Hill, with an entrance from Ashburton Place; and also to make all plans necessary to financing this undertaking."

By the acquisition of the land on Ashburton Place we shall secure for the new building a much more desirable entrance than we now possess, with offices on the first floor, and a hall in the basement; and, above all, shall have a stack room of ample dimensions and absolutely safe for our invaluable library.

The cost of the building it is estimated will not exceed one hundred thousand dollars, and I am happy to state that we already have pledges toward our building fund of fourteen thousand five hundred dollars.

If the work is pushed, as I believe it will be, I see no reason why our next annual meeting may not be held in our own Hall. Of course we shall need to increase our income, and an increase in membership is most desirable. If every member will make a successful effort to secure but one new member, so as to double our present membership, we shall have an ample income to meet all expenses. Will not everyone present make it a duty to secure at least one new member?

I particularly wish to emphasize the call of the Council for additional endowment funds in order that desirable lines of work already undertaken by the Society may be pushed with vigor, and it is suggested that an opportunity is afforded by this need of endowment for the establishment of memorial funds, the income of which shall be used for specific purposes.

The officers invite members to confer with them relative to the promotion of the interests of the Society, in specific lines of work, and also to co-operate with them in all ways calculated to improve its affairs.

Our finances are in a sound condition. During the year we have received bequests of $2500, and have made an advantageous sale of our equity in a portion of our property, No. 16 Somerset Street, for $14,500. We have acquired a valuable addition to our real estate, giving us an entrance on Ashburton Place, and greatly increasing the desirability of our property.

We need, also, a number of small contributions to enable us to continue the work of English Research, and it is hoped that persons specially interested in this branch of work may find pleasure in helping the Society to maintain it. The excellent work which the Research Committee has accomplished the past year is known to all who read the REGISTER.

The important work of adding to our collection of books and manuscripts has been faithfully attended to during the year, as will be observed by the detailed reports of the committee to which the work has been intrusted.

Particular care has been bestowed upon collecting books in current demand, and this policy will be continued in the future. The Library Committee has kept ever in view the laudable ideal of a library complete in every respect and unsurpassed in practical usefulness. A comprehensive card-index of genealogical data relating to American families, wherever found, which was suggested by our most efficient Librarian, has been begun and, when completed and eventually printed, will be invaluable to the genealogical student.

Excellent work has been accomplished in the collection of manuscripts, many having been added to the Library during the year, among the most important being the "Diary of Josiah Williston of Boston, 1808-1814," and the collection of manuscripts used in compiling the Hodges Genealogy.

The loose blanks for recording genealogical data concerning a single genealogical unit, parents and children, which, as it expands, will form a unique dictionary of family history, is commended to the use of all seeking genealogical information.

I have not attempted to review the Librarian's report for the reason that it is so interesting and suggestive that it would seem supererogatory in me to do so. It is a document that every member should have the satisfaction of reading in its entirety rather than scattered gleanings from it.

In addition to our periodical publications and the report of our sixty-fifth anniversary, which comprise 565 pages, the Society has published 2219 pages of Vital Records.

A plan was inaugurated the first of the year to secure advertisements for the REGISTER, and in response to solicitating through the mail $196.00 was added to our income.

Special effort has also been made for the sale of our publications and miscellaneous books, which has resulted in a total of $1076.79.

In the death of William Carver Bates, the efficient chairman of the Committee on the Sale of Publications, the Society has lost a man whose place will be hard to fill. He was one whose genial manner and untiring zeal in performing all the duties that devolved upon him, rendered him of great service to the Society. His presence at our meetings was always a delight to me, and I regard his loss as a personal one.

I have not thought it necessary to refer specially to the doings of all the committees, as they are all in print, and will be furnished to every member of the Society.

Thanking you for unvarying courtesy and good will, and your generous co-operation with the efforts of the Council to advance our common interests, I wish you all a happy and prosperous year.

PROCEEDINGS

---

THE sixty-seventh annual meeting of the Society was held on Wednesday, January 25, 1911, at Pilgrim Hall, 14 Beacon Street, at 2.30 p. m., President BAXTER presiding.

The records of the meeting of January 4 were approved.

Relative to the printed reports which had been distributed to the members present, it was Voted, That the reports of the Corresponding Secretary, the Treasurer, the Librarian, the Historian, the Council, including its Committees, and the Trustees of the Kidder Fund, being presented in print, and now in the hands of the meeting, be accepted and ordered on file with the originals.

On motion of FRANK ELIOT BRADISH, it was Voted, To proceed to the election of officers and councillors agreeable to chapter IV of the By-laws, and that three tellers be appointed by the chair who shall receive and count the ballots and report to this meeting.

President BAXTER appointed as temporary chairman CHARLES SIDNEY ENSIGN, LL.B. The Chairman appointed as tellers: HENRY EDWARDS SCOTT of Medford, LAWRENCE BRAINERD of Forest Hills, and CHARLES FRENCH READ of Brookline, who received the ballots.

During the counting of the ballots JOHN ALBREE, the Recording Secretary, read a paper, entitled An Old Diary of a Young Man. In this diary, which the speaker when a boy found on its way to the paper mill, a young army officer recounted his experiences, official, social, and personal, in Washington during a winter in President John Quincy Adams's administration.

After a vote of thanks to the speaker, the tellers made their report, by which it appeared that the following were elected to the respective offices as designated:

President

JAMES PHINNEY BAXTER, A.M., Litt.D., of Portland, Me.

Vice-Presidents

HENRY WINCHESTER CUNNINGHAM, A.B., of Manchester, Mass.

WILLIAM DAVIS PATTERSON, of Wiscasset, Me.

JONATHAN EASTMAN PECKER, B.S., of Concord, N. H.

WILLIAM WALLACE STICKNEY, LL.D., of Ludlow, Vt.

GEORGE CORLIS NIGHTINGALE, of Providence, R. I.

JAMES JUNIUS GOODWIN, LL.D., of Hartford, Conn.

Recording Secretary

JOHN ALBREE, of Swampscott, Mass.

Corresponding Secretary

WILLIAM RICHARD CUTTER, A.M., of Woburn, Mass.

Treasurer

CHARLES KNOWLES BOLTON, A.B., of Shirley, Mass.

Librarian

WILLIAM PRESCOTT GREENLAW, of Winthrop, Mass.

HOSEA STARR BALLOU, of Brookline, Mass.

Councillors for the term of three years, 1911, 1912, 1913

JEROME CARTER HOSMER, of Boston, Mass.

WALDO LINCOLN, A.B., of Worcester, Mass.

FREDERICK WESLEY PARKER, of Somerville, Mass.

The chairman appointed Messrs. SCOTT and BRADISH to escort the President elect to the chair.

President BAXTER then delivered his annual address, in which he reviewed the work of the Society and spoke of plans for the future.

On motion of CHARLES FRENCH READ, it was Voted, That the proceedings of this meeting, with the annual reports accepted, the address of the President, and the biographical notices of the deceased members, be printed as a supplement to the April, 1911, number of the NEW ENGLAND HISTORICAL AND GENEALOGICAL REGISTER, that a copy of said supplement be mailed to every member of the Society not receiving the REGISTER, to the families of members deceased during the past year, to donors in 1910, and to exchanging societies, and that the Council be charged with the execution of this order.

On motion of HOSEA STARR BALLOU, it was Voted, That the New England Historic Genealogical Society places on record its appreciation of the valued faithful services of its retiring Councillors, WILLIAM SUMNER APPLETON, A.B., ANNIE SANFORD HEAD, and HENRY ERNEST WOODS, A.M., as members of its Council for the past three years, with expression of grateful thanks for their conspicuous devotion to the best interests of the Society.

At 3.45 p. m. it was voted to dissolve, after which refreshments were served, and an opportunity given to examine a miniature painted by the author of An Old Diary.

Attest :

JOHN ALBREE,
Recording Secretary.

---

THE year nineteen hundred and ten has closed, like its predecessors, without revealing here in New England any apparent diminution of interest in those particular objects which this Society was organized to foster and promote. Evidences are not wanting which tend to show an ever increasing activity in genealogical pursuits. If the deductions obtainable from the records of the past are a guide to the future—and the space of time elapsed since the founding of the Society seems sufficient to afford a basis for such deductions—then it may be safely predicted that this growth of interest will continue and manifest itself in a constantly increasing amount of genealogical publications. The accumulation of books appropriate to the Society's library has already become so great that the present building is inadequate to shelve them. Partly because of this need of more space, but more largely because of the danger of irreparable loss by fire, the Council deem it wise to proceed at once with the erection of a safe and adequate building. Twice in the year nineteen hundred and ten the priceless library, which has taken three generations to gather, was in grave peril from causes that could not be foreseen or prevented. Prompt and intelligent action by Mr. Donnelly of the Library staff on one occasion averted a disaster.

After due consideration by special committees, the Council decided to seek full authority to proceed, and as a result the following vote was unanimously passed by the Society at the December meeting, every member having been duly notified of the proposed action :

Voted, That the Council of the New England Historic Genealogical Society be and hereby is authorized and instructed to erect a suitable building for the present and probable future needs of the Society on the land now owned by the Society on Beacon Hill, with an entrance from Ashburton Place; and also to make all plans necessary for financing this undertaking.

During the year negotiations begun in nineteen hundred and nine were completed, by which the Society acquired an outlet to Ashburton Place for the Allston Place land, and also secured desirable neighbors at 16 Somerset Street. This last named property was sold to the Boston Architectural Club, which has made extensive interior alterations suited to its purposes. Number 9 Ashburton Place was purchased so as to secure a more desirable entrance to the proposed new building. It will now be possible to erect a building on the Allston Place land that will not need an elevator, as the slope of the land is great enough to allow a well-lighted hall below the level of Ashburton Place. Offices and stack room can be on the street floor, with the library on the second floor. By this arrangement a single flight of stairs (of approximately sixteen feet up or down) will reach all the rooms used by members or visitors.

Proximity to the state, county and city records, as well as to the main arteries of travel and to the business section of the city, makes this location extremely desirable for the Society and convenient to the majority of its members. The Allston Place land is relatively inexpensive, and the building on it will not need costly exterior ornamentation on account of its location. Low cost of both land and building is exceedingly desirable, because it will be necessary to raise money not only for the building but also for additional endowment to furnish income to meet the expenses incident to growth.

It is estimated that between seventy-five and one hundred thousand dollars will be needed for the building; of which amount the Treasurer already has pledged amounting to over fourteen thousand dollars. Fifty thousand dollars additional endowment is needed at once in order that desirable lines of work already undertaken by the Society may be pushed with vigor. Opportunity is afforded by this need of endowment for the establishment of memorial funds, the income of which shall be used for specific purposes. Due credit can be given to these funds for such purposes as, for instance, the publication of the REGISTER, the compilation and publication of a genealogical guide to the data relating to American families, the compilation and publication of a continuation of the Consolidated Index to the REGISTER, the vigorous prosecution of English research, the purchase of books, the cataloguing of the Library, the binding of books, and the publication of specially appropriate volumes or pamphlets.

The officers will be glad to confer with any one desiring to establish a fund for the furtherance of any of the lines of work suggested above. They will also appreciate the co-operation of all members in solving the problems confronting the Society.

In the death of William Carver Bates the Council and the Society sustained the loss of an energetic and enthusiastic member. To such members in the past the success of the Society has been due, and the Council looks forward with confidence to an increasing interest in the welfare of the Society on the part of all its members.

The Report of the COMMITTEE ON FINANCE, by Hon. James Phinney Baxter, A.M., Litt.D., Chairman :

The Committee on Finance begs to report as follows for the year 1910 :

A legacy of $2,000 has been received from the estate of George Sumner Mann, the income from $1,000 to be spent, if needed, in the publishing of Memorial Biographies of Deceased Members, and the income from the remaining $1,000 to be added every six months to the principal until said sum reaches $5,000, when the income may be used for general expenses.

A legacy of $500 has been received from the estate of Edmund Farwell Slafter, the income to be "expended for the increase and enrichment of the Library."

During the year the property at Number 16 Somerset Street was sold, the Society receiving for its equity a second mortgage for $14,300 and the privilege of buying the property back during the next ten years. At this price the Society made a profit on the sale of this estate.

The Society then bought the estate at 9 Ashburton Place, at a total value of $39,369, subject to a mortgage of $23,000. This estate backs upon the real estate owned by the Society, and makes a new and most desirable frontage for the proposed new building.

Donations of $2,005 towards this building have been received, and $12,500 more are promised, though no special attempt has yet been made to collect funds.

The Report of the COMMITTEE ON THE LIBRARY, by Helen Frances Kimball, Chairman :

The Committee on the Library begs to submit the following report for the year 1910 :

The Committee has held regular monthly meetings (except in the summer), and, either of itself or through a sub-committee which has met at the Library weekly throughout the year, has attended to its routine duties and the matters referred to it by the Council.

Various projects for increasing and improving the Library and making it more useful have been discussed at the monthly meetings, and in several instances action has been taken which it is believed will be beneficial.

Especial attention has been given to gathering books needed to complete the collections of those classes most in demand by members of the Society and visitors to the Library. A progressive policy for the acquisition of desirable books has been planned for the future, by which it is hoped that the Library will be able not only to maintain, but also to add to, its reputation for completeness and usefulness in its special field. The collection of duplicate copies of those books which are most in demand, and which are rapidly wearing out, is progressing steadily. These duplicates practically constitute a circulating department of the Library, which is proving to be very useful to the members.

Responding to the recommendations made in recent reports of the Librarian, the Committee has undertaken to make a comprehensive card index of genealogical data relating to American families and their antecedents found in printed genealogies, pedigrees, local histories, periodicals, collective works, vital records, church records, probate records, biographies, diaries, newspapers, parish registers, visitations, and miscellaneous works. These classes of books are to be indexed as minutely as possible without making the undertaking prohibitively expensive or unnecessarily cumbersome. It is planned to make this index so that it can eventually be printed for general use, and substantial progress on it will probably be made during the coming year.

---

The Report of the COMMITTEE ON PUBLICATIONS, by Henry Winchester Cunningham, A.B., Chairman :

The Committee on Publications reports that during the year 1910, in addition to the REGISTER and Proceedings, which make a volume of 544 pages, the Society published the following :

Report of the Meeting on the Sixty-fifth Anniversary, 21 pages ; the vital records of Tisbury, Wayland, Weymouth, Hanson, Chester, Pembroke, and Foxborough, amounting to 2219 pages—in all 2784 pages for the year's output. Other volumes of vital records are now in preparation.

In the interest of economy the Committee voted to reduce the number printed of REGISTERS and Proceedings, the former from 1500 to 1300 copies, and the latter from 2500 to 2200 copies, and to discontinue the reprinting of any articles from the REGISTER other than those the reprinting of which had already been begun. Contributors are not prevented by this action from reprinting their articles at their own expense, giving twenty-five copies of such reprints to the Society for use of type. The Committee further voted not to use computed dates in the volumes of vital records.

By a vote of the Council in April, 1910, the biographical sketches of deceased members of the Society, which appear in the annual Proceedings of the Society, are, as far as practicable, not to extend beyond one printed page each.

The Report of the COMMITTEE ON PAPERS AND ESSAYS, by Ethel Stanwood Bolton, A.B., Chairman :

The Committee on Papers and Essays submits herewith its annual report, including a list of papers and speakers for the stated meetings of the Society during the year 1910.

January 5.—"Massachusetts Bay and its foreign relations, 1630-1650," by Worthington Chauncey Ford, A.M., of Boston, Mass.

February 2.—"Two ruling elders of the First Church in Boston, Thomas Leverett and Thomas Oliver," by Rev. Charles Edwards Park, B.A., of Boston, Mass.

March 2.—"Fort William Henry," by William Bennett Munro, Ph.D., LL.B., of Cambridge, Mass.

April 6.—"Gustavus Adolphus and his connection with the Puritan uprising," by Hon. Curtis Guild, Jr., LL.D., S.T.D., of Boston, Mass.

May 4.—"Joel Barlow and his Columbiad," by Henry Leland Chapman, D.D., LL.D., of Brunswick, Maine.

October 5.—"Early American Jewish history," by Lee Max Friedman, A.B., LL.B., of Boston, Mass.

November 2.—"Ten English towns," by George Francis Dow, of Topsfield, Mass.

December 7.—"Baronial halls and Elizabethan mansions; their history, romance, and beauty," by Edmund Henry Garrett, of Boston, Mass.

The stated meetings have been held in Pilgrim Hall, Congregational Building, throughout the year, as this was made necessary by the greatly increased attendance. Through a mistake on the part of the agent of the hall, the annual meeting had to be adjourned to Wilder Hall, and the number present at this meeting greatly taxed the seating capacity of our building.

A few years ago, on November 1, 1905, it was found necessary to reduce the quorum of the Society from twenty to ten in order to elect members at the stated meetings. The average attendance for the past year has been 114 (about twenty above the seating capacity of Wilder Hall), as against an average of 73 for 1909. The last three months of the year have shown still further increase.

In December, 1910, Mr. Edmund H. Garrett gave an illustrated lecture on Baronial halls and Elizabethan mansions. The attendance at this meeting was over two hundred and seventy-five, the largest stated meeting in recent years.

The expenses necessitated by this large attendance have also grown. In order to keep the quality of the papers to the high excellence of the past few years, it has sometimes been expedient to pay the travelling expenses of such speakers as live at a distance.

Your Committee believes, however, that a judicious expenditure of money for the improvement of these meetings has been fully justified by the results.

The Report of the COMMITTEE TO ASSIST THE HISTORIAN, by Andrew Fiske, Ph.D., Chairman:

As Chairman of the Committee to assist the Historian, I beg to report that early in the year I wrote the Historian, Mr. William R. Cutter, offering him the services of the Committee. He replied that he saw no immediate need of calling the Committee together, but later might be very glad to call for help.

Acting on this suggestion, I have not called the Committee together, and have been waiting for word from the Historian, but up to this time have received no request for assistance.

I, therefore, have to report that your Committee has held no meetings and done no work.

---

The Report of the COMMITTEE ON ENGLISH RESEARCH, by Charles Sherburne Penhallow, A.B., Chairman :

The Committee on English Research has the pleasure of reporting that it has received sufficient support to continue its work in England with Miss French, whose gleanings have been published regularly in the REGISTER. It has in hand interesting matter which will appear in the April issue.

The lists of emigrants supplied by Miss French and Mr. Fothergill will be completed in the April and July numbers, respectively, and more space will probably be available hereafter for the gleanings from Miss French in addition to the space now occupied by her contributions.

The accompanying account will show a widespread interest on the part of the members of the Society. It is hoped that further additions to the fund will be such as to enable the Committee to carry on the work in the future as a part of the regular work of the Society.

The Committee desires to thank the members of the Society whose generosity has made it possible to retain Miss French in England the past year.

The Report of the COMMITTEE ON HERALDRY, by Robert Dickson Weston, A.B., Chairman:

The Committee on Heraldry begs leave to report that during the past year its members have held themselves ready individually to help all persons asking for information or guidance in regard to heraldic matters, but that no questions have arisen which have required action by them as a committee.

While the Committee is not altogether satisfied with the attitude of the Society towards the use of armorial bearings by people in the United States, and is painfully considering various propositions which it may wish to bring forward later, it is not ready at the present time to formulate or suggest to the Society any definite plan of action.

The Report of the COMMITTEE ON EPITAPHS, by John Albee, Chairman:

During the year 1910 the Society has received from Franklin P. Rice, Esq., inscriptions from the cemeteries at Bolton and Warren, and from the Eddy Town Record Fund those from Weymouth, Wayland, Foxborough, Chester, Pembroke, and Hanson. The facts contained therein, not elsewhere recorded, have been used to supplement the omissions in the records of the various towns as printed in the series of vital records. The large supplementary use made of data from these copies of inscriptions shows their value, and emphasizes the need of having copies made of inscriptions in other towns. Correspondence to this end has been conducted during the year with persons in other New England states who are in a position to give thought to the work.

Mr. P. Hildreth Parker, for whose painstaking and careful work in copying inscriptions the Committee has had several times to express its obligations, has donated the copy of inscriptions, some seven hundred and fifty in all, in still another town, North Reading. A complete index has been added to the work.

The Report of the COMMITTEE ON COLLECTION OF RECORDS, by Edward Chauncey Booth, M.D., Chairman :

The Committee on Collection of Records begs to submit the following report for the year 1910 :

Through the individual efforts of the members of the Committee a goodly number of manuscripts has been added to the Library during the year 1910, the most important of which are the Diary of Josiah Williston of Boston, 1808-1814, and a large collection of manuscripts from which the Hodges genealogy was compiled by the late Almon Danforth Hodges, Jr. The painstaking care, the patience and perseverance in pursuit of a single purpose, and the scholarly thoroughness of research revealed by this mass of neatly written and fully classified data, are characteristic of the compiler in whatever he undertook.

The Committee has designed, and had printed, blanks for recording genealogical data to form an expansive dictionary of heads of families. These blanks are arranged for recording on the REGISTER plan the genealogical and biographical information concerning one genealogical unit (father, mother, and their children) per sheet. These are to be filed in the Society's Library in loose-leaf binders in alphabetical order by surnames, and alphabetically under each surname by Christian names. The patent binder adopted permits indefinite expansion of this arrangement, thus affording a method for making readily accessible one or more genealogical units of any family without expense for cataloguing and at a minimum expense for binding.

The special purpose of this dictionary is for gathering and making instantly available genealogical information—especially unprinted data—relating to American families.

The Committee suggests the use of this dictionary to members, professional genealogists, and all others who wish to preserve and make available to the public appropriate unprinted data, such as records from family Bibles, lines of ancestry, corrections of printed books, the solutions of difficult genealogical problems, the evidences of English ancestry, and all similar information. Blank forms for this dictionary may be secured at the Library.

Report of the COMMITTEE ON THE CONSOLIDATED INDEX, by F. Apthorp Foster, Chairman :

The Committee on Consolidated Index begs to report that the Index of Places in volumes 1-50 of the REGISTER is ready to send to the printer. Several new subscribers to the Index have been secured during the year past, and it is hoped to receive orders for more copies as soon as the Index of Places is printed.

The Report of the COMMITTEE ON THE SALE OF PUBLICATIONS, prepared for the Committee by Mary E. Stickney.

The Committee on the Sale of Publications begs leave to report that during the year 1910 special effort was made by the Committee to increase the number of advertisements in the REGISTER. One hundred and six letters were sent to genealogists, genealogical printers and publishers, and dealers in genealogical books, soliciting advertisements for the REGISTER, to be arranged as business cards by classes under appropriate headings. The response to these letters has been very gratifying, $196.00 having been received before December 31. This advertising matter is to be reprinted as a directory for general circulation and for use in answering those who inquire by mail for such services as are furnished by the firms and individuals whose names appear in it.

Letters have also been sent to libraries having partial sets of the REGISTER, offering to assist in their completion. As a result a number of sales have been made, the receipts amounting to $905.19, a sum considerably in excess of the estimate for the year. The proceeds from the sale of miscellaneous books have been $171.60.

On November 6, 1910, by the death of William Carver Bates, the Committee lost its efficient chairman, a man whose untiring energy and never ceasing interest here, as in all other branches of the Society's work wherein he served as a member of a committee, have accomplished good results.

The Report of the COMMITTEE ON INCREASE OF MEMBERSHIP, by Louie Dean White, Chairman :

The Committee on Increase of Membership begs leave to report as follows :

At the first meeting of the Committee, as now formed, it was decided that individual effort for gaining new members should be used by each member of the Committee during the year, and twelve names have been added to the roll by recommendation of the members of the Committee.

REPORT OF THE LIBRARIAN

Presented by WILLIAM PRESOOTT GREENLAW

THE late Hon. Frederic Walker Lincoln once remarked, while engaged in preparing his last annual address to the Bunker Hill Monument Association, that it was not an easy task to prepare fourteen different addresses on the same subject. The full depth of the meaning of Ex-Mayor Lincoln's remark is realized and appreciated by your Librarian as he begins to prepare this, the seventeenth annual report of this Library since his connection with its administration. Without reiterating, then, what has been said so often in former reports concerning the Library's chief need—leaving the presentation of that to the Council and the President—your Librarian will endeavor to examine the original purposes and aims of the founders of the Society for the sake of comparing them with the present trend of the administration of the Library and ascertaining how closely the course then planned is being followed now.

These purposes are probably disclosed fairly and fully in the first publication of the Society, a leaflet afterwards known as "Circular Number One," printed January 28, 1845, about two months before the incorporation of the Society and nearly a year before the opening of the Library. The repetition of these purposes in "Circular Number Two," printed April 30, 1846, over a year after the incorporation and about three months after the beginning of the Library, with only some very slight changes like that produced by the insertion of a hyphen between the words "Historic" and "Genealogical," reveals clearly that at the date of the founding of the Society these purposes were definitely established and fixed in the minds of the gentlemen who organized the institution. The "Nature and objects of the Society" were set forth in these circulars as follows:

"An institution has been formed in Boston, by the name of the NEW ENGLAND HISTORIC-GENEALOGICAL SOCIETY, for the purpose of collecting and preserving the genealogy and history of the early New England families. The object of this Association has justly been regarded as one of great importance as well as curiosity, as well in a philosophical as physical and social point of view. The minds of men are naturally moved to know something of their progenitors—those from whom they have derived their being; and there seems to be an increasing interest in this subject; many are endeavoring to trace their genealogy back at least to the first settlers—the early pilgrims of this country. The Society propose to cultivate this taste, and to give such a direction to these inquiries as will facilitate their labors, and render them of practical importance to individuals and to the public. We wish, by united action, and through the aid of our collections of printed and manuscript works, to furnish the means to every person, descended from an early inhabitant of New England, of tracing his genealogy and history. When our collection shall be sufficient, the Society propose to publish a Genealogical and Biographical Dictionary or History of all New England families. The present time is deemed a suitable one for instituting inquiries of this nature, since the sources of information, by the death of elderly persons, and the destruction of records, are daily becoming lessened, and soon it will be impossible to obtain the desired information at all. In accomplishing their objects, the Society propose to obtain, by solicitation or otherwise, books, papers, original manuscripts, and written communications, relating to them. It is also their intention to suggest the best methods of making genealogical investigations, and the best forms for keeping family registers, and for the public records of births, marriages, and deaths. All donations, either in print or manuscript, will be deposited in the library of the Society, for the use of the members and others; and a description of them carefully entered on the records, in connection with the name of the donor. Should you feel disposed to forward to the Society any book, or original manuscript, or to compile a biographical or genealogical memoir of an individual or family, selected by yourself or proposed by the Society, and particularly your own family or connections, you will confer a public benefit and particularly oblige its members. It is hoped you will so far favor our purpose as to make such contributions as your convenience may permit. The Society will be pleased to receive suggestions, and to correspond with individuals in relation to their objects."

"The Society will gratefully receive donations of the following description:

1. Printed Books, containing Memoirs of individuals or families, Funeral Sermons, Epitaphs, Engraved Portraits, and every other printed document or work, which can, in any way, elucidate the lives and actions of the early inhabitants of New England, or their descendants.
2. Manuscript Documents, containing original copies or abstracts of wills, deeds, settlement and distribution of estates, letters, and autographs, coats of arms, &c.
3. Original, or copies of Family Registers, or Bibles, containing records of births, marriages, and deaths.
4. Original Manuscripts, containing the Genealogy, Biography, or History of early New England settlers, or their descendants.
5. Newspapers, or parts of Newspapers, and other periodical works, containing marriages and deaths, or obituary, or biographical notices of any individuals."

Your Librarian and his assistants find that the minds of men (and women, too) are still being moved to know something of their progenitors, that the interest in this subject still seems to be increasing, and that many are yet endeavoring to trace their ancestry back to the first settlers. The Society continues cultivating this taste by means of its publications and its Library. The officers and committees have not ceased trying to direct these inquiries so as to facilitate research. The idea of a great genealogical and biographical dictionary of New England is even now under discussion by members and committees of the Society, and estimates of the size and cost* of compiling and publishing such a work have been prepared recently by Mr. J. Gardner Bartlett. The present time is still deemed suitable for rescuing from destruction the genealogical data found in old records, and for gathering information from aged persons, the Librarian having a special committee to assist him in this particular work. The Library staff continues to obtain, by solicitation and otherwise, books and manuscripts germane to the purposes of the Society as set forth in this early declaration. One may obtain at the Library information and suggestions as to the best methods of making genealogical investigations and for recording or publishing the information gathered. Even the accession records of the Library, with the names of the donors, are kept on the lines suggested in this early document. The officers of the Society are now, as in the past, receiving suggestions from and corresponding with a great many individuals in relation to the various divisions of the Society's work.

The declaration of purposes, as set forth in these early circulars, indicates clearly that this Library was intended to be primarily genealogical. No warrant for trying to make anything else of it is found in the act of the Commonwealth in 1845, creating a corporation "for the purpose of collecting, preserving, and occasionally publishing genealogical and historical matter relating to early New England families."

Acting on this interpretation of the scope of this Library, those in charge of it have been striving for many years to make it excel in its particular field, believing that among libraries it should be the court of last resort for printed and manuscript information relating to New England families, their antecedents, and their descendants wherever found. In this work of building up the Library the Librarian has had the hearty co-operation and support of the members of the Society, many having freely and cheerfully rendered information, advice, and assistance individually, while others have co-operated through service on various committees. That a large degree of success has been achieved by this co-operation concentrated on a specific purpose is evident from the Library itself and its reputation here and abroad.

\* Mr. Bartlett, in an elaborate typewritten "Proposition for a Genealogical Encyclopedia of New England," which is intended to include all the settlers who arrived here before 1700 and four generations of their descendants, estimates that such an undertaking would make about 25 quarto volumes, averaging 721 pages each. The cost of compilation he estimates at \$38,000, and the printing at \$40,000 for an edition of 400 copies. By analyzing 100 genealogies which were printed in the REGISTER from 1898 to 1910, he finds 2,297 married heads of families in four generations, an average of 22.97 per family. From this analysis he deduces  $2\frac{1}{2}$  as the ratio of increase per generation. He estimates the total married male heads in the first four generations to be 110,000, 5000 of whom are in the first, 12,000 in the second, 28,000 in the third, and 65,000 in the fourth. He further estimates that the work would include the genealogical data relating to 781,000 persons. It is interesting to note that Mr. Bartlett believes that accurate data is available in this library concerning 85,000 of the estimated 110,000 families.

Accessions.

Four hundred and thirty-one genealogies have been placed in the Library in 1910, a number exceeding by eighty-eight the annual average of the previous eight years, making a total of three thousand one hundred and seventy-two (3,172) for the last nine years, an average of three hundred and fifty-two per year. The total accessions of the year number 712 volumes, 617 pamphlets, and 168 miscellaneous articles. Of these, 301 volumes, 98 pamphlets, and 8 miscellaneous articles were purchased; 319 volumes, 494 pamphlets, and 160 miscellaneous articles were given; and 92 volumes and 25 pamphlets were received in exchange. These accessions added to the estimated number reported last year give 36,188 volumes and 36,053 pamphlets as the approximate number in the Library December 31, 1910.

Condition of the Library.

Very few indeed are the books coming within a strict and narrow interpretation of the scope of the Library which cannot be consulted here. Many are the books outside a strict and narrow, yet within a broad interpretation, which can be seen here. Although the Library is not fully catalogued, yet through the convenient classification and arrangement of the books, and the skill of the library staff, it is possible for a member or a visitor to consult many books in a brief time. It is owing to this fact, probably, that so many come here to trace genealogy, and that the Society's books are rapidly wearing out.

For the first time in years a substantial balance ($634.56) of the income of the book-funds was unexpended at the end of the year—a fact that indicates the completeness of the Library or the rarity of the items wanted. Now that funds are apparently available for the purpose, the work of gathering duplicates of the more important books ought to receive more attention. The time to secure such books is before scarcity increases the price. They certainly will be needed before many years to replace worn-out copies, and they prove very useful to the membership as a circulating division of the Library.

For the benefit of those who are fond of making comparisons of libraries on the basis of the number of titles contained, without regard to duplicates or manuscripts, it may be well to state here that this Society has a large collection of genealogical manuscripts, and that it has in actual use five sets of Savage's Dictionary (not counting one in use in England by the Committee on English Research), five sets of the REGISTER, duplicates of a great many books like Bond's Watertown, Wyman's Charlestown, the Essex Institute Historical Collections, the Mayflower Descendant, and more than a dozen copies of Munsell's Genealogical Index. These manuscripts and duplicates form an important part of this Library, and its usefulness would be impaired without them. The real measure of a library is probably found in the service it renders rather than in the number of titles it contains. At present the average use of this Library is about ninety-four hours of consultation a day, equivalent to about eleven persons consulting books constantly from the time the Library is open in the morning until it is closed at night. Many of the visitors come from outside New England, and some are directed here from other libraries to consult books that cannot be found at home. Happily the Society in such instances is usually able to maintain its reputation. The range of visitors at any one time is from one to thirty. The average attendance is much higher in the afternoon than in the forenoon, and Saturday is always a busy day.

Wants of the Library.

The Library needs the constant and persistent continuation of its policy of specialization. The idea of specialization has as its logical outcome, eventually, the transfer to other institutions of some of the things that have been gathered here in the past which are not appropriate to this Library. The idea also carries with it a suggestion for the general co-operation of all the libraries in this vicinity incorporated for special purposes. It is only through such specialization and co-operation, and by wise regulations for the use of these special collections, that the greatest amount can be accomplished at the lowest cost. Perhaps it is not going too far to say that the people of Massachusetts, because of the privileges granted by charters, have a right to expect the officers of this and kindred institutions to administer their trusts so that the greatest amount of public benefit may be secured at the lowest cost.

MEMOIRS

Prepared by WILLIAM RICHARD CUTTER, A.M., Historian

---

THE following pages contain obituary notices of members who died during the year 1910, with the addition of five deceased in the preceding year. The notices are arranged in the order in which the deaths occurred.

JOSEPH BENJAMIN MOORS of Boston, a resident member since 1904, died at Boston April 30, 1909. He was born at Groton, Mass., October 9, 1831, the son of Benjamin and Abigail (Farwell) Moors. His father was a native of Groton, and his mother of Tyngsborough.

Mr. Moors was educated at the Groton Academy. He was married, October 20, 1858, to Maria Buckminster, daughter of Josiah M. and Mary Buckminster (Bullard) Jones, and had the following children: Arthur Wendell, born November 14, 1859; John Farwell, October 31, 1861; Francis Joseph, January 23, 1864; Maria Buckminster, April 21, 1866; Ethel Prescott, March 28, 1869; and Adelaide, August 17, 1874.

HARRY YOUNG of Brookline, Mass., a resident member from 1898, was born at Melrose, Mass., November 1, 1860, and died at Brookline June 21, 1909. He was the son of Amos Stevens and Julia Ellen (Nevens) Young, his mother being the daughter of Edward P. and Julia (Dix) Nevens. Mr. Young traced his line of ancestry from Thomas,<sup>1</sup> Thomas,<sup>2</sup> Sanford Chase,<sup>3</sup> to his father, Amos Stevens<sup>4</sup> Young.

His parents moved to Boston when he was a few months old, and lived there until November, 1882, when they moved to Brookline. In the public schools of the former city, and at the private schools of Mr. Brooks in Winter Street and that of Mr. Ayers in Somerset Street, Mr. Young received his education. He was a salesman with his father for the firm of Whitten, Burdett, and Young, was engaged in the clothing business from January, 1881, to May, 1892, and soon after went into business with his father under the name of A. S. Young & Company, but sold his interest in 1895.

Mr. Young was interested in music, and sang in a church choir for twenty years. He was a member of St. Paul's Episcopal Church of Brookline, and the following organizations: the Arlington and Boylston Clubs, Sons of the Revolution, Society of Colonial Wars, and the First Corps of Cadets from 1884 to 1891.

He was married October 23, 1889, to Laura Francis, daughter of Charles Augustus and Jane (Chedell) Smith.

JOSEPH EBER BEALS of Middleborough, Mass., a resident member from 1894, died at Middleborough September 3, 1909. He was born there March 18, 1834, the son of Eber and Lucy (Vaughan) Beals. His parents were natives of the same town, his mother being the daughter of John and Sarah (Cushman) Vaughan. Through the Cushman line he claimed descent from Elder Robert Cushman of Plymouth. He traced his direct line to John<sup>1</sup> Beals, through Nathaniel,<sup>2</sup> Nathaniel,<sup>3</sup> Solomon,<sup>4</sup> Solomon,<sup>5</sup> Solomon,<sup>6</sup> Eber.<sup>7</sup>

He received the first part of his education in the Red School-house on the corner,* and prepared for college at Pierce Academy, pursuing at the same time an advanced course in mathematics. He closed his school days in 1854, and entered a printing office, teaching school during the winter months for eight years, and working during the other portion of the year at printing. In 1856-57 he served as a member of the school committee and, believing that a man "owed something to the town he lived in," served also as selectman, assessor, and member of the board of health. For a time his occupation was that of an accountant, and from 1861 to 1891 he was employed by the Bay State Straw Works as book-keeper, paymaster, cashier, and general clerk.

Among other enterprises Mr. Beals was instrumental in establishing the Middleborough public library, and served on the board of trustees from 1874 to the time of his death, being clerk of the board and chairman of the library committee, and the cataloguing, ordering, and the arrangement of the books were largely under his direction. He was instrumental in introducing the town water supply, was one of the commissioners from 1885 to the time of his death, and superintendent of the works, clerk of the board, and water register and collector; also secretary and treasurer of the Middleborough Co-operative Bank, from its organization in 1889 to 1894. In addition to these and other endeavors to serve the community he was interested in collecting material for the History of Middleborough, which was published a few years ago.

He was married twice: first on March 21, 1863, to Mary E. Leonard of Bridgewater, born March 14, 1836, died February 20, 1871, daughter of Simeon W. and Betsey Leonard; secondly on * "The old red school house is no more, I believe. At least not in that form. I understand that it is now a part of another building in another locality. And the corner does not now exist, the highway having been changed in later years."—Letter of Walter L. Beals.

April 12, 1876, to Harriet Churchill Barden, born September 13, 1837, died September 23, 1900, daughter of Joseph Scott and Harriet (Churchill) Barden. Child by first marriage: Walter Leonard Beals, born June 4, 1869; married October 3, 1894, Ella Maud, daughter of Robert T. Lucas of Manchester, Mass.; two children: Austen Lucas, born September 8, 1895, and Marian, born January 5, 1898.

BENJAMIN FRANKLIN BURGESS of Brookline, Mass., a life member from 1869, died at Brookline October 5, 1909, aged ninety-one. He was born in Sandwich, Mass., September 6, 1818, the son of Benjamin and Mary (Swift) Burgess. His parents were natives of Sandwich, and he traced his line through Benjamin, Elisha, and Zacheus, to Thomas Burgess, who settled in Sandwich about 1638.

Mr. Burgess was educated in the public schools, and when a young man became associated with his father in the foreign trade in Boston as a partner under the firm name of Benjamin Burgess and Son, dealers in West India goods, ship-owners, and importers. This firm was for many years one of the largest in its line of business in Boston. After a long and distinguished career as a merchant he retired from business, and resided in Brookline. He was an Episcopalian in religion and a member of Emmanuel Church in Boston.

He was married, October 3, 1839, to Cordelia Williams, daughter of Abner Ellis of Sandwich, and was the father of the following children: Franklin, Thomas, George, Abner, Benjamin, Edward, Walter, Arthur, Sidney W., and Edith. His son Edward Burgess, Harvard, 1871, was the celebrated naval architect, having designed three successful defenders of the America's cup, besides many other craft.

SERENO DWIGHT NICKERSON, A.M., LL.B., of Cambridge, Mass., a resident member since 1874, died at Cambridge November 6, 1909. At the time of his admission to the Society he was a resident of Swampscott. He was born at Boston October 16, 1823, the son of Ebenezer and Eudoxa (White) Nickerson. His father was born at Provincetown, and his mother at Phillipston, Mass.

He was fitted for college at Phillips Andover Academy, was graduated at Yale in 1845, and received the degree of A.M. from that university in 1848, and LL.B. from Harvard in 1847.

Mr. Nickerson was admitted to the bar of Suffolk County in 1848, but never practiced, having surrendered his legal ambitions in deference to the wishes of his father. He entered into business, becoming in 1849 a member of the firm of E. Nickerson and Company, and retained his partnership until 1864, after which he occupied himself with real estate interests.

He was an organizer of the Third National Bank of Boston and one of its directors. At one time, such was his popularity, he was a member of nearly every club and secret society in the city, but he withdrew gradually from all except the order of Ancient Free and Accepted Masons. He became a member of the Winslow Lewis Lodge of Boston in April, 1856, and was its worshipful master from 1861 to 1863. In 1860 he entered the Grand Lodge as warden of his own lodge, and held the office uninterruptedly for forty-eight years. Among other offices he held that of grand master, to which he was elected from 1871 to 1873, was installed recording grand secretary December 1, 1881, and continued as such until July, 1908, when he was made historian, for which office, by his ability, personal familiarity with the order, his collections of printed and manuscript data, and his wide and critical knowledge of antiquity, he was eminently well fitted.

Mr. Nickerson was seventh in descent from William<sup>1</sup> Nickerson, who came from Norwich, England, 1637, through Nicholas,<sup>2</sup> William,<sup>3</sup> Ebenezer,<sup>4</sup> Seth,<sup>5</sup> Ebenezer.<sup>6</sup> His father, who established himself in business at 39 Long Wharf, Boston, and was for fifty years a leading merchant, was known as a man of high character in the city, and was a founder of Park Street Church.

He was married in Chelsea, Mass., October 16, 1883, to Mrs. Louisa R. (Kilbourn) Cheever, who died September 1, 1899, the widow of Tracy P. Cheever, and a native of Augusta, Me. There were no children by her second marriage.

1910

ADA RIPLEY DOLIBER of Brookline, Mass., elected a resident member in 1909, died January 3, 1910. She was born in Brookline January 2, 1855, the daughter of Charles Henry and Lucy Wilson (Ripley) Heath. Her mother was the daughter of Francis and Adeline (Wilson) Ripley. She traced her ancestral line through Charles Henry<sup>1</sup> Heath, Charles,<sup>2</sup> Ebenezer,<sup>3</sup> John,<sup>4</sup> William,<sup>5</sup> William,<sup>6</sup> Peleg,<sup>7</sup> to William<sup>1</sup> Heath, the immigrant.

She was married, May 11, 1876, to Thomas Doliber, and had two daughters: (1) Eadith Heath, born at Boston April 16, 1878; married October 11, 1904, Henry Rogers Hedge of Plymouth, Mass.; and lives in Rockwood Street, Brookline; children: Elliott Russell Hedge, born at Brookline September 7, 1906, and Catherine Russell Hedge, born at Brookline January 8, 1909. (2) Margaret Eleanor, born at Cohasset, Mass., June 20, 1884; married April 8, 1908, William Attmore Robinson, Jr., of New Bedford, Mass., and lives at New Bedford.

MARION LOUISE (HOWARD) PRENTISS of Wiscasset, Me., a resident member from 1907, died at Palm Beach, Fla., January 23, 1910. She was born at Bangor, Me., May 8, 1849, the daughter of Daniel Moseley and Eliza Anne (Hudson) Howard. Her parents were natives of the state of Maine, and her mother was the daughter of Samuel and Eliza Anne (Hall) Hudson, of Clinton, Me.

She was married first, December 25, 1866, to Benjamin Fuller Smith of Wiscasset, son of Gov. Samuel Emerson Smith; and secondly, June 5, 1901, to Henry Mellen Prentiss of Bangor, Me. Children (by first marriage): Marion Stuart Smith, born March 31, 1871, married, September 26, 1906, Theodore Guillard, M.D., of Charleston, S. C.; Harold Emerson Smith, born May 1, 1877, married, May 17, 1905, Susan Cowles Grant of Chicago, Ill.

CHARLES PAINE THAYER, A.M., M.D., of Boston, a resident member from 1902, died at Atlantic City, N. J., February 1, 1910. He was born at West Randolph, Vt., January 22, 1843, the son of Samuel White and Sarah Louise (Pratt) Thayer, his mother being the daughter of John A. and Sarah (Bailey) Pratt. His line of descent is traced through his father Samuel White<sup>1</sup> Thayer, and Samuel White,<sup>2</sup> Samuel White,<sup>3</sup> Uriah,<sup>4</sup> Shadrach,<sup>5</sup> Ephraim,<sup>6</sup> Shadrach,<sup>7</sup> to Thomas<sup>8</sup> Thayer of Braintree, Mass. Through the Bailey line he was a descendant of Samuel Bailey, Jr., who was killed in the battle of Bunker Hill.

Dr. Thayer attended the University of Vermont for two years, and was graduated from the medical department of that institution with the degree of M.D. in 1865. He received the degree of A.M. from the same college in 1899. During the Civil War he served as a member of Company H, 13th Regiment Vermont Infantry. He was Health Officer and City Physician of Burlington, Vt., for two years; Medical Director, G.A.R. of Vermont, one year; surgeon for the Northern Pacific Railroad, three years; professor of anatomy and secretary of the faculty of Tufts College Medical School, Boston, from its establishment in 1893; and professor of anatomy and secretary of Tufts College Dental School from 1899. He was the author of Vermont Medical Register, 1877.

HENRY STURGIS GREW of Hyde Park, Mass., a resident member since 1904, died at Boston February 7, 1910. With his brother Edward he owned the estate at Hyde Park known as "Woodlands," which his father occupied before him. He also had a winter residence at 89 Beacon Street, Boston, and a summer residence at Manchester, Mass., fronting on the famous Singing Beach.

Mr. Grew was born at Boston June 23, 1834, the son of Henry Grew and his wife Elizabeth Perkins Sturgis. His ancestral line on the paternal side is traced to John Grew, a native of Leicester, England, born about 1752, whose wife was Mary Coltman; their son John Grew, born August 15, 1780, married Ann Greene, and they were father and mother of Henry Grew and the grandparents of the deceased member. His mother's parents were Nathaniel Russell and Susan (Parkman) Sturgis. Nathaniel Russell Sturgis was the son of Russell Sturgis and Elizabeth (Perkins) Sturgis. Susan Parkman was the daughter of Samuel Parkman and Sarah Shaw. Russell Sturgis, who lived in Tremont Row in a house next to that of Samuel Parkman, was a son of Thomas Sturgis of Barnstable.

He was educated in public and private schools in and near Boston, and in 1856, shortly after attaining his majority, went to China to enter the house of Russell and Company as a clerk, his maternal uncle Robert S. Sturgis being then head of the house. An older uncle, Russell Sturgis, had been head of Russell and Company, and was at this time a partner in Baring Brothers and Company of London. Mr. Grew passed the early years of his life in China at Shanghai. He returned to this country in 1863 and married, October 20th of that year, Jane Norton, daughter of Edward and Henrietta May (Goddard) Wigglesworth. Husband and wife then returned to China, Mr. Grew being at that time a partner in Russell and Company. A son Henry Sturgis was born to them, who died in China.

In 1867 Mr. and Mrs. Grew returned to America, taking up their residence at Hyde Park and Boston. Their children were a son Edward W., now a member of the firm of Meredith and Grew of Boston, and three daughters: Jane Norton, now Mrs. J. Pierpont Morgan, Jr., of New York; Elizabeth Sturgis, now Mrs. Boylston A. Beal of Boston; and Henrietta Marian, now Mrs. S. V. R. Crosby of Boston. Another son, Robert Sturgis, was born to them, but died at an early age. Mr. Grew is survived by his widow, son, and daughters.

After his return to America in 1867 Mr. Grew had no regular business, but was always very active in the business life of the city, and at the time of his death was vice-president and trustee of the Suffolk Savings Bank, a director in the Everett Mills, the Hamilton Manufacturing Company, the Pepperell Manufacturing Company, and the York Manufacturing Company. In all these companies he took a keen interest, and his business knowledge and judgment were greatly appreciated. He was deeply interested in charitable and philanthropic work, particularly in the Farm School, but his greatest work was in the doing of little kindnesses for individuals, who feel that his death removed much of the brightness from their lives.

By ROGER F. STURGIS, Esq.

FREEBORN FAIRFIELD RAYMOND, 2d, of Newton, Mass., a resident member since 1881, died at Florence, Italy, on Washington's Birthday, 1910. Mr. Raymond had been abroad several years to enjoy travel, and was accompanied by his daughter. He was a member of the law firm of Clarke, Raymond and Coale in State Street, Boston. His home was at Newtonville.

Mr. Raymond was born at Boston July 29, 1851. Born and bred in New England, he exemplified by his life those sturdy and reliable traits of character which her soil produces. As a young man he entered the office of his brother-in-law, Col. Thomas W. Clarke, a leader among patent lawyers of his day and generation. His strict attention to the engrossing details of his chosen profession, his unflagging industry and persistency, combined with his natural aptitude for patent litigation, and an inborn inventive faculty, soon won for him a place of his own at the bar. His devotion to his work soon aroused in him his latent genius as an inventor, which placed him in 1900 as the eleventh in the list of the inventors of the United States, over two hundred patents having been granted him. His inventions in shoe machinery have added in no small way to the development of the boot and shoe industry of New England.

Always deeply interested in reform movements, he accepted his responsibilities by taking an active part in them. He was one of the executive committee in the political campaign in the ninth congressional district in 1882, one of the executive committee of twenty-five in the election campaign of 1884, and a member of the executive committee of Independents in his district in 1888, and his services were considered by his associates as of great value. He was a founder and active member of the Massachusetts Reform Club and of the Newton Civil Service Reform Association.

A charming companion, with a quiet humor, full of good cheer and goodwill and love for mankind, especially tender to little children, and loving all beautiful things in nature and art, he made many friends. He was a good neighbor, an able lawyer, an upright, conscientious citizen. The world is richer for his life, for his bright spirit, his cheery ways, his true nobility of character.

Abridged from the Boston Evening Transcript for February 24 and March 26, 1910.

HORATIO DAVIS of Boston, a resident member from 1882, died at Boston February 25, 1910. He was born there April 6, 1855, the son of William and Maria Davis. He traced his line from William<sup>1</sup> Davis, 1617-1683, through Ebenezer,<sup>2</sup> 1678-1712, Aaron,<sup>3</sup> 1709-1777, Moses,<sup>4</sup> 1744-1823, William,<sup>5</sup> 1770-1849, and William,<sup>6</sup> 1801-1865. His ancestor, Col. Aaron Davis, was a member of the Provincial Congress, and was also a direct descendant of Gov. John Winthrop and Gov. Thomas Dudley; and among his other ancestors were the Pierponts, Perrins, and other old families of Roxbury and Ipswich. He had given a great deal of attention to genealogical research both here and in Europe, tracing different branches of his ancestors to a very remote period.

Mr. Davis was unmarried, and was survived by three brothers and a sister—Joseph, of Los Angeles, Cal.; Charles, of Milton, formerly of New York; Fellowes, of New York; and Maria, the widow of Dr. W. H. H. Hastings of Boston.

After his school days he entered the cordage business, and became treasurer of the Sewall and Day Cordage Company, and general manager of the cordage combination for New England.

Mr. Davis, who was a very delightful and popular man, was a member of the Somerset, Union, Country, Essex County, and Norfolk Hunt Clubs, and was prominent in Masonic orders.

HERBERT JOSEPH HARWOOD, A.B., of Littleton, Mass., a resident member since 1891, was born at Littleton September 6, 1854, and died at Boston March 27, 1910. His parents were Joseph Alfred and Lucy Maria (Hartwell) Harwood.

Mr. Harwood was educated at the public schools, at Lancaster (Mass.) Academy, and at Phillips Exeter Academy; was graduated at Harvard in 1877, and a member of the Phi Beta Kappa. After leaving college he worked for nine months in the mill of the Montague Paper Company of Turner's Falls, Mass., to gain a knowledge of the business, and then became identified with J. A. and N. Harwood (his father, uncle, and others), the Harwood Chair Seat Company, Harwood Manufacturing Company, National Fibre Board Company, all of Boston; and acted as Boston representative of Andrews-Demarest Seating Company and R. W. Reid of New York, until he entered business for himself, January 1, 1899. He was also a director of the National Fibre Board Company, and a trustee of Bromfield School; lieutenant-colonel and assistant adjutant-general on the staff of Gov. John D. Long in 1882, a member of the Massachusetts House of Representatives in 1899, serving on the committee on education; a trustee of the Littleton Public Library for twenty-one years, until 1906; a member of the school committee from 1893 to 1906, and chairman of that board during the latter part of his service. Mr. Harwood was a Republican in politics, and a Unitarian in religious belief. He was president of the Littleton Historical Society, published a "Historical Sketch of Littleton," and was a member of the committee to print "Littleton Vital Records to 1850." He resided at Littleton, and had an office in Boston.

He was married, October 15, 1879, to Emelie Augusta, daughter of Ezra and Elmina Minerva (Richardson) Green. His children were: Joseph Alfred, born October 17, 1880; Lucy Hartwell, March 31, 1882; Helen Diman, October 29, 1883; Margaret, March 19, 1885; Richard Green, September 22, 1886; Herbert Edward, July 15, 1889; Emelie Minerva, June 29, 1891; and Jonathan Hartwell, August 29, 1892.

SUSAN ELIZABETH PARSONS (BROWN) FORBES, a resident member since 1903, died April 10, 1910. She was born at Epsom, N. H., April, 1824, and resided in Byfield Parish, Newbury, Mass. Her maternal grandmother was Susanna, daughter of Rev. Moses Parsons of Byfield, connected with Theophilus Parsons.

She was the daughter of William and Lucretia Billings (Gray) Brown, and her father was a native of Rye, N. H., and her mother, of Epsom. She traced her ancestry to John<sup>1</sup> Brown, through William,<sup>2</sup> John,<sup>3</sup> Capt. Jonathan,<sup>4</sup> Joseph,<sup>5</sup> Thomas.<sup>6</sup> Her maternal grandfather, James Gray, held the office of assistant quartermaster-general near Boston in 1775-6; later was captain of a company in Col. Marshall's regiment, stationed at Noddie's Island, now East Boston, until the year 1777. Later he was a captain in Col. Scammell's regiment.

Mrs. Forbes attended the common schools at Epsom, supplementing her attendance by a few weeks of private school, and later studied in an Academy at Byfield, Mass., and in Blanchard Academy at Pembroke, N. H.

She was the author of an article entitled "Eben Parsons and Fatherland Farm," which appeared in the REGISTER for January, 1896. For some time she was a teacher in Epsom and neighboring towns, and also taught in a Jewish school connected with a congregation of that order in Boston. In April, 1866, she became a resident of Springfield, where her husband was engaged in business. She was also engaged in various activities of a benevolent nature, and held membership in various associations. She returned to Byfield Parish in Newbury in June, 1895.

She was married, August 7, 1859, to Alexander Barclay Forbes of Epsom, N. H., son of Alexander and Agnes (Findlay) Forbes.

REV. THOMAS WILLIAM SILLOWAY, M.A., of Boston, a resident member since 1864, died unmarried at Boston May 14, 1910. He was born at Newburyport, Mass., August 7, 1828, the son of Thomas and Susan (Stone) Silloway of that place.

Mr. Silloway was educated in the common Schools of Newburyport, the Brown High and the Latin schools. He was a clerk in the West India goods store of Moody D. Cook, and was apprenticed in 1845 to Robert Gunnison to learn the trade of house carpenter. After remaining a few months he gave up on account of ill health, and opened a West India dry-goods store for himself, which he sold out after a year and a half to begin the study of architecture with Ammi B. Young in Boston. He pursued a full course, and began business in Boston in January, 1851.

His religious training was that of the Methodist order, the church of his parents; but in 1844 he became a convert to Universalism and ardently engaged in the promulgation of the doctrines of that denomination. He was ordained at Kingston, N. H., August 28, 1862. He supplied the pulpit in Atkinson, N. H., about four years prior to the date of his ordination, and was invited to take charge of the West Universalist Church and Society in Boston, as a colleague with the Rev. Sebastian Streeter.

Mr. Silloway had the honorary degree of M.A. from the University of Vermont in 1862. He was architect of the Vermont capitol; Buchtel College, Akron, Ohio; the Soldiers' Monument, Cambridge, Mass.; of more than 450 churches, etc.; and restored six churches in Charleston, S. C., which had been partially destroyed by the earthquake of 1886.

He was the author of "Theogonis;" a text book of "Modern Carpentry;" of "Warming and Ventilation;" "The Conference Melodist;" "Cantica Sacra;" "Cathedral Towns of England, Ireland, and Scotland" (with Lee L. Powers); editor (with Harding) of the sixth edition of Shaw's Civil Architecture; and the "Atkinson Memorial," sermons preached at Atkinson, N. H., published in 1851.

GEORGE FARQUHAR JONES KING, M.D., of Providence, R. I., a resident member since 1907, died at Providence April 12, 1910. He was born there May 15, 1867, the son of Charles Goodrich and Frances Ellen (Jones) King, and traced his ancestry to George<sup>1</sup> King of Cold Norton and Woodham Mortymer, England, through Thomas,<sup>2</sup> of Scituate, Mass., Thomas,<sup>3</sup> Daniel,<sup>4</sup> Daniel,<sup>5</sup> Elijah,<sup>6</sup> Elijah,<sup>7</sup> William Jones,<sup>8</sup> and Charles Goodrich.<sup>9</sup>

Mr. King graduated from Brown University in 1885; received the degree of Ph.B. in 1889; Harvard University Law School, 1893; and University of Pennsylvania, 1894, which conferred the degree of M.D. upon him in 1898. A notice in the Boston Evening Transcript for April 13, 1910, says that he was "One of the best known physicians in Rhode Island."

He was married, August 1, 1893, to Hannah Maria, daughter of Max and Katherine Amelia Brown (Neilson) Strakosch, and had one child, Frances Neilson, born at Bristol, R. I., September 6, 1907.

DANIEL WALDO HASKINS, A.B., formerly of Charlestown, Mass., and a resident member of this Society since 1896, died suddenly at the home of his daughter at No. 19 Richards Street, Worcester, April 13, 1910. He was born at Hardwick, Mass., January 19, 1829, the son of Joel and Maria (Williams) Haskins.

Mr. Haskins was educated in the common schools of Hardwick, and at Leicester Academy. He bought his time of his father when he was sixteen years old, and at eighteen he was the head hired man on a farm. The next year he learned the mason's trade, and at the same time was in the office of Ball and Boyden, civil engineers and architects. At this time he worked his way through Amherst, graduating in 1858. After graduation he taught school, studied law in Worcester, was admitted to the bar in 1862, and practised in all the courts of the Commonwealth and in most of the departments of the government at Washington. During his life he was at times a large real estate owner, as well as a contractor and builder.

He had what he considered the best private linguistic library in the country. He translated Kelgren's Grammar of the Finnish Language from the German into English, and partly turned an English-Finnish Dictionary into a Finnish-English Dictionary; but this was not published.

In politics he was an ardent "Free-Soiler," and afterwards became a loyal member of the Republican party.

At Worcester he had his office in the Walker building, but about twenty years before his death he went to Boston, where he was for several years one of the counsel for the West End Street Railway Company. For the past three years he had retired from active practice.

Mr. Haskins married twice. His first wife was Hattie D., daughter of S. Newell and Mehitabel (Doane) Smith, whom he married March 1, 1865. By this marriage he had one child, Hattie Doane, born November 19, 1865. His second wife was Charlotte A., daughter of Matthew F. and Charlotte (Lee) Woods, whom he married October 18, 1870. Besides his daughter, now Mrs. W. H. Goodacre of Worcester, Mr. Haskins was survived by his second wife.

WILLIAM GIBBONS PRESTON of West Newton, Mass., a life member since 1871, died at Brookline, Mass., April 26, 1910. He was born at Boston August 29, 1842, the son of Jonathan Preston, who was born at Beverly, and his wife Mary H. Webb. His father, who was one of the leading architects and builders of Boston, was also a life member of this Society.*

Mr. Preston was educated at the Boston English High School, from which he was graduated in 1859. He then attended the Lawrence Scientific School, went to Europe in 1860 to study in Paris, returned in 1862 to Boston, and went to Europe again in 1864. He began practice as an architect in 1862.

HERBERT LESLIE BURRELL, M.D., of Boston, a life member since 1896, died at Boston April 26, 1910, after a lingering illness.

* Cf. Memorial Biographies, viii, 353.

He was born at Boston, in Edinboro' Street, April 27, 1856. His parents were Randall Gardner and Elizabeth Madeline (Ayer) Burrell.

Dr. Burrell received his preparatory education in the Boston schools and in the English High School of that city, and was graduated from the Harvard Medical School in 1879. He was surgeon-general of the State of Massachusetts in 1894, previous to which he had served as surgeon to the Boston Lancers; surgeon-general of the Massachusetts Volunteer Aid Society's hospital ship during the Spanish-American War, 1898; senior surgeon at the Boston City Hospital since 1907; surgeon of Children's Hospital since 1893; consulting surgeon of Carney Hospital since 1899; professor of clinical surgery, Harvard Medical School, since 1903; president of the American Medical Association in 1903; fellow of the American Surgical Association; member of the Massachusetts Medical Society, the Société Internationale (Surgery), and the Society of Clinical Surgery; president of the Massachusetts Branch of the American Red Cross from 1899. Dr. Burrell belonged to the Union, St. Botolph, Tavern, and Country Clubs. He was author, jointly with J. B. Blake, of "Case Teaching in Surgery," Philadelphia, 1904; and contributed extensively to medical journals. Dr. Burrell began his practice in Dartmouth Street, Boston, but in 1893 moved to 22 Newbury Street.

His first wife, Lillian Townsend, who died in 1897, was the younger daughter of the late Dr. William H. and Sarah (Wayland) Thorndike. He married secondly at Skowhegan, Me., April 17, 1899, Miss Caroline W. Cayford, who, with his two young sons, survive him.

From Who's Who in New England, p. 173; Boston Daily Advertiser, etc.

PAUL THEODORE BLISS WARD of Medford, Mass., a resident member since 1909, was born at Brookline, Mass., July 5, 1878, and died at Medford April 29, 1910. He was the son of Langdon Storer Ward and his wife Laura Arixene Bliss. His father was native of Saco, Me., and his mother of Trebizond, Turkey in Asia. He traced his ancestry through Langdon Storer' Ward, Lauriston,* Enoch,* Joseph,* Joseph,* John,* to William,* who settled in Sudbury and later in Marlborough, Mass.

Mr. Ward was educated in the schools of Newton, Mass., and graduated from Amherst College in 1899. He was a member of the firm of Samuel Ward Company, stationers, and also teacher in Robert College, Constantinople, Turkey, from 1899 to 1902.

He was married, June 16, 1904, to Helen Ashton, daughter of Samuel and Sarah Goodrich (Woodworth) Ward. His children are: Theodore Samuel, born August 1, 1905; and John Langdon, April 6, 1908.

ISAAC CHAUNCEY WYMAN, A.M., LL.B., of Salem, Mass., a resident member since 1878, died at Salem May 18, 1910. He was born at Marblehead, or Salem, Mass., January 30, 1827, the son of Isaac and Elizabeth (Ingalls) Wyman. Isaac Wyman (born 1756, died about 1836 at Salem) was a soldier in the Revolution, and his son was a member of the active military company at Woburn, Mass., his name being enrolled as such. Isaac Wyman later attained to the rank of colonel in the militia, and for a time was a merchant in Boston. He was a resident of Keene, N. H., and later of Salem, Mass., where he entered successfully into various business enterprises. Mr. Wyman was a descendant of John<sup>1</sup> Wyman of Woburn, through Seth,<sup>2</sup> Seth,<sup>3</sup> Hezekiah,<sup>4</sup> Isaac.<sup>5</sup>

Mr. Wyman was educated in the public schools, was graduated at Princeton University in 1848, and entered the Dane Law School of Harvard University, graduating there in 1850. He was admitted to the bar in the year of his graduation, and later was admitted to practice in the Federal courts. Mr. Wyman began practice in Boston, but resided in Cambridge. He was early in his career associated with the celebrated Benjamin F. Hallett, then U. S. District Attorney, and with him prosecuted the last case of piracy tried in Massachusetts. At this time Mr. Wyman was acting assistant district attorney, and he did detective work of much danger in the lawless part of the city. After separation from Mr. Hallett he associated himself with Charles G. Thomas, whom he induced to engage in admiralty cases, only a few lawyers at that time making a special study of that work. His firm had remarkable success in this line, and, after his separation from Mr. Thomas, Mr. Wyman continued his practice alone, having his office in School Street, Boston. He drifted gradually into the banking business and in time became president of the Marblehead National Bank, which office he held for more than fifty years. He was also interested in real estate in Massachusetts and in other sections of the country, and to some extent in mining property in Colorado. While Mr. Wyman was connected with Mr. Hallett's office, the Secretary of War consulted Mr. Hallett about the purchase of a new site for the United States courts, and Mr. Wyman bought for the Secretary the old Masonic Temple in Temple Place for $75,000. The proof of his sagacity in this purchase was found later, when the property was sold for $400,000. Mr. Wyman never accepted public office, but voted with the Republican party. He was an Episcopalian, and belonged to the Masonic order.

The following anecdote illustrates his prudence. In the last Sioux uprising in the eighties, he, with a friend and a scout, were on the plains. The scout suddenly noticed an Indian camp ahead. At this time the Sioux had a bad reputation, and the scout advised a rapid retreat. As they had been seen by the Indians Mr. Wyman considered it more prudent to advance than to retreat, and, after a wrangle with the scout, Mr. Wyman and his companion determined on proceeding. Following a ride of fifteen miles they overtook the Indians, who proved to be only a party of women and old men, more frightened than the white men, and who, after having been given presents, were left in a state of satisfaction while the white men went on their way.

Mr. Wyman left a large estate, the greater part being given by bequest to Princeton University. The estate, on account of the activity of certain claimants, has attracted some attention in the daily press.

For a portrait and extended sketch of Mr. Wyman and his ancestry, see Lewis Historical Publishing Co., "Boston and Eastern Massachusetts," p. 1917, etc.

He received only a common school education, and after 1837, when his father was appointed trustee and manager of the Hancock, N. H., Literary and Scientific Institution, he attended that school until 1839. Afterwards, until 1841, he was in the office of the Keene, N. H., Sentinel, his experience there being considered by him the best part of his education. At the age of twenty he had acquired a knowledge of seven different trades, and from 1846 to 1854 was engaged in the lumber, steam mill, and coal business, and from 1845 to 1867 in real estate and insurance. In 1870 and 1871 he was president of the Exchange Insurance Company of Boston, and after 1871 gave his attention to the collection of books and prints and extra illustration of books.

The father of Mr. Woodbury was a Baptist clergyman, and the subject of this sketch was his only child, whose early years were spent in the various towns where his father was settled. In addition to the above facts concerning Mr. Woodbury, it may be added that for a time he was a member of the common council of Lynn, was treasurer there of several companies, was actively interested in promoting the growth and improvement of the city, and was a member of various societies. After 1867 he spent a vacation in Europe with the members of his family. He resided part of the year in Lynn and part in Boston.

He was married, September 22, 1850, to Sarah Elizabeth Silsbee, daughter of Nathan and Elizabeth (Stimson) Dodge. His children were: Marcia Eola, born at Lynn July 20, 1851; and John, born at Lynn January 6, 1856.

For a portrait and more extended sketch of Mr. Woodbury, see Hurd's History of Essex County, Mass., p. 373.

MARY ALICE KEACH of Providence, R. I., a life member since 1900, was born at Providence June 15, 1854, and died there July 15, 1910. She was the daughter of William Walker and Mary Tibbetts (Greene) Keach, her father being a native of Gloucester, R. I., and her mother a native of Apponaug, R. I. She traced her paternal line through her father William Walker, 'Zephaniah,' Zephaniah,* to William<sup>1</sup> Keach, born 1737.

Miss Keach was educated in the Providence public schools, particularly the Fountain Street Grammar School, then conducted privately by Miss E. F. Weeden of Pawtucket. She was a life member of the Rhode Island Historical Society, the Providence Athenæum, and the Wagner Society of London, England.

She prepared a manuscript copy of graveyard inscriptions of the St. John's Church, Providence, which she communicated to this Society, of which she was a member of the Council during 1905, 1906, and 1907.

MELVILLE WESTON FULLER, LL.D., for twenty-two years (1888-1910) Chief Justice of the Supreme Court of the United States, an Honorary Member of this Society since 1891, was born at Augusta, Me., February 11, 1833, and died at Sorrento, Me., July 4, 1910. His parents were Frederick Augustus and Catherine M. (Weston) Fuller.

He was graduated from Bowdoin College in 1853, read law at Harvard Law School, practised law, did editorial work, and removed to Chicago in 1856.

He married first, in 1858, Calista O. Reynolds, and secondly, on May 30, 1866, Mary E. Coolbaugh of Chicago.*

JOHN EATON ALDEN of Newton, Mass., a resident member since 1896, reported to be a direct descendant of John Alden of the Plymouth Colony, died at 547 Center Street, West Newton, September 16, 1910, after a long illness. He was born at Dedham, Mass., June 13, 1835, the son of George and Hannah Alden. His father was born at Nelson, N. H., and his mother at Dedham. He traced his descent through George, Amasa, Silas, John, to Henry of Needham, who died February 18, 1730.†

He lived for many years in South Boston. In 1882 he came to Newton. He was engaged in the banking business, 1853-1869, and was also in the iron business until 1898. At one time he was president of the South Boston Savings Bank and one of its trustees. He was a Civil War veteran, and a member of the Boston Chamber of Commerce.

Mr. Alden was married, November 3, 1859, to Eleanor Clap, * Cf. the Dial, July 16, 1910.

† Compare an article entitled "Descendants of Capt. John Alden of Boston," by John E. Alden of Newton in Dedham Historical Register, xii, 74-94.

daughter of Joseph Francis and Eleanor (Clap) Trott. Their children were Mary Eleanor, born February 13, 1861, married Samuel Crocker; Martha Elizabeth, born June 8, 1865, married Alpheus L. Baker; John Trott, born July 26, 1874; Priscilla Endicott, born November 28, 1877. His widow, son John T. Alden, now of Summit, N. J., and three daughters survive him.

THOMAS HILLS of Boston, a life member since 1897, and best known for his twenty-five years' service as chief assessor of the city of Boston, died at his home at South Boston September 19, 1910, aged eighty-two. He was born at Boston August 13, 1828, the son of Joseph and Sarah (Knott) Hills.

He was educated in the public schools of his native city, and a Franklin Medal scholar when he was graduated in 1842. After that period he was an errand boy in his father's store, situated on a part of the estate known as the Old Corner Book Store, School Street. In 1844 he was apprenticed to Lawson and Harrington, upholsterers, with whom he remained five years. At this time he became a member of the Mechanics' Apprentices' Library Association, of which organization he was president in 1847.

Mr. Hills was one of a party of goldseekers who in 1849 sailed from Boston in a small bark for California, arriving at San Francisco on September 9 of that year. He was engaged in digging gold in that country until the rainy season began, and subsequently followed his trade of upholstering as a member of the firm of Plum and Hills in San Francisco. Shipping as a sailor in the ship Rose Standish in November, 1851, he visited China, London, and Newport in Wales, at which place a load of railroad iron was taken aboard and carried to New York, where Mr. Hills ended his circumnavigation of the globe.

He reached Boston, after this voyage, in September, 1852, was elected to the Legislature in 1860, again the following year, and for a third time in 1865. While a member of the House he was elected one of the Board of Assessors of Boston, and held that position from May 1, 1865, to May 1, 1893, a continuous service of twenty-eight years, for the last twenty-five years of which he was chairman of the board. In 1874 he was appointed a member, and by his associates elected chairman, of the Tax Commission, which reported to the Legislature in January, 1875. He was an organizer of the Trade Association of South Boston, under whose direction he was tendered a banquet at Young's Hotel, October 15, 1909. He was for a long time president of the South Boston Savings Bank, but in 1904 resigned the position and held thereafter no official connection with any organization, except as the chairman of the Trustees of the Hawes Fund in South Boston, the Barnard Memorial, and as president of the Hills Family Association.

Mr. Hills merits remembrance for the deep interest he took in the advancement of the welfare of the city in general, and the peninsula district in particular. He was editor of the Hills Genealogy, published in 1906.

He married first, September 6, 1854, Amelia Ellen, daughter of Joseph Lawrence and Amelia (Smith) Drew, who died July 24, 1876; and secondly, September 6, 1877, Josephine Drew, sister of his first wife. He is survived by two children: Joseph Lawrence Hills, D.Sc., Dean of the Agricultural Department of the University of Vermont; and Bertha, wife of Rev. Harold Marshall of Melrose, Mass.

JAMES LYMAN WHITNEY, A.M., of Cambridge, Mass., a resident member since 1903, died at Cambridge September 25, 1910. His parents were Josiah Dwight and Clarissa (James) Whitney, and he was born at Northampton, Mass., November 28, 1835.

Mr. Whitney enjoyed an international reputation as a librarian and bibliographer. He was fitted for college at the Northampton Collegiate Institute, and graduated from Yale in 1856. After graduation he remained a year in New Haven as a Berkeley scholar, receiving the degree of A.M. in 1857. Mr. Whitney was early interested in libraries, and drew his earliest inspiration from his brother's library. While in college he was librarian of one of the minor college libraries, that of the Brothers in Unity.

He was at first engaged in the bookselling business in New York and Springfield, and in the latter city became a partner in the firm of Bridgman and Whitney. He discontinued this pursuit after 1868, but retained an interest in the business for nearly twenty years longer.

In 1868 he became assistant librarian in the Cincinnati Public Library, and in the following fall came to Boston and began his connection with the Boston Public Library, which continued for more than forty years. Here he was especially connected with the cataloguing department, the work being largely developed by him. In 1899 he became acting librarian, and eight months later was officially appointed librarian. But in 1903, after a severe and prolonged illness, he resigned and took up the work of chief of the documents and statistics department of the institution. He edited the Ticknor Catalogue of Spanish Literature and many other publications of the library. Mr. Whitney was chairman of the book committee of the Bostonian Society. For a number of years he made his home in Concord, where he was chairman of the school committee, 1879-87, and later in Cambridge. He was never married, and his only surviving near relative is a brother, Henry Mitchell Whitney, now librarian at Branford, Conn. The late Prof. Josiah Dwight Whitney of Harvard University, the eminent geologist, and Prof. William Dwight Whitney of Yale University, the philologist and editor of the Century Dictionary, were also his brothers. At the completion of his forty years service with the Boston Public Library, Mr. Whitney was tendered a banquet by his associates.

JAMES FROTHINGHAM HUNNEWELL, A.M., of Charlestown, a life member of this Society from 1870 (having been elected a resident member in 1868), was born at Charlestown July 3, 1832, and died at Boston November 11, 1910, the only son of James and Susan (Lamson) Hunnewell. His line from Ambrose<sup>1</sup> Hunnewell was through Charles,<sup>2</sup> Charles,<sup>3</sup> William,<sup>4</sup> William,<sup>5</sup> and James.<sup>6</sup> *

His father was a merchant, and lived for four years in the Sandwich Islands, having commanded the missionary packet on her voyage to Honolulu in 1826. The journal of the voyage, kept by the father, was privately printed by the son in 1880.

He was known as a merchant and author, held offices and membership in many historical and business organizations and clubs, and was president of the Bostonian Society and of the Club of Odd Volumes. He was author of a "Bibliography of the Hawaiian Islands and Civilization at Hawaiian Islands," 1869; "The Lands of Scott," 1871; "Bibliography of Charlestown and Bunker Hill," 1880; "Voyage of the Missionary Packet" (1826), 1880; "Records of the First Church, Charlestown," 1880; "History of the First Church, Charlestown," 1882; "The Historical Monuments of France," 1884; "The Imperial Island," 1886; "History of the Society for the Propagation of the Gospel" (for the Centennial of the Society), 1887; "A Century of Town Life" (Charlestown), 1888; "Hunnewell, Chiefly Six Generations in Massachusetts," 1900; "Triumphs of Early Printing." He was editor of the "Relation of Virginia," by Henry Spelman (1609), 1872; "Early American Poetry" (five volumes, with introductions, etc.), 1894-1899; and of various other printed papers.

In the limited space at command only brief mention can be made of his long connection with this Society. Soon after his admission he began his lengthy contribution of the records and history of the First Church in Charlestown to the REGISTER. He copied the entire records of this church from 1632 to 1787. He served on the Nominating Committee of the Society, and on the Committee on the Library, as librarian, 1871-1872, and as a member of the Council, 1871-1889.

His work, the "Lands of Scott," was written in the Scott centennial year, and in its preparation he visited and personally inspected every locality described. The "Historical Monuments of France" was characterized by great research and a thorough knowledge of architecture. The "Imperial Island," displaying an accurate, minute, and careful method, placed within easy reach much valuable material, said to be in itself an education in architectural art. His Hunnewell genealogy, esteemed by him only as "an abstract," cost him the expenditure of much time, labor, and money. Mr. Hunnewell's "Bibliography of Charlestown" was, when issued, the first attempt of its kind in a direction much needed, and he gathered in its preparation a library of Charlestown literature marvellous for its completeness, nearly all the works listed being on his own shelves. His history of Charlestown for one hundred years beginning with 1775, entitled "A Century of Town Life," presented new and peculiar features. It was strong in its description of the older architecture, for its reproduction of entire records (not extracts), in its original surveys, its preference for the rare and accurate, and its careful attempts in the locating of ancient estates. In it also was found a continuation of the "Bibliography."

Mr. Hunnewell received the honorary degree of A.M. from Beloit College in 1858.

He was married on April 3, 1872, to Sarah M. Farnsworth of Boston, daughter of the well-known Dea. Ezra Farnsworth of that city.*

By WILLIAM R. CUTTER, A.M., in part. Cf. further Hunnewell, Chiefly Six Generations in Massachusetts.

RICHARD PRATT SPENCER of Deep River, Conn., a resident member since 1869, died at Hartford, Conn., November 26, 1910. He was born at Deep River February 12, 1820, the son of Dea. George and Julia (Pratt) Spencer. His ancestry was traced through George,* Joseph,* Joseph,* Caleb,* Thomas,* to Gerard' Spencer. His father, George Spencer, was born October 6, 1787, at Westbrook, Conn., and his mother was born October 21, 1785, at Essex, Conn.

His boyhood was spent in his native town, and his education was obtained in the district schools, at Madison (Conn.) Academy, Berlin, Conn., and Belchertown, Mass. He returned to Deep River when aged eighteen, entered the employ of George Read and Co., manufacturers of combs and ivory goods, and later on became a member of the firm, remaining until he withdrew to form a partnership with Ulysses and Alexis Pratt, under the name of Pratt, Spencer and Co., for the manufacture of ivory piano keys and fancy turnings.

In 1850, having disposed of his interest at Deep River, he engaged in the brokerage and banking business at Corning, N. Y. His career there was successful, and in 1866 he returned again to his native town. From 1861 until he died he was identified with the banking interest at Deep River, and about 1867 was elected president of the Deep River National Bank, and about 1873 was treasurer of the Deep River Savings Bank for two years. He was uniformly successful in business, and proved himself a man of unusual financial ability, good judgment, and courtesy, with a high sense of honor, not to mention other admirable personal traits. He was highly esteemed by his associates, and served the National Bank in various capacities for the period of forty-nine years. He retired from the presidency of this institution early in 1909, but continued to serve as a director, and also similarly in the Savings Bank, in the offices which he had held continuously since 1870.

He represented his district in the state Senate in 1882, but had very little taste for public office of any kind. He had removed during the last months of his life, with his family, to Hartford, and there died soon afterwards at the great age of ninety-one. His father had died at the age of ninety-one, a brother at ninety-three, and a sister survived him, aged eighty-five.

Mr. Spencer married first, May 15, 1850, Clarissa, born January 12, 1824, the daughter of George H. Chapman, Esq., of Saybrook, Conn., and his wife Lucia Tully. She died in December 1871, without children. He married secondly, in February 1877, Julianna Selden of Hadlyme. By this marriage he had three children: Richard S., of Cleveland, Ohio; Mrs. Florence Holden, of Bennington, Vt.; and George S., of Hartford, Conn.

Abridged from The Deep River New Era, and letter of acceptance of membership.

DAVID SHERWOOD KELLOGG, A.M., M.D., of Plattsburgh, N.Y., a corresponding member since 1886, was born at Essex, Vt., October 21, 1847, and died at Plattsburgh December 19, 1910, as the result of a shock of paralysis about five years ago, from which he never completely rallied. His parents were Nelson and Eveline Charlotte (Fellows) Kellogg.

He was graduated from the University of Vermont in 1870, obtained the degree of M.D. in 1873, and that of A.M. in 1884. For many years he was a leading general practising physician of northern New York, possessing extensive charity, especially for young men, whom he materially assisted through college; a lover of nature; a close student of local history; an authority on the history of the Champlain Valley; owner of a valuable collection of Indian relics now deposited with Amherst College; health officer and trustee of a normal school at Plattsburgh; acting assistant surgeon in the United States Army, 1898-1899; a member of various medical societies, of the Prince Society of Boston, the Sons of the Revolution, the Society of Colonial Wars, and others.

He was married, September 22, 1875, to Elizabeth Stafford Smith of Burlington, Vt., who survives, with four sons and a daughter: Robert D., of Chicago; Rev. Nelson, of Poultney, Vt.; David S., of Spokane, Wash.; Francis F., of Plattsburgh; and Mrs. Arthur Pope of New York.

GEORGE ALBERT CLOUGH of Brookline, Mass., a resident member since 1898, was born at Blue Hill, Me., May 27, 1843, and died at Brookline December 30, 1910. He was the son of Asa Clough, born in 1799 at Blue Hill, Me., and his wife Louisa, a native of that place, born in 1811, the daughter of Matthew and Roxanna (Nickerson) Ray.

He graduated at Blue Hill Academy in 1860, studied architecture with Snell and Gregerson of Boston, 1863-9; which latter year he opened an office on his own account. He was the first city architect of Boston, 1873-83, and designed numerous school, church, municipal, hospital, ecclesiastical, and other buildings in Boston and elsewhere. He was the architect of the extension of the Society's building, at 18 Somerset Street, in 1894, and of the additions to the Suffolk County court house in 1909-11.

He married Amelia Merrill, daughter of Lyman and Ann (Smith) Hinckley. Their children were: Charles Henry, born September 4, 1877; Annie Louisa, born July 10, 1880; Herbert Arthur, born June 11, 1885, died February 8, 1888; and Pamela Merrill, born May 18, 1887.

JOSEPH JAMES MUSKETT, M.R.C.S., of London, Eng., a corresponding member since 1883, died at No. 11 Talbot Road, South Tottenham, December 30, 1910. He was born at Holt, co. Norfolk, June 12, 1835, the son of Joseph Muskett, who was born at Attleborough, co. Norfolk, in 1790, and his wife Anne, born at Tillingham High House, co. Essex, in 1801, the daughter of Edward Andrews.

Andrew Muskett of Thelton, co. Norfolk, had issue, by Elizabeth his wife, John Muskett, his eldest son, baptized there July 1, 1710. This John Muskett, subsequently of Newton Flotman, co. Norfolk, by Mary the second wife, daughter of Ephraim Heywood of Diss, co. Norfolk, had issue William, his fifth surviving son, on the 24th of 10th month, 1760, who was born at Tharston, co. Norfolk. This William Muskett, afterwards of Attleborough, married Mary, daughter of James Taylor of Hackford, co. Norfolk, and Joseph Muskett, mentioned above born in 1790, was their eldest son and the father of Joseph James Muskett. These Musketts are descendants of the ancient family of Muskett of Suffolk, England, and probably an offshoot of the Muschetts of Fenditton, in Cambridgeshire, whose name appears upon the roll of Battle Abbey. An account of the family—very inexact as to its earlier portion—is given in Burke's "Landed Gentry" under the heading of "Muskett of Clippesby."

Dr. Muskett was matriculated at the University of London in 1853, studied medicine at St. Bartholomew's Hospital, London, and was admitted a member of the College of Surgeons, England, in 1857. He was District Surgeon of Murraysburg, South Africa, from 1859 to 1878.

After July, 1879, when he had returned to England from a prolonged sojourn at the Cape of Good Hope, he devoted his time to the collection of materials for a Genealogical History of the County of Suffolk, England; read all, or nearly all, the wills connected with that county which were proved in the Prerogative Court of Canterbury and in the Bishops' Court at Norwich, from the first year of Queen Elizabeth to A.D. 1699; took ample notes of many of these, and to these notes made an exhaustive index nominum. At the time of his election to this Society he was paying especial attention to such incidental notices respecting New England and America as he had the good fortune to meet during his researches.

It was his desire to publish a series of volumes under the general title of "Suffolk Manorial Families of the Sixteenth and Seventeenth Centuries," commencing with the Visitation of the County by Sir Edward Bysshe, Clarencieux, in 1662, a record practically unknown to genealogists. He further planned, unless forestalled by another better qualified, to edit, as part of the "Suffolk Manorial Families," the well known Candlee MSS., which contain much respecting the early settlers of New England, the entire work to be confirmed, corrected, annotated, and extended by materials from the Public Record Office, the Library of the British Museum, local diocesan and archidiaconal registries, etc.

His published works were two magazine articles: "Village Life in South Africa," which appeared in the Cape Monthly Magazine, 1860, and was also translated into Dutch; and a paper on "The Boers at Home," in the April, 1881, number of the Contemporary Review; two volumes and part one of volume three of "Suffolk Manorial Families, being the County Visitations and Other Pedigrees," edited with extensive additions; two editions of "Pedigree of Ward of Suffolk and America" (chart), one in 1887 and the other undated. He also edited the "Evidences of the Winthrops of Groton, England," by Robert C. Winthrop.

Dr. Muskett married, April 7, 1863, Catherine Charlotte Dalgairns, daughter of Charles Augustus Wentworth, of the Cape of Good Hope, but had no children.

Memoirs of the following named members of the Society may be found as indicated :

EDWARD HENRY WHORF, in the REGISTER of October, 1910;
CHARLES EDWIN HURD, in the REGISTER of January, 1911;
DELORAINE PENDRE COREY, in the REGISTER of April, 1911.

It is expected that a memoir of ALMON DANFORTH HODGES, JR., and of JAMES BOURNE AYER will appear in the REGISTER of July, 1911; and of WILLIAM CARVER BATES in the REGISTER of October, 1911.

MASSACHUSETTS VITAL RECORDS

THE NEW ENGLAND HISTORIC GENEALOGICAL SOCIETY is publishing, by a Fund set apart from the bequest of ROBERT HENRY EDDY to the Society, the Vital Records (Births, Marriages and Deaths) of Towns in Massachusetts whose Records are not already printed, from their beginning to the year 1850, in books of 8vo size, in clear type, on good paper, and with cloth binding. The arrangement is alphabetical.

Subscription to these Records, if made in advance of publication, will be taken at the rate of one cent per page, which includes binding. Expressage extra.

Only a limited number of copies are being printed. The type is then distributed, and the extra copies held on sale at a considerable advance on the subscription price.

Address all communications to F. APTHORP FOSTER, Editor,
